A/Bad Egg.

A bad egg is a mighty annoying thing, especially it you have it boiled for breakfast. The thousands of people who buy fast. The thousands of people who buy all their eggs at our butter and egg department are never annoyed by anything of that kind. We keep one man busy all the time doing nothing but candling eggs. Every one we sell is warranted. We sell over 500 dozen a day and haven't had one returned for over three years. Isn't that a record to be proud of ? It's given people confidence in us. That's why we have their trade. Butter's advancing. That sold by some gealers is strong enough to advance itself. But what we mean to say is that the price of good butter has been advancing for some time. We've kept our prices down to the old figure and hope to for awhile. But whatever may be our price, we'll guarantee that you can't touch the same goods anywhere else in this "neck o' the woods" for the same money. Our motto in this, as well as all departments, is "quality as well as quantity." W. R. BENNETT CO., 1508 to 1514 Capitol avenue.

TO SOUTH AMERICA.

What the Plant Railroad System is Poing for the Country.

Colonel D. H. Elliott, the general agent of the Plant system, has been in the city for several days. The colonel has given many years of diligent study and effort to the development of the resources of the southern district of this great country and the augmentation of travel and traffic with our South American and Central American neighbors. Referring to the fact that many Omaha people own winter houses in Florida, Colonel Eiliott stated that the recent discovery of phosphates throughout the western portion of southern Florida has greatly increased the value of all lands in the state and has given an impetus to all depart-ments and branches of business. He said: "It is matter of public interest and concern that the measures proposed by the government for a closer intercourse and freer inter change between this and the republics of Central and South America shall be promptly and efficiently seconded by American enterprise and capital. Acceptance and confirmation of proposed treaty stipulations in my opinion are without other than sent; mental value until supplemented by adequate facilities for handling the increased com-

"Anong those who are prepared by their means and inclination 1 lorward the measures proposed by Mr. Blaine for opening up new and accessible markets for American products stands the name of Mr. H. B. Plant of New York City, a man who has done as much and perhaps more than any other of his generation to advance and develop the agri-cultural and commercial interests of his own country, and to establish and maintain reg-ular and reliable intercourse and exchange between our own and the ports of foreign

"It is to Mr. Plant that the country is in-debted for the great railroad system of South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Florida that bears his name, and by means of which so much has been accomplished in developing the industries of those states and bringing their distant and isolated territory into close and mutually advantageous relations with the more advanced and populous portion of the country. But the Plant system proper includes not only the several lines of railroad already referred to, but also a line of steamships plying between Mobile, Ala., and Havana, Cuba; Port Tampa and Key West, Fla., and an-other from Port Tampa, on the gulf coast of Florida, to the island of Jamaica, both of which are developing a new and constantly increasing volume of traffic between the ports named and adding largely to the common prosperity. In addition to these public enterprises already in successful operation Mr. Plant stands prepared to establish fur-ther lines as soon as determination of pend-ing governmental negotiations shall have created demand for further facilities." "Patronize home inqustry," is the sentiant that led to the calling turers' meeting at the Board of Trade rooms tomorrow afternoon. It is a winner, and every business man who subscribes to it should make it a point to be present.

ITS TWENTY-THIRD.

Concordia Singing Society Celebrates an Auspicious Birthday. Germania hall never presented a prettier appearance than last night. The hall was beautifully decorated and the little stage was almost hid from view by the potted flowers and tropical plants that were arranged in the wings and before the foot lights. A happy and fashionable party whiled away the hours and in the festivities forgot dull care. The occasion was the celebration of the twenty-third anniversary of the Concordia During the early part of the evening an excellent musical programme was rendered, consisting of vocal and instrumental selections. After that the hall was cleared and for several hours those present indulged in dancing, the music being furnished by the Musical Union orchestra.

At midnight a delicate lunch was served in the spacious dining rooms, where 100 plates were laid. The Concordia is the oldest social society not only in the state, but in the west. It came into existence twenty-three years ago today, since which time practice meetings have been held each week and general meetings each month.

