

THE DAILY BEE

E. ROSEWATER, EDITOR. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING. TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION: Daily Bee without Sunday One Year... $8.00

OFFICES: Omaha, The Bee Building. Council Bluffs, 208-210 North First Street. Chicago Office, 37 Chamber of Commerce. New York Office, 147 Nassau Street.

SUBSCRIPTIONS: All communications relating to news and editorial matters should be addressed to the Editorial Department. BUSINESS LETTERS: All business letters and remittances should be addressed to The Bee Publishing Company, Omaha.

SWORN STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION: State of Nebraska, County of Douglas, I, George B. Tschuck, secretary of The Bee Publishing Company, do hereby solemnly swear that the actual circulation of The Daily Bee for the week ending July 11, 1891, was as follows:

Table with columns for date and circulation figures. Includes entries for Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and an average.

NEBRASKA is the most fertile state in the union and the most prosperous. LANCASTER county's tax levy for 1892 is $17.7 mills; that of Douglas county 14 mills.

A YIELD of 150,000,000 bushels of corn is almost a certainty for 1891. This will be worth $45,000,000.

NEBRASKA will harvest 50,000,000 bushels of small grain this month. It is worth at least $25,000,000.

The circulating medium of the union is $24 per capita. The bank deposits alone of Nebraska $47 per capita.

It would be interesting to know just how much each school janitor has had to put up in order to retain his place.

MONEY in banks to the credit of Nebraska depositors subject to check, over $10,000,000. A fact like this speaks for itself.

A MOST natural result of the present financial situation will be active operations in mining enterprises and mining stocks.

NEBRASKA farmers will market not less than $30,000,000 worth of hogs, cattle, sheep, poultry, produce and miscellaneous products this year.

THE gentlemen who have concluded to nominate a governor this fall are promising a very empty honor to some unsophisticated third party politician.

IT is better to be a Nebraska farmer year after year in spite of occasional reverses than to be the owner of stocks and bonds of the Union Pacific railway.

THE fact that there are 6,000 saloons in Chicago ought to make the most rigid Sabbatarian relax his opposition to opening the gates of the world's fair on Sundays.

BURROWS and Peffer, and Powers and Elder will go out of politics when the people get at the facts about themselves in these great prairie agricultural states.

DEMAGOGUES may howl and walking delegates declaim against the business reputation of Nebraska, but the facts presented in THE BEE today are unassailable.

NEBRASKA'S PROGRESS AND POSSIBILITIES.

In the procession of the states of the American union along the lines of material progress, the march of Nebraska has been notable. THE BEE presents in this issue carefully collected and trustworthy statistics showing the progress of this state in population and wealth, and it is an exhibit in which every citizen of Nebraska will find cause for pride and confidence.

What has been accomplished it points out, also, what is still possible of achievement before the resources of this great state shall have reached the limit of development. A study of these statistics, which show an aggregate prosperity that will compare favorably with that of most of the states, and are a conclusive answer to those who have persistently asserted that our people are not prosperous, will satisfy all intelligent men that it was not a mere figure of speech which President Harrison employed when in Omaha referring to the vast capabilities of Nebraska.

There is no comfort for the traducers of Nebraska in the statistics which THE BEE presents this morning. They bear conclusive testimony that in the aggregate the people of this state are enjoying as large a measure of prosperity as those of almost any other state in the union. The splendid crop prospects for this year, if realized, will materially increase this prosperity and put the great majority of our producers in a position to easily meet every obligation. The outlook for Nebraska is altogether cheering.

MR. PARSELL is getting no mercy from any quarter since the defeat of his candidate at Carroll. Every where that result appears to be regarded as decisive of his fate as the leader of the Irish party, and although he professes not to feel disheartened it is difficult to see how he can longer make a stand against the overwhelming opposition that confronts him.

WITH an unimproved area half as large as the state of Ohio, Nebraska has room for a great many more people. Those people who want to impose restrictive restrictions upon immigration cannot hope, therefore, for any support from this state.

THE statistics of bank deposits in Nebraska shows a very fair amount of home capital. Of course there could be no objection to more, but it is desirable to acquire it in the same way that what we have been acquired, that is, by honest industry and judicious thrift.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

union. Then he will thank George Francis Train for his enterprise and include Omaha in his tour around the earth to satisfy himself that while the moderns construct no useless lasting monuments to their architectural and mechanical skill they have filled the occident with a glory of achievement in mechanics, architecture, science and commercial skill which makes this the most remarkable epoch of history and immortalizes the nineteenth century.

HARVEST EXCURSIONS.

Tuesday, July 14, the Trans-Missouri Railway Traffic association convenes at Kansas City. At that time final action will be taken upon the subject of harvest excursions.

THE BEE in common with the press of the state regards this subject as one of very great importance. Nebraska's reputation has been attacked by demagogues and her character as an agricultural state has been impeached.

