

WANT TO SERVE THE PEOPLE.

Some of the Aspirants for City and County Offices.

THREE BIG ELECTIONS CONSOLIDATED.

Warm Contest in Prospect Over Some of the Offices That Have Big Revenues Attached—Political Gossip.

When the ward clubs begin their weekly meetings at this season of the year, the political campaign may be considered fairly on. There are always a few and sometimes many preliminary rumors, but they don't take any tangible form until the ward manipulators begin to get in their work. That is the situation just now and from this date to the closing of the polls on Tuesday, November 3, the one absorbing theme will be the control of the county and municipal machinery.

The election will be a big one in some respects. It will be the first state election under the new Australian ballot law, by the provisions of which the city and Board of Education elections will be held on the same day as the state election. This will make an unusually big ticket and of course a consequent increase in the interest centering in the contest. There will be fifty-one offices to be filled. They are: One judge supreme court, two regents state university, seven district court judges, county judge, sheriff, coroner, county treasurer, county clerk, county surveyor, superintendent county schools, clerk of the district court, one county commissioner, vice Richard O'Keefe; state senator, vice John C. Shea, deceased; five members of the Board of Education; mayor, police judge, city controller, city clerk, city treasurer, nine members of the city council, six justices of the peace and six constables.

Locally there is but little interest in the state ticket other than that of an Omaha man, J. W. Edgerton is the independent nominee for supreme judge and that Judge Wakeley is mentioned in connection with the same position. There is quite enough in the local county and city contest to satisfy the hungry political worker.

The biggest plum on the tree this fall, financially speaking, is the office of the clerk of the district court. The remarkable increase in the business of the courts in the past few years has made this office a regular mint for its possessor. Colonel Frank E. Moore, the present incumbent, is perhaps the only man in the county who knows just how much the office has been worth during the past four years and he won't tell. People in a position to know, however, claim that, at a conservative estimate, it will clean up from $15,000 to $20,000 a year and it is a sure thing that the revenues to be secured by those figures to make the office one worth fighting very hard for. Mr. Moore wants the office again, of course, but he will not get the republican nomination without a struggle if he gets it at all. There are a great many republicans who think that a four years' term in such a lucrative office is enough and they will endeavor to convince Mr. Moore that he ought to give some other equally good or better man a show. Moore is a worker from the bottom of his heart and there's only one republican who has had two proper amount of courage to make an open fight for the nomination. He is Frank Allen, the deputy clerk of the federal court and he's making a splendid fight for the place.

Councilman Moriarty did think for awhile that he would succeed Moore but he decided to stay in the council another term. With him out of the race the contest for the democratic nomination will be between Lawyer M. V. Gannon and Captain W. H. Hyams, who was succeeded by Moore four years ago.

P. O'Malley wants to be county clerk again and M. D. Hoche will ask the republican nomination. L. M. Anderson and James Allen are also looking for a chance to get into the office. The republican nomination will go to O'Malley's predecessor in office, Jim Allen, who was defeated by O'Malley two years ago.

Adam Snyder has a mortgage on the democratic endorsement for another term in the county treasurer's office. George Heimrod, who unsuccessfully opposed Snyder's election two years ago, has a mortgage on the nomination again this fall and will probably accept it.

County Judge George Shields aspires to the district bench, and democratic lawyers by the dozen want to succeed him. Justice Alonzo Jay Hart is making a tall hustle for the nomination and Police Judge John South Omaha, also wants it. City Prosecutor Cobb wouldn't object to the democratic nomination, and J. T. Moriarty wouldn't refuse it. Ex-Police Judge Berka, Moses P. O'Brien and Gustave Anderson are the republicans who have been mentioned in connection with the office. Anderson and O'Brien are seeking the place, and Judge Berka is in the hands of his friends. Justice Morrison will probably get the independent endorsement.

J. M. House, the democratic county surveyor, wants another term. To get it he will have to beat Charlie Howes or "Doc" George Smith, one of whom will in all probability get the republican nomination.

There will be a pretty lively contest, in all probability, over the selection of judges of the district court. The present incumbent wearers are Eleazar Wakeley, G. W. Doane, Leo S. Estelle, A. M. Ferguson, Herbert J. Davis and Frank Irvine of Omaha, and Melville R. Hopewell of Tekamah. Of these, Judge Doane, Wakeley, Ferguson and Irvine are democrats and Judges Hopewell, Estelle and Davis republicans. The bar association of the district will probably name a ticket, according to custom, at the feeling in both parties is in favor of the present time at least, of the nomination of straight party tickets, an endorsement of the bench as it now stands.

