THE DAILY BEE

E. ROSEWATER EDITOR. PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. Daily Rec without Sunday One Year.... $ 8.00 Daily and Sunday, One Year 10.00 Elx months 5.00 Three months.
Sunday Bee, One Year.
Saturday Bee, One Year.
Weekly Bee, One Year. OFFICES:

Combin, The Rec Building.
South Omaha, Corner N and 26th Streets.
Council Bluffs, I2 Pearl Street.
Chleago Lifler, 317 Chamber of Commerce.
New York, Rooms 13,14 and 15, Tribune Building
Washington, 5:31 Fourteenth street. CORRESPONDENCE

All communications relating to news and editorial matter should be addressed to the Editorial Department. BUSINESS LETTERS All business letters and remittances should be addressed to The Ree Publishing Company, Omaha. Drafts, checks and postoffice orders to be made payable to the order of the com-pany.

The Bee Publishing Company. Proprietors THE BEE BUILDING.

SWORN STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION. State of Nebraska, [88]
County of Douglas, [88]
George B. Taschuck, secretary of The Bee
Fullishing company, does solemnly swear that the actual circulation of The Datty BEE for the week ending July 11, 1891, was as foiunday, July 5..... Sunday, July 6.

Tuesday, July 6.
Tuesday, July 7.
Wednesday, July 8.
Thursday, July 9.
Friday, July 10.
Saturday, July 11. ..26.018

27.081 Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this lith day of July, 1991.

N. P. FRIL,
Notary Public,

No P. F. F. F. State of Nebraska.

County of Ponglas, 188

George B. Trachuck, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is secretary of THE BEE Publishing company, that the actual average daily circulation of The Datty Bee for the month of July 1890, 20,82 comes; for August, 1800, 20,750 copies; for October, 1800, 20,752 copies; for October, 1800, 20,752 copies; for Newher, 180, 21,80 copies; for September, 180, 23,471 copies; for January, 1801, 23,446 copies; for February, 1801, 25,542 copies; for Kebruary, 1801, 25,542 copies; for May, 1891, 26,812 copies; for May, 1891, 26,812 copies; for June, 1801, 25,037 copies.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 6th day of June, A. D. 1891.

N. P. FEIL, Notary Public.

THE Standard oil company is Dutch to the extent at least of having captured Holland.

THE expert appointed to straighten out Bardsley's accounts has not succeeded in saving anything from the general wreck.

REV. SAM SMALL has deserted the Methodist church and joined the alliance. The Reverned Sam goes where wind is more in demand.

IF Nebraska puts $25,000 of her world's fair fund into a building, how are her director general and the six commissioners to be paid their salaries?

THERE were but 15 farmers present at the convention of M'ssouri and Kansas alliances and labor organizations on Wednesday. The other farmers were too busy harvesting to bother with poli-

HAMILTON county will make Governor Campbell wish he had never become a democrat before and after election. The split in the party so far as Hamilton county, Ohio, is concerned is irreparable.

THERE is probably no significance whatever in the fact that the capitalist of the newspaper syndicate which proposes to run a New York and Boston paper in Chicago is named Green and obtains his capital by inheritance.

HARVESTERS are scarce. All the implement men in the west agree that they have been unable to secure enough binders to supply the demand. In view of the large number of binder manufacturies this is rather remarkable and suggests the possibility that the manufacturers are simply working off old stock preparatory to a reorganization of the trust with a view to manufacturing but one kind of harvester.

LAST winter an act was passed by the legislature providing that the roadhouses and saloons within the three mile limit should be compelled to pay a license of $500 per annumn, and placed upon the commissioners the duty of providing for the collection of this license. There are probably fifty saloons within the territory named, but thus far no licenses have been issued. What do the commissioners propose to do about it.

CALIFORNIA protests against being shut out of the chiefship of the department of horticulture at the world's fair and offers through the state board of trade to be satisfied with the selection of any one of four gentlemen named, These are J. De Bath Shorb, a viticulturist of Pasadena; Frank Kimball, an all round fruit grower of San Diego; Elwood Cooper, an olive grower of Santa Barbara, and George A. Fleming of San Jose. This is something like business and the board of control may give the golden state another chance.

THE state of Alabama last year produced more iron ore than Pennsylvania. A decade ago the southern state stood seventh in the list of ironproducing states and the output of Pennsylvania was twelve times as large as that of Alabama. These facts illustrate the wonderful growth of the latter state in this branch of industry and suggest the possibilities of the future. From the census figures the indications are that the future centers of iron production will be Puget sound on the Pacific coast, Birmingham, east Tennessee and North Carolina in the south and the Pittsburg region in the north.

SENATOR CAREY of Wyoming, who has been traveling through the west, takes a hopeful view of the political outlook from the splendid condition of the crops. He remarks that farmers have stopped talking politics and have began those professional politicians who are willing that others should toil and spin while they wear the purple and fine new parties. These presper on poor crops and commercial depression.