NEBRASKA never looked more attractive than at present. Her people were never more hopeful for the future. No man who has lived in this state for ten years has ever doubted the proposition that Nebraska is the most fertile agricultural section of America or had any fears for her future.

WE want people who are looking to the west for homes and investments to see the state as she is in all her beauty. We want the evil impressions of a bad crop year removed. We want our friends to join us in a harvest jubilee.

THE railways have as much stake as the people of the state. They cannot afford to discourage the excursions. They should unite upon the old harvest rates, or better ones, and so put all eastern passenger agents in the field to advertise Nebraska.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

this state is far above the average in financial prosperity. Deposits in the banks represent the actual surplus of cash. They are not clearing house credits or hypothetical assets, Nebraska has but two considerable cities and no other great manufacturing or commercial centers.

NEBRASKA has few men of immense wealth. These savings are consequently the accumulation of the many and not of the few. They are merely the beginnings of the future wealth which labor, soil and business skill are building up in this commonwealth.

THE BEE in common with the press of the state regards this subject as one of very great importance. Nebraska's reputation has been attacked by demagogues and her character as an agricultural state has been impeached.

NEBRASKA never looked more attractive than at present. Her people were never more hopeful for the future. No man who has lived in this state for ten years has ever doubted the proposition that Nebraska is the most fertile agricultural section of America or had any fears for her future.

WE want people who are looking to the west for homes and investments to see the state as she is in all her beauty. We want the evil impressions of a bad crop year removed. We want our friends to join us in a harvest jubilee.

THE railways have as much stake as the people of the state. They cannot afford to discourage the excursions. They should unite upon the old harvest rates, or better ones, and so put all eastern passenger agents in the field to advertise Nebraska.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

Polk that some, possibly two-thirds, of those mortgages have been discharged; that many of them represent two or more sales of the same piece of property, and that at least as many of them are on city business or manufacturing property, and probably more, than on "farm and homes."

An Editorial Sermon.

Take things as they are and make the best of them. Prudence in a woman should be an instinct, not an art. Happiness is like the echo—it answers but does not come. Vice in the young fills us with horror—in the old, disgust. Old men are often wretched, but it is a very good risk to take.

THE BEE in common with the press of the state regards this subject as one of very great importance. Nebraska's reputation has been attacked by demagogues and her character as an agricultural state has been impeached.

NEBRASKA never looked more attractive than at present. Her people were never more hopeful for the future. No man who has lived in this state for ten years has ever doubted the proposition that Nebraska is the most fertile agricultural section of America or had any fears for her future.

WE want people who are looking to the west for homes and investments to see the state as she is in all her beauty. We want the evil impressions of a bad crop year removed. We want our friends to join us in a harvest jubilee.

THE railways have as much stake as the people of the state. They cannot afford to discourage the excursions. They should unite upon the old harvest rates, or better ones, and so put all eastern passenger agents in the field to advertise Nebraska.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

THE region west of the Mississippi has not for many years had so favorable an outlook for prosperity and progress as it now has. In portions of it the conditions in recent years have been quite as satisfactory as at present, but considering it as a whole, if the promise of this year is verified, the results will probably exceed in value those of any previous year in our history.

MARRIED TWICE IN A MONTH.

Predicament of a Couple United by an Expelled Preacher.

POSSIBLE SEQUEL TO THE SHEEY CASE.

Failure of a Grocer—Two Men Missing—A Bank for Ponca—Will Lose His Eyesight.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 11.—[Special to THE BEE.] D. Price, a well known young attorney of Lincoln, has undergone the pleasant experience of being married twice within the past month, and to the same young lady each time.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

THE man Edwards, who performed the ceremony, is known in Iowa as "Patent-right Joe." He has done some preaching when business was dull, but it is alleged by the Methodist minister that serious charges were made against Edwards in Iowa about two weeks ago and he was given the choice of either standing a church trial or withdrawing his name from the ministry.

about ten days since. In company with a half dozen other youths he went out to Salt Creek, and all went in swimming. On the way back he was struck by the city engineer's freight car, and one of the youths followed down the side of the party to dive from the top of the car to the creek.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

LEADER W. McFadden took the "dare" and leaped from the car to the water. In doing so, however, he lost his balance and struck the water full on the one side of his face and with his tape line and telescope and the aid of a lot of men with shovels and ho handles, succeeded in cutting the street down until Leander's house stood fourteen feet high in the air and looked like a light-house on a rock-bound coast.

Reasons Why Dr. Price's Delicious Flavoring Extracts of Lemon, Vanilla, etc., Are Superior to All Others... They are prepared from the choicest and purest materials. They contain no poisonous oils or ethers. They are highly concentrated. They are more economical as they require less to flavor. No delicacies are ever spoiled by their use. They impart the true flavor of the fruit from which they are made.