SOUTH OMAHA WAS IN HARD LUCK

Sioux City Gets the Last One Away from the Cowboys-American Association Scores-Sporting Notes.

Jelen and Lacy are still the king battery of Omaha's amateur teams. The round-faced Bohemian pitcher came near hitting enough men yesterday to lose the game for the Nonpareils, but he had the best fielders in the city behind him and the day was won, although it required eleven linings to do it.

Just as a starter, Jelen nelped the Nonpareil's cash box along by winning the 100 yards run between himself and Condon of South Omaha, for a $20 purse. That made the crowd jubilant, but thereafter their faces alternated between looks of anxiety and smiles induced by prospective victory.

Ticknor and Gross, the ex-Fremont battery, were the hope of the Magic Citys. They started the run-getting in the second on Flynn's error and Gross' home run hit. For nine innings thereafter they didn't get a The Nonparells got two men over the plate early in the game, but were equally as unfortunate as their doughty opponents up to the eleventh.

Here Tickner made a grave mistake. After striking out Flynn he allowed Jerry Mahoney to hit the leather. It was a bot one to the third baseman and he fumbled it. Dave Shanahan resolved to do or die. He picked out a nice one and the second time in the game pushed it into right field for three cushions, Jerry Mahoney crossing the plate with the winning run.

It was the best game played this season at Nonpariel park and was witnessed by 1,200 people. The batting of Shanahan and Lynch, Ticknor and Gross' battery work, and the excellent fielding of the entire Nonpariel team were the features. The

St. Louis and Washington Indulge is a Little Game of Horse. Sr. Louis, Mo., Sept. 20.-The Browns and Washingtons played another wearisome, long drawn out game today. Both sides indulged in a series of fielding errors, the worst seen here this season. McCarty's work at short was a burlesque. The Washingtons bunched a number of their errors in the seventh, enabling the Browns to pull a vic-tory out of the fire, for at the end of this inning the game was called on account of darkness. THEY KNOW THE FOILS.

Omaha Young Men Who Can Guard, Parry and Thrust.

Prof. Hengel, the well known French fenc ing master recently engaged as instructor at the new Omaha Athletic club, was found by a reporter Saturday afternoon at the club house watching the painters and grainers put the finishing touches on the large main room of the building.
When asked to tell something about fencing and the Omatia people who use the foils for amusement the professor said: "There are three schools of fencing, the French, Italian and Spanish, the former difering from the other two principally in the position of the sword and arm while engarde and in the coolness of the play, which is less and in the coolness of the play, which is less impetuous than the Italian and less violent than the Spanish. The French school, now superior to all others, requires of the fencer coolness, juagment, quickness, lightness of the hand and precision in the parries and attacks. It is not a question of mere force, but of using your strength to the best possible advantage at the proper moment. The work comprises an uninterrupted succession of movements, supple, rapid, graceful, that requires incessant attention

"Exercise with the folls, which is now so popular in the east, also has its place and followers in Omaha. On the first of October I will close my academy, having been engaged as master of arms by the Omaha Athletic club. Of course I follow the methods of the French army in my teachings, though somewhat improved by the adoption of many of Camille Prevost's ideas. Prevost, as you probably know, is considered one of the greatest ex ponents of the art of fencing in the world and is now instructor in one of the famous Paris clubs. "There are many fencers in Omaha whose work has been tested and compares favorably with that of fencers in this country or in Europe. Not long since party of gentle-men among whom was a famous Danish master of arms and several German naval officers were in Omaha for a couple of days, and they sought me out. The party spent an entire afternoon with me and was delighted and surprised at the work of some of my

"Probably the best all round fencer in Omaha, both for scientific points and assaults, is Mr. George W. Ames, president of the Athletic club. Mr. Ames has studied the art both here and abroad and as a result excels in it.

"Dr. F. J. Despecher has been a constant worker with me in addition to practicing in Parts with a well known master and is a very formidable opponent in an assault. "Mr. Howard A. Clarke has been a persist-ent and hard-working pupil, whose progress very gratifying. His handling of the foil is distinguished by great quickness and precision. C. W. Martin, Chat Redick, Lucien Stephens, John W. McDonaid, C. Savage, Dr. Gluck, F. K. Wood and many others in the city have made admirable progress. I think before long there will be a number of fencers in Omaha who will be able to compete with amateurs in any part of the world.

"It is more than probable," said the professor in closing, "that we shall have some fine exhibitions of fencing when we get the young men of the club interested in the art."

