Members Offer to Fight on the Floor of the Chamber-Record of a Lively Adjourned Meeting.

The people who failed to attend last night's adjourned council meeting missed a picnic. The meeting was for the purpose of selecting the registrars and fixing upon the places where they would sit prior to the holding of the November election. It was supposed that there would be no charges of boodle or trips to the forbidden portion of the city, located in the vicinity of Ninth street, and consequently Messrs. Bechel, Blumer, Bruner, Chaffee, Donnelly and Madsen absented themselves.

Soon after the calling of the roll, Mr. Morearty, the chairman of the committee on judiciary, reported that he had not completed the list of registrars, but was ready to submit a partial report. In addition to his regular report he stated that William Anderson and D. P. Angel had been named as proper persons to sit in the Eighth ward. He did not think so, and had substituted in their stead the numes of John H. Butler and James H. Barnes. The report was ado; ted, and the following places for registry were an-

Couldn't Avoid It.

Just then the ten members thought they were going to get away, but they were mis-taken, for the ghost of the furniture deal made its appearance, and it was a healthy and vigorous one. For more than an hour everybody had a merry time.

everybody had a merry time.

Mr. Osthoff brought on the trouble by asking for additional names. He stated that Tuesday night it had been charged that Messrs, Burdish, Conway and Morearty had been charged with having seen some of the good money that was brought to Omaha by the Ketcham Furniture company. Mr. Davis had named these three men and had given the information that other men had been caught in the same net. He demanded that Mr. Davis should furnish the names of the other councilmen. A motion to adjourn was lost during the storm of excitement.

Mr. Davis said that Mr. Specht had named the men, and if he, Specht, did not furnish them Saturday night they would be pro-

Mr. Specht assured Mr. Osthoff that he was not one of the accused.

This relieved the gentieman from the Fifth, but Mr. Conway did not feel as easy. He had a word to say and said it after this style: "Why did he pick out three Micks! If he has other men let him name them and not play the part of a d-d coward. to give Mr. Specht one thing to understand. Mr. Specht replied by saying that the meeting was called for the purpose of fixing the places of regist ation, but that Saturday night he would be on hand with the names and the proofs. Specht, do I understand that you refuse to give the names!" questioned Mr.

Lowry. "Saturday night you shall have them," quietly responded Mr. Specht. Morearty Against Specht.

Mr. Morearty then took a hand, and walking towards Mr. Specht said: "You are a coward. You do not have the courage to name the men. Only a dastardly coward would resort to such low, contemp

Hound to Have the Names. Mr. Cooper insisted that the names should be made public in order that the parties might know what they had to defend. He said that if Mr. Specht would not make the disclosures Mr. Davis should be compelled to do so, providing he knew who the alleged boodlers were.

Mr. McLearie tried to pour oil on the troubled waters by intimating that the meeting was not called for the purpose of a row. He thought that any member of the council who would arise in open session and cell another member a coward was a coward himself. He knew that Mr. Specht would name the men when the proper time came, and he did not believe any person could compel him to do so before. He also thought that the papers had said too much. Their reports had reflected upon the council to such an extent that it was a standing disgrace to belong to the bedy. He wanted to see the charges sifted and promired to help convict and punish each and every guilty man.

Mr. Lowry stated that as long as the names were kept from the public suspicion rested upon every member of the council.

Mr. Ostnoff had heard that Mr. Specht had given the names of the other accused to Mr. Davis, and if Mr. Specht would not furnish them to the council, he, Osthoff, would insist that Mr. Davis name the men. If they could be named it was a cowardly trick not to do so.

Davis Gave the Names.

"Why didn't you name them last night, Mr. Davis!" asked Mr. Morearty.
Mr. Davis explained that in the excitement he did not think of it. It was not because he wanted to shield any person.

"Ha!" responded Mr. Conway.
"If the gentleman impugns my statement I will want till Saturday night," replied Mr. Davis.
"Mr. Davis is a gentleman and no member questions any statement that he makes," in terrupted Mr. Osthoff.

"I know that I am a gentleman without being told of the fact," answered Mr. Davis, "and I want to tell the council that the great cry of boodle usually starts in the council It will continue as long as members other members, and the sooner you find this out the better !

It did not look as though the names would be forthcoming, so Mr. Cooper asked that the council vote upon whether they should be given up or withheld until Saturday night. A majority voted "ves-"

"Now let us have them," exclaimed Mr. Osthoff.

Again Mr. Specht refused. Mr. Davis was called. He arose and made the statement that Mr. Specht had told him that Messrs. Bruner and Blumer were in the deal and had received money from the Ketcham Furniture company. It was also understood that Mr. Olsen had received a share of the swag.

This satisfied everybody and a motion to adjourn carried without a dissenting vote. AMMONIA IN BAKING POWDER. Discussion Before the American Chemical Society.

[Chicago Tribune.] To the Editor of The Tribune-Sir: I have ust seen the report in your issue of Sept. 3 if the discussion at the Washington meeting of the American Chemical Society, Aug. 18 relative to the use of carbonate of ammonia in baking powders.

