Michael Gleason, jr., died in the hospital at Denver yesterday morning, consumption being the cause. The remains will be brought to this city, and funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Francis Xavier's church. Mr. Gleason, sr., is also quite ill at his home in this city, and with the recent bereavements the cup of sorrow of this family seems more than filled.

E. A. Babcock, the weil known Avoca attorney, was taken before the insane commissioners some time ago for an examination, and was ordered by them to be taken to St. Bernard's hospital for treatment. Yesterday an uncle of his from Webster City arrived in the Bluffs and secured an order from the commissioners to have his nephew delivered into his care. He took him home with him to Webster City last evening.

Officers O'Connell and Martin went to Cut Off island yesterday to lay in a supply of liquor sellers who have been plying their trade without interference from the city authorities for some time past. There are seven salcons on the island, but five of the owners were away on their summer vaca-tions, so that they could not be found. Tom Anderson and Pat Johnson were arrested and brought to this side of the river. They will be given a chance to contribute fifty dollars and costs to the city revenues tomorrow morning. No trouble was experienced by the officers in handling them, as they had had the promise of assistance from the Omaha authorities in case the men objected to being taken back to lows soil after being carried through Omaha.

County Seat War. Judge Wakefield had rendered a decision in the Harrison county seat injunction case which was commenced in his court at Sloux City to restrain the county board of supervisors from acting on the petition for the removal of the county seat. In handing down his decision Judge Wakefield held that the position of the Missouri Valley people was correct, and that the board of supervisors had the exclusive privilege of deciding whether or not the petition was fraudulent. The board is now at liberty to go on and decide whether the county seat shall remain Logan or be removed to Missouri Valley.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Dr. Bryson Starts a Crusade Against the Bellinger Institute.

ARREST OF THE CHIEF AND ONE HELPER.

Charged with Practicing Medicine Without Authority from the State Board of Health - Other Doctors are Liable.

Dr. W. G. Bryson, the Omaha doctor who took an active part in the investigation that was made of the Omaha medical institute, and that resulted in the exoneration of the doctors of the institute from all charges of criminal proceedings, has turned his attention to the Bellinger hospital of this city, and announces that it is the next institution which he proposes to annihilate. With this purpose he filed an information against F. P. Bellinger yesterday morning in superior court, charging him with practicing medicine without having a permit from the state board of health, as required by law. At the same time he filed a similar information against F. Grung, one of the assistants at the hospital, and Grung was arrested hight before last.

Dr. Bellinger was arrested yesterday, but was immediately released on his own recognizance, to appear next Tuesday morning; when Bryson says a representative of the state board of health will be on the ground to prosecute the case.

The fact that Dr. Billinger did not record his certificate from the state board of health he accounts for simply on the ground of negligence, and not out of a desire to make trouble. The following list of practicing physicians, as copied from the records in the county clerk's office shows that Dr. Bellinger county clerk's office shows that Dr. Bellinger is not the only one who has neglected to comply with the legal formality: John Green, J. M. Barstow, J. H. Cleaver, T. B. Lacey, Donald Macrae* A. J. Cook, T. H. Allison, P. J. Montgomery, A. P. Hanchett, H. B. Jennings, M. J. Bellinger, W. L. Capell, C. A. Pinney, J. F. Lightning played sad havoc with the tele phone lines yesterday morning at 2:30 o'clock. The night operator, Miss Nettie Bredsoe, was at her post, when she was suddenly surprised at seeing a sheet of fire running along the wires that entered the room, and completely enveloped one of the switch boards. Upon investigation, after the fire had passed away, it was found that eighty-two fuses had been twis found that eighty-two fases and outpurned out, and consequently eighty-two of the subscribers were unable to use their tele-phones yesterday morning. Manager C. A. Atkins was at the office at an early hour re-pairing the damage, and by 10 o'clock, with the assistance of the full force of the "nello" girls, the damage had been repaired and the phones were in good shape.