OUGHT TO BE AN EASY VICTORY.

The Ohio republicans ought to win an are so serious that it will hardly be possible to harmonize the party. The bitter feeling manifested at the state convention clearly demonstrated that the factional hostility is too bitter to permit the party to "get together." There are not support Governor Campbell on personal grounds, and there are other thousands who will withhold their votes or give them to the republicans because of the attitude of the party regarding silver. Moreover all Ohio democrats are not opposed to the tariff. There is a very considerable element in the party that favors moderate protection, and these will not endorse by their votes the platform enunciation regarding the tariff. For one reason and another it would not be surprising if the democratic defection in Ohio this year should reach 50,000, but whether it may be republican success appears to be assured. The issue on the democratic side is the record of Governor Campbell's administration. This is shown by the speech of the governor to the convention after the nomination which was almost wholly taken up with a defense of his administration. The republicans will not avoid this issue, and they will be able to show that the claims of Governor Campbell will stand a great deal of correction. They will arraign the governor for the strictly partisan way in which he has used the public institutions of the state and the demoralizing effects of his policy regarding them. His boast of economy will be shown to be groundless, and he will be justly held responsible for the infamous gerrymander of the congressional districts, which he had the power to prevent. So far as this issue of the governor's record is concerned, therefore, the republicans of Ohio could desire nothing better on which to make a campaign. They will not confine themselves to this, however, but will force the demecrats to discuss national issues, and in this also, the advautage is with the republicans. No party can carry Ohio on an anti-tariff and free coinage of silver platform. The insincerity of the Buckeye democrats is on a par with that of their Iowa brethren in the matter of making a sweeping denunciation of the appropriations of the last congress, and at the same time professing to desire liberal pensions for disabled soldiers and sailors and their widows and orphans. Of the $170,000,000 increase in the appropriations of the last congress $113,000,000 was for pensions. The republican party has not professed an interest in the old soldier and then denied him just consideration, as was done by the last democratic administration. It has kept its promise, and the amount of money required to do this constitutes two-thirds of the increase in the approprintions of the last congress.

The republicans of Ohio have everything on their side in this campaign, and possess the very great advantage of being well organized and entirely harmonious. It is safe to predict a signal republican victory in Ohio this year.

THE REAL ESTATE OWNERS.

The promoters of the Real Estate Owners' association are gratified at the success which has thus far attended their efforts to interest the owners of real property in an organization more general in its character than either the board of trade or real estate exchange. It is essentially the people's association. Its membership is larger than that of either of the old organizations, and it is no close corporation. The man with a single lot who buys a share of stock has just as much influence as the millionaire, in proportion to his investment. It in nowise conflicts with the plans or purposes of either the board of trade or real estate exchange, but is intended to supplement their efforts for the upbuilding of the city.

There is a vast amount of work in this city dependent upon public spirit and organized enterprise. Each of the several organizations will find plenty to do and all working together for a common purpose will make their usefulness felt. To achieve complete success the Real Estate Owners' association must have the moral support and the substantial recognition of the people at large. Thus far a gratifying interest has been manifested, but other citizens must enlist and contribute cash to bring about many desired results.

The officers are devoting their time unselfishly to the association. They de serve the support of the community. Let the people rally about them and enable the organization to accomplish its beneficent purposes.

DAMAGING TO MR. CLEVELAND. The democrats of two of the most important states that hold elections this year, Iowa and Ohio, have declared in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver. This is a damaging blow to the presidential aspirations of Mr. Grover Cleveland. When some time ago Mr. Cleveland gave renewed testimony of his hostility to free coinage the intention undoubtedly was to influence the action of the democrats of these states on this question. Obviously it was felt to be important that the western democratic constituencles should understand that the ex-president and claimant was still standing where he had stood during his administrations as to this question. These constituencies were soon to express themselves, and it was desirable that they should have the counsel of the leader.

The result shows that the counsel was without effect. It is true that in the Ohio democratic convention 300 votes were cast against the free coinage plank of the platform, but it is by no means to be assumed that all of these votes represented hostility to the policy. It is more probable that the democrats who to talk business, and that they are be- voted this way did so from a conviction ginning also to look with distrust upon | that it would be impolitic to take a position on the question at this time. At any rate the democracy of Ohio, of Iowa, stands committed 8.0 linen. Years of bountiful harvests and to the free and unlimited coinage of general prosperity are not favorable to silver, and in this it is in accord with democratic victories or the growth of the sentiment of the southern wing of the party. The fact is now entirely clear that the controlling forces in the the mints of the country to the silver of easy and signal victory this year. The | the world. The democrats of the south situation is altogether in their favor. and of the west are entirely harmonious The dissensions in the democratic ranks on this question, and they will dictate the action of the next national convention. What chance will there be, then, for Mr. Cleveland? He has made a reservation that may enable him to stand on a free colnage platform a year hence, in saying that the conditions tens of thousands of democrats who will at that time may be such as to warrant experimenting with this policy, but he could not do this without the certainty of losing New York, and that state will be absolutely necessary to demogratic success next year.

