Rumors of Impending Changes in the Union Pacific Management.

ST. PAUL AND ROCK ISLAND SCHEMES.

Plan of Reorganization Contemplates Alexander E. Orr as President Dillon's Successor-Theories of Wall Street Magnates.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 .- [Special Telegram to The Bee, Rumors of Impending changes in the Union Pacific management still continue to circulate in Wall street, but it is hard to sift them down and find the truth. George J. Gould when asked if it was true that the Vanderbilt interests had secured control of the road replied, "I don't keep Mr. Vanderbilt's books, why don't you ask him?"

"Weil, it generally takes two people to make a pargain and the selier ought to know as much about it as the buyer."

"I know nothing at all about the matter, replied Mr. Gould.

At the office of Drexel, Morgan & Co., to the overy, they replied, "why don't you go to the Union Pacific people, they are the Russell Sage said: "I have nothing to say.

All I know is what I have read in the papers." Notwithstanding all these evasions and denials, a feeling prevails that changes will soon be announced. One report has it that Boston holders of Rock Island and London holders of St. Paul have been buying Union Pacific and that Gould, Sage and Dillon have parted with their interests to them. Another has it that certain prominent interests in the plan of reorganization are anxious for the election of Alexander E. Orr as the successor of President Dilion. It is thought that without doubt some arrangement has been en-tered into by which the road will be operated in sympathy with the St. Paul and the Rock

BURLINGTON CAUSES TROUBLE.

Proposed Extension to Helena Violates Traffic Agreements.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 1 .- The fact that the Burlington company is pushing the extension of it's lines to Helena, Mont., is being utilized in certain quarters to create discord among the members of the Western Traffic association. It has been known for several months that the extension was under way, but it does not seem to have occurred to anybody until the last day or two to kick up a row about it. The president's agreement provides that no new roads shall be built and that no extensions of existing roads shall be constructed within five years from the date the agreement went into effect into territory already occupied by members of the associa-

The Union Pacific, the Northern Pacific, and the Great Northern, have lines to Heiena and they are all members of the Western Traffic association. When the Burlington extension is completed it will of course be the competitor of these roads for Montana business and will have the shortest line from Helena to Chicago. The Montana lines seem to have been rather slow to take alarm at the invasion of the territory, but it is said that they are now fully alive to the situation and will bring the matter before the advisory board at its October meeting in this city. The claim was made that the Burlington has violated it's agreement and there is prospects of a lively row. The Burlington offi-cials do not seem to fear the consequences of this agitation. They say work had begun on the extension before the western traffic association was organized and that to complete it can be no breach of the agreement. The Western Passenger association began proposition to modify present methods of handling certificate excursion business was one of the first subjects considered, but after some discussion it was temporarily tabled. It was agreed that regular ironclad signa-ture tickets shall be used, with all possible restrictions between associations, terminats where open reduced rates are made for an excursion. The matter of circuitous route rates to Pucific coast points was discussed but it was deferred until temorrow. The sale of tickets on October 6 and 7 at a rate of one fare for the round trip was authorized for the unveiling of the Grant monument in this city, tickets to be sold October if from points within a radius of 300 miles of Chicago and October 7 from points within 150 miles, good for return passage not later than Octo-ber 8.

DODGING THE RULES.

Omaha Scalpers Have Managed to Circumvent the Railroads.

A unique scheme has developed in Omaha, by which ticket brokers are securing large blocks of the return portions of the western harvest excursion tickets. When the question of granting the rates was under discussion by the various passenger associations the fear of brokers getting possession of the return coupons and thereby demoralizing traffic was the principal basis of objection advanced by some lines.

Finally this was supposed to have been obvisted by making a one-fare rate and issuing round trip tickets only. Yet today Omaha brokers are plentifully supplied with return harvest excursion coupons and are doing a rushing business, cutting rates east and

The original purchasers of the tickets pay one-half the regular fare to their western one-half the regular fare to their western destination, securing in return a round trip ticket. The return coupon they obligate themselves to deliver to a designated ticker broker at the end of their journey. The delivery is guaranteed by the eastern broker checking the baggare of the purchasers and forwarding the checks therefor to western brokers to be delivered to the owners on presentation of the unused vertice. owners on presentation of the unused portion of the coupon. In this manner persons with insufficient means to buy a round trip ticket in the regular way are enabled to come west and also help the ticket brokers cut rates back to the east.

