When congress passed the act of October 1 1890, providing for such examinations, it went into effect immediately and in order to adjust the scheme to men who had made no preparation for the examinations, the reuirements were somewhat limited. The act has now been in operation one year and it is deemed proper to make the examination searching and to establish a much higher order of requirements as a condition of pro-motion. To that end the new rules have been prescribed, but in order that injustice shall not be done, and that all officers shall be afforded ample time to prepare themselves for the ordeal, the rules will not be applied Archbishop Casanova Orders His Clergy Not to Interfere With the Elections-Feeling Against the United States.

[Copyright 1891 by James Gordon Bennett.] Valparaiso, Chili (via Galveston, Tex.,) Oct. 4,- By Mexican cable to the Herald-Special to THE BEE |- Archbishop Casanova issued orders to his clergy not to interfere in any way with the elections this month, which are to decide who shall succeed Balmaceda as president of Chill. The archbishop is a man of broad mind and liberal spirit. He has great faith in the new provisional government, believing that under it republican institutions are secured and that it will give the country full electoral liberty-one of the main objects the junta had in view when it started out to overthrow Balmaceda. His orders are hailed with enthusiasm here.

The arch-bishop is a great admirer of the Herald. Some years since while on a tour of the United States he visited the Herald office in New York, an event he recalls with pleasure.

All through the unhappy war in Chili he acted the role of a true patriot. He did everything in his power to establish peace. As election day draws nigh rumors about the candidates for this high office increase in number. Among those who have been very prominently mentioned is Senor Irarasavel I am given to understand nowever that the majority of the leaders are in favor of tendering the honor to Admiral Jorge Montt who, with Waldo Silon and Ramon Barros Lusce, form the now widely celebrated junta de gobierno. In fact it is reported that he has already been urged to allow his name to be used as a candidate.

I am not able to learn that he had acceded to the request. Certainly his nomination would be the very best thing for Chili. The victorious party is composed of a number of political factions which, while differing widely on many subjects, were united by a common firm determination to drive Balmaceda from power. No one could be selected who could satisfy all these factions as Admiral Montt would.

Word has reached here of the arrival of the flag ship San Francisco at Payta, Peru, of her orders from the American government to return to Valparaiso and of her putting into Callao while en route to this city. The news has not been received pleasantly here. The Chitians regard her return with undisguised disfavor.

SWEET JOYS OF MOTHERHOOD

Mrs. Cleveland's Baby is One of the Dearest of Little Tootsie Wootsies.

AN ELF OF LOVELINESS FROM ELFENLAND

With Brown Hair and Hazel Eyes, from Out of the Everywhere Into Here She Came, Brightening the Cleveland Home.

New York, Oct. 4.-The handsome four storied and gabled house, which is the home of Grover Cleveland, was stared at by many curious eyes today. The soft Indian summer air with its soft autumn haze brought thousands to Central park, which is only one block from Cleveland's home. Hundreds sauntered from the park through Sixty-sixth street, to view the house where General Grant was so long sick before going to the mountains, and where his widow lives. Turning into Madison avenue the sight-seers strolled up the ayenue to look at the house where, according to the mornhouse across the street, all ing papers, a new born baby was. Opposite the afternoon was loitering crowds of curious people, who stopped in little knots and groups to look at the house whose open windows let in the soft air which gently lifted the curtains behind the window. There were many messages of congratulation during the day, but the doctor and the messenger boys chiefly made up the callers. Word came out from the quiet house that the little one and her mother were in a satisfactory condition. The little one's grandmother, Mrs. Cleveland's mother, left the house for a brief airing during the afternoon. The most definite description of the child is to the effect that the baby has light hazel eyes, and that there are indica-tions that she will be a brunette. There is no doubt whatever that she will have a dimple. If all the statements of those who have seen her are to be believed, because they all agree on that point. They also agree that she will be a beauty—not as great a beauty as her mother possibly, but still a beauty. The baby's outfit of wearing apparel is said to be a dream of tasteful elegance and millinery skill. She will have no use for these pretty things of silk and satin and velvet for some time to come, but when she does make her appearance in public she is likely to take the shine off of some of the "babies on the block." Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland went to Buzzard's Bay early in the summer. They were full of hopes then. Gray Gables, their country home, is a lovely place. The house stands upon a wall with the water on three sides of it. The nearest house is a mile away. They spent a very quiet summer. E. C. Benedict, the Wall street banker, had his olg steam yacht, the Oneida, anchored near the house the greater part of the time. Every little while the Clevelands would go with Mr. Benedict on a short cruise. Nearly every day they would see the Jeffersons who lived the miles are the contraction. two miles away, or the Gilders who live i Marion. Early in the summer Mrs. Cleveland would drive to Marion. The queer little town is eight miles from Gray Gables and the road is a beautiful one. They were very fond of Mrs. Cleveland in old fashioned Marion. But in July the drives to Marion became less frequent. By the 1st of August they had ceased altogether. Then Mrs. Cleveland rarely left the grounds about Gray Gables. When Mr. Cleveland was away she would lie in the hammock on the broad eastern

