

THE OMAHA BEE.

COUNCIL BLUFFS. OFFICE: NO. 12 PEARL STREET. Delivered by Carrier in any part of the City. H. W. TILTON, MANAGER. TELEPHONE: Business Office, No. 43. Night Editor, No. 23.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS.

Anti-Prohibitionists Failed to Meet as Previously Agreed.

BUT THEY WILL ASSEMBLE MONDAY.

City Council Session of Next Week Will be Postponed to Permit Members to Attend Another Flood.

The meeting of anti-prohibitionists failed to come off last evening at the court house, and has been postponed. Had it not been for the rain the room would have been crowded in all probability, but as it was there were not over fifty present. It was thought best not to take any action, in the hope that by postponing the meeting a fuller expression of opinion could be secured. An adjournment was taken until next Monday evening, in the regular court room at the county court house, and the program which had been arranged for last evening will be carried out to the letter. Tomorrow night is the time for the regular monthly meeting of the city council, but it is said that the meeting will be adjourned, in order to allow the council members to attend the anti-prohibition demonstration.

BOSTON STORE COST SALE.

Everything in the Store Has Been Marked Down to Cost—Ten Days Only—Note These Prices.

WASH GOODS. 32-in 8c summer cashmeres at cost price, 5c. 32-in wide 12c suiting (plaid only) at cost price, 7c. French silks, regular 22c goods, beautiful designs, half price, 11c. 5,000 yards of Pelin cloth and fancy zephyr, sold for 15c, for 12c. All our best and the outing flannel in one lot at 5c a yard. All our dark prints, including best quality indigo, at 5c, just cost price. 5c best light shirting prints, 4c. ORGANDIES, EAST BLACK, IN TWO LOTS. Lot 1—All our 12 1/2, 13c. No organadies for 9c. Lot 2—All organadies sold from 17c to 25c in one lot for 15c. 32-inch bustle cloth sold for 8c and 12c, now 7c. We only mention a few of the bargains. Everything in this department, including gingham of every description.

DOMESTIC.

Linens of every grade, also napkins and table sets, Turkey red damask, crapes, etc., at cost price. Shooting in all widths from the lowest to the highest grades, in brown, blue, black, and white, at net cost. Also all our yard wide muslin at the following prices: Lawrence LL, 5c; Lonsdale, 7c; Arrow Brand, 6c; Hope, 4c; Argyle, 6c; Ladies' Choice, 9c; Osage, 7c; Wamsutter, 11c; Pride of the West, 11c; Lonsdale, 11c; Cambridge, 11c; White River, 11c; 8c; Berkshire, 9c. All flannels, shirts, blouses, towels, tick—all under the same heading—cost for ten days only. OXY, THISTLE AND HERMSDORF. No side line. Every one of our brands are just as popular all over Europe as they are in America. During this ten days' sale we put every pair of hose in stock on sale at cost price. The fancy hose, 15c. 25c ballgrain hose, 10c. 50c black hose, 30c. Everything goes in cotton, lilies and silks at cost price. UNDERWEAR. We have 500 dozen underwear, which must be removed during sale, and will go regardless of cost. Look at the following prices: 7c ribbed vests, 4c. 12c ribbed vests, 9c. 12c ribbed vests, 12c. 25c ribbed vests, 10c. 45c lisle vests, 27c. This includes everything in ladies' goods and children's underwear, all at cost price.

BOSTON STORE.

FOTHERINGHAM, WHITE & CO., Leaders and promoters of low prices. COUNCIL BLUFFS, IA.

Investigating Cut-Off.

The city council took a drive over to Cut-Off Island before yesterday afternoon for the purpose of looking over the ground in order that in the future when matters come up that need attention they can act intelligently. They came back fully convinced that if Iowa wins the suit now pending in the supreme court for the possession of the island the city will get just what it wants, the opinion of some of the citizens to the contrary notwithstanding. According to a statement made by one of the members of the council, the subject of litigation is the only part of the island that is worth anything, and the council was unanimous in the feeling that Iowa must have it if such a thing is possible.

Removal Sale.

Intending to discontinue our Omaha store for the present and moving the stock to Council Bluffs, we will have no stock for all the surplus stock, and in order to reduce our now immense number of Pianos and Organs we will offer them at a sacrifice for the next thirty days. If you want a big bargain call soon. MUELLER MUSIC CO., 103 Main Street.

Dr. Woodbury, dentist, 30 Pearl street, next to Grand hotel. Telephone 145. High grade work a specialty.