Will Leave Their Prison. Dillon and O'Brien will be discharged from the Galway gaol on the 30th. Both are in good health. By that time O'Brien will probably have more backbone than he possessed during the peace overtures between him and Parnell. The latter is dead as a door nail since the Carlow election, and is not a source of interest to anyone. A majority of 2,000 in a poll of 5,000 is a hard enough fact to penetrate the dullest brain. Besides Parnell said he would win. An analysis of the vote shows that not more than a thousand home rulers voted for his candidate. The rest of his vote was given by conservatives who are solid for him. The national federation in America need have no doubt as to the result of the struggle between Parnell and the patriots.

BRITISH VOLUNTEERS. England's Citizen Soldiers Reviewed

by the Emperor of Germany. LONDON, July 11 .- The emperor of Gernany remained at the state ball until 3 o'clock this morning. At 8 o'clock he arose and breakfasted. Shortly before noon the emperor inspected the yeomen of the guard. Then, in company with the empress and attended by a brilliant suite, the emperor drove to the residence of the German ambassador, where the imperial party was entertained at lunch. In the afternoon the emperor and empress left London for Wimpledon to be present at the review of the troops. In obedience to instructions from the war office all the volunteers were equipped in full marching order, and the experts who watched their arrival were unanimously of the opinion that the men made a fine muster. Many of the volunteer regiments, in order to show the emperor that they were not such "rear rankers" as some people supposed, preferred to march in full heavy marching order all the way to Wimbledon and back again to their regimental districts, some of these regiments thus falling in for a good twenty to twenty-five miles tramp.

Admiration for the Volunteers. By 2:30 p. m. all the regulars, numbering from six to seven thousand men, were in the positions assigned to them, though the voluneers were still pouring in a living 'stream up the common. Everybody admired and commented upon the excellent order and admirable steadiness with which the volunteers marched upon the ground, even the veteran army officers admitting that the The tradesmen did very well. tire body of troops was under the supreme command of his royal highness, the dule of Cambridge, commander-in-chief of the British army. The volunteers numbered about eighteen thousand men. The infantry was divided into two divisions under the ommand of the duke of Connaught and Sir Wood, K. C. B., respectively. All the brigades were massed in readiness for the review at 3:30 p. m., and at that nour the duke of Cambridge, followed by a numerous staff, which showed the troops to be in a very creditable condition.

Arrival of the Emperor. By this time the emperor and his part were drawing near the common and at 4 o'clock the artillery thundered out a saiute and the German imperial standard was run up on the flagstaff at the viewing stand in place of the British standard, and almost immediately the emperor of Germany, accompanied by the prince of Wales and a staff of brilliant uniforms and followed by an escort of the Life guards, dashed up to the saluting point in gallant style, the horses thundering over the sward, the officer's and soldier's arms flashing and clashing with harmony. Arriving at the saluting point the emperor and his party drew rein and as the emperor saluted he was received by the duke of Cambridge and staff, while a royal salute was fired by the artillery. The emperor was mounted upon a magnificent black charger and was dressed in the uniform of a field marshal of the White Cuirassiers.

Review of the Troops. When the sound of the last gun of the salute had died away among the distant hills the emperor, attended by his staff, led by the duke of Cambridge, proceeded to inspect the British regiment and the volunteers. After this inspection, which seemed to impress the emperor with a favorable opinion of the equipments, the ruler of Germany rode back to the saluting point. As soon as the emperor was seated in front of the stand with the duke of Cambridge near him and with their two staffs. him and with their two staffs behind them the march commenced and lasted an hour and a half. Not only the emperor but the German military critics behind him were of the opinion that the march past was per-formed in splendid style. So much was the emperor impressed with the soldierly be-havior of the volunteers that on several oc-casions he addressed countimentary remarks. casions he addressed complimentary remarks to the officers in command of the different corps which met with his warmest approval referring in warm terms to the smartness of the men's appearance and to the precision with which they passed the reviewing point. As the emperor proceeded to inspect the troops and as the troops marched past the reviewing point the combined bands of the guards played the Ger man anthem. After the cavairy came the regular artillery brigades, and they were followed in turn by the infantry. After the entire body of treops had marched past the lines were reformed, the soldiers presented arms, another royal salute was fired and the review was at an end.
Immediately after the termination of these military ceremonies the emperor started for the Crystal palace to witness a parade of the volunteer fire department and a grand display of fireworks in the evening.

