Arssworm, Neb., July 18 .- (Special to Tun Ber. |- In the issue of July 13 your correspondent from this place makes some very sweeping assertions concerning the expert investigation of our county records, and as his report at least intimates that ail were short in their accounts I ask you, in justice to myself, to publish the following, which is a part of Mr. Brugh's report to the county commissioners:

"I am glad to state that the treasurer's ac counts have been correctly kept. A small difference in our fees account for the year 1888 of $48.10 to the county funds and $15.12 to the insane fund being overcharged, and to the insane fund being overcharger, and an error in charging warrants to the county general fund and county road fund would enumerate the difference in our accounts, which errors he has corrected, making the balances upon his books January 1, 1891, correspond with my balances, as per folio 5 in my report." CONTROLLING THE SALOON.

Effects of the Amendments Myle Last Spring to the Liquor Law.

CHANGES AFFECT THE WHOLE STATE.

New Regulations Concerning the Signaturés to Petitions-"Two Mile" Saloonists Must Procure Licenses to Sell.

At the last legislature, the Slocumb liquor law was called up for consideration and amended in two places.

The other is much more sweeping. It covers every precinct in the state, outside of acorporated cities and villages. It provides that, bereafter, the petition of the liquor seller for a license shall be signed by a majority, instead of thirty of the resident freeholders of the precinct. This requirement will undouotedly drive a large number of saloonkeepers out of the business. In some sections of the state, if insisted upon, it will have the effect of prohibition. Under the original law saloonkeepers experienced a great deal of trouble in securing on their etitions the names of thirty resident freeholders, but that trouble will be greatly increased now that they must obtain the names of more than half the freeholders of their precinct. The amendment does not affect saloon men ow in business, but must be enforced at the commencement of the next license year, and its enforcement will devolve upon the commissioners of the county. But few people knew when the bill, in the latter days of the egislature, was rushed through that it had been changed in this respect. Neither did the fact become known to the officials of the county until Clerk O'Malley secured a certilled copy of the document from the secre-tary of state. This copy he has filed with the county commissioners, who in turn have referred it to their committee on judiciary.

What the New Provision Reads. With respect to the people who may desire this year to go into the liquor business in country precincts, the law is to be enforced and it will be necessary for the county offithe provisions of the act, which reads as fol-

He it enacted by the legislature of the state

Be it enacted by the legislature of the state of Nebrasaa.

Section I. That section one (I) of chapter fifty 500 of the compiled statutes of Nebraska of 1887 be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section I. The county board of each county may grant license for the sale of mait, spirituous and vinous liquors, if deemed expedient, upon the application by a petition of a majority of the resident freeholders of the town, if the county is under township organization, and if not under township organization, then a majority of the resident freeholders of the precinct, where the sale of such liquor is proposed to take place, setting forth that the applicant is a man of respectable character and standing and a resident of this state, and praying that license may issue his state, and praying that license may issue o him; such application to be filed in the filler of the county elerk and upon payment nto the county treasury of such s board may require not less than five hundred dollars ($500) for each license and the compliance with the provisions of this act.

Provided, such board shall not have power to issue any license for the sate of any liquors in any city or incorporated village or within two miles of the same:

Provided, in countles having 150,000 inhabitants, the countles having 150,000 inhabitants the countles having 150,000 inhabitants.

tants, the county commissioners may also issue license within two miles of any city in said county.

Section 2.—Section 1, chapter 15, of compiled statutes of 1851 is hereby repealed.
The amendment in its effect will be a surprise even to those who favored it, and it is not known to a certainty by whom it was made. Under the old law, requiring thirty signatures, it was impossible for some of the sparsely settled precincts to secure a saloon license at all, because they did not have that number of resident freeholders. Among those precincts was Clontarf, in this county. The majority amendment, therefore, suited them, but it will have a contrary effect upon the more thickly settled precincts.

Two-Mile Limit Saloons The second &mendment embraced in the latter of the two provisos above printed was agitated by Douglas county people. It was incorporated into a bill introduced in the house by Mr. George Sternsdorff and in the enate by Mr. Switzler.