It is entirely plain that Mr. Cleveland no longer has the firm hold upon his party that he once had, and there is no reason to suppose that he will recover what he has lost. The free discussion of other leaders as presidential possibilities is significant of a widespread tendency to cut loose from the ex-president, and this is very likely to grow. The free coinage declarations of the lowa and Ohio democracy have certainly diminished the chances of Mr. Cleveland for again leading the democracy in a national campaign.

A CONTRIBUTOR to the controversy regarding the preference of Mr. Lincoln in the matter of the vice presidency in 1864 points out the interesting fact, which has a great deal of relevancy, that the convention of that year was not a republican convention but was called a union national convention. The delegates consisted of "war democrats" as well as republicans, and certain of the seceded states were represented. This necessitated, in the view of the writer, the nomination of a war democrat for the second place and therefore precluded wholly the nomination of Hamlin. This is certainly plausible, and the writer who presents it adduces very good testimony in support of it. But there is still no evidence to conclusively show that Mr. Lincoln was partial to Johnson, although he was undoubtedly well pleased with his selection.

CREIGHTON college is one of the educational institutions of which Omana is justly proud. The people regret the departure of its late president, Father Fitzgerald, who is not only a most excellent man, but a thorough organizer, a good educator and a gentleman who wins the sympathies of his students. The rules of his order take him to another position as president of St. Ignatius college, Chicago. In his place, however, the Omaha college receives Rev. Father Hoeffer of St. Louis, a man in the prime of life, of great energy and scholarly attainments. He will take up the good work where his popular predecessor left it and push Creighton college onward in its career to a foremost position among the educational institutions of the west.

THURSDAY, August 20, will be a redletter day in Omaha. On that occasion the grain men of Nebraska will be the guests of the Omaha board of trade. Long before that date it is expected the Omaha grain exchange will be formally opened and the visiting dealers and warehousemen will be initiated into the methods of the new grain market. The live stock shippers will probably visit Omaha at the same time. It will be a great business convention and do much to encourage that good feeling which should exist between the business men of the state and those of Omaha.

THOSE two public spirited gentlemen who resigned from the board of directors of the Omaha board of trade to enable the organization to replace them with grain men and further the enterprise of building up a great grain market here. deserve the commendation which their public spirited and unselfish action has drawn from the business public generally. It may be remarked that the business men referred to are among the most industrious and energetic members of the board of trade.

FINANCIAL encouragement to manufactories should be given sparingly and only in return for definite benefits. Manufacturers who come here for bonusus instead of business are not the style of business men who are likely to succeed. The expense of removing a successful plant and reasonable encouragement in the way of locations at minimum cost are about all that the citizens should be expected to contribute toward establishing such enterprises in Omaha.

IT is only fair to state in connection with the fact that Dr. Gapen is drawing two salaries that the doctor called the attention of the council to the conflict between the city ordinance creating the office of city physician and fixing the salary at $2,400 per annum and the charter provision for a commissioner of health at $2,000 per amum in a communication to that body several weeks ago.

CHAIRMAN FINLEY of the Western Passenger association will find no fault it is hoped with western newspapers who regard it as somewhat remarkable that excursion rates can promptly be arranged for a prize fight, while intolerable delay follows all efforts to secure favorable action upon the question of harvest excursion tickets.

COUNCILMAN ELSASSER was right in opposing the contract for a new patent smoke consumer in the city hall to cost $3,300. The smoke consumer selected may be the best, but inasmuch as most of the several hundred devices for consuming smoke are of doubtful utility this one should be thoroughly tested before it is purchased.

OMAHA's mining exchange has been organized. There is no good reason why it shall not become an important factor in the business of the city. The conditions are favorable for large investments in mining enterprises and increased activity in the mining industry.

Two inspectors of sugar are to be ap pointed in Nebraska and there are half a hundred applicants, most of whom cannot distinguish a polariscope from a tel

A CITY official who presents a bond signed by a prominent city contractor must not be surprised if the eyebrows of democratic party are in favor of opening his fellow citizens are raised significantly as they gend of it. It is not material either whether he is an asphalt or a stone contractor. AMONG the candidates for superintendent of schools, the board of education should be able to select a man who is not specially distinguished for his successful work as a legislative lobbyist in the interest of the American book com-

THE Real Estate Owners' association is beginning to make itself felt in the affairs of Omaha. There is a great work before the organization which the cordial support of our citizens will enable it to perform satisfactorily.

