LONDON TOWN.

Mr. Rosewater's First Impressions of the Modern Babylon.

THE SUNDAY BEE will contain a characteristic letter from Mr. Rosewater.

London has been described time and again, yet owing to its immensity and the varied character of its 5,000,000 inhabitants a keen observer can always find something new and striking to say about it. Mr. Rosewater gives a very graphic description of some of the more prominent features of the empire city. What he tells about the treasures of antiquity stored in the British museum, the vast collection of armory and arms in the tower of London, and the tombs and monuments of the illustrious dead in Westminster abbey and St. Paul's cathedral will be read with keen interest by the patrons of this paper. The unbounded wealth locked up in the Bank of England and other numerous banks in the same vicinity, the beautifully laid out parks and public squares, the condition of the streets, the way the city is lighted and the modes of travel in the mighty metropolis are all touched upon in an entertaining manner.

Dr. Kensington, eye, ear, nose and throat surgeon. 1310 Dodge street.

NATIONAL RIFLE SHOTS.

Arrangements Being Made for Their Next Tournament in Omaha.

Local rifle shots are already making arrangements for the next meeting of the National rifle tournament which will be held in Omaha in 1893.

This was the prize, or one of the prizes, which was captured by Omaha's enterprising delegates who visited St. Louis, during the last meeting of the National Schuetzenverein.

One of the rules of the national association is that the local organization in the city securing the national tournament shall elect the national officers of the association which is known as the National Rifle Association of North America. At a meeting of the local association the following officers of the national association were elected: President, F. L. Blumer; vice president, Judge Beneke; secretary, Louis Heimrod; corresponding secretary, W. F. Stoecker; treasurer, William Krug; first shooting master, William Mack; second shooting master, H. Peterson.

"We propose," said President Blumer, in speaking of the matter, "to make this the biggest meeting ever held of the association. We expect to have more western teams than have been at any other shoot and will draw teams from Germany and Switzerland. We will have at least 2,000 rifle shots and that means at least 10,000 visitors. The tournament will be held probably in June, 1893, and we will go in a body to the world's fair in Chicago at the close of the tournament.

A Colonization Scheme.

The Washington colonization company, an institution organized for the purpose of founding a colony upon the Pacific coast in Washington at a point almost directly west of Olympia, held its first annual meeting at the Paxton yesterday. The company is organized under the laws of Nebraska, and Omaha has been designated as the place for holding the annual meetings.

At the meeting yesterday a board of directors was elected and those elected officers, the officers and directors being as follows: W. C. Gerard, Gray's Harbor, Wash., president; F. W. Barber, Grand Island, Neb., first vice president; W. H. Bond, Syracuse, N. Y., second vice president; E. V. Claypool, Hoquiam, Wash., secretary; H. G. Schaeffer, Indianapolis, treasurer; A. C. Hutchinson, Omaha; C. K. Gerard, Tribune, Kan.; W. M. Gerard, Indianapolis; L. M. Stratton, Chicago.

The capital stock of the company is fixed at $1,000,000 in shares of $100 each. It is organized on the same general plan as a mutual building and loan association, and each member is required to own at least two shares. One-half the stock is set apart for a building fund, the operation of the plan being contingent upon the securing of at least 1,300 subscribers to the stock.

The company proposes to operate in the central western states in securing subscribers to its stock.

The Orphan's Fourth of July.

Through the kindness of some of the charitable friends of the orphanage, the children had a very pleasant time on the fourth. Their never-tiring benefactress, Mrs. Carey, collected upwards of $20 wherewith to purchase goodies and fireworks for the little folks, besides sending herself, an immense basket of all kinds of good things. The same good lady spent most of the afternoon with them, helping them to enjoy ice cream, candy and fruit, which had been plentifully supplied. The children tried to entertain their good friend by reciting declamations and singing songs appropriate to the nation's holiday. The evening was not less enjoyable than had been their pleasurable day. Thousands of rare fireworks were sent forth and those who witnessed the display admired the true spirit of patriotism which it inculcated.

Some of those who contributed were: Mr. John A. Creighton, $5; Mr. John A. McShane, $5; Mrs. R. C. Cushing, $5; Mrs. James McShane, $1; Mrs. W. Hennessey, $1; Mrs. Welling, $1; Mrs. Benjamin Gallagher, $1; Mrs. T. Lowery, $1; Mrs. Fred Nash, 25 cents; Mrs. Sullivan, cake; Mr. Peacock, tongue.

The Best Location in City.

Question of Credit.

County Commissioner Timme wants it understood that in turning over to the city the warrant for $10,000, the county does not waive any of its rights as to the balance, $1,100, that is still claimed. He states that this was done simply to help the city. Regarding the balance of the claim, he thinks that when a final settlement is reached, the city will discover that there is but little coming. While the books of the city show a balance of $1,100 due, Mr. Timme thinks this has been paid without giving the county credit for the same.

