Little Daughter of James Goodwin Drowned in a Cistern.

DID NOT UNDERSTAND THE LETTER BOX.

Unpleasant Predicament of a Youth From the Rural Districts of lows-Quiet Wedding at St. Paul's.

Edith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Goodwin, was drowned yesterday afternoon at about 2 o'clock at her home, 520 Voorhis street. Mrs. Goodwin was busy getting her children ready for Sunday school and Edith went out of her sight for a few minutes. When the mother came to look for her she was nowhere to be found. While making a search Mrs. Goodwin noticed that the box covering a cistern in the back yard was broken and the lid gone. She at once suspected the awful truth and called to her husband, who got a rake and commenced to hunt in the water for the body. As he was about to give it up he saw a tiny foot sticking above the water, and in a few moments the body was on dry land.

Drs. Bellinger and Hanchett were called, and they tried for hours to resuscitate the body, but without effect. It was still warm when it was taken from the body, but there was no heart beat or other sign of life, and she was finally given up for dead.

The gistern where the child, was desired.

The cistern where the child was drowned was only about fifty feet from the back porch of one of the neighbors, and in plain sight. Several people were sitting on the porch about the time the drowning took place and saw the little girl leaning over the edge, drawing water with a tin pail. None of them, however, saw her fall, and they had no idea anything was wrong until they heard

Spoiled a Sensation. A morning paper published a sensational article yesterday in which it was stated that Minnie Palmer, the actress who delighted American audiences a number of years ago, was stopping at the Pacific house for the purpose of hunting up her husband, who had run off and left her penniless. It now transpires that there are two Minnie Pal-mers, and that this is the other one. Minnie Palmer the actress has disappeared from the public gaze entirely, and the Min-nie Paimer, who was in Council Bluffs yesterday, is a very common sort of a person who never would have thought of represent-ing berself to be the actress had the idea not been put into her head by an enterprising re-porter. A MODERN JONAH,

Story of a Sailor Who Lived Thirty Six I ours in a Whale's Stomach. The whaling vessel Star of the East arrived at New London, Conn., after a cruise of two years and a half in the Soath Atlantic waters. She had on board a man who is a veritable Jonah, having existed in a whale's belly thirtysix hours. The man's statement is vouched for by the captain and crew of the vessel, says a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and today he is an object of great curiosity among the sailors. The man's name is James Bartley and he hails from New Bedford, where he was born thirty-eight years ago. The strange story told by him is, in substance, as fol Last February the Star of the East was in the vicinity of the Falkland islands searching for wales, which were very scarce. One morning the lookout sighted a whate about three miles away to the starboard quarter. Two boats were manned and put chase to the prey. In a short time one of the boats was near enough to enable the harpooner to send a spear into the whale, which proved to be an exceedingly large one. With the shaft in his side the animal sounded and then sped away, drag-ging the boat after him with terrible speed. He swam straight away about five miles, when he turned and came back almost directly to the pot where he had been harpooned. The second boat waited for him and when tut a short distance away he again arose to the surface. As soon as his back showed above the surface of the water the harpooner in the second boat drove another spear into him. The pain apparently crazed the whale, for it thrashed about fearfully, and it was feared that the boats would be swamped and the crews drowned. Finally the whale swam away dragging the two boats after him. He went about three miles and sounded or sank, and his whereabouts could not be exactly told. The lines attached to the harpoon were slack and the harpooners began to slowly draw them in and coil them in the tubs. As soon as they were tautened the whale arose to the surface and beat about with his tail in the maddest fashion. The boats attempted to get beyond the reach of the animal, which was apparently in its death agonies, and of one them succeeded, but the other was less fortunate. The whale struck it with its nose and upset it. The men were thrown into the water and before the crew of the other boat could pick them up one man was drowned and James Bartley had disappeared. When the whale became quiet from exhaustion the waters were searched for Bartley, but he could not be found, and, under the impression that he had been struck by the whale's tail and sunk to the bottom. the survivors rowed back to The whale was dead, and in a few hours the great body was lying by the ship's side, and the men were busy with axes and spades cutting through the flesh to secure the fat They worked all day and a part of the They resumed operations the next forenoon, and were soon down to the stomach, which was to be hoisted to the deck. The vast pouch was hoisted to the deck and cut open, and inside was found the missing sailor doubled up and unconscious. He was laid out on the deck and treated to a bath of sea water, which soon revived him, but his mind was not clear and he was placed in the captain's quarters, where he remained two weeks raving maniac. He was carefully treated by the captain and officers of the ship, and he finally began to get possession of his senses. At the end of the third week he had entirely recovered from the shock and resumed his giving the man the appearance of havng been parboiled. Bartley affirms that he would probably have lived inside his house of flesh until he starved, for he lost his sense through fright and not through lack o air. He says he remembers the sensa-tion of being lifted into the air by the nose of the whale and of falling into the water, then there was a fearful rushing sound, which he believed to be the beat ing of the water by the whale's tail; then he was encompassed by a fearful darkness, and he felt himself slipping along a smooth passage of some sort that seemed to move and carry him forward. This sensation lasted but an instant, then he felt that he had more room. He felt about him, and his hands came in contact with a yielding, slimy substance that seemed to shrink from his touch. finally dawned upon him that he had been swallowed by the whale, and he was overcome with horror at the situation He could breathe easily, but the heat was terrible. It was not of a soothing, stiffing nature, but it seemed to open the pores of his skin and to draw out his vitality. He became very weak and grew sick at the stomach. that there was no hope of escape from his strange prison. Death stared him in the face, and he tried to look at it bravely, but the awful quiet, the fearfu darkness, the horrible knowledge of his environments and the terrible heat finally overcame him and he must have fainted, for he next remembered being

