Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to William T. Heft of Council Bluffs and Katle A. Boyle of Neola, J. F. Lunkley of this city and Anna Miller of Holdrege, Neb., and to James H. Sims of this city and Katherine Treater of Stouchelder. For Trotter of Stourbridge, Eng. Al Hill, a driver for Gilbert Brothers, was badly injured a day or two ago while putting a harness on a horse in the stable. The horse had a sore neck, and became enraged at having the collar put on. He knocked Hill down and tramped on him, bruising him severely. Fortunately there were no bones broken, and Hill was out yesterday for the first time since the accident.

A boy named Arnold, who lives near the corner of Avenue C and Fourteenth street, was badly hurt day before yesterday while playing in a barn. He jumped out of a manger and lit on a rusty nail, which penetrated his foot to a depth of about two inches. It was feared at first that the boy would have an attack of lockjaw, but at last accounts he was doing well, and the accident will not be likely to have any serious results.

The award of the contract for heating the Harrison street school is likely to be reconsidered and given to another bidder. P. C. DeVol claims his bid for the furnaces was $875 and that of Shugart & Co. $396. The contract was awarded the latter firm for the reason that DeVol had neglected to state what kind of furnaces he proposed to put in. The specifications upon which the bids were based the Economy furnace. This is the furnace that DeVol handles and is exclusive agent for, and he questions the right of the board to assume that he contemplated filling the contract with any other. At the next meeting of the board he will insist that he the lowest bidder and is entitled to the work.

Doctors at War. The case of Dr. W. G. Bryson, charged with conspiring with one Hemming to break ur the business of Dr. F. P. Bellinger, was brought up in Justice Hammer's court vesterday, and a change of venue was taken to the court of Justice Swearingen. An immediate trial was desired by the defendant, and the case was proceed with without delay. The attorneys for the defendant demurred to the information, alleging that there were im-perfections in it, sufficient to warrant the case being thrown out of the court. The demurrer was argued at length by the attorneys, and was finally overruled by the court. A motion was then made for the reduction of the bail bond and it was sustained, the bond being reduced to $500, instead of $1,000. On account of the lateness of the hour, it was decided to postpone the further trial of the case until tomorrow morning, when it will be One queer fact in connection with the present case has been remarked upon by many who witnessed the proceedings. Dr. Bryson has been in close communication with a number of the physicians of the city for some time past, who have had a deep rooted dislike for Dr. Bellinger on account of his advertising and other "unorthodox" ways of working up trade. He was promised the assistance of these same physicians, but when he was piaced behind the bars of the county jail on account of his inability to furnish $1,000 ball his friends suddenly took to the woods and no one could be found to help him out. Some of his friends from Omaha rustled around yesterday afternoon and at last succeeded in making arrangements for

A rumor has been going the rounds for the last week that the doctors of the Omaha medical institute, who were run out of Omaha a week or two ago in a somewhat ur ceremonious manner, have come to this side of the river and been employed in Dr. Bellinger's institute. Big Damage Suit. Fannie L. Patterson commenced a suit in the district court vesterday afternoon to re cover $20,000 damages from the Omaha and Council Bluffs railway and bridge company for injuries received while alighting from a motor train October 28, 1830. The plaintiff claims that she was riding on a motor on that date, and that she signailed the conduc-tor to stop, which he did. While she was alighting the car suddenly started up and and she was thrown to the pavement and dragged quite a distance. She was severely bruised by her contact with the pavement, so that she has been unable to work ever since that time, and she also claims that she will never be any more able to work than she now is. In view of the fact that she has been compelled to pay $55 for doctor bills. she asks a judgment for $20,000 damages.

Traveling Men's Day at Cautauqua a Great Success.

IOWA AND NEBRASKA KNIGHTS PRESENT.

John T. Stewart and His Friends Get Back at Nat Brown-Charges and Counter Charges.