Board of Trade. The Board of Trade, after eighteen months of innocuous, somniferous repose, got together again last night in its office on N street; John Doe president and Mr. Lane secretary. After some discussion it was decided to continue the board as heretofore under the old regime. The failure of the Stradamant Asphalt company to lay the quality of pave-ment along Twenty-fourth street as con-tracted for was then discussed. Several specimens of the Stradament asphalt which had been dug up by Mr. J. Carroll were submitted to the board for examination and drew forth to the board for examination and drew forth anything but complimentary remarks. It was decided to investigate the matter, and Messrs. David Anderson, J. H. E. ggers, C. F. Fahs, E. H. Howland and John Carroll were appointed a committee to act on the part of the citizens, using discretionary powers in the matter. Captain Cockrell suggested that the city secure the High school for a town hall and municipal purposes. The school board could easily afford to turn that splended building over to the city at a nominal price, and with the $35,000 replenishing its coffers annually meet all the educational demands made upon it. It was decided to hit upon a plan to consummate the deal at the next meeting.

OPENED OFFICIALLY. Passage of the First Train Through the Port Edward Tunnel.

PORT HURON, Mich., Sept. 19.-All trains arriving at Port Huron and Sarnia today have on board distinguished guests, who come to take the first official ride through the great tunnel. At Port Edward a special train, with four ordinary day coaches, was drawn up in front of the station. At 12:30 the inaugural train started. It pulled directly to Sarnia depot, where a number of guests and citizens of Sarnia were taken board. Then the trains steamed out to he edge of the town to reach the approach to the tunnel. Here a triumphal arch had been erected, Mayor Watson and officials of Sarnia met the president of the Grand Trunk railway and the mayor read an address. President Tyler made a brief speech in response, and with the Sarnia officials boarded the train and proceeded on the trip through the tunnel. When they arrived on the other side they passed through an-other triumpnal arch, where Mayor McIl-waine and Port Huron city officials were waiting on a platform to receive them. A large assemblage of citizens were also pres-ent. As soon as the railway officials stepped from the cars the mayor came to the front and read an address. At the conclusion of the reading the mayor presented Sir Henry Tyler with an engrossed copy of the address, and Sir Henry responded with a neat speech of thanks. The people cheered and waved their handkerchiefs, and the train pulled out to the Chicago & Grand Trunk passenger station, where all got off and em barked on the steamer Omar D. Conger for

This triumph of modern engineering has been achieved under the swift outlet of Lake Huren to supersede the ferry system of transporting the traffic of the Grand Trunk route from American to Canadian banks. The tunnel under the river is over a mile long, is lined throughout with solid cast iron plates bolted together in segments. The tunnel and approaches are a little over two miles in length. At the end approaches are junctions with the Grand Trunk railroad on the Canadian side, and the Chicago & Grand Trunk railroad on the American side of the The cost of the tunnel proper was $1,460,000.

ATTRACTIONS OF THE WEEK.

What the Theaters Have to Present to Their Patrons.

CHATTER OF THE FOOTLIGHTS.

Belasco & De Mille's Great Play at Boyd's-"Cheek" at the Farnam Street-Closing Performance of the Garrow Company.

"Cheek," which was made famous by Roland Reed, has taken a new lease of life this season. Fred Marsden's bright comedy is now being played by the Clair Pattee com pany, supporting Williard Simms, who plays the stellar role. "Check" begins a week's engagement at the Farnam street theater at the matinee today, and the press throughout the west where the musical comedy has been seen, is a unit of praise of Mr. Simms' impersonation of Dick Smythe. In audition to Mr. Simms, who is a remarkably clever comedian, Miss Nellie Free plays the soubrette part as she did in the old days when a member of the Reed company, and hundreds of theater goers will recall with pleasure the delight she gave with her songs and dances and cute catchy ways. In addition to Miss Free, Mr. Simms is supported by a strong company of players engaged expressly for the parts in this thoroughly enjoyable saure upon the American news reporter. Gus Brigham, the well known musical composer has written a number of very taking songs for the comedian and the soubrette, and everywhere the company has played the irrepressible small oy is whistling the airs which nightly call out round after round of appliause for the songs and the singers. "Cheek" has been bright-ened throughout and with a strong company to interpret its delightful drolleries, the per formance ought to be well patronized.

The Garrow Opera company, wishing to yield to a general demand for another per formance of "Olivette," will produce Audran's catchy opera this evening at the Grand opera house, terminating their engagement in this city. A retrospective glance at the operas given by the company in the pastfour weeks shows that throughout there was abil-ity of more than the ordinary brought to bear on the production of the operas. Miss Clement has emphasized her claims to being one of the best comic opera prima donnas on this side. She has a sweet, sympathetic voice, which was heard to great advantage in "Bohemian Girl," "Erminie," and "Olivette" and "Girofle-Gorfla." Miss Carrie Swain, a piquanto and bewitching soubrette, made distinct hits in the "Mikado," "Erminic," and "Olivette," She is conscientious and a hard worker, essentially necessary to success. Miss Barker played intelligently the difficult role of Katisha and brought ability to the part of the Countess in "Olivette." Mr. Drew needs no extended notice. He is today one of the best low comedians on the boards, and his work has been eminently satisfactory. Mr. Hallam has a sweet tenor voice, which is always used as the trained musician only knows how. Mr. Brand, the baritone, was at times badly cast, but he was always the careful artist, never slighting his work. The chorus is in good form and "Olivette" ought o prove a winner tonight.