The object was to compel men, who, for years, had been selling liquor within two iles of this city to pay something for the privilege. This was sought because these men enjoyed the protection of the county as did other dealers in liquor; also in justice to city saloonkeepers who paid $1,000 yearly into the city treasury and whose saloons were perhaps not more than lifty feet distant from those of men who paid nothing to either city or county; also, be-cause this lack of control led to the estatlishment of demoralizing groggeries were a source of annoyance and scandal to law abiding communities, The primary intention of the Slocumb law was that within the two-mile limit of cities and vilinges no liquor at all could or should be sold. This was virtual prohibition so far as that territory was concerned. In this re-spect in almost every part of the state pro-When, therefore, Senhibition does obtain. ator Switzler spoke in favor of blotting out the limit referred to, he was opposed by the country members. They claimed that it would deprive their localities of the im-munity they now enjoyed from objectionable resorts. He accordingly tacked on the sec-ond proviso confining the operation of the law to counties having 150,000 inhabitants in which respect its operation is confined to

Douglas county.
This bill did not have an emergency clause. Under the constitution, it could not there-fore, go into effect until three calendar months" had clapsed after the adjournment of the legislature. The session came to an end about April 9. According to excellent legal authority, the "three calender months expired on the oth of his month. If such be the case, the saloonkeepers of the county within the two-mile limit, are now selling liquor in violation of law.

The attorney general, however, held in the matter of the warehouse law and appoint-ment of world's fair commissioners that "three calendar months" meant three full months after the month in which the legis-lature adjourned. If this is the correct manner of interpreting the statute the law cannot be enforced until the end of this month.

How to Get a License. Under the law as amended the man who wishes to sell liquors in any part of Douglas not included in cities and incorporated vilages, must take out a license for which to one year, he must pay $500. He must call at the office of the county clerk in Omaha, where he will be given a blank petition, to which he must secure the signatures of a majority of the free holders in the precinct which he expects to yend his liquors These petitions now are made to accommo date the signatures of only thirty names, but under the present law they must be made large enough to accommodate the names of a mority of the resident freeholders in each precinct. This fact has not been attended to by the commissioners, and indeed it is be leved, as has been intimated, has escaped ttention throughout the state.

This petition sets forth that the petitioner s a resident of the state, of respectable character and a proper person to whom to ssue a license to seli liquors. Attached is a plank bond for the signatures of three bonds ien in the sum of $5,000. These guarantee that the petitioner snan hot time the sal the provisions of the law regarding the sal the provisions and that he wi that the petitioner shall not violate any of liquors, and that he will all fines and forfeitures which nay be adjudged against him.

This bond must be signed in the presence of a number of witnesses. On another page are several blanks which must be filled out by the county treasurer and clork and county

Thus far, only three saloonkeepers in the two-mile limit have made application for these blanks. They were given them but have not yet returned them.

En oreing the Law. Commissioner Timme was asked how the word proposed to make the saloonkeepers in uestion take out their licenses, and replied county commissioners have done to apprise the saloonkeepers in the strip referred to that the latter must turn at 7 in the evening take out a liceuse or else close up.
"We have nothing to do, that I can see, ex-cent to grant the licenses when the saloon men apply for them after complying with the law with respect to signatures and bonds. It is not our duty to go out in the county and find out whether these men have got their licenses. If they don't comply with the law, t is the duty of the county attorney to prose Commissioner Berlin was interrogated on the subject and answered as follows: "We are going to enforce the law. We have done nothing in that respect yet because nobody has complained against the saloons which are running, because we have had all we could do in equalizing and because we did not seek more new work."

On this question Commissioner O'Keeffe said: "If one smoonkeeper takes out a license you may be sure he will not allow another saloon man near him to sell without taking out a license also. He will file complaint and then the saloon man can be prosecuted." County Attorney Mahoney was told what Commissioner Timme had said and answered;

"It is not my duty to play detective on these men. I can't go down to a livery stable, hire a buggy and traverse the county to look out for violators of this law. It is my duty, when information is filed with me, to make out the compaint and prosecute the offender. I cannot make the complaint myself and prosecute it. It would be unprofessional. Those, however, who pay inprofessional. Those, however, who pay dicenses will, I think, be willing to complain against those who do not."

mate that there are about forty saloon men in the two mile limit who are selling liquor without a license. If all of these should comply with the law it would add $20,000 to These saloons are strung along the Military road, Dodge, Farnam and Thirteenth streets, in the vicinity of Ruser's park, on Cut-Off island and in Florence precinct. Some of them, of course, will close up and the law will in this respect have the com-

ROUTINE ONLY. County Commissioners Found Many

Little Matters to Adjust. The regular weekly meeting of the county ommissioners was held yesterday afternoon with Messrs. O'Keeffe, Berlin and Timme in attendance.

