NEW OMAHA BASEBALL TEAM.

Manager Leadley Writes Ecouragingly About the Work of His Men.

ALL SATISFIED AND WORKING HARD.

Chicago Gets a Setback at Philadelphia-St. Louis Defeats Boston Again-Other Baseball and Sporting News.

Manager Leadley writes that the affairs of the Omaha team are progressing in fine shape. The boys are all in good spirits and are playing with a degree of harmony and commendable. In Dungan, Fields and Coleman he thinks the team is as strong as it ever was. Walsh is playing better ball than ever was, waish is playing better out than ever and McClellan is putting up a second that elicits flattering notices everywhere. Whitehead was a trifle rusty at first, but is improving with every game played, and by the time the team returns here next Monday,

Manager Leadley thinks they will be able to give a gratifying account of themselves.

The first name will be played next Monday afternoon, it having been arranged with the Denvers to get in one of their postponed games here on that day. Games will then follow on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, after which they leave for a short trip, returning August 22 to meet the Lincolns.

The game Sunday morning at Duluth was an exhibition game and cuts no figure in the pennant race. Next Wednesday's game at Minneapolis has been postponed until Sun-

Joe Walsh is captaining the team and Man-ager Leadiey says he is doing it finely. Patrons must remember that the first game played here by the new team will be on Mon-day afternoon next and it is to be noped that a big crowd will be on hand to give them a rousing send off.

Hard luck still continues to cling lovingly to the precious gang who deserted Omaha in her time of trouble. Iteljorz has pitched three games for Washington and lost them all, being in fact all but, knocked out of the box in every fact all but knocked out of the box in every one of them. Since Shannon and his gang joined the Senators they have played eight games, losing all but two, and the Washington papers have already begun to jump on them. They can't discover any improvement over the men let out to make room for the Omaha deserters. This is but the irony of fate, and it is quite probable that the whole outfit would be well enough pleased to be back in Omaha, where they enjoyed the reputation of a great hall team. As to the reputation of a great ball team. As to the balance of the old Lambs, neither McCauley nor Donnelley have showed up anywhere as yet; Twitchell is playing fairly well for Columbus, but Old Dad has been benched.

What the Manager Says. OMAHA, Aug. 3 .- To the Sporting Editor of THE BEE: In yesterday's BEE you had an account of the Florence-Athletic game at Florence yesterday which does not say anything about how the people were going to wips up the ground with the Omaha boys, By people, I mean the spectators, men and women who picked up anything that was handy, to show "those Omaha boys how to play ball." Such an outbreak or riot has nover been witnessed on a ball ground. It was all on account of a foul ball which the impire cailed. No sooner had he said it han the crowd was onto us and wanted to "lick" us till we would not be able to stand. While we expect to get some scoffing we do not wish to be made the targets of an angry crowd. I understand it is the same with most every team that goes up there to play. They would do well to stay away. We will play the Florence club any Sunday excepting August 16 for any amount and on any grounds excepting those at Florence.

LIABILITIES FOUR MILLIONS.

Abraham Facker Makes an Assignment for the Benefit of His Creditors.

DUE TO THE STRINGENT MONEY MARKET.

He Was a Heavy Dealer in Commercial Paper and a Manufacturer and Wholesaler of Dry Goods.

New York, Aug. 3.-Abraham Backer, dealer in commercial paper at No. 285 Broadway, made an assignment today without preference to Benjamin F. Einstein of Townsend, Dyett & Einstein, lawyers at No. 247 Broadway. Mr. Backer was a heavy dealer in commercial paper and is also a capitalist and partner in A. Backer & Co., wholesale dry roods. He was also a manufacturer of dry goods.

Mr. Backer has been a merchant in the south for several years, coming to New York twenty-seven years ago. His original business in the south was groceries. For some years Mr. Backer manufactured collar goods in Philadelphia but sold out there about five years ago and went to Glastonburg, where he purchased a mill cheap and improved it making it a large and excellent mill. He sold the goods which he manufactured there through his own firm of A. Becker & Co. His assignment, it is said, does not affect the firm, although he was the principal partner and capitalist, his son, N. D. Backer, being the company.

Mr. Backer's principal business was dealng in commercial paper. His large connections in the south and southwest enabled him to handle a great deal of commercial paper, either as broker or purchaser. Some I this paper he endorsed and had discounted in his banks on which he has a contingent tability, and some of it he sold outright. He drifted, it is said, gradually into this branch of business by buying at first for personal investment and then extending it by placing paper for merchants with whom he had dealings. He was said to obtain some of the est paper made and he handled about $15,-000,000 annually.