Miners' Exchange.

W. E. Mead, secretary of the Omaha Miners' and Ore Millers' exchange, has been invited to speak next Wednesday evening, August 5, at the board of trade rooms. The invitation has been extended to him by some of the members of the board of trade, who are anxious that something should be done toward securing the co-operation of the citizens of this city in the exchange of Omaha, which is being pushed to the front among other business enterprises of the city across the river. A full attendance of the citizens is desired.

New Directory.

A. T. Ellwell has received a letter from J. P. Bushnell, the compiler of the new city directory, stating that the material is all

CHECKMATING THE SHARKS.

They Can No Longer Rob Claimants of the Government.

THE BEE'S GREAT BUREAU OF CLAIMS.

It Benefits Settlers, Patentees, Widows, Orphans and Soldiers and is Commended by the Highest Authority.

Parents Read This. July and August are anxious months for mothers who carefully watch over their little ones. Hot days and frequent changes of temperature are liable to produce cholera gathered, and the book is ready for the printer. Before printing he wants a thorough revision to be made by a committee of three from the board of trade, and the committee errors may be avoided. This committee will be appointed in a day or two, and the revision will be made as soon as possible. The book is larger than any that heretofore been issued, as it contains not only a complete directory of the city but of Pottawattamie county as well. Mr. Bushnell states that the city part alone there are 2,500 names more than in the last edition.

Inspecting the Paving. Ira Johnson, mayor of Kearney, Neb., and Aldermen G. H. Cutting, Richard Hibbard and W. L. Cooke, and City Engineer W. H. Elliott, were in the city yesterday morning on a tour of inspection. The town of Kearney is about to commence some important public improvements in the way of street paving, and their object was to get what information they could out of the city officials of Council Bluffs on the subject. Mayor Johnson showed them about the city, and they were very much pleased with what they saw. They were especially taken with the sidewalk of Council Bluffs, which is paved with brick paving, and it seemed to be the opinion of most of them that this would be the kind they would try. The party took dinner at the hotel, and then returned to their homes in the afternoon.

Phonically at Manhattan beach. Round trip tickets from Omaha, including boat ride, 50c; on sale at news stands at Millard and Murray hotels.

Man's Wrist. Henry Maxwell, who works at Bosen's planing mill, was the victim of a bad accident yesterday. While operating a planer, his hand was caught, and his index finger torn off. The rest of his hand was badly mangled, and it was feared that the whole hand would have to be taken off. He is resting as easily as could be expected, at his home on South Madison street.

Try Daquetet & Co's Pomona fruit cough tablets. They are delicious.

O. Younkerman & Co., feed and commission, 108 Broadway, Council Bluffs, Tel. 77.

Matrimonial Record. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to the following: E. M. Jones, Nettie M. Hill; Charles E. Harris, Mary E. Hill; George K. Sarag, Emma; C. J. Hickey, Omaha, Amanda Slater, Hecla, Mont.

SET UP BY GHOSTLY FINGERS. A Typewriter's Story of News Getting That It at the Telegraph.

In the summer of 1881, I said a compositor in the Cleveland World, "I was running a paper in a little backwoods town in Pennsylvania. The paper was not so metropolitan in its make-up but that I was able to do all the work myself with the exception of the printing. Publication days I called in the service of a half-dozen fellows, who were under my instruction, had developed into an expert roller. I was the only man within a radius of twenty miles who knew how to set type, and if I had fallen sick the paper would not have continued for a day. Naturally, I was not a superstitious man, but an incident occurred while I had charge of that paper which I cannot explain, and until it is explained, I shall believe that anything is possible in the way of ghosts, spooks, wreaths, etc.

"It was the morning of June 10. I had locked up my forms the night before so that I could begin printing early in the morning. I was pulling the old lever at 7 o'clock, and the local list was in the postoffice. Soon after the delivery had begun one of the merchants of the hamlet—a very intimate friend—came into the office.

"How did you come to hear of the death of your brother so soon?" said he. "There was no telegraph station within fifteen miles.

"What do you mean?" said I. "Mean?" said he. "You ought to know what is in my own mind. I have forgotten that you set up a notice of it an hour or two ago?"

"Are you crazy?" said I. "I swear that I do not know what you are driving at."

"At this juncture he opened the damp sheet that I had so recently printed and folded, and pointed me to the following item at the bottom of the third column of the local page:

"John Jones, brother of William Jones was killed at Peoria, Ill., at 5 o'clock this morning."