The chancel was deepened by the Brazos River Channel and Dock company. This company purchased several thousand acres of land and commenced the building of jettles. At that time there were only four and a half feet of water at the bar. That was two years ago. On July 9 the brig Atlanta, from New York, drawing fifteen feet, anchored in the harbor. The following month the threethe harbor. The following month the three-masted schooner Henry P. Mason, from New York, sailed over the bar drawing sixteen feet and a balf of water. Within a year twenty feet of water are assured.
The company is now building wharves, a great hotel, grading streets and connecting with all the great railroad lines of the state

UNCLE JERRY'S WEEKLY BULLETIN.

Corn in Nebraska Has Matured Very Rapidly and is Now Beyond Danger of Frost-Reports From Other States.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 20 .- The following is the weather crop bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture:

Temperature-it has been a warm week east of the Rocky mountains, the greatest excess in temperature occurring over the central valleys, where warm, dry weather was most needed for the ripening of corn. Over the greater portion of the corn region the daily excess in temperature ranged from 6 to 12 degrees, and this high temperature, attended as it was by almost continuously clear weather, must have forced the ripening of corn, which has been retarded in growth during the previous weeks of cool weather. In the cotton region the temperature was slightly in excess and in California the week was slightly cooler than usual.

Rainfall-There was a general deficiency in rainfall over the whole country east of the Rocky mountains with the exception of a few limited localities where local showers gave more than the normal rainfall. These small areas are located in North Carolina, Texas, eastern Michigan and northwestern Iowa. There was almost a total absence of rain in the lower Mississippi, lower Ohio and the lower Missouri valleys. Heavy local snowers occurred in the east gulf states and lower lake region, while very light showers were reported from all other districts. The rainfall was in excess on the immediate Pacific coast, although very light on the coast of California, while generally in the interior little or no rain was reported. New England-Very · favorable weather for ripening crops. Harvesting is going torward rapidly with good results. The potato rot is not increasing. New York-Considerable fall rye is up and growing well. The corn and buckwheat harvest is advancing in the southern counties, elsewhere it requires from one to two weeks. Tobacco is maturing rapidly and some has been harvested. The second hay crop is good. Apples are fine. Pennsylvania-Weather extremely favorable for ripening tobacco. The bulk of the corn crop is safe from frost, and cutting has commenced. The bulk of the tobacco crop has been cut, and under the most favorable circumstances. Seeding is progressing. New Jersey—Very favorable weather conditions have prevailed in all sections of the state. Corn is maturing rapidly and cutting has commenced in some counties. Vine truck and grapes are nearly all marketed in good condition. Cranberry picking has commenced, and the fall seeding is about Maryland-Reports from every section of the state show that the weather conditions have been favorable to farming and canning interests. There is an excellent outlook for corn in most sections, but tomatoes are less than a full crop, owing to previous wet weather. Tobacco in southern Maryland now needs showers.

Virginia—Conditions were excellent for growing crops, though the weather was rather too warm the past few days for tobacco already out. North Carolina-The warm, sunshiny ween was most favorable for all crops and farm work. Cotton is opening more rapidly, though picking is not general. South Carolina-The high temperature and excessive sunshine scalded and rusted cotton, shedded the young fruit and caused immature bolls to open. The damage is believed to be more than formerly reported. Alabama-The rain of benefited all crops. There is no material change in the condition of cotton since the Mississippi-Growing crops are suffering from the dry, hot weather. Cotton harvesting is in progress; the staple is good, but the sunshine is opening immature bolls. Rain could not materially benefit cotton. Louisiana—The weather was generally favorable and there is a slight improvement in prospects, though all crops, especially cane, need rain. Excellent harvesting weather. Cotton is opening rapidly and picking is well under way. Arkansas—The continued warm days and cool nights in the northern portion of the state have caused cotton to recode, with a consequent further reduction in its condition. Cotton picking has become general. Corn and other crops are in good condition, but warm rains are needed.

Texas—The weather was favorable for cetton picking, which has progressed rapidly; the staple is unusually long and clean. Showers have improved late cotton and the top crop in Texas. The prospect continues avorable over northern Texas.

Tennessee—The late crops are suffering from drouth and plowing has been suspended. Haymaking and fouder saving is progressing finely. Cotton picking is under way; the crop is short. Warmth and sunshine required to mature late corn.