The imperial party after inspecting the fire brigade on the grounds of the Crystal palace, dired privately in the palace. They after-wards viewed the display of fireworks ar-ranged in their honor and then returned to Split in Texas Alliance Probable. FORT WORTH, Tex., July 11.-The principal feature of the state alliance convention this morning was a speech by U. S. Hall, president of the Missouri alliance. He charged that Dr. Macune has sold out for a money consideration to the protectionists, and in the furtherance of that bargain the third party move was inaugurated in the south to divert the democratic vote. He said that it was no disgrace for such a dishonest man as Macune to get into the alliance, but it would become a disgrace if he was not turned out. President Ham was loudly applauded. It is believed the outcome of the convention will be a split in the state alliance, one faction representing the third party and the other the democratic wing.

CHICAGO, July 11 .- The meeting of managers of the Western Passenger association is a thing of the past and absolutely no progress has been made toward the settlement of the questions on which Chairman Finley and the Chicago & Alton road are at loggerheads. It was demonstrated at the morning session that a majority of the roads still maintained their opposition to the Alton's policy in the controversy and were disposed to sustain the chairman at all bazards. This was made so clear to General Manager Chappell of the Alton that he did not attend the afternoon session at all, and the other managers, after a half hour's informal discussion of the subject, adjourned without reaching any conclusion. Thus the movement to restore harmony through the intervention of the general managers foll flat. While the Rock Island and the Chicago, St. Paul & Kansas City strongly defended the Alton's position the Chicago & Northwestern favored a compromise and all the rest declared in favor of sustaining Chairman Finley. The Gould lines seemed to lead the opposition to the Alton, snd there were those who thought they saw in this a were those who thought they saw in this a scheme on the part of Jay Gould himself to force the Alton into a position from which it can only escape by joining the western traffic association.

The report has been current for a week that Mr. Finloy's course throughout had been dictated by the presidents of the lines in the latter association for the purpose of coercing the Alton management into signing the president's agreement. This, however, is emphatically denied by Mr. Finley.

As matters now—stand it is difficult to see how the present state of affairs—can be remedied. Chairman Finley ruled this morning that it was not in order for the association to reverse or affirm his decision because the Alton had not appealed therefrom. The Alton refused to make an appeal because it denies that the chairman had any au-thority in the first place to order the advance in rates between St. Louis and Chicago, and the matter rests. In the meanting the privileges of a member of the Western Passenger association has been denied the Alton, and that road can new apparently proceed to take care of its business in any man ner that suits itself unhampered by any agree ment with competing lines.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, more than any other road, is using the Western Traffic association as a sort of court of appeals. The board of commissions, which was in session again today, had under consideration several cases in which the Atchison is the party in chief interest. One chase has reference to Colorado tickets, which admit of considerable manipulation by the Denver & Rio Grande and Rock Island roads. It is claimed, for instance, that when the Rio Grande sells a ticket from some point on its line to Chicago by way of Denver and the Rock Island road the latter has an oppor tunity to handle the ticket between Colorad Springs and Denver both ways, and the chances for scalping are excellent. Atchison asks that the tickets shall be nly by the direct routes, which would shut Denver out.

New Passenger Route to Boston. New York, July 11.-Austin Corbin, pres ident of the Long Island railroad company, signed the contract vesterday establishing the Long Island & Eastern States line, the new passenger route to Boston via the Long Island railroad. The other parties to the contract are the Housatonic & New York and New England roads. The contract covers a period of fifty years. By the new route it is said passengers can be carried. route, it is said, passengers can be carrie from Long Island City to Oyster bay, then by ferry to Wilson's Point, Conn., and by rail to Boston without change of cars in the length of time as from the Grand Central station in this city over the New Haven & Hartford railroad.