Charles Frohman's company of New York will appear at Boyd's new theater Moiday Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week in DeMille and Belasco's greatest play of "Men and Women." This su-perb organization, composed of twenty-three people, is one of the largest and hest traveling companies on the road, and their engagements have simply been ovation in every city where they have appeared.

The company has been heralded and talkeabout, and judging from the flattering econ-iums passed upon it elsewhere, it cannot very well fail of making a striking success in this city. It comprises names indicative of strength, most of its actors being tried veterans in their art. The plot of "Men and Women" is simple. Israel Cohen is the president of a New York bank. William Prescott is the cashier. Both love the same woman, Anges Rodman, who pledges hereif to young Prescott, be-ieving him the soul of honor and above re-lroach. Edward Seebury, the assistant Pashier of the same bank, the Jefferson Na-Cional, is engaged to Dora Prescott, sister of William, and the two young men are de voted friends. Both have been speculating brough one Arnold Kirke, a Wall stree oroker, and while Seebury is successful, Kirke in the long run fails, William Pres-Kirke in the long run fails. William Pres the amount of $100,000, the property of the bank. Calvin Stedman, counselor of the bank, loved Dora Prescott and for that reason determined to ruin young Seebury, his rival. The bank is on the eve of failure through the misappropriation of the funds mentioned, and Seebury is accused by Sted-man and openly denounced as a thief at a secret meeting of the board of directors. The institution is eventually saved by one of the directors advancing a sum sufficient to tide it over its troubles. The cashier con-lesses his guilt and a new life and happing are opened to him. The play is powerfully cast and the narmonious ensemble of the performance is said to be remarkable. Following the engagement of "Men and Women" at Boyd's new theater, J. K. Emmet and his excellent company will present "Fritz in Ireland." J. K. Emmet's production is spoken of wherever presented as one of the leading attractions of the season. Its scenery and stage settings are of the most elaborate nature, while its cast has been selected from among the best character actors on the stage

The church chimes at Fritz's home on the Rhine, the pipe organ in the Hereford castle, the zither quartette and the moonlight shadow dance are some of the new effects introduced in the play, while the old familiar nusic and tableaux have been retained. The star has shown wisdom in selecting such a play as "Fritz in Ireland" in which to ppear. It is susceptible of great effects and situations; it is susceptible of great elects and situations; it is a play of mirths and laugh-ter, of pathos and tears. It is a play in which the cast is impossible without the star; the star at a disadvantage without a yery strong east. Mr. Emmett's success has een his knowledge of these details as uncts to success and his ample provision of excellencies in all these details. He not only herits the character of Fritz, but is prepaired to maintain that inheritance by years of constant study and practice. At the Grand opera house next Sunday evening, September 28, an excellent perform ance is promised by Miss Chase's manage nent. Her supporting company is the very best that could possibly be secured, the new play, "Uncle's Darling," has been a success everywhere and the special scenery is very fine. The famous Golden Gate quartette, a most excellent musical organization, will also appear in the play introducing songs, dances, medleys and many brilliant operatic selections. A clean cut comedy production, en irely free from the slightest possible taint of vnlgarity, will be presented. Rider Haggard's famous scout guide and companion, Colonel Schoot, will be the prin-cipal feature in the curiosity halls at the Eden Musee, commencing Monday, Septem-ber 21. For one week only this bronzed war-rior will show the arms used in the chase and in war by the savage denizens of that land of romance and mystery, the Dark Continent. The coionel tells of his adventures with the mous author in a thrilling manner, Lyceum Dramatic company will present for the first time in Omaha, "True Devotion," a comedy-drama founded on Will Carleton's story, "Over the Hills to the Poor House," a story of "Home, Sweet Home," and many other attractions.

The Chatter of the Stage. "The President" has made a hit. "Wang" goes on the road at the end of the Grace Hawthorne has really caught on in Paris. Think of it! What a frightful time she has had.

Marie Wainwright has made a great stores in "Amy Robsart." Biatchford Kavanaugh has been able to buy a beautiful home in Chicago from the earn-ings he made while singing.