Mrs. Cleveland could only sit on the veranda for a few hours each day. Then Mr. Cleveland sent for the family doctor to e to Buzzard's Bay

When Dr. Joseph D. Bryant arrived in Buzzard's bay he directed that Mrs. Cleveland return to New York.

So Mrs. Cleveland's little blonde-mus tached butler was sent to New York to get the beautiful home at 816 Madison avenuready for the home coming. It was though wiser to make the journey in Mr. Benedict's A week ago last Monday the Oneida left her anchorage in front of Gray Gables. She steamed along very carefully, and it was about noon the next day when she auchored in the East river off Twenty-sixth street. Mrs. Cleveland was placed in the Naptha launch and taken ashore. A close carriage was awaiting. The coachman picked his way along the crowded streets. No one had ever seen Mr. Cleveland so nervous as he was that day.

The city home of the Clevelands is at 816 Madison avenue. The exterior is a mingling of Moorish and English designs. It is of pressed yellow brick, with broad stone trim mings. It has four stories and a basement Mrs. Cleveland designed all the furnishings The floors are of hardwood, upon which lie rich rugs. The furniture in the halis is Moorish and in the library Spanish. The drawing room is finished in the rich, graceful French style. The house abounds in odd and charming little corners, which Mr. Cleveland calls snuggeries.

The lower floor is devoted to a reception room and the duning room. On the second foor are the drawing rooms, the library and the sitting and living room. The library is in the rear. The windows look out upon Central park. The chambers are on the third floor. Mrs. Cleveland's bouldoir fronts upon

Madison avenue. The home-coming was unheralded. There was no one in front of the house to see them. As the carriage drove up the butler opened the door. Mr. Cleveland gave his wife his arm. They walked slowly into the house. The doctor said it was not wise to let people the doctor said it was not wise to be people know of their return, and so the curtains in the lower part of the house have all been kept closely drawn. Mrs. Cleveland was in sectusion. The crowd that passed that quiet house never dreamed of the auxiety which urked benind the heavy curtains that guarded the windows. Then were preparations, all those delicate and exact little arrangements to be made which make women whisper together when they are alone. But the big mansion pre-served a sphynx like silence about these things. During the past two days those who noticed closely saw that when the wind blew aside the curtains which hang in the two broad windows on the second floor, now and then, they could catch sight of the square shoulders of Mr. Cleveland. During the greater part of Thursday and Saturday he eries a Serious Thing. Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.- No official information has been received here regarding the sezure of the Captain McLeau and his crew for seal poaching in Russian waters, When the facts are laid before the State department whatever steps are necessary will be taken to see that their rights as American citizens are recognized, but the reports indicate that there is not much which can be done for them. The United States is pretty severe on ponchers in its waters and it recognizes fully the right of the Russians to protect their rookeries.

A telegram was received at the Treasury tepartment today from Captain Hooper, commanding the revinne steamer Corwin, an-nouncing the arrival of the vessel at Sitka September 15, and that she would sail for San Francisco by inland route via Scattle about the 4th of October. He reported the seizure of the steamer Hattle Gage at San Point September 10, and that he had ordered her to Sitka, where she is now due. He said also that the two seizures previously made by the Corwin were set for trial at Juneau October 1. An account of the cruise of the Corwin has been forwarded by mail.