This report is incomplete and incorrect in many particulars, and as the paper which precipitated the discussion was read by me and was based upon my own experiments, I de-sire to make certain corrections in the interest of the truth and for the benefit of the large number of your readers to whom the question is one of great moment.

The paper as read before the society re-lated that ammonia in baking powder is re-tained in the bread by reason of its affinity to the gluten. The consensus of opinion as expressed during the discussion was against the use of carbonate of ammonia in baking powder with the only exception of Dr. Mc-Murtrie, who is now an employe of a baking powder company which uses carbonate of ammonia in its baking powder. Of the other parties mentioned as having taken part in the discussion were Prof. Dr. Barker of the University of Pennsylvania, who is the president of the society and one of our highest authorities. In answer to a pleading by Prof. McMurtrie that only small powders, he stated: "No matter how small the quantity, I must decline to be dosed medcally without my consent when taking my Platte Army Posts. Hon. Redfield E. Proctor, secretary of war, arrived in Omaha at 1 o'clock ves terday afternoon in a special train consisting of a Pullman and General Manager Burt's private car. He was accompanied by Governor Page of Vermont and his son, Senator Manderson, Hon. G. W. E. Dorsey, General Bacheldor, quarter master general of the army; General Brooke, Colonel Hughes, Major Schwan, Lieutenant Roe, Lieutenant Howard, F. W. Wessels, Mr. Hannen and Mr. Partridge.

The party was met at the Webster street depot by Mr. J. N. H. Patrick and Mr. Robert Patrick, and escorted at once to Mr. Patrick's carriage which was in waiting. They were driven rapidly to the beautiful Patrick residence in Happy Hollow, where a number of prominent citizens had gathered to accord the distinguished visitors a hearty reception. Dinner was served immediately after the arrival of the party and then the guests were taken for a drive to the principal points of interest about the city.

The secretary and his party will leave on the regular train of the Milwausee at 6:20 this evening for the east and will go at once to Washington, having completed a partial tour of the military posts in the department of the Piatte. They visited Forts Robinson and Niobrara before starting for Omaha, being secon panied there by General Brooke and staff.

Gigantic Shaft to Be Reared to the Memory of Columbus-Description of the Proposed Work.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE BEE, CHICAGO, III., Sept. 23.

It appears there has been a misund erstanding in certain quarters regarding the invitations to various organizations to take part in the ceremonies attendant upon the unveiling of the Grant monument in this city October 7. To avoid such misunderstandings the trustees have sent out a general invita-tion to all grand army posts of the country to be present and take part in the exercises. In addition to this the trustees invite all socie-ties of veterans and Sons of Veterans and all uniformed military and civic societies throughout the United States to be present

On the southeast corner of Washington and State streets will be reared the grand monument to the memory of Columbus. It will be no towering shaft of granite or gigan tic statue of the great discoverer. It will be an immense business and office building, sixteen stories high, with 100 feet frontage on State and 90 on Washington street, and will cost $1,000,000. It will be built in the Spanish style of architecture and will be called "The Columbus." Over the entrance will be placed a statue of Columbus in bronze nine feet in height. It will represent the discoverer in the act of taking possession of the new world. Above the eleventh and sixteenth stories will be cornices which will be decorated with Spanish medallions and coats-of-arms. On two sides of the main entrance will be placed two memorial tablets trance will be placed two memorial tablets in bronze. ODDS AND ENDS. To hear 1,000,000 voices sing the opening chorus when the world's fair buildings are dedicated is a novel proposition advanced by Horace Dumars of New York City. The nearest that the roads ever came to restrict ing the issue of free transportation was the agreement for 1891, which was broken by half the roads before it had been in force for a week. After this it lapsed into a state of complete syncope. It is yet too early to say what will be agreed to for 1892, but it is safe to say that everybody who is entitled to passes, and many who have no claim what-ever, will find no difficulty in procuring

Es Eighty-page Illustrated Prospectus of Tallapoosa, Stock Prospect-

What Present Stockholders Say: TALLAPOOSA, Ga., Aug. 22, 1891. We, the undersigned, stockholders of the Georgia-Alabama Investment and Development Company, being in the City of Tallapoosa for the purpose of investigating the properties of the Company, and the accuracy of the statements made regarding their value and earning capacity, and the location, advantages and development of the city, hereby testify: First, That we find each and every statement made by the Company in their printed matter regarding the City of Tallapoosa, the manufacturing industries, building developments under way, and property and prospects of the Company much within the facts as now existing. Second, That we find the actual situation at Tallapsosa is much understated, rather than overstated by the Company, in every particular, all representations made being fully verified by investigation on the ground, and many advantages of great import nee zot being mentioned either in their prospectus or other printed matter; in fact, we find the situation at Tallapoosa in every respect much more promising and far better than we had reason to expect from the statements made by the Company in their various publications.