The bids for constructing the brick culvert over Mill creek at Florence were opened and referred. This culvert will cost between $5,000 and $6,000 and will be constructed near the site of the old frame bridge.

County Attorney Mahoney wrote a letter regarding the controversy over the numerical indices in the office of the register of deeds, As a result of this the books will be rebound.

The county clerk of Cass county wrote relative to the voting booth question. He has a patent booth and wants to supply Douglas county with election outlits. County Agent Mahoney advised contract-ing for hay for the poor farm. Chief Seavy of the city police force notified the commissioners to at once abate the nuis unce, the cess pool at the poor farm. The matter was taken up and an order issued that unless Chairman Van Camp of the poor farm committee abates the nuisance, the fine be levied against him and the amount be taken out of his salars. ary. Subsequently the commissioners adopted a resolution asking the city council to establish a sewer district in the vicinity of Thirty-sixth and Francis streets in order that the county hospital sewer may be con-nected with the city sewerage system. The resolution provides that the county will pay all sums in excess of $1 per lineral foot for the cost of the constructing of the city sewer in the proposed district.

By resolution Commissioner Timme disposed of one man, the assistant county physician. The resolution provides that after August 1 this man's services shall be dispensed with. Daniel Berre bid on furnishing sand for the Mill creek culvert. His price was 94 cents per cubic yard delivered on track at Florence or $1.10 at the culvert John Dale asked to be appointed as financial agent of the county to dispose of the $158,000 of bridge bonds. He agreed to do the advertising and dispose of the bonds for of 1 per cent, providing they sell at a mium sufficient to pay the commission.

This was referred.
County Attorney Mahoney furnished an non in which he stated that the commis missioners have no authority to designate the kind of currency in which the bonds shall the kind of currency in which the bonds shall be made payable.

Rev. E. P. Quevery, of the Iowa branch of the American Educational association, asked that he be allowed to care for the homeless orphan children of the county. His proposi-tion was to charge $50 for each child so taken. His idea is to place them among Iowa farmers. The proposition was referred.

There is a difference of opinion as to how the day should be celebrated. Some prefer picuic, others a parade with an address de livered in the afternoon by a distinguished orator from abroad. Others favor only a night entertainment. Those who favor the idea of a speaker from outside mention the name of Carl Schurz and say that b once promised to come here and speak if de sired. A number of leading Germans are opposed to a street parade, especially so un less the procession could comprise a large number of societies and be made both inter-esting and imposing. These are matters, lowever, upon which the meeting today mus-

The Turners' Status.

Prof. Benefeld, who, for some months past has had direction of the Omaha turn verein, has severed his relation with tha body. His successor has not as yet been

This is a most important position and as soon as it becomes known that there is a vacancy, applications will doubtless be re-ceived from athletes in the east. The verein will be satisfied only with a good, competen and reliable instructor. It is composed o excellent material and aims at still greater proficiency in physical culture.

The younger class of the verein which did not take the first prize at the Fremont fest is not 'iscouraged. It claims it had to work under discouraging circumstances, as also that the more successful competitors were older and more experienced in the work.

This award will give outside turnvereis ourage to hope for even greater distinction and thus tend to strengthen and perpetuate the bund. The fest in question has inspired the younger vereins with confidence, some-thing which they had not experienced before, because nearly all of them feared that it would be useless to turn against Omaha, as she had achieved so many victories, The members congratulate the turners of both Plattsmouth and Lincoln and hope they may long display the energy and ability which characterized them during the last

But the outside towns must work for their laurels next year.

The Sangerfest. Owing to a variety of circumstances it has peen deemed advisable to defer the proposed lest of the Nebrasica Saugerbund until the atter part of August or the middle of Se tember. There will then take place in this city a grand sanger picnic rather than a fest, which, however, many of the leading was of the state will be represented Among them will be Columbus, Hastings Lincoln, Plattsmouth, Fremont, Grand Island and Scribner.