It was traveling men's day at the Chautauqua and the knights of the grip turned out en masse to greet each other and hear speeches from such of their number as could talk on the stage. Three motor cars came over from Omaha in the forenoon and went to the grounds over the Rock Island. A company of several hundred were in attendance from this city, including traveling men, their wives, children and sweethearts.

The programme was opened in the afterfoon by a musical prejude by the lowa State band, after which, at 2:30 o'clock, the speaking commenced. W. J. Davenport of the "Q" presided to the satisfaction of all the audience, and also made a brief address, at the close of which he was greeted with appliance. An eloquent address was then made by Rev. T. J. Mackay of Omaha, after which Miss Smith sang a solo. C. M. Lobeck spoke on the subject "Towa State Travelers," and E. M. Simons assured with a speech in hethe subject. Towa State

What Stewart's Friends Say. Considerable feeling has been awakened in Council Biuffs by the publication of the somewhat savage charges made against President John T. Stewart by Secretary Nat Brown, of the Union Driving Park association. Mr. Stewart's friends have been earnestly urging him for the past two days to defend himself in the newspapers, but he has steadfastly refused to do so. To a BEE reporter, who was urged to get his side of the unfortunate controversy among the officers of the association, he said: "I have no statement to make and nothing to say. I have been a citizen of Council Bluffs for the past thirty-five years, and I would move out past thirty-live years, and I would move out of town if I thought any reputable people could believe, much less be the authors of such slanderous attacks."

"Nat Brown is a pretty good fellow and a warm friend of mine," said a former officer in the driving park, "but in his attack on John T. Stewart he is altogether wrong. There is absolutely no justification for the assault whatever. If all the facts connected with the management of the driving park, and particularly the connection of several of the Omaha men with it were made public they would be placed in a very undesirable light. It would show that some of the gen tlemen possess an amount of pure, unadulter ated gall that is simply paralyzing. I know the whole history of the trouble and its cause, and no blame can possibly be attached to Stewart. Neither Secretary Brown nor any of the other Omaha gentlemen who came over here to run the track has really the right to say a word about the management. They are not in it at all. Not one of them has paid a cent of the stock they all obligated themselves to pay for. For six months past they have been given gentle, courteous hints that the association would like to see the color of their money, but nothing more valuable than an an oft broken promise was forthcoming. The meeting called the other day that ender in such a row was illegally called. According to the rules President Stewart was the only one who could call a meeting, the secretary having the power when the president is not in the city. I don't think Nat called the meeting and brought the boys over here for the purpose of having a row, but it came when Stewart raised the point of order that Nat and his friends had no right to vote until they had made some attempt to discharge their financial obligations. Stewart and all the Council Bluffs stockholders paid for their stock when it was issued to their, and they thought it a pretty good time to find out what

Kansas City Railroad Men Feted by Omaha Confrere ..

A delegation of seventeen men from the city railroad offices of Kansas City arrived in the city yesterday morning and were received by a committee from the organization of railroad men of Omaha and escorted to the Millard. From there they proceeded to the Dellone, where tally-ho coaches were mounted, and the party made a tour of the city, visiting South Omaha, where they were pleasantly entertained by Manager Babcock of the stockyards.

In the evening the visitors and the Omaha freight men assembled at the Dellone, where at S o'clock the entire party, numbering about seventy-five, were gathered in the parlor and marched to the banquet hall, headed by the veteran railrender, Jules G. Lumbard. The tables had been arranged about three sides of the spacious room and were prettily decorated with pyramids of frui and potted plants. At the sta-tion of the toast master was placed a miniature freight train decorated with flowers. After the seventy-flow guests had been seated Mr. Lumbard welcomed the guests of the day in a brief address, after which the delicious menu was served in a faultiess manner, while an orchestra disoursed sweet music. After the important duty of disposing of verything in sight had been discharged. Mr. Jules Lumbard proposed the health of the guests of the evening, which was arank by all standing. He then made a short address in which he paid a glowing tribute to the well known kindly feeling which prevails among the railroad fraternity. Flimsy Pretext on Which a Detective