The amount was paid by settling with Jensen for the grading of West Farnam street. The estimate was allowed, but was never properly entered on the books in the city treasurer's office.

Hard Headed Professor.

An attraction at the policemen's picnic on July 15 which is not down on the printed progamme will be the appearance of Prof. William Wells of New York. Mr. Wells is known as the man with the iron skull. Two-inch planks and policemen's clubs will be broken over the professor's head to show that his skull is thicker than that of the southern negro. Wells will no doubt be a drawing card and add considerable to the amusements of the day.

SAYS IT'S BOSH.

Mr. Phillippi on Alleged Freight Manipulations—Railroad Notes.

General Agent Phillippi of the Missouri Pacific says the reports from Chicago that the Gould roads have been manipulating rates in order to secure hard coal shipped from Toledo and the mines into Omaha is all bosh and without any foundation in fact. He says all the coal which has been shipped into Omaha has been for C. B. Havens & Co., who are the agents in this city for the soft coal mined in Missouri by the Missouri Pacific road. On account of the business relations of these people to the Missouri Pacific they naturally ship all their coal over that road. Mr. Phillippi says they bought all their winter supply of coal in May and it is being shipped as fast as mined. There will be several hundred more cars of it as there were about two thousand cars in all.

The Chicago men are kicking, he said, because this firm did not buy through them and are trying to make trouble, but the railroads are not saying anything, as they understand the situation.

In a recent issue of the Rising City Rustler appeared a lengthy editorial severely scoring the Union Pacific management for the manner in which it conducts its affairs, and especially objecting to the "rat-trap of a depot" at Rising City, the stockyards at the same point, and the manner in which trains are run. The attention of Assistant General Manager Dickinson was called to the article which he glanced hastily over and then threw it aside, stating that it was only a sample of a lot of similar complaints that were constantly being made.

"I have been very busy since I came back to the road," continued Mr. Dickinson," and have not had time to look into all the details. Whenever a fault is found it is corrected. It is to our best interest to accommodate the public and we purpose to do it. We give the public the best accommodations possible in every respect, but we can't afford to build palatial depots at every sidetrack and run palace cars for the accommodation of two or three people."

"Cold, couch, coffin is what philosophers term 'a logical sequence.'" One is very liable to follow the other; but by curing the cold with a dose of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cough will be stopped and the coffin not needed—just at present.

NEW STREET CAR FAD.

Bell Punches Displaced by a Newfangled Fare Indicator.

The street railway company has struck a new fad. It has done away with the bell punches worn by conductors and substituted the overhead fare register. The conductors are not pleased with the change, as they claim that careless and ignorant passengers will ring in their salaries.

The new registers, which are placed in the frond end of the cars, look like the dials of a lot of clocks. There is an indicator with a rope attachment. This rope runs along the roof of the car, close to the bell cord. When a fare is collected the conductor reaches up, pulls the rope, and the indicator shows that 5 cents fare has been collected.

On the first trip out yesterday one of the conductors had an old lady for a passenger. She wanted to stop at a down-town crossing, but instead of telling the conductor she reached up and commenced pulling the cord to the indicator, thinking it was the bell rope. Before she could be stopped she had rung up six fares. Other conductors had similar experiences, and now they are all against the use of the new machines.

Mr. Seeger Feels Satisfied.

Robert Seeger, the St. Paul man who has secured the contract for lighting the suburban portions of the city with gasoline lamps, is feeling happy over the result.

Mr. Seezer states that he will at once begin the work of complying with the terms of his contract and in a short time will have all of his lamps trimmed and burning. He will establish a warehouse and repair shop in this city that will give employment to at least twenty-five men.

Regarding the lamps he states he will buy none of those now used by the Ohio company, but will use new material throughout. He is well satisfied with the price and states that he can make money on his contract. In speaking of the Ohio company he states that those people, under a different name, were in St. Paul and offered to furnish that city lamps at $14.52 per lamp per year on a three years' contract.

Mr. Seeger thinks the Omaha councilmen are fighters and states that he never entered into such a vigorous contest as the one just closed. He enjoyed it, as he felt that he would secure the contract if the council dealt square with the people.

Big Time for the Baptists.

C. F. Bricknell of the B. & M. general passenger office, returned yesterday from Chicago where he was a delegate to the national convention of the Baptist young people's societies. He was obliged to leave at the close of the first day's session, but he states that the attendance of delegates was a great surprise to the most sanguine. About 2,000 delegates had been expected, but when Mr. Bicknell left there were 3,500 on the grounds and many more enroute. The delegation which left Omaha was met at points along the line by large crowds of people who cheered them on their way. At Corning, Ia., the whole town turned out and a brass band added to the general uproar.

HIBBLER'S SALOON.

Police Determined to Close the Place for Good.