E. M. Bartlett, H. D. Eastbrook, W. S. Strawn, John Schomp, Howard B. Smith, George W. Amrose, J. L. Kennedy, J. C. Wharton, J. L. Catthers, Colonel C. R. Scott, Isaac E. Congdon, C. S. Montgomery and George Shields, are among the men who are willing to be nominated by the various political parties.

John P. Boyd wants another term in the sheriff office and will have a walk-away for the democratic nomination. Mike Leo has been on a still hunt for the place for two years and will go after the republican nomination. Al L. Koster is also mentioned as a republican possibility in case the Seventh ward does not get its share before that office is reached. Cornelius P. Hartigan wants to be coroner again. Pat Heafey also wants the democratic nomination. Mike Maul will be out for the republican nomination and Dr. Riley has an eye to the position. Heafey says he's dead sure of the democratic endorsement and Harrison says "Heafey is taken thro' the hat." Some of the physicians claim that the coroner must be a physician, and none other will be allowed to hold an inquest. This proposition will be warmly disputed by Mr. Maul's friends.

J. M. Matthews will try again for superintendent of county schools. J. D. Pileher and B. Bruner will contest for the republican nomination.

fact that he's out for the nomination and expects to get it.

Lowry is not the only democratic councilman who would like to succeed Mayor Cushing. Henry Osthoff of the Fifth ward has openly announced his candidacy and is working for the nomination. He is a German and used to keep a saloon in a building that President Hayes owned. His councilman term expires January 1 next.

Pat Ford, the old Third ward councilman, also wants to be mayor and announces that he's going to be elected. It's a sure thing he says, because he's never been beaten yet for any office that he wanted and he's not going to change his luck this time in life.

Charles Ogden was a strong democratic candidate for mayor last fall, but hasn't been heard from so much of late. He still has a strong following in the Samson and Jackson club camps and will be urged when the time comes.

Some good democrats have been trying to convince Truman Buck that he ought to run for mayor and they claim to have been given some encouragement. They will support Buck, Ogden, Charles Goodrich or any other reasonably good man to preference to a candidate who has played a part in the municipal government for the last two years.

Among the republicans are several men of prominence who are working for the nomination and several others who would willingly welcome it if it should come without too much coaxing. Mr. A. L. Strang is a candidate and has a strong following. Dr. S. D. Mercer has refused to commit himself yet, but his friends claim he is in the race. City Treasurer John Rush is also talked of and would not have to be coaxed much to induce him to make a fight for the place.

Thomas Swone is also a possibility and Henry Bolin is reported to have decided to say his castor into the ring.

There is always an amusing side issue or two in a close political contest and it is not wanting in this instance. Isaac S. Hascall is out for the mayoralty on the independent or any other ticket.

Police Judge Lee Holsley has no opposition for re-nomination by the republicans. Thomas Caple wants the democratic nomination and will probably get it.

There won't be as big a financial inducement to the city treasurer's office as in former years, but the office is still highly desirable and the scramble for it will be a lively one. James H. McShane, who was defeated by such a majority two years ago, has a mortgage on the democratic endorsement. Influences are at work in favor of several republicans for Mr. Rush's shoes and it is difficult now to determine who has the advantage. William Coburn is said to be aspirant for the position and Dick Smith is credited with having his heart set on handling the city cheques for the next two years. John M. Dougherty may decide to test Jim McShane's right to the nomination and Henry Bolin may decide that he'd rather try his chances for that position than for the mayoralty. George Heimrod is also a possibility for this position instead of for the county cash holder as originally slated.

There's a question as to the manner in which the city clerk shall be chosen. The last legislature passed a charter amendment providing for his election by the people, but that charter says he must be elected by the council. This charter section was not repealed and there you are. John Groves will be a republican candidate and Jerome Pontol, George Stierman, and Henry Heimrod and several others are numbered among democratic aspirants.

Charles Goodrich don't care whether he gets the mayoralty nomination or not, he don't want to be city controller any longer. Jerome Coulter, who has been deputy controller ever since the office was created, is a candidate for the republican nomination for controller and has not met any one yet of the same political complexion who is looking for the Louis Houder nomination.

Charles Goodrich don't care whether he gets the mayoralty nomination or not, he don't want to be city controller any longer. Jerome Coulter, who has been deputy controller ever since the office was created, is a candidate for the republican nomination for controller and has not met any one yet of the same political complexion who is looking for the Louis Houder nomination.