Kentucky—Corn is maturing rapidly and is about safe from frost; tobacco is being cut; the crop seriously damaged in Christian county by hail. Pastures need rain; fail plowing nearly completed.

Ohio—The hot, dry weather is maturing corn rapidly and another week will see all corn matured. Corn and tobacco cutting is in progress in the middle and southern porions of the state. The lack of rain has been njurious to pastures and dolays plowing and wheat seeding.

Michigan—Weather conditions have been favorable for all crops; corn is practically safe and cutting is general. A large acreage of wheat has been sown. Rain is needed in he southwestern counties. Illmois-'the warm, sunshiny weather caused corn to ripen rapidly. Wheat seeding is progressing, but has been retarded somewhat by lack of moisture. Rain is needed for early sown wheat and pastures.

Indiana—The warm, dry and sunshiny week caused corn and tobacco to mature very rapidly. Most of the corn is considered safe from frost and the remainder will be in a few days with a continuation of present weather conditions; rain is needed for newly

Iowa-More than three-fourths of the corr is safe, with the balance more or less immature. Rain is needed for pasturage and fall plowing. The prospects are that the state will produce a good crop of sound corn. Wisconsin—Corn is cut of danger from frost and cutting has commenced. A large acreage of wheat and rye is being sown. Potatoes are only a fair yield; tobacco is harcranberry picking is nearly completed Minnesota—The warm weather has improved corn greatly and some cutting is reported. It will require a week of warm weather to place the crop beyond danger of prosts. Rain is need for pasturage and plow-

Ing.

North and South Dakota—Heat and wind interfered with all work. Rain is needed generally for fall plowing. Cora is maturing in the southeast portion of South Dakota—elsewhere the frost damage is permanent. Harvesting is completed and the crop and is now beyond danger from frost damage is permanent. Harvesting is completed and the crop season ended with a bountiful yield.

Nebraska—Corn has matured very rapidly and is now beyond danger from frost except very late pieces and in northern counties. A large crop of hay has been secured. The ground is so dry as to interfere with fall willowing.

Missouri—The weather conditions have

Missouri—The weather conditions have hastened the ripening of corn which is now safe from frost. The ground is too dry for plowing, and wheat seeding has been retarded. Pastures and late potatoes have been injured by drouth.

Kansas—Hot, dry and windy days and cool nights and a continuation of the drouth Corn is cut and shocked in all parts of the state. Colorado-The warm weather has greatly colorado—The warm weather has greatly benefited crops; some corn and potatoes harvested; the remainder is generally reported safe from frost. Ground is too dry for fall plowing.

Oregon—The harvest is practically over in western Oregon, and threshing is progressing in eastern portion. The rains have damaged pastures and worked some injury to sun-drying fruit. California—Cool, with light rains, but no damage done. Kaisin curing has begun, and the weather is good for late crops.

AMEER JOKE.

Pointed Humor of the Mogul of Afghanistan.

Some strange stories have been told, says Pearson's Weekly, of the way in which the Ameers of Afghanistan lords it over his people. There is a humor in his way of playing the part of lord absolute which can best be appreciated at a distance, as a story which has just reached us will show.

Not long ago, we are told, the Ameer was sitting discussing public affairs. Or-ders had been issued to release certain persons from the sorrows of existence. when the council suddenly dashed into greater things, and began to talk about the British and the Russians. A man who had lately been introduced at court. and was not well acquainted with the sovereign's ways, remarked: "Lord of the earth, let people say what they like, but this humble one has been scanning the political horizon with farreaching eyes, and the Russians are The lord of the earth smiled a sweet smile-some of the old courtiers who knew that smile also smiled-and, turning upon him with the "far reaching eyes," said:

"Bright jewel of our council and sun of our understanding, art thou sure of this? "I am convinced that it is so, but the ord of the earth is omniscient and knows everything," replied he.

"Well, to be sure, we do see things, and know one or two things, but we are old now. Moreover, you tree obstructs our view. However, thou art young; go hou, therefore, climb the tree, watch the Moscovite's movements, and when he is very close upon as come and inform us. The tree is high, so that thou shalt be enabled to see a long way off, if thou wilt clamber to its top.

Forthwith the man was led to the tree and made to climb the topmost branches. To keep up his courage if he grew weary of his post, a guard with bayonets fixed was told off to remain below. It s said the young man was considerably devated by his master's humour, and felt very exhilerated at first; but three days' contemplation of the beauties of nature, even from such a commanding position is apt to tire one, and so he ell. IMPRESSIVE SERVICE.