Louis Hibbler was arrested late yesterday afternoon for selling liquor without a license. Hibbler kept a saloon at the corner of Forty-sixth and Leavenworth streets. In the fall of 1890 he was arrested for selling liquor on Sunday and the board of fire and police commissioners revoked his license. The case was taken to the district court and the decision of the license board reversed. In January of the present year Hibbler applied for a new license and was refused by the commissioners. Again an application was made for the same location, but in another name. This was also refused.

The prisoner was notified by the police that the board would not grant him a license and he was instructed to keep his saloon closed. This he did not do, but opened the doors and sold drinks.

Detectives Haze, Ellis and Dempsey and Officer Dibborn went out to his saloon about 4 o'clock and placed Hibbler under arrest and confiscated his stock of liquors.

The plunder was taken to police headquarters and stored. The arrest and confiscation was made under the act of 1889, which orders the authorities to take possession of the goods and if a conviction follows the property is to be destroyed.

A penalty of a fine not more than $200 and not more than thirty days in the county jail, or both, is the maximum punishment for a violation of the law.

Hibbler gave bond shortly after his arrest for his appearance in court today.

The Mining Exchange.

OMAHA, Neb., July 9.—To the Editor of THE BEE: Your notice in THE SUNDAY BEE in regard to Omaha's distance from mines calls from me this article in regard to sampling works.

If the citizens will attend my meeting Friday next I will explain how these sampling works will solve the mystery of mining.

I mean by mystery the uncertainty that has caused so much loss of money invested, and so much greater loss by the construction of impractical plants to work ores that could not be worked by the process.

Many Omaha capitalists have invested their money in mines, and very unprofitably, and it has been for the want of this very source of information that I propose to establish, all of which I will proceed to explain. As to the distance from our city to the mines it is not in the way, for ores are treated in Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and our largest refining works are in the far east. This is a legitimate line of manufacturing, as the freights are in our favor and no trouble to sell the product. WILLIAM E. MEAD.

Tricked by Little Thunder.

William Williams came to Omaha yesterday noon in the custody of a United States marshal and at once took up his abode at the county jail. Williams is from Chadron. July 4, a stranger he struck the town and intended to go to work for the railroad company. He had a bottle of liquor in his pocket and from this he drank now and then. At one time when he was lowering the contents of the flask, a Pine Ridge Indian stepped up and demanded a drink. Williams had never had any experience with the noble reds and thought a refusal meant the loss of his scalp lock. He promptly complied with the red man's request. The Indian, whose name is Little Thunder drained the bottle and then hustled away to tell an officer that the white man had given him fire water. As a result of all of this Williams will appear before Judge Dundy.

Potatoes for the Army.

"Soldiers like potatoes," said the chief clerk in the commissary department yesterday as he proceeded to open bids for new potatoes. "The great wonder to me is that the department does not increase the allowance in that particular article and cut it down in some other things. Each soldier is allowed one pound of potatoes per day and he actually eats about two pounds a day. Now on salt meats it is just the other way. The soldiers do not eat more than one-third of their ration in that line. The meat is sold back to the commissary department and the money is used for the purchase of other things, including potatoes."

There were but two bids sent in yesterday at the headquarters, but bids were also opened at nearly all the posts in the department for the same article. Bidders appeared to be very cautious, as the new crop is not yet far enough advanced to bank on. Two samples, one of fine, large potatoes at $2 per hundred pounds, and the other, a smaller kind, at $1.50 per hundred, were submitted. The large potatoes were considered the best for the money.

The Number is 114.

The Village of Elkhorn Torn Up Over a School Election.

The citizens of the unusually quiet little town of Elkhorn are now all torn up and are engaged in a desperate struggle over the question of who shall teach the village school during the coming year.

For three years a young man by the name of Allen has wielded the birch and he hoped that it would fall into his hands for another year. They elected a new director at Elkhorn not long ago and that broke the combine as far as Allen was concerned. The other day the board met and elected a man named Cuming to fill the position.

This aroused Allen's ire, and with the aid of his friends he proposes to contest the matter. He claims that the election was illegal; that it was held in June, when it should have been held the first Monday in July.

Both sides have put on the war paint and will come before Superintendent Mathews for a decision.

Applicants Who Would Superintend Omaha's School Work.

Applications for the position of superintendent of the Omaha public schools are arriving on every mail.

There are two Iowa men, one Michigan, two Illinois, one Dakota, two Missouri, one New York and two Nebraska men in the race. The friends and supporters of Mr. James are still, to all outward appearances, confident that they will re-elect the present incumbent. Mr. James says himself that the election of Mr. Conover is not necessarily conclusive evidence that the board will not elect him for another term.

It is now expected that the election will take place next Monday night although it can be postponed one more week.

The county commissioners have closed up the work of hearing complaints of property owners who feel that they have been unjustly assessed. This afternoon the board will hold a session, at which time they expect to make the annual levy. It is not known positively what the levy will be, but owing to the present condition of the general fund, it will be greater than last year. One of the commissioners said that the levy for the coming year will be 2 per cent greater than last year.