GOVORNOR THAYER will no doubt accept the suggestion of the Omaha board of trade in regard to the appointment of state grain inspector. The inspector should be an experienced grain man and not a politician.

WITH new blood injected into the hitherto sluggish veins of the Omaha board of trade more activity may be expected in that organization.

THE Montana excursion will be arranged for, and the best business men in the city only will feet that they are invited to participate.

· SEPTEMBER 1 to 26 are the dates fixed for the Omaha exposition. Now let everybody join hands to insure success to the enterprise.

OMAHA's schools should not be annexed by purchase, sale or exchange to the American book trust. Perhaps He's Rheumatic.

Washington Post. Senator Quay is not the man to run from a paper-wad broadside. His Phitadelphia enemies will have to use heavier ammuni-The Calamity Craze. Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

Calamity editors are now attempting to show that farmers are gloomy, because the wheat crop is so heavy that they cannot properly take care of it.

Good Times and Republicanism. New York Tribune. Senator Allison's remark that the crops are good in Iowa this year is politically of much significance. Republican prospects and the crops move together. As the buzzard betokens carrion, so a democratic victory tells of hard times and industrial gloom.

Perverse Producers.

Denver Sun. The Iowa farmers are an obstinately and wickedly perverse set. Governor Boies told them some months ago that they lost $8 an acre on every acre of corn they planted. But they have gone blindly to work and planted 700,000 more acres of that plebian variety of grain this year than ever before.

Ohio's Political Elements.

Cincinnati Commercial. We are ready to acknowledge that the worst elements of the Ohio democracy have been arrayed against Governor Campbell, But that is not sufficient reason for his election. The best elements of Ohio citizenship are in favor of McKinley-a sentiment that stands for social peace and prosperity.

Henry Watterson on Dave Hill. Louisville C urier-Journal.

The editor of the Courier-Journal has not the smallest personal dislike of Governor Hill. If the governor and his friends are satisfled with the episode referred to, assuredly Mr. Watterson has no desire to disturb their equanimity. In the meantime, however, he does not regard the governor as a probable, perhaps not even a possible, democratic nomince for president in 1892 and for the following reasons:

These reasons condensed are: 1. That there is a widespread feeling, unfounded though it be, that Cleveland was defeated by some deal in New York with which Hill was connected Those who believe this may be turned from following after Cleveland, but they will not support Hill. In 1880 the party relinquished Samuel J. Tilden. But it did rally to John Kelly. The cases now and then are, of course, not parallel, and vet there is likeness enough to make the one serve to point the moral of the other. 2. Governor Hill is not in sympathy with the great democratic movement for tax reform. Where he stands now, that the issue be universally accepted by democrats and made explicit and clear, is still doubtful, but during the struggle, when there were enemies inside the party, Governor Hill was the enemy of progress.

Governor Hill will be felt in the next democratic convention, but on the side of destrucion, not of creation. He may hope to defeat Cleveland and make New York decide the final result. This must leave the governor in the unpleasant role of a managing politician -cold, unfeeling, vengeful and narrow-unequal to the requirements of the hour or the inspirations of his party and the peoplemerely a selfish, short-signted man, incapable of sacrifices, or generous impulse, or large conceptions of any sort.

Governor Hill is not a likelihood for the nomination. For any hope for that he must show himself a better man than the country thus far believes him to be. Governor Hil knows as little of public affairs and men as Cleveland did on coming to the presidency but is said to be a bright man. In that case he may yet profit in time by the kindly, though unpleasant counsel given him.

LIKE HIS MUTHER MADE. James Whitcomb Riley.

'I was born in Indiany," says a stranger lank and slim, As us fellers in the restaurant were kind o' guyin' him, And Uncle Jake was slidin' him another his ere-"I was born in Indiany-more'n forty years ago, And I hain't been back in tweaty—and I'm workin back'ards slow;

But I've et in every restaurant 'twixt here and Santa Fe,

And I want to state, this coffee tastes like gittin' home to me! Pour us out another daddy," says the feller warmin' up, A speaking 'crost a spucerful, as uncle took his cup— "I Ji "When I seed your sign out yonder," he went on to Uncle Jake— Come in and git some coffe like your mother used to makethought of my old mother and the Posey county farm.

And me a little kid ag'in a hangin' in her As she set the pot a bilin'-broke the eggs and poured 'em in-And the feller kind o' halted, with a tremble And Uncle Jake he fetched the feller's coffee

As solomu fer a minute as an undertaker Then he sort o' turned and tiptoed to'rds the Here comes his old wife out with him, rubbin' of her specs— And she rushes for the stranger, and she hollers out, "It's him? Thank God, we've met him comin'! Don't you know your mother, Jim?'

