Attempt to Patch Up Peace Between Base Ball Magnates Fails.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25,-A peace conference between the representatives of the National league and the American association of base ball clubs has begun in Washington. The conference is being held to en deavor to agree upon a compromise pro-gramme and the burial of the hatchet. The following are the representatives of the two associations at the conference: League-L, D. Brush of Indianapolis the head of the Cincinnati club; Charles H. Byrne, the presi dent of the Chicago club. American Asso ciation-Louis Kramer, president; Zach Phelphs, president of the Louisville club, and Chris Von der Ahe, the president of the St. Louis club. Mr. Kramer was chosen chairman and Mr. Hart secretary. The time of the meeting was spent in a general discussion of the situ-ation with a view to ascertaining the wishes of the two organizations as to the desirability of framing a new national agreement, and the varied features of such an agreement. At 10 o'clock in response to an inquiry as to whether any information respecting the results of the meeting would be made public to-night, a member of the committee said that it would be unable to give out anything official tonight, and that the session would continue until midnight.

The members of the American association held an informal conference early today, but it was resolved that they would not recede from their former declared position, which was that the only peace desired was respect for each other's contracts, a respect for the reserve clause and an interchange of exhibition games.

The conference lasted until half-past 12 clock, when it broke up in a most unsatisactory way. During the evening dispatches Lave been received announcing that Mike Kelly of the Boston Reds had jumped his contract with that club and had signed a contract with a League club. This action of Kelly had the effect to break up pending negotiations for the time being at least, and probably indefinitely, the association representatives leaving the conference when the league magnates refused to give them any assurance that he would be compelled to remain with the Reds.

Everything had been progressing finely and a resolution providing in effect that each made their first bow to Boston today and received their first defeat since joining the association. They could not touch Buff, while Davies got a drubbing. Mike Kelly signed today with the Boston league club. Score: Hits: Boston, 12; Milwaukee, 3. Errors: Boston, 2; Milwaukee, 2. Central Nebraska Veterans.

Ono, Neb., Aug. 25 .- |Special Telegram to THE BEE. |-The fifth annual district reunion of the Central Nebraska Veterans' association opened today. The camp, which is pitched at the west end of Ord, is named E. O. C. Ord, after the gallant general for whom the town is named. The tents are over one hundred and twenty in number. The three streets furnish accommodation for 2,000 people in addition to those who occupy tents. Arrangements have been made in town to accommodate more if required. Public services were held in th pavillion this afternoon by Commander J. M. Fodge in charge. Chaplain Leonard of Foote led in prayer and Mayor Charles B. coffin welcomed the veterans and families in the name of the city. Hon. James White-head of Broken Bow, who served under General Ord, replied in an eloquent speech, which was heartily applauded. Vocal and instru-mental music, interspersed with speeches by 'omrades Fodge, Gard and Parks, concluded a very pleasant programme. The boys hold a camp fire tonight. Delegations from Sargent, Merna, Wescott and Loup county are expected this evening. The weather, which has been of late very unsettled, is now all that could be desired. The town is tastefully decorated and everything has a holiday appearance.
