Each Season

Has its own peculiar maindy; but with the blood maintained in a state of uniform vigor and purity, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparille the system readily adapts itself to changed conditions. Composed of the best alterntives and tonics, and being highly concentrated, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the most effective and economical of all blood medicines.

"For some years, at the return of spring, I had serious trouble with my kidneys. I was unable to sleep nights, and suffered greatly with pains in the small of my back, I was also afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. These symptoms were much worse last spring, especially the trouble with my back. A friend persuaded me to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I began taking it, and my troubles all disappeared.' -Mrs. Genevra Belanger, 24 Bridge st. Springfield, Mass.

New Your, July 9 .- Ir the interview with a Haytian refugee, published on July 7, mention was made of the voudeo adoration and of human sacrifices in Hayti, not far from Port-au-Prince. The reference has since then been verified. Mr. Maurice Feldman, a Hungarian mechanic, employed in the machine shops at Gorman, eight miles from Port-au-Prince, learned some time ago that there was to be a human sacrifice not far from where he lived at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. It was to be conducted by the papaloi, or voudoo priest of Gorman. Accompanied by his assistant, named Schmidt, Feldman made off in the direction in which he had heard that the sacrifice was to be performed. The expedition was not devoid of danger, for the negroes, feeling undoubtedly that their butchery of children would arouse the wrath and opposition of the white inhabtants of the island, were exceedingly careful to carry out the atrocities in the seclusion of unfrequented groves. The two monwere armed with heavy revolvers and were careful in the selection of their route. When they reached their destination they climbed in the branches of a tall tree from which they could plainly see all that was going on uclow without being seen. From their posi-tion they witnessed the voudoo sacrifice. The ceremony was begun by the burning of aromatic plants around a sleeping child two or three years old, which had been put to sleep by herbs. The papaloi stepped up to the infant and severed the head from the body with one stroke of a sharp knife, and passed it to all present. While the head was being passed the papaloi cut up the body, which was thrown into a large iron pot with some red peas, rice, and other na-tive vegetables. During the cooking the negroes danced round the fire. This bamdtula dance is a native negro dance of the most revolting sort, consisting mostly of contortions of the hips and the abdomen. The end is reached when the participants become so excited and exhausted that they throw themselves in a heap on the ground, where they roll over each other and howl. When the dancers had recovered they gathered for the feast and devoured every particle of the child. Having finished they gathered the bones in a hole in the ground, buried them, and erected a wooden cross over the grave. After the two observers had given the cannibals time enough to reach their homes, they climbed down and went back to Gorman. The Havtian negroes do not always seek seclusion for their cannibalism, as they did on this occasion. On March 18, 1890, Mr. Emile Huttinot, acting consul of France at San Domingo, stopped in a small restaurant on the north road, only half a mile from Port-au-Prince. At this resort every Sun-day the negroes hold a voudoo dance. Mr. Huttinot called for soup, but when it was served he found in the bottom of his plate the hand of a child. He immediately rode into town and notified the police, who searched the restaurant and found a child's entire body in the cooking pot. The woman who kept the place was arrested, but suffered only three days' imprisonment for her offence. The gentleman from Hayti who gave the information in the interview of July said that he knew personally a woman named Ulysse, living at La Croix des Bouquets, ten miles from Port-au-Prince, whose seven children were caten at voudoo dances during her absence by their own grandmother and the neighbors.

REV. COCHRAN TALKS. He Recites His Story of His Many

Marital Trials.

Much has been published in the papers during the past four years about the domestic troubles of Rev. Warran Cochran, whose divorce case was recently decided by Judge Wakeley. Rev. Cochran called at THE BEE office yes terday and requested the publication of his side of the case. He said that he felt it due to his friends in the Congregational church to make a statement and also due to himself to correct some of the many misstatements which he said had appeared in print concerning the case. Mr. Cochran was advised to drop the matter but he urgently requested the publication of his statement and here ONARA, Neb., July 8.—To the Editor of THE BEE: As much has been said concerning me and my divorced wife, Mrs. L. L. Cochran, and several serious errors in the matter have got into the papers, I ask of you the favor to publish in your enterprising pa-per the following facts and statements: Hitherto I have said little, but duty to others, to the cause of Christ of which I have long been an ambassador, as well as to my self, requires that publicity be given to cer tain features of the case. When my beloved wife, whose superior as a wife and mother could scarcely be found, died in 1866, she left live motherless children. The following year I sought some one to fill her place and married Miss L. L. Brown, who represented her self as being a Christian. But alas! alas! profession without possession. During the seventeen years of our married life she never attended a religious meeting with me one dozen times. She often opposed the chil-dren's attending Sunday school. Within a few months after our marriage she gave painful evidence of loving another man iore than she did her husband; several times seen in improper and suspicious relation with him hugging and kissing each other, while disdainfully spurning the common ex-pressions of affection from a husband. She deserted me several different times for eighteen months and two years at a time, eldom writing to me-at one time not for two years. I went several times to see her, a distance of 500 miles, to try and persuade her to live with me somewhere, but of no avail. She frequently said to me, "Get a divorce from me. You have good grounds for a di-vorce from me. I have not from you." Dur-ing a period of four weeks at one time 1 was away from my urgent duties trying to re-claim her. Had not seen her for over two years. During this and other visits she totally ignored me as a busband and all mar-ital rights and duties whatsoever, even refusing to sit next me at the table. Sent work to me I could come when she was "ask the hot-house with the hired man." C seventeen years of our nominal married life she lived with me seven and a half years and I followed her and lived with her three and a half years, eleven in all. Not more than five of that eleven years did she know me at all as to marital yows and relations. At length in defense of the interests and rights of myself and children I applied for a divorce. Her brother urged and entrested me to withdraw the application and upon his

