Also a good deal of humiliation and some Again, what looked like a lead pipe cinch was metamorphosed into a pudding. As on the previous day, after winning the game twice, the Lambs allowed the Tebeau family to jump onto them with both feet and stamp them into the cold, cold ground.

The spectacle was agonizing.
The day was a beautiful one for ball playing, with clear saids and a nicely tempered breeze rendering everything just right for a royal atruggle.

And it was a royal struggle, fairly refu gent with wondrous features up to the swell, and before it could be checked had no only swallowed up Captain Pop's Smith men, but the grand stand and bleachers an Interesting, In the first, after General McClelian ha placed his little stick up against the gentle winds three times in succession, the Parisian gave Pop his base on balls and Flanagan following with a safe one to left, Pop reached third. Dungan, the ex-Brewer,—and he's a ball player too, don't you forget it—made a neat sacrifice which scored Smith and put Flanagan on second, whence he scored a moment later on Walsh's slash for a base. Traffley went out from Chippey to White Wings, but there was two runs in and the crowd was well enough pleased.

It took Denver, however, about the shake a lamb's tail to the the score, i the game was just where began. The Highland Bard was slammed out at first by Smith, and if anyone thinks that the patrons at the park miss Shannon any let them go out and see the old gentleman play ball. Jack O'Connor, "Peach Pie Jack," as they used to call him down in Bucktown (one of Chicinnati's classic sub-urbs), was more fortunate. Mr. Fee pro-cented him with first, as hedid White Wings likewise. A wild pitch let Peach Pie to third, and he of the immaculate pinions to second. Then Ollie Beard caught the sphere in the cerebellum, and when it reached the elderberry bushes in center both the Irish patriot and Colonel Tebeau were on their way to the beach, Ollie halting on first to tie

Then the fans in the bleachers begun to guy Harry, and when Whitehead hit her out gny Harry, and when Whitehead hit her out safe, they fairly booted. Fee was thrown out at first from White Wings to Fournier, the Parisian having covered the bag while George went after the grounder. General McClelian started the joyous paeans of victory by hitting Harry a snoligoster for three cushions, and scoring the next second on a passed ball hitting the propries which is a very ratter which the umpire, which is a very rotten rule by the way. Waish's second chrysanthemun to center scored the Milwaukean, this run making the fifth that had come in. Traffley's high one to Peach Pie Jack brought the proceedings to a close. It was enough to drive the striking smel-ters to work again.

The Chippey bird was the first Coloradoan up. He made a reach for Fee's jugular, in-tending to land a knock out, but was a little short, still it was good for a single. Of course Chippey stole second. That is a trick he seldom falls to turn. A bad throw by Fee let McGarr to third, and then Big George hit him in

Yes, it's the same Wilson who played here in 1888, only he smokes cigarettes now.

That's the only change in him.

Harry, the Child Wonder, flew out to Dungan, and after the Poet had hit safe O'Connor did the same to Smith.
In the third the Lambs made their eighth tally. Coleman bit safe, and on Fee's sacri fice, after Whitehead's cut, went to second and in across the dish on Old Pop's hit. Flanagan made the third out from Beard to ebeau. White Wings then invested another dollar and drew a blank.

In the eighth, however, after planking the locals, the visitors made their sixth tally, and in the ninth, after again stathering the Lambs with lime, they made three and tied And this is the way they did it. White Wings went to first on four bad ones. Beard made a hit, but Werrick went out from Waish to Flanagan, the runners moving up a bag, whence they scored on McClelian's excusable muff of the Chippey long hard horse fly. Wilson's coraing drive scored Mac and the game was tied. The tenth was an egg for Omaha, as it was for Denver, Baker having unfortunately been sent in to relieve Fee in this inning. I say unfortunately, because Fee was pitching all right, and Norman is not in winning fettle just yet a while, as the Tebeau urchins de-monstrated in the inirteenth inning, when after first allowing the Lambs to score four great big corn fed runs, they fell upon him like a ten story fire-proof building.

It was an awful round. They hit him in the neck, on the jugular and behind the ear, between the eyes, on the nose, up and down the ribs and across the back, and when it was all over his nearest relative would have taken him for a tramp.