ALTON ROAD DECLARING WAR,

Reduced Rates for the Grand Army Incampment at Duluth.

THROUGH CONNECTIONS NOW ASSURED.

Announcement of Solid Trains for the Occasion a Veritable Bombshell to the Boyco tera-Wabash in the Scheme.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 19 .- The Alton road has announced a rate of $17.75 from Kansas City to Detroit and return for the Grand Army encampment. Tickets are to be sold on July 31, August 1, 2, and 3. In addition to the rate to Detroit the Alton also announce that they would on the same dates, for the accommodation of the general public, seil tlexets from Kausas City to Chicago and return for $10. A bomb shell was thrown into the boycotters' camp when the Alton announced that they would run through trains to Detroit. The opinion has very generally prevalled that the Alton was without a Detroit connection, but it develops that the Wabash has agreed to accept Alton tickets and baggage and handle their cars for Grand Army busi-

Western Roads Uneasy. Cuicago, July 19.-The roads in the Western Passenger association are showing a good deal of uneasiness in consequence of the Chicago & Alton's independent action in regard to Grand Army rates. They had been given to understand that the Alton would make a round trip rate at $10 between Kansas City and Chicago in case the association decided to make through excursion rates to the Grand Army encampment at Detroit by all connecting lines, but somehow they seem to be shocked at the promptness with which the Aiton has fulfilled its promise in this. One of the southwestern lines has declared its intention of meeting the rates made by the Alton, which is interpreted that they will all sell local tickets between the Missouri river and Chicago at $10 for the round trip, making them good to bearer.

RATES FOR THE WORLD'S PAIR. The Transcontinental association has notified the world's fair people that the railroads west of the Missouri river will carry free returning all goods exhibited at the exhibition that has been paid for at full tariff rates going to Chicago, provided they are returned over the same road that transported them to the fair. This included the transportation of building material. The Western Traffic association, the Central Traffic association, the Trunk and the New England associations have all taken similar action, and these comprise nearly all the important lines.

ROCK ISLAND RETRENCHMENT. The Rock Island road is still pursuing its policy of retrenchment. Some of the men were laid off at the Culcago shops yesterday, and the same thing is being done all over the system where it is possible to reduce the force without impairing the service.

For a Cent a Mile.