"My breath was fairly taken away from me. The matter, as you will have done, there was the notice of my brother's death in my own paper, and I had not set it up nor heard of it.

"You are right," said I, "but this is the first that I have known of it. If there ever was a mystery about it, it was the three line item. The moment I saw the type I was more amazed than ever. It was the typesetting of my brother, who like me, had been bred to the printer's trade, and had done his work from that of a thousand. He was a marvellously even spacer, and he carried his taste so far that he always put less space after a comma.

"But how were the line put into the locked form? No item had been taken out. I examined the form closely. Yes, there was some more of my brother's work. To gain the space leads had been taken from here and there, just as he used to take them. He was a great stickler for good looks in a page, and was very fastidious as to where he pulled his leads. It struck me right away that the notice of the death would not have been so short, would have contained more details, more, but for the fact that my brother did not wish to remove any of the matter nor any lead which could not be spared as well as not.

"Though utterly skeptical about supernatural visitations, I am now convinced that my brother's disembodied soul had made its way hundreds of miles, had entered my office in the early dawn, had set up the notice of his death and put it in the form."

"Late that afternoon a despatch came to the effect that William Jones was killed at Peoria, Ill., at 5 o'clock that morning."

"Antiquity of the Bedbug. An English naturalist has discovered proofs that the bedbug was quite common in the armies of the world at least 120 years before the Christian era, and that he was even a sea rover, as the fleets of that day had their timbers stocked with this breed of nocturnal prowlers.

CHECKMATING THE SHARKS.

They Can No Longer Rob Claimants of the Government.

THE BEE'S GREAT BUREAU OF CLAIMS.

It Benefits Settlers, Patentees, Widows, Orphans and Soldiers and is Commended by the Highest Authority.

Men who have had claims against the government and employed professional agents to present them, have been deceived in Washington, tell strange stories of tricks and rascality to which they were subjected at the hands of these merciless creatures. There are, of course, some honest men among these agents; but there are so many that are notoriously corrupt, that it is almost impossible for a claimant, unless he be directed by a well-informed individual, to find one in whom he can place implicit confidence.

The Bee has received hundreds of complaints from soldiers and others who had advanced money when so desired and who wanted for years and yet failed to receive any information as regards what the sharks had done with either money or claim.

The Bee has been requested to recommend reliable agents and has, in this way served to protect the people from fraud and robbery. But that did not good to the people who had fallen into the hands of sharks. As rapidly as the latter were shown up, new ones with new tricks and rascality took their place.

There was but one means left and that was to establish a great bureau of claims. This idea was suggested to a number of people but was put into practice first by the San Francisco Examiner.

With the Examiner, the Bee has co-operated in the great work of affording relief to worthy claimants.

The Washington correspondent of the Examiner, Mr. John Wedderburn, who has also acted as private secretary to Senator Hearst, was detailed to organize and take charge of the bureau. His long service in Washington in both these capacities had given him a large acquaintance with government officials and the proper procedure to follow, his name was chosen as well qualified to push claims through in the shortest time if they were justly due.

Mr. Winslow's Southern Scrap is the best remedy for children's teething. 25 cents a bottle.

Try Daquetet & Co's Pomona fruit cough tablets. They are delicious.

O. Younkerman & Co., feed and commission, 108 Broadway, Council Bluffs, Tel. 77.

Matrimonial Record. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to the following: E. M. Jones, Nettie M. Hill; Charles E. Harris, Mary E. Hill; George K. Sarag, Emma; C. J. Hickey, Omaha, Amanda Slater, Hecla, Mont.

SET UP BY GHOSTLY FINGERS. A Typewriter's Story of News Getting That It at the Telegraph.

In the summer of 1881, I said a compositor in the Cleveland World, "I was running a paper in a little backwoods town in Pennsylvania. The paper was not so metropolitan in its make-up but that I was able to do all the work myself with the exception of the printing. Publication days I called in the service of a half-dozen fellows, who were under my instruction, had developed into an expert roller. I was the only man within a radius of twenty miles who knew how to set type, and if I had fallen sick the paper would not have continued for a day. Naturally, I was not a superstitious man, but an incident occurred while I had charge of that paper which I cannot explain, and until it is explained, I shall believe that anything is possible in the way of ghosts, spooks, wreaths, etc.

"It was the morning of June 10. I had locked up my forms the night before so that I could begin printing early in the morning. I was pulling the old lever at 7 o'clock, and the local list was in the postoffice. Soon after the delivery had begun one of the merchants of the hamlet—a very intimate friend—came into the office.