Captain Shepard, chief of the revenue marine division, Treasury department, has received a letter from an officer of the revenue steamer Rush, dated Unaiaska, Alaska, September 5, saying: "The Behring sea season is drawing to a close. Few sealing vessels are seen now, a stray one being boarded occasionally. The latest seizure was made by the Mohican. The British schooner Otto was boarded after having been in the sea nine days. She was fitted out at Victoria and had several newspaper correspondents aboard. Her object was to enter Behring sea and hunt seals, endeavoring to keep ou of sight of government vessels. The Moh ican seized her on account of some error in her papers. The Otto left for Victoria October 4. This makes the fourth seizure this season. The Corwin seized two vessels and the Rush and Mohican one each. Most of the vessels of the scaling fleet have been boarded by the government ships, but about a dozen chooners have been able to evade them The Rush has been cruising actively and has boarded twenty vessels. The Corwin left this morning for Sitka, where her officers have been subponned as witnesses in the case of seizures made by them. The court convenes October 1. The Bear has not arrived from the north, but may be expected at any time. The Rush and the Bear will remain in these waters until December 1. The season has been exceptionally fine so far, but it is now time for the boisterous weather to set in, and we will probably catch our share of it. The naval vessels remain in the sea, with the exception of the Porpoise, which has returned to China. The Alert and the Thetis are running shor of provisions, and one of them may have to go south for supplies. The Marion is here awaiting the arrival of the coal ship from Department Bay, P. C., before proceeding to Yokohama. Some of the sealing schooners have done very well this season. One vessel has a total catch of 4,300 skins for the spring and summer work. Others have catches nearly as large. work. Others have catches nearly as large. The Bering sea vessels have catches ranging from a few hundred to 2,500 skins. The government vessels have kept a close watch upon the scalers and their movements, and have secured valuable information as to the season's catch. Each vessel has also kept a record of the number of seals seen in the se

PLEASANT PASTIME. Naval Cadets at Annapolis Haze Fel low Students.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 4.- The third class nen, naval cadets, had only arrived here on Thursday, October 1, the opening of the academy, when they began preparations to haze the fourth class men. Lieutenant M. Fullman, the officer of the day, walked into their room in the midshipmen's old quarters, and stopped the fun before it had begun. He said to the class: "Young gentlemen, you had better stop. There are eyes upon you when you are least thinking of it."

On Friday, however, directly after the first drill of the year, Naval Cadets Claud Willis Griffith of Maryland, Arthur Glynn Kavanaugh of Nebraska and Leland Frier son James of South Carolina, third class men, proceeded to the quarters of Navai Cadets H. V. Butler, jr., and W. Gherardi, son of Commodore Gherardi, to have a little fun. They got it. They had made Cadel Butler lie down upon a mattress, another mattress was placed on top of him, and the two mattresses were lashed together, leaving Butler's head stiching out like the head of a turtle from the shell. A sheet was then thrown over the head. Cadet Gherardi was about to be served the same way, when Lieutenant Alexander Sharp, jr., entered in uniform with a sword. Cadet Griffith fainted, but was sood restored to conscious ness. The result was that Naval Caget Griffith was placed under arrest and confined to quarters, and Naval Cadets Kavanaugh and James were placed under arrest, but not confined to quarters. A court martial has been ordered in the cases of Cadets Griffith and Kavanaugh. Cadet James got off with from Hawaii to the 26th. The Overland China Mail of September 3 says editorially: "It seems in every likellhood that compensation will soon be paid by China for the damages during the recent riots. The French claims at Wuhu are already settled and others will be amicably adjusted soon. Treaty powers, however, find it more difficult to persuade China to open Hunan at the time when so many nations are following the example of the United States in their treatment of China, China is too weak to protest effectively against pad treatment of her sub jects, but the conduct of the Americans, who have shown hopeless incapacity in dealing with the Chinese, has not been observed with indifference. Only the other day La Hung Chang sanctioned the proposal of the Chinese consulate at San Francisco to trans-fer all the Chinese coolies in America to the gold mines in the Amur district. While the government at Pekin seems to realize the danger of mon rule, the tendency is being manifested for military governors of prov-inces. Mahchus seems to be afraid of an outbreak. The probability is that the present crisis will pass over. There is not yet suffi-cient combustibles for a big explosion, but an explosion seems inevitable." The China News says: "During the last few years all the ministers of the powers at Pekin had put up with insults and humiliations. If there is war, and there will be unhonestly, these anti-missionary riots will be merely an exciting cause; real causes have been accomulating for years. The chief offender is the province of Hunan. From it emanates all the lying pamphlets and placards that stir up the people.

"There was a very large fire at Chung King August 8. When the fire engines were brought out only two of thirteen were found to be in condition for use. It was soon dis-covered that the taotai of the city had dis-missed the fire crows and embezzled the money provided for their maintenance. A mob of 10,000 attacked his dwelling two days later and it was only with the greatest diffi-culty he escaped being torn to pieces. This outbreak gave rise at Shanghai to the outbreak gave rise at Shanghai to the rumors of another anti-missionary riot,"