Had the Confidence of the Banks. Mr. Backer was very popular in financial and mercantile circles, and the confidence of the banks and bankers in this city and elsewhere, was a director in city banks and in several southern banks. He had a number of bank accounts where he got his paper discounted.

Mr. Backer's assignment, it is said, is principally due to the stringency of the money market, which made it very difficult for him to float quantities of commercial paper which to float quantities of commercial paper which he generally handled, and also the declines in outhern railroad bonds in which he was a arge holder, His troubles, it is said, in relation to His troubles, it is said, in relation to southern railroad bonds was the result of his connection with the Macon construction company of Macon, Ga. This company was organized about four years ago, Mr. Backer and another New York merchant being among the directors. The company had a claimed capital of $500,000. It had the contract to build the Georgia Southern & Florida road. The Macon construction company and road. The Macon construction company got in trouble last March and W. B. Sparks, the president, was appointed temporary receiver on the application of McTigh & Co., railroad contractors. Mr. Backer, it is said, lent the Macon construction company a large amount of money, which he has been unable to re-

His friends cannot understand how he came to get in so heavily, as he was regarded as a very shrewd and careful business man. A friend said today that if he had known it in time he would have been all right, as his other business was profitable.

Liabilities Are Four Million. Mr. Backer could not be found at his office resterday. The clerks said he did not come lown to business on account of the assignment, and that it was a complete surprise to them. He resides at 331 West Fifth street. His liabilities are said to be about $4,000,000, and no less is anticipated. The contingent flabilities are mainly endorsements on com-mercial paper discounted by the banks. The liabilities are principally to banks in this city and some elsewhere to individuals. It is gen-erally understood that Mr. Backer will not be called upon to pay the full amount of the liab lities, as over one third are notes—which he had endorsed, but which will be taken care of by the makers. The assets, if properly taken care of, will, it is said, more than cover the Habilities, and all creditors will probably be eventually paid in full. The books are being written up with a view to get at the actual condition of affairs.

The assets, according to one who is familiar with Mr. Backer's affairs, include about $1,500,000 of the bonds of the Georgia, Southern & Florida railroad and Macon & Birmingham railroad, about $75,000 Alabama state bonds and a large amount of other securities available, the mill plant at Glaston-burg, Conn., and $150,000 to $200,000 worth of real estate in New York city.

Due to Stringency of Money.

The trouble he said was entirely due to the tight money and losses in connection with the Macon construction company and the de-cline in the securities of the southern road which he had invested in. The failure was most unfortunate, he said, as he had been in business so many years, was so well known and was a man of such exemplary character. He was confident that Mr. Backer would make every effort to pay every dollar that he owes, and if his securi-ties realize anywhere near as much as they ought he could do it easily. It was deemed best to stop while there was a chance to save the creditors rather than go on and get more deeply involved. He could not say how much money Mr. Backer had lost in the Macon company, but believed it to be a very large amount.

Bradstreet's report states that Mr. Backer came here from Savannah, Ga., in 1894, and was at first in the firm of Backer & Cohen, wholesale dealers in groceries on Worth street and afterward in the cotton commission business which firm had continued in name until recently. He was the assignee of E. Waitsfelder & Co., manufacturers of cotton goods in Philadelphia, who falled in 1875. Mr. Backer bought up the mill property and plant and operated it under the name of Arkwright mills by the firm of A. Backer & Co., the company being Leopoid Waitsfelder. That partnership was dissolved June 1, 1885. Mr. Waitsfelder purchased the interest of Mr. Waitsfelder purchased the interest of Mr. Backer in the mill property. Mr. Backer Mr. Backer in the mill property. Mr. Backer at that time took his son in the partnership of the firm of A. Backer & Co., in the commission and dry goods business. About ten years ago Mr. Backer, sr., bought the mill at Glastonburg, where he manufactured cotton goods. David Mainer was at one time a partner there, but withdrew in July, 1883. In November, 1889, Mr. Backer said he would not sell out for less than $500,000. The real estate records show that in January last he estate records show that in January last he took a little property in One Hundred and Thirty-second street, near Manhattan ave nue, the consideration mentioned being $30,000, and two weeks later he sold it to

An Iowa Miser Secrets His Wealth and Dies in Poverty.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 3.— Special Telegram to The Bee. — John Piezen, aged about sixty-five years, was found dead in bed at his home at First and Chestnut streets this morning. He had been sick about a month and bedfast about a week. A neighbor woman has been attending him and was with him haif an hour before his death but did not ealize his end was so near. Plezen had lived here many years and was the owner of considerable prop-erty from which he received a large income. He was a tailor and also a good musician. It is thought he erty large had considerable money, but it has not been found. He had only one intimate friend and to him said little about his affairs. He lived alone in his little two-room house and ap-neared to be very superstitious, and opposed to allowing anyone to enter his home. His rooms were very fithy and dirty.

