

FATAL LOUISIANA CYCLONE.

Baton Rouge in the Path of the Devastating Storm of Wind and Rain.

WALLS OF THE PENITENTIARY BLOWN IN.

Ten of the Convicts Killed and Thirty-Six Injured—Damage Amounting to Thirty Thousand Dollars.

Baton Rouge, La., July 6.—A cyclone passed over this city early this morning, wrecking many houses. The only casualties that occurred were at the penitentiary, where the jeans factory was blown down and the walls of some of the other buildings were blown in.

BAKERS VAN METTER, Natchitoches; WILLIAM WILLOW, New Orleans; HENRY CALLETT, New Orleans; FRED GAGE, Ouachita; JAMES VAN METTER, Natchitoches; J. A. WAGGONER, Claiborne; JOHN GIBSON, New Orleans, one of the nearly murdered.

The negroes killed were: NATHAN CHANCEY, East Feliciana; HENRY CALLETT, New Orleans; BURGARD HARDIN, Bossier; EDWARD BUCKNER, Caddo.

There were forty persons at work in the jeans factory at the time of the crash. On the second or central floor was the hospital, where twenty sick prisoners lay undergoing medical treatment, of which number four were killed and fourteen seriously if not fatally injured.

The fire alarm was sounded and the entire fire department summoned to the scene of the disaster. The rescues were working and the prisoners, worked vigorously for the rescue of the unfortunate souls who lay—some dead and others dying—confined under the great heap of debris that was thickly strewn over every quarter of the premises.

The greatest imaginable horror greeted the eyes of those engaged in the rescuing work and the pitiful wails and death groans from the men buried out of sight beneath the massive heap of brick and mortar could be heard arising from every part of the wreck imploring help, and altogether the scene was heart-rending.

The storm was attended by a most violent rain, which the rescues were working and lasted for several hours or until both the living and the dead were excavated from the ruins. The white people wounded from New Orleans are:

LOUIS CLAIR, M. J. FISKE, HENRY MCKAY, JAMES MOFF, JOHN DUFFY, JOHN O'LEARY, CHARLES STEPHENS, L. H. DUBLEY, JAMES VALLAHE, Colored from New Orleans: JACK JONES, HENRY MCKAY, MAJOR WHITE, WILLIAM GIBSON, From the various other parishes: JOSEPH POWELL, JR., C. M. YOUNG, T. B. STEWART, GUS BLOCK, A. L. WILSON, D. A. CAMPBELL, J. R. BOLAN, PHELIX RICHARDS, MARTIN PERKINS, WALTER DOUGLASS, JOHN FOLEY, FRANK AARON, JOHN FAHLAND, HENRY MCKAY, ALEX FERRELL (white), OSCAR PHILLIPS, WILLIAM PERRY, DEWEY PETERSON, ROBERT PERKINSON, ROBERT COMEAUX, HARRISON ALLEN.

WILLIAM SCOTT (colored). The total number of wounded is thirty-six. Of the number of wounded about six are expected to die before night, and the recovery of several of the others is extremely doubtful. The total damage to the penitentiary is estimated at $30,000.

A visit to the capitol and other state buildings showed them unharmed by the winds, as was also the business portion of the town on Main and Ford streets unaffected by the storm. The southern portion of the city, styled "Irish Town," suffered great loss and damage to property. In this section of the city the streets were seriously hurt and bruised by flying timbers from falling houses and fences. The drug store of B. A. Day was completely demolished and gutted of its contents, the loss amounting to $300. Several of the grocery stores and small shops in this vicinity are destroyed. The brick yard of Garig, Ready & Co. was badly damaged, but the loss is covered by insurance, which is the only one of several houses at a distance from the city that was not seriously damaged. The extent of the damage done throughout the city by this storm cannot accurately be estimated at this time, but it is estimated that this is the greatest loss since Baton Rouge ever sustained, either from a cyclone or a fire.

The cyclone did not make a straight sweep through the city, but would strike the ground and bounce forward like a bouncing ball. It would pass over several houses at a distance from the city and then descend again toward its way for hundreds of feet at a time. The trunks of large trees were popped off like pipe stems. So sudden was the storm that the horses were swept away and wrecked in the streets, and it destroyed as suddenly as it came, and there were a number of very narrow escapes, but no serious injuries are reported beyond those mentioned.

Cyclones in Mississippi. "DROOK HAYES, Miss., July 6.—This morning about 6 o'clock the southwestern portion of this county was visited by a destructive cyclone, demolishing houses and fences and uprooting trees. At the Davis logging camp one man was killed and three wounded. Another cyclone passed twelve miles east of this place at 5 o'clock, doing great damage. It would pass over several houses at a distance from the city and then descend again toward its way for hundreds of feet at a time. The trunks of large trees were popped off like pipe stems. So sudden was the storm that the horses were swept away and wrecked in the streets, and it destroyed as suddenly as it came, and there were a number of very narrow escapes, but no serious injuries are reported beyond those mentioned.

ROYALTY HAS A WEDDING.