An Old Adage.

There is an old adage: "What everybody says must be true." Henry Cook of New Knoxville, O., in a recent letter says: "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has taken well here. Frank Beecher's Death the Result of Uncontrollable Causes,

An inquest was held over the remains of Frank Beecher, the man killed in the Elkhorn yards near East Omaha Monday night, at Burket's undertaking rooms yesterday afternoon. It was shown beyond all question of doubt that the unfortunate affair was purely accidental and the train men were in no way to blame for Beecher's death.

Two freight trains were passing each other going in opposite directions and the deceased appeared to be totally oblivious to the fact that there was a train coming on the track behind him, so intently was being noticing the train on the track by his side. The verdict returned was to the effect that the deceased came to his death by being run over accidentally and the train men and the rail road company were entirely blameless. The deceased was a laborer in the employ of the Eikhorn railroad. He leaves a wife and two sons to mourn his loss.

THE CHILDREN BLESS THEM.

Happy Youngsters Take the Fair Groun is by Storm. Yesterday was children's day at the Douglas county fair and as early as 8 o'clock the little ones commenced to come in droves, covies, flocks and pairs. Over 15,000 tickets were issued, taking all that had been printed, but still they came and it was at last decided to give the gate The Short Line extends from Sloux City to tenders orders to admit all the children that came. A merrier crowd of youngters never congregated, It was a regular picnic, with no slangy reference. They patronized the merry-gorounds in such numbers as to be in danger of their precious limbs. The boys spent their hoarded nickles in trying to throw balls into holes in barrel heads and at the darkey whose grinning mug showed thought a slit in the can vas. A couple of traveling museums reaped a silver harvest and all the amusements calculated to catch the youthful eye were well patronized. The pet and poultry exhibit was well patronized by the boys, and such ex-pressions as: "Wisht I had that rooster," and, "Say, Skinny, get enter de white ferrets," were common.

"Wild Bill," a tame cowboy, exhibited a tentful of animal freaks from the farm of L Livingston, at McCook, Neb. There was the largest steer in the world, the fattest pony, the biggest hog and a five-legged calf, which drew a large crowd of gaping youngsters. The popcorn man and the lemonade booths did a rushing business, and when noon came the children resolved themselves into groups and proceeded to demotish the lunches which careful mammas had brought along. Alto-gether the children enjoyed their day at the

A quilt of colonial days, embroidered on wool in 1776, would teach the ladies of even today something about artistic embroidery.

In the horticultural balls an unusually fine display of fruits is exhibited testifying to the fact that Douglas county can raise as good fruit as any county in Neoraska. Here, also, the work of the housewife is seen in the large and very fine exhibit of preserves, jelies and canned fruits and vegetables. The stock pens are all well filled with fine cattle which makes a splendid exhibit for lovers of well bred stock. The beautiful weather is drawing large crowds who seem well pleased with the entertainment given.

WRANGLING ABOUT WALKS.

Inspector Bermingh:m Incurs the Wrath of M .jor P. W. Bir chauser. The members of the Board of Public Works held a session yesterday to discuss wooden sidewalks.

For three months John W Robbins, the secretary, had listened to the wrangles for which the board has become justly noted. He had had enough and tendered his resignation to take effect Friday.

After the members had paid Robbins a few cheap compliments, they accepted his resignation. Mr. Robbins will return to the real estate business.

Sidewalk Inspector Tom Bermingham was roasted to the queen's taste. The members stated that Tom had neglected his duty; he had passed on walks that he had not seen and had certified that the work had been properly done when in fact the plank were not nailed to the stringers. Not only that, but he had allowed contractors to put n rotten and shaky lumber.

Councilman Osthoff, who was present, declared that the whole sidewalk system was a The chairman knew that, but insisted that Bermingtam grow angry every time that his inspection was questioned. He walked around the streets all of the time with a chip on his shoulder and dared any member of the oard to knock it off.

Again Councilman Osthoff spoke and insisted that there were two sides to the story and that the board could not expect to hold fom responsible for walk that was laid before he was appointed to the position.