DETROIT, Mich., July 19 .- The Ohio visitors of the Grand Army of the Republic encampment are coming in at the rate of 1 cent per mile. The Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo, the Wheeling & Lake Eric and the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton roads, the three main north and south lines through Ohio, have agreed upon a 1 cent per mile rate and the transportation committee of the Grand Army of the Republic has made these road the official lines.

The influence of the cut to I cent per mile upon other roads is problematic. A promi-nent member of the Michigan Passenger association said last night that it would lead to a general smash in rates on all lines. The Baltimore & Ohio and the Big Four will be compelled to meet the rate or surrender the business, and if several other big roads should follow suit the passenger association would have a merry war upon its nands.

Developing Leeders. New York, July 19.-The Gazzam & Laose railway of the coat line of the N York Central in Pennsylvania, is about to put under contract an extension of its line from a point near Gazzam to LaJose, a dis tance of 16 miles. The extension is for the purpose of reaching additional coal fields, and the LaJose connection will be made with lines now being built by the Pennsylvania.

After exas Railways.

St. Louis, July 19.-The attorney general of Texas is preparing to bring suit against the Texas & Pacific railway and Messrs. Charles J. Cauon, Simon Drake and William Strauss of New York for the recovery of 700,000 acres of land. He has sent to Jefferson Davis county the first papers looking to the cancellation of the patent to the land.

HARD LINES FOR ELOPERS. Thrilling Experience of Two Pennsyl-

Mosely and Bessle Steadman, who eloped from Allegheny, Pa., on the 7th inst., and were overtaken at Alliance, Onio, before they were married. Mosely made a clean breast of the escapade, to shield the girl's good name. Said he: "We went to Swickley to attend a pienic. We had previously planned to go to Bulfalo and get maried. I sent a telegram back here saying we had gone to Jamestown, but that was done to throw the folks off the We expected to cross the Ohio and take a train at Coraopolis, but

At Sewickley, when the Chicago express came along, with nothing but mail and express cars, I asked the conductor to take us to Beaver, where we could catch a Lake Erie express train. He refused. offered him $50 to take us down, but it would not go. We then crawled onto the bumpers of the front car. The girl having on a light challie dress I put my overcoat on her to protect her from the night air. She looked like a boy then. In this way we rode to Alliance. An officer arrested us there, but let us go again. We did not want to stay there, as we could not get married in Ohio. We tried to board again and were arrested by train detective. He also let us go, after we gave him a hard-luck story. I told him that the young man with me was my brother. I don't see why he did not discover the mistake, as my overcoat only reached the girl' knees. We remained all night at a hotel and next morning were arrested and taken before the mayor. We were de-tained in the mayor's office until even-ing, when Chief Stacey took me to a hotel, and the mayor look the girl to his home. About 12 o'clock that night went around to the mayor's house and gave a whistle that Miss Steadman understood. She opened the window as far as she could. It would not go up very high. She crawled out on a tip gutter and along to an awning, which she attempted to slide down, when i broke and fell with a crush. I caught the girl in my arms. We then started across the fields to the Erie & Pittsburg railroad, with the hope of reaching Cumberland, Md. The girl got all wet crossing the fields and went into a farmhouse to dry her clothes. New England Thrift.

The thrift of New England manifests itself in curious ways sometimes, says a writer in the Boston News. I spent a day recently at the house of some wealthy people, whose worldly goods, independent of an excellent income, aggregate some $20,000. On the mantelpiece in every room was a vase in which reposed a pyramid of partially burned matches, which it was the custom to use whenever one light was burning and an other was to be lighted. How many cents a decade was saved by this system, at the present price of matches, may be imagined. It is simply a matter of habit with these folks, an outgrowth of the saving disposition of the head of the family, a disposition which laid the foundation for the family's prosperity. They are by no means small in other things, by the way.

In spite of the deep-seated animosity and invectives heaped upon us by a few old sorcheads we will outwit them all, and they will but kindle a flame that will some day consume them, and we propose to be at the fireworks.