OUT ON A MAN HUNT.

Big Shooting Party Looking for Human Game. Islap, L. I., July 11,-Nearly two hundred men armed with shotguns, rifles and revolvers scoured the woods north of this place yesterday and searched Saxton's swamp, a mile and a half away, for Tom Richardson, cowboy, robber and bandit. Two caves have been discovered cunningly constructed in the sandy scrub oak land between here and Brentwood, in which he has concealed the booty of numerous robberies and in one of which, it is supposed, he meant to cage his wife after he succeeded in abducting her forcibly from her father's home, where she fled months ago. For ten days the country people have been looking for him with guns meaning to shoot him on sight. The town authorities are trying to suppress all report of the affair until Richardson is arrested Several times Richardson has been seen, bu-he was never near enough for arrest. James Richardson, the bandit's brother, was ar-rested on Wednesday while he was looking for his brother in the woods. The searchers put in a drag net for Tom Richardson vesterday afternoon. Men assembled along the railroad track over a mile in length and then started straight into the woods toward Saxton's swamp. In this swamp it is believed that Richardson is nuting. Another body of men has been stationed on the opposite side. The object was to drive him from his liar to be shot down by the party lying in ambush. "It's like rabbit shooting," said one of the marksmen whom a reporter found in the woods, rifle in hand, beating his way labriously through the thicket. "Some of us beat the brush and drive him out and the others are to shoot him." The search will go on until he is brought in dead or alive. The Islip folks are in earnest.

Member of a Prominent Atchison Family Missing. ATCHISON, Kan., July 11.—|Special Telegram to THE BEE, -Ameria Schmeling, thirty years old, the sister-in-law of Henry Jacobs a well known cittzen, has disappeared and her friends are very much alarmed. A month ago she left the house of her brother-in-law where she was living, saving she was going to make her own way in the world.

She had had trouble with the family, and as she was in a bad humor it was supposed that she had inerely gone to visit some friends in Topeka. Today some of ner Topeka friends carie to Atchison to visit her and were surprised to learn that she was sup posec to have been visiting them. The proceedings were more popular appointment since the beginsecret, and although the decision was renning of his administration than that of the dered on June 18 no inkling of the matter had last assistant secretary of the treasury, Mr. leaked out. The only public step in the af-Lorenzo Crounse of Omaha, Mr. Crounse fair was the serving of the notice by publicawas not a stranger in Washington when he tion when the suit was begun in December, accepted the appointment. He had served one term in congress and was somewhat familiar It seems that the writer of lurid fiction had with departmental procedure, but he had been something of a man about town for never held an appointive office here and in some time. His conduct is said to have been worthy of the author of "A Transaction in Hearts" and other realistic tales. When he appeared at Saratoga or Richfield Springs all the girls were anxious to meet him, as they thought he must be a very bad man to write consequence had everything to learn. He has proved an apt scholar. He has mastered the details of the department thoroughly and some of his immediate subordinates are sursuch suggestive books. He was lionized for a time and the sudden popularity of his un-conventional books made him the center of attraction wherever he appeared. He is in appearance somewhat dudish looking, and affects the English style. He is about thirtyprised to find that he can give them valuable points as to the management of their respective bureaus. Mr. Crounse has succeeded in getting rid of a great deal of official red tape in conductng the affairs of his office. It is far easier o get proper information from him than from any of the other assistants in the department, and besides this he has a manner about him which makes him popular with all who have business in the department. The fact that Mr. Crounse was not an applicant for the position and that he is a man of independent fortune, makes him a bad individual for the oull dozer to tackle. The walking delegates who wanted to force the secretary of the treasury to take back the discharged plat plate printers were the first to discover this fact. They visited Mr. Crounse before they saw the secretary himself, and to use the language of one of them, "We took him for a granger, but he very soon convinced us that we were mistaken." Mr. Crounse has been compelled to devote a great deal of time to the selection of sites for public buildings, and the inter ested real estate speculators who went to visit him soon learned that they had a new species of official to deal with. The result as been beneficial to the government, the assistant secretary has at the same time made an excellent reputation for himself. No More Grief Holidays.