HUMAN SACRIFICES IN HAYTI, | promise that she should treat me well I did treated me worse than ever, declaring that she never authorized her brother to invite me there. I renewed my application for divorce, which Judge Neville of the district court of Douglas county granted in twenty minutes after the case was brought into court. Two years and five months after the decree she commenced suit against me, charging me with fraud and asking for $20,000 alimony. The court triumphantly vindicated me from for alimony. She treated me and the children with cruelty and inhumanity. When I was dangerously ill with fever she did not come into my room for several days and forbade the children to bring me a drink of cold water. She laid violent hands on me and tried to put me out of my house, gave away and burned up my clothes and burned up food I carried into the house. She pounded the children with clubs until they were covered with bruises, and their cries to me for protection reached my ears. She took one, of them by the neck and compelled him to get down and pick up the crusts long soaked in the filth of the sower and eat them. She jumped on to another one with her knees upon his chest when prostrate and narowly escaped crushing his vitals. (She was 5 feet and 9 inches tall and weighed 165 pounds.)

As to finances. She brought nothing with her when I married her, not even a sheet or a pillow, was in debt and poorly clad. I helped to pay her debts and bought her clothes. She was more than welcome to everything of my former wife's that she could appropriate. We knew little of her except as we knew little of her except as a teacher. As such we were pre-judiced in her favor. She was most cordially received by the children as one to fill the vacancy of their dear, ceparted mother. The word stepmother was never heard in our house. I sold the home I had when I married her, and gave her over one-third of the proceeds, nearly $700 in cash at one time-enough to clothe her well the whole period of our married life. I sup-ported the whole of the family in common we were all together. Frequently sent her money after she deserted me, which she often returned accompanied with words of indignation. One of her last letters to me contained two words only: "Duplicity," "Condemnation." I mainly supported ner and her two children while with them, in and her two children while with them, in three and a half years paying, as shown by my book account, $2.36 per day—over $3,000. She left me without my consent and in spite of my protest; engaged in teaching without my consent; carried over $11,000 before we were divorced; $5,000 since; total, $16,000. Much of the time she had money in the bank. More than a year previous to the divorce she bought her a beautiful home in Oshkosh, paying $1,000 for it. Meanwhile she were free and the sheat of the $2,100 for it. Meanwhile she was frequently sending $50 and less to $700 or $800 to her brother in lowa to loan or invest for her, He had at one time $2,600 of her money. She is now living with her son, twenty-three years of age, on one of the several farms of her wealthy brother; the use of the house and farm costing her nothing. She paid at one time $500 for furniture for that house and has productive property beside of quite large amounts. She never gave one dollar in bought a single article of clothing for either of them except two or three scarfs and neck-ties. I lost my two oldest sons in the army who might have been a help in my support. I greatly impaired my own health also as chaplain but I have managed in various ways by industry and economy and laboring in great feebleness and under great infirmities to get together about $700 a year since the war, besides what has come onto our table from the land I have owned which last has not been less than $12,000. The property I now own is worth $8,000 or $10,000, assessed valuation $675, and Işam owing about $6,000. My net income for the last five years after paying taxes and in-terest has been $222 a year on which to support my family of three. She has two children, a son twenty-three years of age and a daughter twenty-one. They are both large, strong and healthy. The daughter is away from home carning good wages. My dis-abilities, incurred in the army, have increased until I am not able to earn scarcely anything. Ifam nearly seventy-five years of age. She has been a constant bill of unnecessary expense to me and a financial detriment of several thousand dellars. I spent $225 in going after her and trying to get her home: going after her and trying to get her home; $1,000 sacrifice selling out and going to Wis-consin, to live with her; $1,500 in selling out in Wisconsin, and coming back because of her ill treatment; $2,500 lost in trade, in exones. Hot days and frequent changes of temperature are liable to produce cholera change of real estate, because she refused to sign the deed and ordered the man out of m house, when he came with papers all made out to sign, using toward him vulgar and abusive language, too vile to be repeated; besides a very heavy expense n defense of her alimony suit for the last four years, and for the prosecution of which she seemed to have a plenty of money.

E These facts and statements have nearly all been sworn to and may be seen upon the re-ports and records of the Douglas county dis-

I submit them to an impartial public.

THEY WEREN'T AFRAID.

But the Waiters Had a Horror of the Dreaded Thirteen. Thirteen young ladies and gentlemen of Omaha came to thr city to spend the Fourth, says a Lincoln paper. There may be nothing extraordinary in the circumstance of Omaha people coming to Lincoln, but these particular persons are members of a "Thirteen club." They took dinner at the Capital hotel and showed their disregard of the fatulity of that sinister number by appropriating a table to the exclusion of all other guests. They demanded plates, no two of which should be alike, and the same variety was insisted upon in the matter of knives, forks, napkins and all other adjuncts of the table, including the waiters. Here was where the greatest diffi culty was encountered. The waiters, with the prejudices and superstitions of their race, objected to an enterprise so foolhardy as to invite death and disaster within a twelve-mouth. After considerable persuasion and