He had relatives in Germany, but refused to communicate with them, fearing they were after his property. He was regarded as a miser, and it is believed that he secreted much wealth along his premises.

Stoux Crrv., Ia., Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram to Tun Burn]—The fifth anniversary of the murder of R sy, George C. Haddock was the occasion for memorial meetings in several of the churches just night and today an all day meeting of the county law and order league. Much business was transacted look ing to a renewal of the efforts to stamp out salcons. A cost water banquet was held and a mass meeting which was addressed by ex-Senator Clark and George D. Perkins. Mr. Perkins said he was of the same opinion he was when the mass meeting was was when the memorable mass meeting was held just after the murder which started the movement for prosecution and which enabled Sioux City to boast for several years that it had not a saloon.

"Those were the years of prosperity for Sioux City. Now there is not in Iown any considerable element that defends the saloon as right." said he, "All say it is an evil, and political parties divide only on the question portical parties divide only on the question of degree. I want to say, with strong emphasis, that the power of the saloou in Iowa from its wretchedness of outlawery seeks this year to strike the republican party to its death. The robbers then threw him over the bridge into the water. Had the water not seen deep he would have seen killed. Kaplan is unable to give a description of the men.

Fatally Injured. Boone, (a., Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram to The Ben.]—A peculiar accident occurred Sunday afternoon seven miles northeast of Boone. Henry Ahrens, a young man, was taking a loaded shell from a breech loading shot gun. The hammer was down on the primer when he broke the gun and the load was discharged, the brass shell flying out of the breech and striking him is the face, cut-ting his nose off and inflicting injuries from which he may not recover.

Perry Pastor's Troubles. FORT DODGE, Ia., Aug. 3.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—Rev. M. Parsons, pastor of the Baptist church at Perry, has resigned as the result of a church trial. The pastor was accused of appropriating a por-tion of the church building fund to his own uses while at Carroll. His resignation was accepted and the charges against him with-drawn after a few statements had been made.

IOWA POLITICS.

Hon. Hiram C. Wheeler on the Hawkeye Situation.

Hon. Hiram C. Wheeler of Odebolt, the republican nominee for governor of Iowa, is at the Paxton. He came in on a late train last evening, was driven direct to his hotel, and, tired from his journey, retired at once to his room to seek refreshing slumber. His efforts to woo the drawsy god were attended with success, but it was not long until his rest was ruthlessly disturbed, for a Bee reporter was abroad in search of information as to the political outlook in the state across the muddy

Mr. Wheeler has been prominent in political fields for too many years to gramble at a midnight interview, so after admitting his caller and turning on the electric light he took a seat at the foot of the bed in his robe de nuit, leaned comfortably back and asked and answered questions as cheerfully as though the occasion was a more conventional When asked regarding the outlook in lowa-

Mr. Wheeler said that it was very favorable indeed for republican success. He said that he had not been out over the state very much, still he was in receipt of reliable information and was correctly informed as to the status of political affairs,
"Will the probligation question cause the republicans as much trouble as is predicted in some quarters!" was asked.

"I do not think so," was the reply. "I have found no evidence to warrant such a belief. It is claimed that there is a decided anti-prohibition movement in Council Bluffs, of which $2,500,000 is direct and $1,500,000 | but I do not think that it is so, either there contingent. The latter is said to be all right | or in any other city. I do believe that prohibition and the third party will be the issues in the coming campaign."

"Is there anything to fear from the third party in Iowa!"
"Oh, no. Their strength is relatively nothing compared with what it is in Nebraska and Kansas, and I don't think it will cut much of a figure with us. There is no such revulsion of feeling on the prohibition quesion as a great many people have been led to believe from misrepresenting statements that have been sent out and published."
Mr. Wheeler asked to be excused from expressing any opinion as to the strength of his pponent, Governor Boies, or regarding his nistration. Mr. Whoeler is out on a short business trip, and will leave at 10:25 this morning over the B. & M. for Custer county.