Made an Arrest. About 10 o'clock last night the name of Ben A. Cramer was placed upon the blotter at the central police station and the words 'suspicious charactere'' were placed after it. During Saturday forenoon Mrs. R. C. Whitmore, whose husband is the proprietor of a Dodge street art store, drove up to "C. O. D." Brown's grocery store to make some purchases. Before teaving her home the lady placed her money and some of her valuable jewelry in a small veivet pouch which areswered the purpose of a purse. Mrs. Whitmere is not in the habit f carrying her loweiry about, but took the precaution to do so this time because she did t care to leave it alone at the house. Upon arriving at the grocery store Mrs. Whitmore did not leave her carriage, but gave her order for provisious to Ben Cramer The purchase was paid for from money in the pouch, and the carriage drove away. Later on Mrs. Whitmore missed her and an investigation was started by the no lice. All the clerks at the Brown store were uestioned about finding any jewelry on the dewalk, but without any clue until Cramer

When the question was put to Cramer he asked if they meant the velvet pouch fastened with a safety pin. He was told that such an article was missing and stated that he saw it lying in the gutter but did not think it amounted to anything and so did not touch it. Cramer's actions and conversation loosed exceedingly suspicious to Detective Haze and so the grocery clerk was placed be-hind the bars. There is really no evidence against him but his knowledge of the missing At midnight Mrs. Cramer called at police headquarters to see her husband but was de nied the privilege and left, weeping bitterly

BOARD OF TRADE MATTERS. Grain Law and Helena Excursion Discussed.

An adjourned meeting of the directors of the board of trade was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A committee of the South Omaha live stock exchange, consisting of J. B. Blanchard, W. N. Babcock, T. B. McPherson, L. C. Redingten and W. E. Wood, met with the board and assured them that they were ready and willing to join in any undertaking to entertain the shippers of this state and represented that their people are heartly in sympathy with Omaha's proposition to have an active grain and provision market and are ready to give their co-operation both in time and money to accomplish this end. The board of trade suggested that they call meeting of those interested for next Tues day at 2 o'clock to select such names as they might wish to represent them on the differ ent committees, and appointed C. H. Fowler, Max Meyer and W. N. Nason, a committee to attend this meeting at South Omaha and explain more fully the plan and receive any suggestions that will assist in making this occasion a grand success.

The committee appointed to consider the subject of a shippers' reception and banquet, consisting of L. D. Fowler, C. H. Fowler, H. G. Clarke, J. A. Connor and H. T. Clarke, made the following report:

Your committee appointed on shippers' re-ception and banquet, would recommend that you appoint the following committees: Arrangements, 5; transportation, 2; printing, 3; invitations, 5; finence, 5; banquet, 3; re-ception, 15; entertainment, 5.

Having fixed the date for August 20 we find this will give ampletime to have our exchange properly opened. The governor by that time will have appointed the chief inspector. The board of transportation will have its rules regulating grades and inspection adopted, printed and ready fordistribution. We would printed and re dy for distribution. We would suggest that the secretary of your board be instructed to extend at this time an invitation to the governor and state board of transportation to participate and become part of this entertainment. We would further recommend that the secretary be instructed to procure grain samples of grades from the chief inspectors of Minnesota. Hinois, Missouri and Kansas so as to be able to allow the board of transportation, the chief inspector and the grain men of the state as opportunity to confer together and adopt grades by samples.

There is nothing in connection with this new law of such great importance to the state as the adoption of standard grades in keeping with the inspection of other states with whom we come in direct competition.

After the reading of this report the board

After the reading of this report the board ook up the subject of the proposed excursion to Helena. The committee having this matter in charge reported that at this season a good many jobbers were already away on their vacations and that it would be almost possible to get up an excursion of reprentative business men at the present time. On this representation the board decided that it would be better to postpone the excursion until fall. The next meeting will be held on Wednes-day of next week when the proposed enter-tainment for the shippers will be still further