"How did you come to hear of the death of your brother so soon?" said he. "There was no telegraph station within fifteen miles.

"What do you mean?" said I. "Mean?" said he. "You ought to know what is in my own mind. I have forgotten that you set up a notice of it an hour or two ago?"

"Are you crazy?" said I. "I swear that I do not know what you are driving at."

"At this juncture he opened the damp sheet that I had so recently printed and folded, and pointed me to the following item at the bottom of the third column of the local page:

"John Jones, brother of William Jones was killed at Peoria, Ill., at 5 o'clock this morning."

"My breath was fairly taken away from me. The matter, as you will have done, there was the notice of my brother's death in my own paper, and I had not set it up nor heard of it.

"You are right," said I, "but this is the first that I have known of it. If there ever was a mystery about it, it was the three line item. The moment I saw the type I was more amazed than ever. It was the typesetting of my brother, who like me, had been bred to the printer's trade, and had done his work from that of a thousand. He was a marvellously even spacer, and he carried his taste so far that he always put less space after a comma.

"But how were the line put into the locked form? No item had been taken out. I examined the form closely. Yes, there was some more of my brother's work. To gain the space leads had been taken from here and there, just as he used to take them. He was a great stickler for good looks in a page, and was very fastidious as to where he pulled his leads. It struck me right away that the notice of the death would not have been so short, would have contained more details, more, but for the fact that my brother did not wish to remove any of the matter nor any lead which could not be spared as well as not.

"Though utterly skeptical about supernatural visitations, I am now convinced that my brother's disembodied soul had made its way hundreds of miles, had entered my office in the early dawn, had set up the notice of his death and put it in the form."

"Late that afternoon a despatch came to the effect that William Jones was killed at Peoria, Ill., at 5 o'clock that morning."

"Antiquity of the Bedbug. An English naturalist has discovered proofs that the bedbug was quite common in the armies of the world at least 120 years before the Christian era, and that he was even a sea rover, as the fleets of that day had their timbers stocked with this breed of nocturnal prowlers.

CHECKMATING THE SHARKS.

They Can No Longer Rob Claimants of the Government.

THE BEE'S GREAT BUREAU OF CLAIMS.

It Benefits Settlers, Patentees, Widows, Orphans and Soldiers and is Commended by the Highest Authority.

Men who have had claims against the government and employed professional agents to present them, have been deceived in Washington, tell strange stories of tricks and rascality to which they were subjected at the hands of these merciless creatures. There are, of course, some honest men among these agents; but there are so many that are notoriously corrupt, that it is almost impossible for a claimant, unless he be directed by a well-informed individual, to find one in whom he can place implicit confidence.

The Bee has received hundreds of complaints from soldiers and others who had advanced money when so desired and who wanted for years and yet failed to receive any information as regards what the sharks had done with either money or claim.

The Bee has been requested to recommend reliable agents and has, in this way served to protect the people from fraud and robbery. But that did not good to the people who had fallen into the hands of sharks. As rapidly as the latter were shown up, new ones with new tricks and rascality took their place.

There was but one means left and that was to establish a great bureau of claims. This idea was suggested to a number of people but was put into practice first by the San Francisco Examiner.

With the Examiner, the Bee has co-operated in the great work of affording relief to worthy claimants.

The Washington correspondent of the Examiner, Mr. John Wedderburn, who has also acted as private secretary to Senator Hearst, was detailed to organize and take charge of the bureau. His long service in Washington in both these capacities had given him a large acquaintance with government officials and the proper procedure to follow, his name was chosen as well qualified to push claims through in the shortest time if they were justly due.

Mr. Winslow's Southern Scrap is the best remedy for children's teething. 25 cents a bottle.

Try Daquetet & Co's Pomona fruit cough tablets. They are delicious.

O. Younkerman & Co., feed and commission, 108 Broadway, Council Bluffs, Tel. 77.

Matrimonial Record. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to the following: E. M. Jones, Nettie M. Hill; Charles E. Harris, Mary E. Hill; George K. Sarag, Emma; C. J. Hickey, Omaha, Amanda Slater, Hecla, Mont.

SET UP BY GHOSTLY FINGERS. A Typewriter's Story of News Getting That It at the Telegraph.