Tebeau, Beard, Werrick, McGarr and

Kennedy made singles, while Big Wilson knocked the ball out of sight; that is, it was out of sight when it fell, for it was on the other side of the fence.
Six carned runs, and an uncarned game!

SIR MATTHEW SAVED THE DAY.

Pick of the Daly Colts Lands the Junior Championship Purse.

RACINE'S GREAT DASH AT SARATOGA.

Van Buren's Marvellous Showing On the Garfield Park Track-Trotting at Cedar Rapids-Other Speed Ring News.

Morris Park, N. J., Aug. 11.—At out ten thousand persons made the trip here today to see the struggle for the junior championship, and they were treated to a day's first class racing. The number of persons present did not indicate the interest in the race by any means, but the weather was so insufferably hot that when the start for the track arrived none but the most enthusiastic could muster sufficient courage to undertake the journey. They thought that the grand stand would be a roaring furnace, but they were mistaken. About 1 o'clock heavy clouds came up and acted as a veil to the sun's rays and quite a respectable breeze cooled things off materially. Still, it was not exactly cool, but it was far better than roasting in the city.

The best two-year-olds of the year, including His Highness, St. Florian, Victoria and Nomad, were not eligible to start for the rich prize, but there was Merry Monarch, a colt that was considered but a few pounds below His Highness, Dagonet, Yorkville Belle, Georgia and a number of other good ones to make it interesting for the talent.

How the Betting Went The track could not have been in better condition and the best junior championship ever run was looked for. The big event was the second on the card and the names of the probable starters were no sooner posted than a wild rush was made for the betting ring. Nothing was wanted but Merry Monarch. He started at 7 to 5 and thousands of dollars were bet on him. The bookmakers stood the onslaught manfully, but the bulk of money was so great that his price was gradually cut to 11 to 10, at which he closed. There was a rally on Dagonet 4 to 1, and at 6 to 1 he was heavily backed. The next to receive support was the Marcus Daly stable, consisting of Sir Matthew, Silver Fox and Tummany, which at 6 to 1, carried thousands of dollars, while others, Bashford, Yorkville Belle and Georgia were about the only ones o receive support. The starters and the betting were as follows:

Basnford, 12 to 1; Phil Dwyer and Lew Wier, coupled, 23 to 1; Fremont, 15 to 1; Air Plant, 10 to 1; Sir Matthew, Silver Fox and Tammany, coupled, 6 to 1; Merry Monarch, 6 to 5; Dagonet, 5 to 1; Yorkville Belle, 5 to 1; Lavinsh, 20 to 1; Georgia, 8 to 1; Lord Motely, 20 to 1 and Osrie, 16 to 1. They all carried 118 pounds except Georgia and Yorkville Belle, who mad 115 nounds up. lla pounds up. Off on the Second Try.

Mr. Caldwell secured a good start at the second effort, with Merry Monarch the first to show, closely followed by Dagonet. Georgia and the Patrimony colt, with York-ville Belle and Lew Weir last. Georgia at once shot to the front and showed the way to the top of the hill, when she fell hack heaten and Dagonet took up the runback beaten, and Dagonet took up the run-ning. He showed the way down the straight chute to the quarter, when he had half a length the best of it with Sir Matthew, the Patrimony colt, Bashford and Yorkville Belle next.

Belle next.

Then Barnes, realizing that the time had come, set to work on Sir Matthew and slowly but surely he cut down Dagonet's lead, while Bashford, the Patrimony colt, and Yorkville Belle, were all coming fast. A furiong from the finish all went to the whip but Sir Matthew won by a head while Dagonet beat Bashford a neck for second place. A half a length away came, Yorkville Diagonet beat Bashford a neck for second place. A half a length away came Yorkville Belle, lapped by the Patrimony colt, while Merry Monarch, though the favorite was sixth. Time 1:1314.