The federal departments were not closed this week on the occasion of the funeral of the late vice president, Hannibal Hamlin, Fatal Accident to a Party of Workmen and the clerks who expected a holiday were disappointed. They don't like the new order CHICAGO, July 11 .- By the falling of the of things, as they look upon it as a precedent which has now been established and which will probably result in debarring them from Fair building, corner of Adams and Dearborn streets, this evening a number of workmen were buried in the debris. Their names are "grief holidays" in the future.

For years it has been the custom in all th Richard Hughes, John Murphy and Al executive departments to close up on the day of the funeral of any man who had ever served in the cabinet. The technical name Patou, They cannot recover. They were hurled thirty feet into the basement and frightfully crushed. every case the clerks who were released from labor on that day forgot all about the object off the cessation of labor, and 75 per cent of the males devoted the day to pleasure, generally of a hilarious king. It is understood now that this is to b stopped entirely, an least during the exist ence of the present administration. If any member of the present cabinet dies the de-partments will be closed of course, and if either ex-President Cleveland or Hayes should pass away there would undoubedly b this outward and visible sign of official grie lisplayed. But the line will be drawn at

There is a very pecunar class of men in the departments to whom this new order of things is anything but a pleasant innovation. Go into any of the federal bureaus today and you will find a lot of gray headed old fellows who have been in office since the war. Ask any one of these and he will tell you the ame, age, present residence and occupatio of every living ex-member of the capinet He will also be able to tell you the exact physical condition of the entire lot. made this thing a study to order to figure out the chances for 'grief holidays' every year. The new regime makes all this knowledge worthless, and studies of this character will probably be abandoned for the future.

To Insure Registered Letters. It is propable that a strenuous effort will be nade in the next congress to bring about radical reform in the registration of letters Every postmaster, and every person directly connected with the postal service realize that the present system instead of enhancing the safety of money sent through the mails simply serves as a sign for dishonest postai employes to point out to them which letters would be worth stealing. The English postal regula-tions notify the sender of letters that he can register any package he desires to send hrough the mails by paying a registry fe of 2 pence or 4 cents. He is also notified tha of 2 pence or 4 cents. He is also notified that the payment of this fee insures to the extent of 5± ($25). By paying double the fee he can have have his letters insured for double the Inquiries have been set on foot through our consuls, to ascertain how many of the European governments have adopted the English system and what the result has been in the matter of losses. It is expected that the replies will be received in time to be of service when congress reassembles, and it is believed that they will show that the percentage of loss, under their insurance system, is far less than in the United States, where the government simply accepts twelve cents additiona for pointing out valuable letters to dishones

One of the principal officials of the post office department said, in discussing this question today: "Our present system is as bad as it is distancest. I myself never think of sending money in a registered letter, my experience in the postal service having taught me the folly of such a course. The only occa-sion when the government makes good losses of registered mails is when the blame for the James Goodrich, a prominent farmer, was oss can be directly fixed, and where the bitten by a pet dog six weeks ago and damages can be collected from the parties a fault. I think that we should take step towards insuring letters before we think o he was attacked with a high fever, which rapidly developed into hydrophobia. Late in reducing postage to 1 cent. The demand for the former is great, while after all there i no Macedonian cry for 'penny postage. It is a well known fact that the express companies of the country would jump at the chance of carrying letters for 12 cents apiece and that they would guaratee to insure the delivery of every one of them, and to make vulsions, lasting all night, and died good all losses, provided of course they could have all the business. But the law is rigid against permitting private corporations to curry letters. For this reason it seems only association organized here yesterday with right that the government should enter in the insurance business in this respect a Isaac Landers editor of the Honest Dollar, as least, especially as money would be made by