And the feller as he grabbed her, says: "You bet I hain't forgot"— But, wipin' of his eyes, says he, "Your coffee's mighty hot." RESCUED BY THE FIREMEN, Tremout Hotel Guests at Lincoln Narrowly Escape Death by Flames.

UNDOUBTEDLY OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN.

Efforts in Behalf of the Battle Creek Eank-Burned with Gasoline-Pathetic Story of an Insane Man.

LINCOLN, Neb., July 16 .- [Special to THE Bar. |-Shortly before I o'clock this morning the fire department was burriedly called to Eighth and P streets by a blaze in the feed and sale stable of L. W. McFadden, immediately adjoining the Tremont hotel on the south. When the firemen arrived the stable was a mass of flame, and their efforts were centered on saving the hotel, which was in most imminent danger. The inflammable material caused a terribly hot blaze, and it was with difficulty the firemen could work.

The fire was undoubtedly of incendiary origin, and was started at the foot of an enclosed stairway in the south yard of the hotel and which winds around to the east side. As the stairway was enclosed all the way, it acted as a chimney for the flames, which entered the east door of the hallway and followed it all the way to the north end of the hotel.

The heat was so intense that the paint all the way was melted, and the furniture and mouldings blistered and discolored by smoke. The guests of the hotel had very narrow

The flames raging in the hallway on the second story prevented those in the rooms on the third floor from getting out, and a half dozen or more were rescued in their night clothes by the firemen and taken to the ground on ladders. Those in the second story rooms were also in a dangerous predicament, and one man, a railroader, who had retired a few hours previous after a long run, came near being suffocated. He was so sleepy that he had to be rolled on the floor before he could be awakened. A number of others had narrow escapes, and singed moustaches are the fashion at the Tremont today.

The livery stable was completely gutted, and twelve horses and one mule burned alive. Among the horses destroyed was Bob Mitchell's $600 stallion pacer, four head belonging to the Lincoln bottling works, one horse belonging to the Globe white lead works, one to Arenson Brothers, grocers on South Ninth street, two horses belonging to McFadden, and three transients owned by farmers who had put up their animals for the night. The mule belonged to John Noland. McFadden estimates his loss at $500, with no insurance. The building was owned by George Smith, and is insured for $1,200. The damage to the Tremont hotel, owned by Bob Smith, is about $500. McFadden saved his buggy and harcess in a peculiar manner. A man came along last evening with a fine buggy and put his horse up. He objected to letting his vehicle stand outside, fearing it would rain, and McFadden accommodatingly shoved his own outside to make room for it. As a consequence the stranger's buggy, along with three other vehicles, was burned. BATTLE CREEK BANK AFFAIR.

J. F. Teidgens, a wealthy farmer of Madison county and director and vice president of the Farmers and Drover's bank of Battle Creek, Neb., was in the city today endeavoring to secure such a settlement of the affairs of the bank as would enable that institution to reorganize. Teidgens came forward at a critical time, advanced $5,000 in an effort to pay off the demand of depositors and has exerted himself in other ways to preserve the credit and character of the bank. An investigation showed that Mr. Maxwell, as presi dert, and in general charge of the bank has, however, so exhausted the resources of the institution to meet demands upon him personally and as a member of the firm of Max-well, Sharpe & Ross company that there seems to be no other way than to place the pest information that can be obtained the banking department it is thought that sufficient assets remain to pay the depositor's laims but that little, if any, will remain for he stockholders.

BURNED WITH GASOLINE. The dwelling house at 2048 J street, occu pled by George H. Kingham, a carpenter, was badly damaged by fire at an early hour this morning. Mrs. Kingham is away from home, and her husband has been doing the cooking for himself and children. norning he attempted to start a fire in the gasoline stove, when an explosion occured, the burning oil flying all over him. All his attention was devoted to putting out the fire on his person, and by the time he had suceeded the room was enveloped in flames Mr. Kingham was painfully, but not seriously The house is owned by Lash Broth ers, and the damage is fully covered by in surance. Mr. Kingham loses about $300.

THEY DON'T HITCH. There has been a little hitch between the state board of agriculture and the local assodation. The board wishes the amphitheater it the race track enlarged, and claim that this comes under the contract with the exposition association, which agreed to make necessary improvements. This work the as-sociation declines to do, claiming that it is unnecessary, and was not among the specifi-cations of the contract by which the fair was to located here, Considerable excitement was created at the Burlington depot this morning by the queer actions of a well dressed young man accompanied by an elderly gentleman. They ar rived this morning from Omaha, where the young man has been undergoing treatment at the St. Joseph hospital. The elderly man's name is John Ryan, and the young man is his son Patrick. The young fellow was a school teacher near Exeter last winter, and was prostrated by an attack of the grip.