A senator from Douglas county must be chosen to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. John C. Shea, but as the office is an empty honor any one can have it who wants it. He had enough to ask him earnestly for it. The councilmen will be elected from the city at large to succeed W. L. Blumer, F. D. Cooper, James Donnelly, Jr., B. F. Madison, John McLeary, E. F. Moriarty, Theodore Olsen and Henry Osthoff. Of the retiring members Messrs. Bechel, Blumer and Moriarty are candidates for another term. Madison admits that he has had enough. McLeary and Cooper are not saying a word. Olsen does not want another term, Osthoff is out for higher honors, and Mr. Donnelly is waiting. If he captures a place on the Board of Public Works, all right, if he doesn't, he'll probably ask a return to the council.

Tom Lowry may resign if he sees a chance to get the mayoralty permission. Councilman candidates are thicker than fiddlers in Omaha, and are of the usual good, bad and indifferent classes. There's no telling what the convention may bring forth, and there's only one thing certain. Succeeding crops cannot be worse than some that have gone before.

Five members of the Board of Education will be chosen to succeed Messrs. Coburn, Rees, Goodman, Kelly and McConnell, whose terms expire. Mr. McConnell and Mr. Goodman will seek re-election. Mr. Coburn declines further service on the board. The other members have not yet made their wishes and intentions known.

In shady soil the greatest success is met with in utilizing a stream of water from a hose to bore the way for the sinking of piles. The nozzle is secured to the base of the pile and the stream turned on. The pile sinks rapidly, and the sand packing about it renders it perfectly solid.

NEBRASKA GOVERNMENT LAND

Settlers Have Taken in Lots of It During the Past Year.

STILL THERE ARE A FEW ACRES LEFT.

Statement of What Has Been Done in the Land Offices of the State—Some Interesting Figures.

THE BEE has secured from the officers of eleven of the twelve land offices in Nebraska an interesting statement of the business transacted during the last fiscal year, which ended June 30. The statements show the exact number of acres of the public domain that have been secured by settlers and also the manner in which they have been taken up. Included in each statement is an estimate of the number of acres of public land yet subject to entry, showing the total number of acres of vacant government land in the state to be about two million acres.

Following are the figures from the various land offices:

USEFUL HINTS.

Drain's Magazine.

To drive nails or screws into hardwood dip the points into oil or grease.

Emery powder will remove ordinary stains from ivory knife handles.

Spots of grease may be most effectively removed by the application of dry buckwheat flour.

Air the house thoroughly every morning.

Open opposite doors and windows for five or ten minutes, if it is stormy.

Whole cloves will exterminate the industrious and merciless moth. They are more effective as a destroying agent than either tobacco, camphor or cedar shavings.

It is the experience of physicians that children of tuberculous parents properly fed, with no fermentation of their food, do not die of tuberculosis, but live to grow up in decent health.

For sunburn apply freely a solution containing 1 dram ammonium chloride, 2 drams cocaine hydrochloride, 2 drams glycerine, 3 ounces alcohol, 1 ounce orange flower water, made to 6 ounces with rose water.

It is stated that glycerine washed into the hair after it is wrung from the warm rinsing water will render it most agreeably soft. Half a spoonful of glycerine to a pound of dry flannel is the usual allowance.

Ear ache may be relieved by the use of equal parts of chloroform and lanolin, introduced by means of cotton dipped in the mixture. The first sensation is that of coldness, followed by scarcely perceptible pain, and later, refreshing sleep.

To check bleeding at the nose place a small roll of paper or muslin above the front teeth under the upper lip, and press hard on the same. This will arrest the bleeding, as it will check the passage of the blood through the arteries leading to the head.

Shaving lotion to be applied to the face after shaving: Stir seven parts tragacanth in 700 parts warm water, allow to stand two or three days with occasional stirring until completely dissolved, when five parts menthol dissolved in thirty parts alcohol and twenty-one parts glycerine are added.

Each Season

Has its own peculiar malady; but with the blood maintained in a state of uniform vigor and purity, by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the system readily adapts itself to all changed conditions. Composed of the best alternatives of nature, it is a blood purifier, and cures all diseases of the blood.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the most effective and economical of all blood medicines.

"For some years, at the return of spring, I had serious trouble with my kidneys. I was unable to sleep nights, and suffered greatly with pains in the small of my back. I was also afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, indigestion. These symptoms were much worse last spring, especially the trouble with my back. A friend persuaded me to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I began taking it, and my troubles all disappeared."