THREE TIMES ATTRACTIVE.

Inducements Offered Outsiders by the School Board Meeting Last Night.

FITZPATRICK GETS TWO YEARS HERE.

No Decision Reached in the Kellom School Trouble-Contract Ordered Made With the New

Superintendent,

There were several things connected with he meeting of the board of education last night that made it draw like a watermelon sociable or a Salvation army parade.

In the first place the Kellom school squabble brought out the architects and the contractors, Mr. Mengedoht, and their attorneys. The anticipations of a scene over the Central Park school principalship brought half a hundred people who were interested in the fight being made against Miss Reed. There were at least one hundred people in the lobby and they stayed for hours. There were several radies present interested in the Central Park principalship fight.

Superintendent James submitted his annual report, which was quite voluminous, and which presented a resume of the work done in the Omaha schools during the past year. The report was accepted and the board ordered 1,500 copies printed.

Superintendent Hamilton submitted some recommendations with regard to repairs that are needed at the Paul, Farnam, Central Park, and high schools, Referred to the committee on buildings and property with power to act.

Who is Superintendent?

And then the board was bumped up against the Kellom school muddle by the reading of a communication from Superintendent Hamilton, in which he stated that there was a conflict of authority between himself and the architects, Bell & Berlinghoff, with reference to the superintendency of the Killom school building, and he desired to have the matter settled by the board.

Mr. Smythe called for the reading of the original proposition made by Beil & Berlinghoff, and for the reading of the contract made with the architects when the plans were ac-

Mr. Morrison wanted to hear the superintendent explain the difficulty before investi-gation was begun. There was some very lively oratorically flash a shooting across the room for a few moments and then the secre-tary began to read. The proposition made by Bell & Berlinghoff reads as follows: The undersigned will furnish plans and specifications for your new sixteen-room school building on Paul school site for percent on the entire cost of your building, and we will do the superintending of the same for I percent.

In a postscript to the proposition the arch-In a postscript to the proposition the architect stated that:

The building will cost, with closets and boiler inside, not to exceed $5.5.0, and with same outside of building $8,500. We will give requisite amount of bond to satisfy the board that the building can be built for the above amount. If the board should desire to use the Smead system of bottles and will other to use the mead system of heating and ventilation our plans as to the arrangement are not effected h any way.

Mr. Smythe then called for the contract with the architects and the board found that there never had been a contract made with the firm. The plans were submitted and simply accepted, on recommendation of the special committee appointed to look over the plans, and the secretary was instructed to advertise for bids upon the plans as submit-ted by the architects, Bell & Berlinghoff.

What the Members Thought. Mr. Martin held that the board had not mployed the architects to superintend the building and that the contract between Mr. Mengedoht and the board or the bend furnished by Beli & Berlinghoff had no bearing n the case. Mr. McConneil took a different view of the case. He said that inasmuch as the board had accepted the plans and specifications submitted by Bell & Berlinghoff, upon their proposition, and had accepted a bond based upon the original proposition, and had also accepted a contract with Mr. Mengedoht based upon the plans of Bell & Berlinghoff, he believed that the board was into the mire up to the knees and the easiest way out would be the wisest. He did not believe in trying to bluff the matter. The board might ust as well walk up and take its medicine with as few grimaces as possible, and ask for a small dose.

Mr. Smythe took the ground that the board had only accepted the plans submitted by Bell & Berlinghoff, but not their specifica-tions. When the bid of Mr. Mengedoht for the erection of the building had been accepted by the board, that put an end to the business relations existing between the board and the architects. The architects furnished a bond to guarantee that the board could get bids to erect the building at a certain price. When the bid had been received and accepted the architects were entirely out of the deal. Mr. Smythe said the board had made one mistake, however, and that was when the board had adopted a contract with Mr. Mengedoht in which the architects were given authority superintend the building. He believed the wise thing to do was to reconstruct the con-tract with Mr. Mengedout and eliminate the paragraphs which conferred power and authority upon the architects and place thos powers with Mr. Hamilton.

Mr. Coburn took the ground that the archi tects had been employed to superintend the building because their plans were adopted upon their written proposition in which they stated that they would superintend the building for I per cent. He did not see how the board could get out of paying the archi-tects for superintending the building.

Status of the Difficulty.