In the summer of 1881, I said a compositor in the Cleveland World, "I was running a paper in a little backwoods town in Pennsylvania. The paper was not so metropolitan in its make-up but that I was able to do all the work myself with the exception of the printing. Publication days I called in the service of a half-dozen fellows, who were under my instruction, had developed into an expert roller. I was the only man within a radius of twenty miles who knew how to set type, and if I had fallen sick the paper would not have continued for a day. Naturally, I was not a superstitious man, but an incident occurred while I had charge of that paper which I cannot explain, and until it is explained, I shall believe that anything is possible in the way of ghosts, spooks, wreaths, etc.

"It was the morning of June 10. I had locked up my forms the night before so that I could begin printing early in the morning. I was pulling the old lever at 7 o'clock, and the local list was in the postoffice. Soon after the delivery had begun one of the merchants of the hamlet—a very intimate friend—came into the office.

"How did you come to hear of the death of your brother so soon?" said he. "There was no telegraph station within fifteen miles.

"What do you mean?" said I. "Mean?" said he. "You ought to know what is in my own mind. I have forgotten that you set up a notice of it an hour or two ago?"

"Are you crazy?" said I. "I swear that I do not know what you are driving at."

"At this juncture he opened the damp sheet that I had so recently printed and folded, and pointed me to the following item at the bottom of the third column of the local page:

"John Jones, brother of William Jones was killed at Peoria, Ill., at 5 o'clock this morning."

"My breath was fairly taken away from me. The matter, as you will have done, there was the notice of my brother's death in my own paper, and I had not set it up nor heard of it.

"You are right," said I, "but this is the first that I have known of it. If there ever was a mystery about it, it was the three line item. The moment I saw the type I was more amazed than ever. It was the typesetting of my brother, who like me, had been bred to the printer's trade, and had done his work from that of a thousand. He was a marvellously even spacer, and he carried his taste so far that he always put less space after a comma.

"But how were the line put into the locked form? No item had been taken out. I examined the form closely. Yes, there was some more of my brother's work. To gain the space leads had been taken from here and there, just as he used to take them. He was a great stickler for good looks in a page, and was very fastidious as to where he pulled his leads. It struck me right away that the notice of the death would not have been so short, would have contained more details, more, but for the fact that my brother did not wish to remove any of the matter nor any lead which could not be spared as well as not.

"Though utterly skeptical about supernatural visitations, I am now convinced that my brother's disembodied soul had made its way hundreds of miles, had entered my office in the early dawn, had set up the notice of his death and put it in the form."

"Late that afternoon a despatch came to the effect that William Jones was killed at Peoria, Ill., at 5 o'clock that morning."

"Antiquity of the Bedbug. An English naturalist has discovered proofs that the bedbug was quite common in the armies of the world at least 120 years before the Christian era, and that he was even a sea rover, as the fleets of that day had their timbers stocked with this breed of nocturnal prowlers.

CHECKMATING THE SHARKS.

They Can No Longer Rob Claimants of the Government.

THE BEE'S GREAT BUREAU OF CLAIMS.

It Benefits Settlers, Patentees, Widows, Orphans and Soldiers and is Commended by the Highest Authority.

Men who have had claims against the government and employed professional agents to present them, have been deceived in Washington, tell strange stories of tricks and rascality to which they were subjected at the hands of these merciless creatures. There are, of course, some honest men among these agents; but there are so many that are notoriously corrupt, that it is almost impossible for a claimant, unless he be directed by a well-informed individual, to find one in whom he can place implicit confidence.

The Bee has received hundreds of complaints from soldiers and others who had advanced money when so desired and who wanted for years and yet failed to receive any information as regards what the sharks had done with either money or claim.

The Bee has been requested to recommend reliable agents and has, in this way served to protect the people from fraud and robbery. But that did not good to the people who had fallen into the hands of sharks. As rapidly as the latter were shown up, new ones with new tricks and rascality took their place.

There was but one means left and that was to establish a great bureau of claims. This idea was suggested to a number of people but was put into practice first by the San Francisco Examiner.

With the Examiner, the Bee has co-operated in the great work of affording relief to worthy claimants.

The Washington correspondent of the Examiner, Mr. John Wedderburn, who has also acted as private secretary to Senator Hearst, was detailed to organize and take charge of the bureau. His long service in Washington in both these capacities had given him a large acquaintance with government officials and the proper procedure to follow, his name was chosen as well qualified to push claims through in the shortest time if they were justly due.

Mr. Winslow's Southern Scrap is the best remedy for children's teething. 25 cents a bottle.

Try Daquetet & Co's Pomona fruit cough tablets. They are delicious.

