OMAHA STILL IN SUSPENSE.

Not Yet Settled Whether the Coming Champions Will Remain Here.

PROMISE THAT THE TEAM WILL STAY.

Some Reason to Believe that the Club Will Ee Kept Intact-Lincoln Won from Kansas City

With Ease.

Citizens interested in the maintenance of Omaha's baseball team will have to be pa tient for a few hours longer, but they can rest assured that the enemies of the great sport stand a good chance of getting left at every turn in the road.

All sorts of obstacles have been thrown in the way of a speedy settlement of the embroglio, but the proper parties are taking a lively interest just now and the prospects are good for an amicable adjustment in spite of all adverse scheming.

There are a thousand and one reports affoat, but one thousand of them cut no figure in the case. There is no player in the Omana club going to deliberately cut his throat. Still there are many phases of the situation to be carefully considered, but with the arrival of President Krauthoff here the affairs of the club will receive a speedy disentanglement, and there is a good chance of the club's continuing right here.

The best men of the city are awakened to the necessities of the case, and it is reasonabie to suppose that they will work out a happy solution to the whole question. If they fail it will be their own fault. Business men who hope for the retention of Omaha's one great summer amusement and still greater advertising card should move promptly and in unison and the club will remain, and on a basis that will be a credit to both players and management. One prominent and wealthy business man declared yesterday that "there would be nev taken in at the gate under a new and popular management than has been realized during the entire season so far." If the citizens are successful and raise the funds to keep the club, the players will leave tonight for Denver, where they are scheduled to play tomorrow. If not, the present champions of the Western association will be seen for the last time on the local grounds today when they will play a game against the Eden Musees, for the benefit of the former team. Kansas City, July 15,—President Kraut-off of the Western ball association left tonight for Omaha where he will consult with Messrs. Morrison and Garneau concerning the transfer of, the Omaha club from the management of Dick McCormick to that of the former gentleman. concerning There were many wild stories affoat here today regarding the disbanding of the Omaha club and the sale of the players to the various clubs in the American association. President Krautoff was inter-viewed just before he left tonight on the status of the club. He said most emphatically that the club had not been dis-, and he thought it would not the reason, he said, the asso-could not afford to lose Omaha from the circuit, and everything posrom the circuit, and everything pos-sible would be done by the association to keep the club intact. He had anticipated, he said, that McCormick would attempt to disband the club and sell the players and, under the rules of the association, he had reserved the players for the association and they could not 20 to another association until the Western waives its claims upon upon them. Mr. McCormick's plan to refuse to disband and sell the men did not succeed. President Krautoff today received notice from the Denver management of the sale of Right Fielder Curtis to the Cincinnati league club. The Kansas Citys today released Pitcher Cohway.

Benefit Game Today. Whether or not the move to rehabilitate the Omaha base ball team is successful, the boys will have a benefit performance at the grounds today. A picked nine, strengthened by an Omaha battery, will try to make the game interesting. Jim Corbett of San Francisco will play first for Omaha. The teams

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 13 .- It is reported here that a proposition has been made to the American Base Ball association to transfer to the association the franchise and all players of the Louisville club to be operated during the remainder of the season. With the failure of the Falls City bank it becomes necessary to pay the debt owed by the club to tha tinstitution. The amount is $6,000. None of the directors nor stockholders have been found willing so far to advance the money, and there is no such sum in the treasury. The clob will probably be sold or the association must take charge.