Mr. Hamilton was asked to state to the board the exact grounds of difficulty between him and the architects and the contractor, He said he had been appointed to superin-tend the construction of Kellom school building and he endeavored to do so. Mr. Ber linghoff had attempted to supercede him is ordering some things about the building.
"Mr. Berlinghoff has not at any time recognized me as the superintendent of the building," said Mr. Hamilton, "and I did not propose to recognize his authority eith cr." Mr. Hamilton admitted that he had ordered some of the workmen individually, to throw out soft brick without consulting the foreman or Mr. Mengedoht.

Mr. Berlinghoff was then asked to state He said that he had proceeded under the impression that he and his partner and their bondsmen were responsible to the board for the superintendency of the building as archi tects. He considered himself the superintendent of the Kellom school building as the representative of the firm of Bell & Berling-hoff, and they proposed to have pay for the work of superintending. Mr. Rees sprung is new phase on the ques-ion. He said that the board had no right to pay out more than $200 without a written contract. He believed the board had violated the rules when the architects were paid The board called for an opinion from Mr. McCoy, its attorney. He thought that the board should secure the consent of Mr. Man-gedoht's bondsmen to destroy the old of tract and draw up a new one changing authority from the architects to Superintend ent Hamilton.

Mr. Smythe finally moved that the whole matter be referred to the committee on buildings and property, to be reported to the poard at a special meeting to be held at 8

clock this evening. Mr. Woolley Comes Again

Then the board heard from Mr. Frank W. Woolley through his attorney and a lengthy communication in which Mr. Woolley do-manded that the board should pay him $110 or go into court and fight it out.

Mr. Woolley, it will be remembered, want one time superintendent of buildings. It the latter part of April he was relieved by the board, but he claims that he was emloyed for a year beginning August 1, 1800 He therefore demands the payment of his salary for the months of May, June and July and a few days in April, amounting to $410.

After wranging about the matter for twenty minutes the communication was laced on file.

City Treasurer Rush submitted a monthly statement, showing the balances in the treasury of school funds as follows: General fund, $81,740,27; sinking fund, $4,010,24;

site and onliding fund, $27,380.16.

The fight waged against Miss Reed, principal of the Central park school, was then taken up by the beard, but after discussing the matter for some time it was decided to leave the matter with the committee for a few days larger for further is cartierated.

amendment was carried, but the original motion was never out after the amendment was carried. He, therefore, called for the vote upon the amended motion.

Mr. Poppieton took the ground that the original motion was dead and past and could not be brought up after it had become a part of the record excepting by a motion to reconsider. He further held that in this matter the board had simply followed the usual custom of allowing the vote on the amendment to settle the original motion without taking a formal vote on the amended motion. formal vote on the amended motion.

Mr. Martin held that the motion by Mr.

Mr. Martin held that the motion by Mr. Corvell was perfectly proper. The original motion had not been decided after being amended. He said that he and other members, who were in favor of electing Mr. Fitzpatrick for three years, saw the defect in the proceedings at the time and they simply let the matter slide knowing what the result would be in the end.

Mr. McConnell declared that the three-year men had waived their right to deal with this motion, seeing that they had not corrected the error at the time it occurred.

President Goodman explained that he intended to put the original metion after Dr. Spalding's amendment had been adopted, but several members spoke up and said that the amendment carried the original motion with it and it was not necessary to put the amended motion.

Mr. McConnell called for the reading of the whether or not the president Goodman had announced that Mr. Fitzgerald had been elected for one year. The record showed that Mr. Fitzpatrick was elected for the ensuing year.

President Goodman decided that Mr. Corvell's motion calling for a vote on the original motion was out of order.

Then the wrangle was on again. The motion to reconsider was finally carried, and then Coryeli moved that the board instruct the president and secretary to enter into a contract with Mr. Fitzpatrick for two Poppleton's Public Opinion.

Mr. Poppleton made a vigorous speech in which he warned the two and three year men that they were flying in the face of public opinion by electing a man to the office for lic opinion by electing a man to the office for two years when he had already accepted the position for one year. Mr. Poppleton said it was an outrage, and he was astounded at the action of the board.

Mr. Martin grew warm under the collar and said he would be perfectly willing to shoulder the responsibility of electing Mr. Fitzpatrick. He thought it was a shame the way the newspaners but misseported Mr.

way the newspapers had mis-quoted Mr. Fitzpatrick. He said that some of Mr. James' friends had been bounding the members of the board and had been hanging around the lobby of the school board when they should have been somewhere else He believed that it was only fair to Mr. Fitzpatrick that the board should elect him for two years. Mr. Fitzpatrick was a mar of eminent ability, the speaker said, and the poard could make no mistake by electing him for two or three years.