He became insane, but judicious treatment partially restored his reason and his father was taking him to his home at Exeter. At the depot his queer actions caused a crowd to gather round him when the young man grew excited, then violent. He was taken to the sta-tion by Officer Malone and confined until the train left. After his incarceration in a ce he kept up a continuous howling, more like a wild beast than a human being. His poor father told the story to the officers with the tears streaming down his cheeks. RETURNED THE GOODS.

Miss Sadie Vick was arrested last evening on a warrant sworn out by G. C. Warner of 2843 U street charging her with the larceny of some dresses from the family where she had been employed. It is stated that part of the goods taken were found in her possession and the balance at her home. She returned the goods, and as Mr. Warner did not care to prosecute she was released on payment of the costs.

AN INQUEST HELD. An inquest was held this morning over the remains of Marion W. Uhl, who died Sunday from the effects of a builet wound in the head. The inquest was held at the home of Mr. C. F. Barras, 1445 E street, where the tragedy occurred. The witnesses examined were Grandpa Barras, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Barras, Arthur Masterman and Jame Heaton, Coroner Dr. Holyoke had not in tended holding an inquest, but unpleasant rumors having been circulated and inti-mated at in the papers that the demented brother who claims to have first found him after the deed was committed, had shot him, caused him to change his mind.

There was very little that was new brought out by the inquest, the wit-nesses all testifying as to how they found the young man. I tives all said that he appeared to usual good spirits and none could ascribe any reason for his rash act. The invalid was never known to have a revolver in his possession and being deformed and shrunken in body could not have reached to where Uhl was lying and fire a revolver at him. It was thought by some that Uhl may have accidentally killed himself, although he was used to firearms, having been in the hardware business. As a man generally leaves some word when he takes his own life, this ex-planation has obtained considerable credence. After listening to all the evidence the jury returned a verdict of death by suicide.

I BIDS ARE OPENED. This afternoon the board of public lands and buildings opened bids for the construction of the new wing of the Hastings asylum There were fifteen bids for the completion of the building. The highest bid was $78,989 and exclusive of the electric light. The lowest bid was F. M. Trich of Hastings, $67,430. H. J. Heggers stood next with a bid of $59, 319. Mr. Trich was therefore awarded the general contract.

On Saturday a meeting will be held to choose a superintendent.

ODDS AND ENDS. Mr. G. E. McDonald, the architect of the Genon home, found after examining the foundations for that institution just finished were very inferior and made the contractor tear out all the work done and commence over again

Henry A. Cowan, S. T. Robinson and Rob ert A. Cohee of Omaha have filed a certifi-cote of incorporation of the United States de-Attorney Patrick O. Hawes of Omaha has filed an application in the supreme court for a stay of judgment in the case of Ed Hocksbeimer, who thas been sentenced to four years in the pen for forgery. TERRIBLE FIGHT WITH A BULL.

Two Women with Pluck Save a Man's Life.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 16,-Mr. Walter Shattuck, a farmer near here, has had running in his pasture a three-year-old bull. On Monday the bull began rushing up and down the fence line of the pasture bellowing at the passers-by. When Mr. Shattuck, armed with a strong club, started to drive the animal back, it turned and attacked him. It knocked him down and stood over him, treading his body with its hoofs and trying to gore him. Mr. Shattuck's wife and daughter saw the attack and ran to his rescue. When the daughter arrived her father had succeeded in grasping with one hand the ring in the buil's nose and with the other the animal's tongue. He called to his daughter not to come near, but to run back to the barn for a pitchfork. The wife now reached the scene and pluckily grabbing the animal by the horns aided her husband to direct the brute's blows away from his bedy and into the ground. Mr. Shattuck, who was still on his back unable to rise, was by this time nearly stripped of his clothing. Blood streamed from his face where a horn had gored him. His chest was a mass of bruises, two ribs were broken and his limbs were badly lacerated by the animal's trampling. It has been at least twenty minutes since the terrible fight began when the daughter arrived with a pitchfork. She thrust its tines through the ring in the bull's nose and into the ground. Then, with all her strength, she held the infuriated animal to the ground while the mother dragged the father from beneath the brute's hoof.

But before Mr. Shattuck had succeeded in regaining his feet the animal gave a lurch, the steel ring broke from his nose and he was once more free. Then for an instant the three stood expecting his onslaught. Had it come upon them in their exhausted condition it must have resulted in the death or maining of all three of them. But for some rea-son the animal hesitated. It looked at them dubiously for a moment, then turned and walked away. Mr. Shattuck was so badly injured that serious doubt is expressed as to his recovery.

Brutal Murder in Peru.