Citizens of Buffalo Treated to a Most Unusual Display.

VIVID SCENES OF RELIGIOUS SPLENDOR.

Imposing Rites Observed at the Dedication of the New German-American Church of the Seven Colors.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 20,-An astonishing revelation of German solidarity and strength of numbers was furnished here today. Apparently it was arranged as a fitting forerunner of the great congress of German-American Catholics which begins proceedings tomorrow. The announcement had been made locally that a new Catholic church was to be dedicated, but little or nothing appeared beforehand to indicate an affair of magnitude or of novel significance.

To the visitor in the city or the residents of other quarters attracted in that direction, the scene presented in passing out of Genesee street and adjoining thoroughfares was constantly one of increasing surprise. Almost from the corner of Main street the long route to the new church was filled nearly exclusively with faces of unmistakable Teutonic aspect. For a straight mile and a half and beyond, German names alone peoped down from the hundreds of business signs and inquiries couched in the language of the fatherland were invariably the readlest answered, even by the children in the throng. In either direction, for distances of many blocks, the buildings scarcely without exception were gaily draped with flags and fluttering streamers of the kaiser's red, white and black, the papal colors of brilliant white and yellow, and also the stars and stripes.

Imposing Array of Catholic Knights. The edifice to be dedicated was found to be that of a distinctively German American parish, the church of the Seven Colors. It is a huge stone structure, towering, massive and battlemented, reminding the beholder of a mediaeval fortress. Around the church forming a flashing circle of polished steel, stood an imposing army of dark uniformed Catholic knights with drawn swords at present arms. Up and down the streets, hemmed in by crowds of cager spectators, could be seen rank after rank of bright, tinsel-sashed sodalities bearing aloft banners inscribed with gilded letters, chiefly in Latin or German.

The chief personage in the spectacle was strangely in contrast with the multitude about him, a man of marked Celtic physiog nomy, Rt. Rev. Bishop Ryan, the adminis trator of this Catholic diocese. Seem ingly unconscious of the peculiarity of the surroundings the prelate, intent upon his sacred functions, slowly paced the circuit of the church's exterior, blessing the stones to the services of the Almighty. The task ended, he disap-peared from view and the remarkably German character of the whole scene was intensified more strongly than ever. Within the church, into which the eager thousands now poured, there appeared with-in the sanctuary as celebrant of the mass this time a German-American prelate, Rt. this time a German-American prelate, Rt.

Rev. Bishop Zardetti of St. Cloud, Minn., and the immense mass of people bowed and genuffected and knelt, while perfumed clouds from golden censors obscured the scarlet background of the altar and the high vaulted arches trilled with the alleliahus of the mag-nificent German choir.

Then there stepped into the pulpit, in snowy surplice and stole and black beretta, a quaint little spectacled figure as if the image of an antique wood carved saint from his pedestal in some old Rhenish cathedral, and ddressed the intent muttitude wholly in

Father Van Rossum's Eloquence.

It was Father Van Rossum, one of the faccollege, a few squares distant. He spoke with great earnestness and hundreds of Teutonic matrous with shawls over heads and babes in arms, little maidens with flaxen braids, brawny workingmen with hair cut horizontally in the back gripping tightly the hands of youthful presentments of themselves all hung from the preacher's words as if their lives depended upon catching every syllable. Here and there an individual suddenly, white faced and dripping with perspiration, would emerge from the crush, but the place was quickly filled by others undeterred by heat or fatigue, for all were standing.

The theme of the preacher's discourse was "The Sacredness of the Church of God and What Was Connected Therewith." Meanwhile thousands outside waited patient as statutes. The most solemn moment of the ceremonial, the elevation of the host, was an-nounced to them in a startling manner, a heavy cannonading being substituted for the usual tinkle of a belt. All in all the demonstration was of a character possibly never before witnessed in America and elicits much comment. Much coriosity is expressed as to the number of German-American bishops who will attend the meeting of the German union and thus supposedly avow themselves in opposition to their fellow prelates. The promoters of the congress count upon the presence of six to eight wearers of the purple and 300 or more priests, besides estimating that 10,000 strang-ers in Buffalo tomorrow night will witness a torchlight parade of another 10,000 uniformed lay adherents of the Clerical union or "Priesten verein," the conclave of which is to be the center of interest. As soon as you discover any falling of the hair or grayness always use Hall's Hair Renewer to tone up the secretions and prevent baldness or grayness.