Mr. Points made the longest speech he has indulged in for many months, and grew very stoquent in telling of the superior parts of the new superintendent.

Mr. Rees seemed to let the feline right out of the sack at one jers. He said the object was to put Mr. Fitzpatrick past the danger and annoyance of the coming fall election. They thought that an effort would be made by the friends of the last superintendent to elect members who would be hostile to Mr.

The resolution offered by Mr. Corvell to instruct the president and secretary to make a contract with Mr. Fitzpatrick for two years was carried by a vote of ten to five. The board adjourned at I o'clock to meet again this evening.

MAIL CARRIERS' CONVENTION.

Second Annual Meeting of the National Association at Detroit.

WANT CIVIL SERVICE PROTECTION,

Will Discuss the Question of Peti-, tioning Congress to Extend the Law to Include All the Free Delivery System.

New York, Aug. 3.—The second annual convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers will be held in Detroit August 5, 6 and 7. There are 235 branches attached to the organization, representing a membership of 8,000. Each branch is catified to at least one delegate. The largest branches are entitled to one delegate for overy fifty members.

The association has doubled its membership in one year. It was formed in 1889 at Milwaukee. During the present year it has been incorporated under the laws of New Jorsey. The officers are: President, John J. Goodwin, Providence, R. I.; vice president, R. R. Sampson, Chicago; secretacy, John F. Victory, New York; treasurer, 12. H. Lorcha, Milwankee; sergeant-at-arms, D. W. Washington, Momphis, Tenn.; executive board, John J. Goodwin, John F. Victory, Harry Cummer, Buffalo; F. W. Campbell, Minucapolis; George Sweener, Cincinnati; legislative committee, Theodore Dennis, Boston; Wilmot Dann, Nashville; George J. Kleffner, Omaha; C. W. Morton, Rrookiya; Kleffner, Omaha; C. W. Morlon, Rrookiya; H. M. Day, St. Louis. The objects of the association are to establish a reliable and economical insurance for the members and to effect referms by legislation in their behalf. Speaking of the coming convention, Secretary Victory said the other day: "We will discuss the question of petitioning the authorities in Washington to amend the civil service law so as to include the letter carriers in all the cities where the free delivery system is used. The statutes now applies to postoffices with fifty or more carriers. There is before the president a petition to include within the application of the law all postoffices having not less than twenty-five employees.

"The convention will further discuss the construction to be placed on the eight hour law. There is now pending in the court of claims at Washington, a case to determine the question. We expect a decision in October. In connection with this question the con-vention will consider that of securing payment for over time claims under the eight hour law. I do not think the association will make any effort to secure their payment, but it will endeavor to effect an equitable basis upon which they shall be paid. Up to a year ago there were $500,000 of these claims on file in the postoffice department, some individual claims being as high as $700. The carriers of this city claim over time from May 20 to August 1, 1889, from the enactment of the cight hour law to the date of its enforce-

The question of salaries will be duly con sidered. The carriers desire an increase of $200 each a year. The secretary desired it to be understood that the association proposed remedial legislation by means of respectful petition. Each branch of the association is said to be a school in which lidelity to the government is school in which fidelity to the government is incressed upon the members.

A report of the committee on insurance will be presented and acted upon, It will propose an assessment scheme based on well established principles that will provide for two classes, paying a death beneat of $4,000 and $1,000 respectively. Accused of Making Excessive Charges Against the St. Paul. CHICAGO, Aug. 3, -There was filed in the Inited States circuit court this afternoon a suit that may in various ways affect every railroad of importance in the country. Tho suit is a bill in equity filed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road against the Pullman car company for an accounting under a contract made in 1882, by which the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul road secured from thirty to forty palace dining and sleeping cars. The road charges that the Pullman company, under the contract for maintaining the cars, made charges that were grossly excessive and fraudulent. An accounting is excessive and fraudulent. An accounting is sought and an injunction asked restraining the Pullman company from prosecuting an action at law against the road for $1,000,000 now pending in court. The railway agreed to pay such a proportion of the general expenses of the car company as the number of cars on the line pere to the whole number of cars run by the Pulman company on all lines operated by it, but use bill shows that the charges according to this agreement were