PANAMA, July 16 .- A brutal murder has been committed at Humay, in Peru, the victim, a woman, being stabbed thirty times, It appears that one Castallanos and a woman named Tarsita Viscarra had lived together for some time as man and wife. The woman, unable to put up any longer with the brutai treatment of Castalianos, left him, and despite his entreaties refused to return to live with him. Castalianos then appealed to the parish priest, promising to marry her if she would return to him. Castalianos and the woman mot at the priest's house. The woman, however, was obdurate, which so exasperated Castallanos that he sprang upon her, dagger in hand, and in the presence of the priest and in spite of the reverend man's denunciations and supplications he inflicted more than thirty stabs.

Captured Counterfeiters.

SPRINGPED, III., July 16-Deputy United States Marshal Bacon last night brought in Alexander Van Fleet, whom he arrested at Marshall, Ill., and who is one of the William Kreis band of counterfeiters. Several counterfeit deliars were found on his person. Kreis is now in the Chester penitentiary San Francisco, Cal., July 16.—Robert Pil-key, seventy years of age, was arrested yesterday on the charge of counterfeiting, number of moulds and some bogus coin found his room. Pilkey is the fourth and the last to be arrested of the gang which has made its headquarters near Antioc, in Con tra Costa county. The other three are still Injured Sailors Recovering. SAN DIEGO, Cal., July 16 .- The five sailors from the cruiser Charleston who were in jured in Tuesday's riot are improving, and none of them will die. The autopsy on the body of the dead sailor, Joseph Brown, revealed the fact that death was caused being beaten over the head with a club or some other instrument, producing co of the brain. Brown was from Vallejo, Cal was about twenty-five years of age, and had been with the Charleston since the ship had been commissioned. Previous to that he had served three years on the Ranger.

Discharged ailors Arrive. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 16 .- The United States steamer Ranger, which has arrived from South American ports via San Diego, brought up fifteen men who were transferred to her from the Charleston at San Diego. Most of them who came from the Charleston are men whose terms of service have expired. They will leave for the east on a Panama steamer which sails on July 23. The Ranger has gone to Mare Island navy yard.

Too Chilly for Them. NEW YORK, July 16 .- A Washington correspondent telegraphs that it is reported there that Senors Moutt and Varas, the representatives of the Chilian congressional party in Washington, have concluded that the official and social atmosphere of that city is too chilly for them, and that they will seek in the effete monarchies and republics of the east the recognition that has not been ac

Colonel Compton's Court-Martial. WALLA WALLA, Wash., July 16 .- The court martial convened vesterday to try Colonel C E. Compton, Fourth cavalry, on the charge of negligence in allowing his men to leave the reservation on the night of April 23 last, when A. J. Hunt was lynched. The court ad ourned urtil today on account of the absence of the judge advocate, Colonel P. T. Swaine, who was delayed by a railroad accident, corded them here.

A Sterile Region. BIHMINGHAM, Conn., July 16. - The discov ery was made today that not a child have been born in the White Hills school district in nine years and that the youngest child at tending school is nine years of age. The population is about five hungred persons and soon the schools will have to be abandoned.

Bourbon Anxiety. Glob: - Demucrat. Mr. Blaine may be very sick, but be is not half as sick as the democratic party will be if he gets well.

The Sewercide Mania. New York Recorder, If sewer suicides become fashionable we shall have to go back to surface drainage.

their forces. The new commander has issued the following address to the people of Haytl:

Fellow citizens: General Hippolyte's long restrained ferocities have just burst upon the people in such a fashion that silence is no ionger pardonable. The thirst for blood has captured his diseased brain. He slaughters today with his despotic hand those of his friends whom he cannot sell. The toesin of lort-an-liftine, the death kneil which resunds all over the territory of the republic, sounds also the hour for manly revenge. The moment has come to drag from power a tyrant who has only the instally of murder for a visua. No ambition for power has ever been the motive of my acts. I always have been, I am now, and always will be the zealous servant of the institutions of Haytl. The citizens who have just in racutously escaped the death platoon, the patriots dragged from their homes by governmental fury; the unfortunate brethren thrown maked and starving on foreign shores—all of these have elected me by a large majority general-in-chief of the revolution. Always faithful in the service of my country in hours of national distress, a solder devoted to the honer of the nation, I consider it my duty to accept this supreme call. There is nothing but dancer in it for me, but thore is also salvation for my mourning country.

One duty is imposed upon me. I understand its sublime importance and I shall fulfill it. I know the terrible results that must come from baring the sword into my country. May all the clouds be dissipated in advance. I only want to accomplish one thing, and that is to deliver the Haytian people once more. Once this great work is accomplished Hayti and essentially a solder and not a political dreamer, a prey to amound hatred or that spirit of system which has already annihilating on any illustrious compartiots.

Fellow citizens, have confidence in my policy. Believe in my indomitable enery. I will not fait the task. God and the right are on our side. From one end of the country to the other, from Cape Jaconie of HAYTPS WOULD-BE DELIVERER.

General Prophete Issues a Stirring

Address to the People.