Granddaughter of Queen Victoria Married to Prince Arbert of Anhalt.

CEREMONY PERFORMED AT WINDSOR CHAP.

Most Brilliant Event Since the Wedding of the Late Duke of Albany—Distinguished People in Attendance.

LONDON, July 6.—Princess Louise, second daughter of the Prince and Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein and grand daughter of the queen of England, was married today to Prince Arbert of Anhalt. The ceremony took place in the chapel of the Windsor castle amid a scene of splendor and with the most imposing ceremonies.

As the hour fixed for the ceremony—4 o'clock in the afternoon—drew near, Windsor castle and its neighborhood was fairly alive with people. Not since the marriage of the late duke of Albany has the chapel been crowded with so many distinguished people, and not since that event has the chapel been so crowded with members of royal families.

The royal standard of Great Britain floated from the highest tower of the castle, and the castle and its neighborhood was fairly alive with people. Not since the marriage of the late duke of Albany has the chapel been crowded with so many distinguished people, and not since that event has the chapel been so crowded with members of royal families.

The second section consisted of the state carriages, which conveyed the emperor and empress of Germany and the imperial party with the prince and princess of Wales, the duke and duchess of Edinburgh, the duke and duchess of Connaught, Prince Henry of Battenberg and his wife, the Princess Beatrice, the Princess Louise and the duchess of Plif.

The prince of Anhalt, the bridegroom wearing a German uniform, with his attendants formed the first section of the imperial party. The queen of England in the most elaborate of all carriages, surrounded by life guardsmen, formed the fourth of this bewildering, attractive panorama. The queen was greeted overwhelmingly with the wildest demonstrations of affection.

The bride, accompanied by her father, Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein and her brother, the duke of Cumberland, Cumberland lodge, their residence, to Windsor castle, and as the queen started for St. George's chapel the bride and her two male relatives followed. As each and every member of the imperial or royal families reached the chapel royal arrival was heralded by a resounding blast from the brass and state trumpeters. At the chapel doors the wedding guests were received by the Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Latham, who escorted them to the altar.

The bride, wearing a white satin dress, was escorted to the altar by the lord chamberlain. About ten minutes after the bride arrived, supported by her father and brother. The bride wore a dress of cream white satin of most exquisite texture. It was bordered with orange blossoms and the skirt was edged with diamonds and pearls. The bride wore a necklace of diamonds and pearls, the gift of her parents. The wedding veil was the one worn by Princess Christian upon the occasion of her marriage.

The bridesmaids were Ladies Emily Cedeno, Eastward, Mabel Egerton, Esther Gore and Elizabeth Gore. They wore dresses of some white satin dresses, draped with delicate white crepe de chine, and caught up. The bows were of frosted silver. All wore ostrich plumes in their hair, and silver girdles around their waists. The bridegroom was composed of maroon silk roses.

The archbishop of Canterbury performed the marriage service, which was most simple, and made only a brief exhortation. The bridegroom's responses were given in a firm voice, but those of the bride were indistinct. The bride was given away by her father, Prince Christian.

After the services Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" was played and the ceremony was concluded. The marriage register was later on signed in Windsor castle. After luncheon the bride and bridegroom left for Cliveden.

After the benediction the queen advanced and kissed the bride. The bride was then upon the same privilege and then the bride was kissed by all the princesses. The procession was then reformed and returned to the castle, the queen proceeding by a private carriage so as to be in readiness to receive the couple. Here there was a pretty scene in the grand drawing room. All assembled to sign the register, the queen's signature following those of the emperor and empress. On the table in the center of the room were the bride and groom, the duke and duchess of Connaught and staff for a visit to Eton school. Three hundred and fifty students were drawn up in line to receive the emperor. After inspecting them and watching their military evolutions the emperor spoke a few words of praise to the young soldiers.

RAVENA FACTS.

INQUEST RECALLED BUT NOTHING OF IMPORTANCE LEARNED.

ALLIANCE, O., July 6.—The horrible wreck at Ravenna, O., on Friday morning is still the topic of conversation everywhere. The inquest was resumed by Coroner Sherman, but nothing important was learned.

This morning considerable excitement was occasioned by a report that Conductor Boynton's report of the tickets showed twelve people yet unaccounted for, though some may have left without making themselves known. Conductor Boynton is firmly of the opinion that others were entirely consumed in the fire, and his son, who was a member of the fire department, had been the cause of the wreck, was one of the victims. The inquest may develop some sensational facts in the matter.

The bodies have all been taken away except that of the nurse girl, who was killed in the sleeper. Her name was Miss Annie Kennedy, an employe of the Great Northern of Cincinnati. The child she had with her was a little boy instead of a girl, as reported. Sixty-five bodies were taken away, one to Brookline and one to Cincinnati.

Friends were in Ravenna today looking for a missing man who was reported among the dead. There were reports that he was on the train, one of whom was known to have been killed. The other one is missing and his relatives have been notified. He has been accounted for and presumably buried in the wreck. Two of the injured are still at the Aetna house and are doing as well as could be expected.
