THEY REPUDIATE PARNELL.

Dillon and O'Brien Will Not Listen to Overtures of Peace.

HIS FOLLOWERS ARE LOSING FAITH.

Marriage Did Not Relieve His Financial Embarrassment—World's Fair Commission in Paris—Other European Matters.

[Copyright by the New York Associated Press.] LONDON, July 31.—Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien's repudiation of Parnell, though a foregone conclusion, has profoundly depressed the Parnellites who relied upon a belief that both would suspend a public protest and would remain faithful through private communications made on the eve of their release to resume negotiations, but neither responded to the secret overtures.

Mr. Parnell hoped until the last moment yesterday that he would again entangle them in manœuvres for a reunion. Their prompt and decisive declarations as soon as they were outside the prison walls, and their refusal to listen to any advances from the Parnellites fell like a deathblow upon the factions.

The last flourish of hope went out when the lord mayor of Dublin and other devoted Parnellites vainly tried to induce Mr. O'Brien, who was supposed to be more ductile than Mr. Dillon, to reconsider his position. Mr. O'Brien bluntly declined to listen to any negotiations. When the attitude of the released leaders became definitely known the chief Dublin Parnellites held a meeting privately and had a warm time discussing over the course they should take.

An intimation reached them of the desertion of the party on the part of Dillon and O'Brien. There was a steadfast adherence to pass a resolution denouncing Dillon and O'Brien and urging Mr. Parnell not to yield.

Today Mr. Parnell telegraphed to the committee that defections on every side would not make him alter his course a hair's breadth. He would remain on Sunday to speak at Thurin, the strongest Parnellite center in Ireland, probably to give a new burst of defiance to the bishops and to prophesy his future triumph. To fill up the gaps left in the committee by the deserters another directorate is forming aspiring to found a daily paper on "Parnell's" principles. The one Dublin evening organ remaining faithful to the party to not succumb to stage fright because they have lost O'Brien, but the truth and honesty of the cause will win the hearts of those who are not so easily misled and that it will be possible to continue the struggle.

If continued it will no longer have a constitutional character. The composition of the league sections now adhering to Parnell is the reversion of the action of the old party. It is safe to predict that Parnell will soon have the support of the revolutionary partisans at home and abroad.

The executive committee of the party, which Parnell is training college bill, which practically proposes to enow two large Catholic colleges in Dublin and one very minor protestant college, has caused a revolt in the conservative ranks. In principle the bill is so sectional with jealousies that it threatened to prevent the session. Mr. Baileys, however, skillfully resorted to a plan to divert the capital for the college from the funds at the disposal of the Irish education board. The bill therefore can be postponed.