The chairman said that Bermingham had the big head. Mayor Furay did not know anything about Tom's head, but he knew that one-half of the lumber was worthless, and proposed to hold the contractor's estimate af $3,100 until the rotten planks were taken out and good ones pit in their place. He knew of one instance where the material for the walk cost $9.00 and a $14 bill was charged up for labor. There vere many such cases.

Bermingham was called before the captain and explained that he had slways done his duty. He did hot know that rotten lumber had been used, and the bill spoken of was for grading away earth that the sidewalk might be placed to grade and give a level surface. The matter will be referred to the Chairman Birkhauser selected his man who will work in the capacity of secretary of the Board of Public Works, Fred Lutsinger, who has been in the office for some time.

DECLAREDOTHE SALE OFF,

The "Shor: Line" Will Not be Sold for a While Yet.

Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock was the hour set for the receiver's sale of the Nebraska & Western Railway, known as the Pacific Short Line, but the sale was declared off in accordance with a request from Strong & Cadwalader of New York, solicitors for the Manhattan Trust company.

O'Neill, a distance of 123 miles. The order of sale was made on June 30, to satisfy a judgment of $2,765,496 obtained by the Manhattan Trust company of New York on a suit brought to recover the principal and interest on bonds of the railway company held in trust by the Manhattan company. As the hour approached the steps and side-walk at the north door of the federal building presented an animated appearance. There were a large number of lawyers present representing claimants against the rail road. The only probable purchasers of the road present were several Sloux City men headed by A. S. Garretson, a prominent banker of Sloux City, who represented a syndicate of capitalists of that city. These ople had decided to enter the competition bidders in order to save the money they had already invested.

Despite all rumors to the effect that the Illinois Central or the Northwestern were after the road neither of these roads were represented in the crowd which gathered. The three Sloux City papers had represen tatives on the ground and it was very evident that the Corn Palace town had a painful nterest in everything connected with the John L. Webster returned from Philadelphia especially to attend the sale, and the Manhattan company was also represented by G. W. Wickersham of New York.

Attorneys were present representing the following claimants: Wallace & Dow of Cedar Rapids, $10,000 for building the depots along the line; C. W. Robinson, $21,000 for lumber; Seely, Son & Co., Fremont, 000 for lumber; Seely, Son & Co., Fremont, $17,000, building elevators and shovel houses; Western Fence company, $7,000; National Surface Guard company of Chicago, $5,000; Illinois Steel company, rails, $117,000; St. Charles Car company, St. Louis, $118,000, cars; Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railway company, $5,000, balance on account of racts atc.

account of reats, etc. E. P. Reynolus & Co., the contractors who built the road, were also on the scene, they having claims against the road and against the Wyoming-Pacific Improvement company, who had the contract for building the road. Reynolds claim amounted to $57,000. They had received $350,000 in each and the balance was to have been paid in bonds and stock in the railway, but it was never delivered and on Saturday last they filed a petition in intervention. Receiver Bierbower mounted the steps of the federal building shortly after 10 o'clock and commenced to read the order of sale. Be-fore he had proceeded far a paper was handed to him. He glanced over it and then read it to him. He glanced over it and then read it aloud, as follows:

OMAHA Neb., Sept. 1, 1891.

United States Circuit Court, District of Nebraska-Manhattan Trust Company vs Nebraska & Western Railway Company.

ELLIS BIERBOWER, Esq., Special Master—Dear Sir: As the court is not in session and has adjourned until October, you are hereby requested not to make any sale today under the decree entered June 39, 1891.

STRONG & CADWALADER, Solieitors for Complainant.

The receiver thereupon declared the sale off, and said that, as the court had set the off, and said that, as the court had set the day of sale in making the decree, it would be necessary for another decree to be entered before a sale could be held.

This sudden ending of affairs was a complete surprise to everybody, and the Sioux City people were indignant. They discussed the situation in little knots, and expressed themselves as being disgusted, No reason was given for the action on the part of the plaintiffs, except that court was not in session, but Mr. Bierbower stated that Judge Dundy had fixed the date at the request of the parties concerned, and had notified them that he would be out of the city on the day set. The receiver also announced that the sale of track material and miscellaneous articles, which had been set for 11 o'clock had been