The Conreid Opera company has made are rangements to produce "Poor Jonathan" on the road playing as far west as San Eran-"Alabama" did a phenomenal business ift Chicago, the orchestra being compelled to go on the stage during the engagement. And yet "Alabama" was not liked in Omalia. Mme, Patti desires to spend Christmas, of at any rate the greater part of December, at Craig-y-Nos, and consequently she has post-poned her departure for the United States till the end of that month.

Business at the theaters the past week has een poor owing to the very warm weather.
Bright, bewitching Loie Fuller has rebright to the states from Europe and in a state to the dramatic editor announces that he will be seen in Omaha this season in a iew comedy. The matineo custom is growing in this city, Matinees provide for women and some men who cannot attend the theater evenings at opportunity to see plays from which they would otherwise be departed, and thus they increase the number of the play going public your materially. very materially. George Kennon, one of the most eloquent and popular men on the lecture platform, will lecture on "Siberia" at the Grand opera house on Tuesday evening, October 27. The expressed desire on the part of a large number of his admirers to hear him will soon be considered. gratified.

Sager & Goolman's opera "Elicen" will be the attraction at the Farnam Street theater the week of Sentember 27. The company embraces ciever Amy Leslie, Margaret Newton, Emma Huntington, James T. Kelly of "Kelly & O'Brien" fame, William McDonald Charles Babcock, T. Barnervitz, and an excellent chorus. The costumes are new and the opera beautifully staged. The venture is backed by a wealthy SanFranciscan. To the Quaker City and to Mr. Gustav Hinrichs must belong the honor of being first in the field in this country with Mascagni's one-act melodrama, "Rustic Chivalry," for it was produced in Philadelphia last Wednesday night at the Grand opera house. There can be little doubt of a repetition of the European success in this country of the work, for it is charmingly fresh and reveals a genuine operatic talent in the person of its One of the most provoking things at a theater is the disorder occasioned by late comers. They form an intolerable nuisance—worse even than the men who are comworse even than the men who are compelled to go out between the acts to "see a friend" and who return to their seats later chewing on coffee beans. San Francisco managers have recently tried an experiment in endeavoring to remedy this nuisance of late comers by ordering the ushers not to show people to seats while the curtain was up. Why does not some Omaha manager devise a plan to ston this late coming!

vise a plan to stop this late coming! Manager Garrow of the Garrow opera company went to Plattsmouth the other day to make arrangements with the local manager to play his company there. He saw the manager but the company will not play Platts-mouth. 'Just wait till I milk my cows, 'said the local entrepreneur, "and I will talk business with you." Jack Dowling had held the train them Afteen minutes for Garrow and decided to leave without a contract being made. Garrow came back to Omaha and says the man-ager would rather have milk than opera, There is not a deal of encouragement for American actors in this admission from the London Era: "Augustin Daly, it seems, in-tends to employ only American actors at the theater which is to be built for him in London. With an immense floating population from across the water, a permanent New York company in London should at least have a good start. The only difficulty that strikes one is that as salaries are doubtless far higher in the United States than in England, Mr. Daly will be running an entertain ment with expenses, in one important item, on a higher scale than those of any of his Loudon rivals, and it is a question whether —like the banker's slight advantage at the gaming table—this small, but constant difference in the odds will not decide the contest in favor of the Englishmen." The latest accession to the ranks of the chorus of the Carleton opera company that opens in Baltimore on Monday in "Indigo" is oung society woman of New York, Miss Minnie Bradford Washburn. Miss Washburn is a favorite in Baltimore ociety. She arrived in the Monumental city from Atlantic city, where she join pany. She will appear in tights and her debut s looked forward to by her many friends in hat city with much interest. It is said that Miss Washburn adopted the stage unknown to her parents. Miss Washburn's parents live at 158 West One Hundred and Third street New York. Her father, Lansing C. Wash-burn, was a member of the Wall street firm of Townsend & Washburn, of which J. P. Townsend, president of the Knickerbocker Trust company, was a special partner. The failure of Baring Brothers embarassed the firm and ruined Mr. Washborn. He is now employed by the Thompson-Houston Electric company, establishing agencies throughout the country. Mrs. Washburn said that her daughter had gone upon the stage from necessity, not from choice. She had to do something to earn a livelihood and preferred the stage to teaching music. The Home Mutual Insurance company of California, a joint stock company, one of the oldest and strongest of the California companies, will enter the states of Kansas and Nebraska under the management of Mr. F. W. Young at Denver Colo., as soon as the necessary papers.