O. Younkerman & Co., feed and commission, 108 Broadway, Council Bluffs, Tel. 77.

Matrimonial Record. Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to the following: E. M. Jones, Nettie M. Hill; Charles E. Harris, Mary E. Hill; George K. Sarag, Emma; C. J. Hickey, Omaha, Amanda Slater, Hecla, Mont.

SET UP BY GHOSTLY FINGERS. A Typewriter's Story of News Getting That It at the Telegraph.

In the summer of 1881, I said a compositor in the Cleveland World, "I was running a paper in a little backwoods town in Pennsylvania. The paper was not so metropolitan in its make-up but that I was able to do all the work myself with the exception of the printing. Publication days I called in the service of a half-dozen fellows, who were under my instruction, had developed into an expert roller. I was the only man within a radius of twenty miles who knew how to set type, and if I had fallen sick the paper would not have continued for a day. Naturally, I was not a superstitious man, but an incident occurred while I had charge of that paper which I cannot explain, and until it is explained, I shall believe that anything is possible in the way of ghosts, spooks, wreaths, etc.

"It was the morning of June 10. I had locked up my forms the night before so that I could begin printing early in the morning. I was pulling the old lever at 7 o'clock, and the local list was in the postoffice. Soon after the delivery had begun one of the merchants of the hamlet—a very intimate friend—came into the office.

"How did you come to hear of the death of your brother so soon?" said he. "There was no telegraph station within fifteen miles.

"What do you mean?" said I. "Mean?" said he. "You ought to know what is in my own mind. I have forgotten that you set up a notice of it an hour or two ago?"

"Are you crazy?" said I. "I swear that I do not know what you are driving at."

"At this juncture he opened the damp sheet that I had so recently printed and folded, and pointed me to the following item at the bottom of the third column of the local page:

"John Jones, brother of William Jones was killed at Peoria, Ill., at 5 o'clock this morning."

"My breath was fairly taken away from me. The matter, as you will have done, there was the notice of my brother's death in my own paper, and I had not set it up nor heard of it.

"You are right," said I, "but this is the first that I have known of it. If there ever was a mystery about it, it was the three line item. The moment I saw the type I was more amazed than ever. It was the typesetting of my brother, who like me, had been bred to the printer's trade, and had done his work from that of a thousand. He was a marvellously even spacer, and he carried his taste so far that he always put less space after a comma.

"But how were the line put into the locked form? No item had been taken out. I examined the form closely. Yes, there was some more of my brother's work. To gain the space leads had been taken from here and there, just as he used to take them. He was a great stickler for good looks in a page, and was very fastidious as to where he pulled his leads. It struck me right away that the notice of the death would not have been so short, would have contained more details, more, but for the fact that my brother did not wish to remove any of the matter nor any lead which could not be spared as well as not.

"Though utterly skeptical about supernatural visitations, I am now convinced that my brother's disembodied soul had made its way hundreds of miles, had entered my office in the early dawn, had set up the notice of his death and put it in the form."

"Late that afternoon a despatch came to the effect that William Jones was killed at Peoria, Ill., at 5 o'clock that morning."

"Antiquity of the Bedbug. An English naturalist has discovered proofs that the bedbug was quite common in the armies of the world at least 120 years before the Christian era, and that he was even a sea rover, as the fleets of that day had their timbers stocked with this breed of nocturnal prowlers.

SICK HEADACHE.

Positively cured by these Little Pills. They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Heavy Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. SMALL PILL. SMALL DOSE. SMALL PRICE.

A Summer Resort.

Lake Manawa Hotel. Attractions: Fine Fishing, Boating, Bathing and Excellent Mineral Water. Only fifteen minutes ride from Council Bluffs. Motor trains every half hour, direct to centers of Council Bluffs and Omaha. Most delightful and accessible place for picnic parties.

TELEPHONE NO. 45. CITIZENS STATE BANK. Of Council Bluffs.

CAPITAL STOCK.....$150,000 SURPLUS AND PROFITS.....70,000 TOTAL CAPITAL AND SURPLUS.....225,000

Directors—T. A. Miller, F. O. Gleason, E. L. Shugart, E. H. Lee, J. D. Edmondson, Charles L. Hanson. Transfer general banking, banking, and all other business. Interest on deposits at 4%.

Dr. M. H. Chamberlain. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat SURGEON. Council Bluffs, Ia. Shugart-Henry Bldg. Room 1. 9 to 12 m. 7 and 8 p. m.

THE GRAND.

Council Bluffs, Ia. This Elegantly Appointed Hotel is Now Open.

N. A. Taylor, Manager

First National Bank