CEDAR RAPIDS, In., Aug. 11.—[Special Telegram to The Bee.]—The Cedar Rapids The mayor sent in a communication stating that for a week past, John Clair, assistant here today. The track was very slow on account of the heavy rain which fell all last night. The attendance was fair. The races were all close and exciting and very good time was made considering. The remain in days will see a big improvement. boiler inspector had not been in a fit condition for duty, and that as it was imperative that a man in that position should be perfeetly sober, he had suspended him from duty. Morearty moved the appointment of a ommittee of three to investigate the charges, and modestly announced that he did not want to be one of the investigators. The chair named Conway, Burdish and Donnelly. The board of public works reported letting the contract for asphalt paving at $2.70 per square yard to Drexel & Fox with the provision that the material should be selected by the mayor and city council. Mr. Davis' Objections. Davis thought the contract should not have been entered into, as he understood the new company could get no machinery in shape to do any work this year. He moved its rejecjection. The communication was finally re-ferred to the committee on paving, curbing and guttering. The board of public works reported speci-fications for sidewalks and the contract of R. Gilfillan. It provided that the foundation for artificial stone walks should be ten and one-nalf inches thick. Davis immediately hopped onto the board, declaring that it looked very much as if the specifications were prepared with any eye solely to knocking out all artificial stone sidewalk, as the cost would be so high as to virtually bar it from competition with other walks. Chaffee called on Chairman Birkhauser to explain, and that gentleman denied that there has been any discrimination. He said the city engineer was present when the specifications were prepared. That official was called on and he said he thought that a year's test was sufficient to show the quality of the cement, and if such a walk was good at the end of a year it would be good for ten

Davis said he didn't object to the bid or the bidder, but he wanted to know how the city would get slong when the price was so low that under the specifications the raw material could not be purchased for the money proposed by certain bladers. He in-sisted that he knew what he was talking about, and he thought that such action would make the city and the board of public works

A motion to refer the specifications back to the board of public works for correction called for another meteoric shower of oratory in the explanation of votes. Morearty insisted that there was a trick somewhere. Mr. President said that the trick did not rest with the chair, and Davis assured him it was not on that side of the house.

Suspicioned Skulldugger Conway was sure there was skullduggery behind the specifications and voted to refer. The motion to refer was lost, however, by a vote of 9 to 7, and Gilfillan's contract was then referred to the committee on sidewalks and bridges, as were all other contracts in that connection. The contract and bond of Katz & Callahan

Place was approved, as were those with J. W. Croft, Mahoney & Nolan, and sewer con-tract of F. L. Reeves & Co. The communication of the city engineer stating that property owners on Twenty-first street from California to Isard were divided between brick and Colorado sandstone, was

The bond of Philip Andres as sanitary ommissioner was approved.

The property owners on Twentieth street, north of Clark street, gave notice that they would enjoin the paving now in progress un-less all necessary connections were first made with gas, sewer and water mains. Osthoff wanted the board of public works instructed to see to the matter, and Davis replied that they had been notified scores of times. Chairman Birkhauser insisted that it would require an ordinance, and that none had been passed, and the ball went merrily on. The Adamant wall plaster company pro-ested against changing the specifications for he city hall so as to exclude them in favor of

It was ordered that henceforth all resolutions ordering street repairs to be done this year be referred to the committee on streets and alleys to see whether or not the funds

A motion to refer a petition to the commit tee on gas and electric lights excited the dan-der of Mr. Blumer, who protested that he introduced several resolutions had been thus referred and they had never been heard from again. He wanted them referred bereafter to the second member of the committee. Morearty took a hand in roasting the absent Mr. Mad-sen and Chaffee and Mr. President defended him. Osthoff moved that the gentleman be instructed to report on all long delayed matters next Tuesday night, and he will be given even days' show for his white alley. The chairman of the board of public works and city prosecutor were instructed to see that the brick kilns of Arthur Johnson & Bro. are at once removed from Park street. The committee reported in favor of allow ing Jacob Houck's claim for detailed drawing for city seal and against the proposed pur chase of settees and chairs for the office of the board of public works, as new furniture will soon be purchased for the city hall.