NEW YORK, July 16 .- According to a morning paper the Haytian revolutionists who were exiled to Kingston, Jamaica, met in general assembly June 29 and elected General Anseime Prophete general-in-chief of their forces. The new commander has issued the following address to the people of HayU:

Courraged civilization. From both sides of the ocean the foreigner From both sides of the ocean the foreigner tooks at us, expecting the end of this conflagration, in order to give his verifiet on the fate of the black remublic. Let us prove to be grand and worthy of an independence acquired at the price of so many sacrifices.

Long live Hayti, free and independent, Long live liberal institutions.

Executed at Kingston, Jamaica, June 30,1891.

The news of this important event was said to have been furnished by a man who was at Kingston during this important gathering. It was a grand council of the leading men among the exiles now in Cuba, St. Thomas and Jamaica. They acted upon the advice of their friends in Hayti. The new commander is considered one of the ablest soldiers Hayti ever produced.

Moral ! aws and the Sexes.

LONDON, July 16 .- At the moraing session of the international Congregational council, Rev. J. McLean of Oakland, Cal., spoke on home missions, and in the afternoon President C. W. Northop of Minneapolis, addressed the council.

At the conference upon public morals, to be held Menday, a resolution will be submit-ted that the moral law is equally binding on men and women, and that the privileges of adulterers and the regulation of prostitution be abolished, and that the age of consent be raised to sixteen years.

PASSING JESTS.

New York Herald: "Do you smoke cigar-ettes?" asked her father, on entering the paror. "No." answered the young man. "I hate the nasty things. Why do you ask?" "I wished to borrow one," answered her father, grimly.

Indianapolis Journal: His Sister-Had you eard that Laura Figg's pug has run away? He—Well, what of h? His Sister—Oh, nothing, only I thought that t you fatend proposing, now is your time. A woman's heart is often caught in the rebound, you know Keystone: Millicent—What is the meaning of reciprocity, Will?

Will—It means an exchange in which neither party has the advantage; as, for instance, if you were to give me a kiss (like thi-) I would be obliged to give you one in return like this. See? Millicent—Yes, how lovely; but, Will, I don't see how an old man like Mr. Blaine can be so Tell me not in mournful numbers Life is but an empty dream, When 'tis full of green encumbers And of restaurant ice cream.

New York Weekly: Magistrate—Why did you arrest this man? Officer—On suspicion. I think he is a Phila-delphia boodler. Magistrate—Do you know him? Officer—No; y'r honor; but he said he was from Philadelphia, and he seemed to be in a hurry.

Life: Henley-Smith and Jones each called Life: Henley—Smith and Jones each called the other a liar. Have they given each other satisfaction yet?
Digby—Yes.
Henley—With fists or pistols?
Digby—No: they left it to a committee of two of Jones friends and two of Jmath's, to say who was the liar, and the committee was evenly divided.

hurry.

Wheeling Register. The sat together, side by side, Absorbed in Cupid's mission; "Dear John, piease tell," she softly cried, "What was my pa's decision?"

"Ains!" said he. "I creatly fear" (His voice began to quiver) "My suit is not regarded, dear" (He heaved a sigh) "with favor." "Your pa says he can't see at alt" (He sadly smoothed her tresses) "How I, with such an income smal

Can even buy your dresses." "I think," she answered, (and her eye I might lay in a good supply Before" (she blushed) "wo're married."

Detroit Free Press: A well known author that a brith son about sixteen, who is in a bank and who also writes a verse occasionally which he submits to his father. Not long ago e handed him one which was returned with oremark;
"That is positively bad,"
"The boy looked at him questioningly.
"You will have to change it" continued his father.

"But I can't change it, if it is bad," he said with a twinkle in his eye, and the father suzgested that possibly he knew more about banking than he did about neetry. Texas Siftings: Can a man intoxicated with music be said to be air-tight?

Washington Post: "Don't you think that come man who plays the cornet next door youtles very fine 192". "Yes! But I wish he'd try electrocution for "Why so?"
"O! Because it is a form of execution that a said to be unaccompanied with pain."

Epoch: "Bellows' face of late looks as red a a boiled lobster. Has he been drinking?" "No, his wife keeps him in hot water."

Life: Ah, Jim, we poor folks has our trials?"
"Yes. I's had a good many; but it ain't the trials what annoys me, its the verdict they brings in arterwards." Newark Standard: Old Gotrox-Look here; to come right down to the solid truth aren't you just a little ashamed of your old daddy? Honest now.

onest now. Young Gotrox—Why, guy'nor, I cawn't say ashamed exactly, but you know you are not always in good fawm, you know.

Old Gotrox—Well, I don't blume you for being ashaned of me. Every time I look at you and think what a job I made of your bringing up I am ashamed of myself.

Highest of all in Leavening Power. - Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