The gathering will occupy one day, Sun day, the delegates returning home on Mon-An attempt will then be made to make ar rangements for a state sangerfest to be held the following year. The societies under whose auspices the mothe Schweitzer gesangverein. All the other singing societies of the city, however, will aid in making the visit of their brother singers as pleasant as possible.

Plattdeutscher Volksfest. The national convention of Plattdeutscher societies will meet in Denver July 31, auamong the delegates will be those from Omaha whose names have already appeared After the close of the convention the Omaha Plattdeutschers will hold a great volks fest at Ruser's park. These fests are of annua occurrence. They afford old and young a opportunity of onloying the open air of the country and engaging in the pleasures and games peculiar to fatherland which cannot be participated in the city. A number of these games are unknown among Americans They are peculiarly of low German origin and are heartily enjoyed by old and young o both sexes. The verein has designed a nun ber of beautifut prizes which will be awarded to the successful contestants.

Picnics.

Every German society of this city makes a specially of its annual picule, while some hie themselves to neighboring groves and parks several times during the summer season. The last week has witnessed a num ber of these gatherings, all of which were productive of both rest and enjoyment. Th Concordia gave a most successful basket pic-nic at Pries' lake on Sunday last, and on the ame day, in the maly section at the corne granz passed the hours with mirth and song the latter being rendered under the direction of Prof. Dworzak. The Baier verein also entertained its friends and members on th same day in Seseman's park. Today Gemuethlichkeit is picnicing at Sarpy Mills

Concordia's Twenty-Third Year. The Concordia Singing society is one of the few organizations of this city whose history extends back almost to the early days of Omaha. It has maintained an uninterrupte Omana. It has maintained an unincorrupted existence for twenty-three years. It is as proud of its autiquity as it is of its musical and social successes which it has achieved during those years. It is now preparing to pass its twenty-third milestone, which it will reach on September 20 of this year. This event it will celebrate with a grand jubile and concert, in which some most beautifu be rendered. The members of the Concording propose making this anniversary the most memorable in their career.

There are now in Europe probably more well known German citizens of Omaha than there has been at any time since Germans commenced to return to the Fatheriand. Among them may be mentioned Mr. Louis Schroeder, Fred Stubbendorf, Winiam Segelke, Fred Metz, all of whom, with the exception of the last mentioned, were accompanied with their families. Mrs. George Heimrod and cuitiren, Mrs. Bauman and daughter are also among the sojourners cross the ocean and will remain therefor Treubund G and Lodge. The United Order of Dreibund will hold its grand lodge in this city on Tuesday next. De Witt's Little Early Risers, best pill.

The meetings will be held in the hall of Planet lodge, Knights of Pythias, Douglas street, between Tweifth and Thirteenth. The organization has been most successful since its introduction into this section. There are three lodges in this city, one in South Omaha and another in Plattsmouth. There are three in the western part of lows, one of them being at Council Bluffs. All of the lodges across the river will also be in attendance. The object is purely benevolent and the transactions of the lodge will be of later-est to many Germans in this section.

HARD ON NEBRASKA FARMERS.

Irregularities May Cause the Loss of Maple Sugar Bounties.

THOUSANDS ARE BARRED BY THE LAW.

Unless Applications Were Filed Pr.or to July on Next Year's Productions no Premiums Will be Paid.

WASHINGTON BUREAU THE BEE, ) WASHINGTON, D. C., July 18. Up to July 1 the total number of manufacturers of maple sugar who had applied for the license which would entitle them to a bounty next spring was something under four thousand Contrary to expectations the state of New York, Wisconsin, Ohio and Michigan, which next to Vermont, are the principal maple sugar producing states, are very poorly represented among those who claim the bounty. All farmers who are to receive the premiums on sugar produced next season have made application, but it is believed that thousands are barred because of a misunderstanding of the law. Under the sugar bounty clause of the McKinley act, it is held that applications must be filed on the "growing crop" by July i, preceding the production of the sugar. This construction, therefore, bars all who failed to apply before the beginning of the current month, even though it will be March next before the sap will run. Seven beet sugar manufacturers have taken the necessary steps to secure the bounty and the sugar crop from this source is estimated at nearly thirty million pounds, upon which bounties to the amount of $600,000 will be paid. Nebraska and California will get the greater portion of this. Recent Army Orders.