The News reporter interviewed one of the party today, who said: Saturday and Monday last part of the rain making apparatus only was set up and a preliminary trial made simply to test the efficiency of the special blusting powder which is being manufactured at the grounds of the material brought with us. Several bombs were exploded by means of electrical dynamos. Although this powder is very powerful we were by no means confident that the explasions would have any practical effect upon the meteorological conditions. However, about ten hours after the explosions clouds gathered and a heavy rain fell, extending many miles. We don't think the ex-plosions actually produced the storm, as they were not on a large enough scale, they were undoubtedly instrumental in pre-cipitating the moisture which the clouds brought to that locality and greatly in-creased the intensity of the storm and the quantity of the rainfall, which was the greatest in the immediate vicinity of the place of operation. We will continue cautiously to make tests as to the density of the atmosphere in this particular locality so that your bombs may be adapted to meet every possible condition, and when we have sufficiently satisfied ourselves upon these and ently satisfied ourselves upon these and

HOW M'KINLEY'S BILL WORKS.

Analysis of the Effect of the Measure on German Industry.

AMERICA BOUND TO RECEIVE THE BENEFIT

German Manufacturers Cannot Compete with Those of the United States Under the Protective System.

BERLIN, Aug. 11 .- For the purpose of studying the actual effects of the McKinley bill as far as such effects could show themselves within the comparatively short time since the law went into effect, the Associated press correspondent has visited some of the most important industrial centers of Germany such as Leipsic, Chemnitz, Plauen, Greise, Nurembourg and Frankfort. From other important points he has received reports of thoroughly familiar with the affairs of the different districts. They all acree that the measure has had a paraitzing effect upon certain industries, while others equally high taxed have not suffered at all. How far this is due to extraneous causes independent of the bill I shall try to explain.

Of all the industrial centers in Germany, perhaps in Europe, Chemnitz, a turiving manufacturing city of Saxony and the district surrounding it, have suffered most. The principal industry of Chemnitz is the maufacture of knitted goods and especially of hosiery. There are 350 manufacturers of hosiery in the city, Numerous New York commission houses, brokers, spinneries, etc., are interested in this trade. Many thousand skilled workmen employed in the "House" industry depend upon it for a hying. The McKinley bill came and trade languished. The exports which in 1889-90 had amounted to $11,395,533 diminished to $8,454,023 in 1890-91, a falling off of nearly $3,000,000. But for the heavy exports of the first quarter of this fiscal year, July 1 to September 30, 1890, the decrease would have been very much greater.

Many Chemnitz manufacturers say the present duliness is owing to last year's overproduction. They claim if the tariff is not reduced they cannot manufacture with a profit. One of the largest manufacturers who asked that his name be withheld because he feared the wrath of his townsmen said that he had sent a number of his best workmen to America for the purpose of initiating them into American business ways, as he thought seriously of putting up a factory somewhere in the United States.

The business here is done in a peculiar way. Throughout a large district of many square miles are scattered the dwellings of the single weavers, the "household industry" people. These receive their work from the factory, doing their weaving of hose at home and returning the product to the factory which selis them to the manufacturer. After dying they are glazed, stamped, packed in boxes and turned over to the agent, who in his turn sends them to a commission house in the United States or sells them direct. All these people complain terribly, but it is the bousehold industry people, the poor, who suffer.

The Associated press correspodent visited many of their homes while in Chemnitz. All many of their homes while in Chemnitz. All the men visited were intelligent, self-respecting and industrious. Their earnings at present average $1.50 to $2 a week. Among them a man with a wife week. Among them a man with a wife to get along, "Well, we don't," he replied with a sad smile, "Most of us had something laid up from better days. We used it up. Most everybody has a little house and a thing laid up from better days. We used it up. Most everybody has a little house and a bit of farming land. We have mortgaged them. We still have our looms left, which are worth from $215 to $300, but if we should mortgage those, the end would be near. Things cannot last much longer this way?

It is understood that there is some movegrate to America to establish their in dustry there. But on the other hand the opponents of protection claim that factories cannot be established there. to compete with Europeans and that these people once in America would leave their usehold industry and rush into the exist ng factories and mills, thus competing with those already employed. This is a ques-tion to be settled among themselves.
