G. H. FITCH. J. R. HANSEN, W. B. ADAMS, JOHN BOCKINSON, D. B. HOUCK. The republican county convention for Douglas county assembled yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in Washington hall. It was called to order by M. P. O'Brien, chairman of the republican county central W. F. Bechel nominated D. H. Wheeler for temporary chairman, John W. Nichols nominated James W. Carr for the same position. The latter was successful by a vote of 96 to 61. Arthur Briggs and M. F. Singleton were elected secretaries.

The secretary announced that there were no contests. The committee on credentials was dispensed with

On motion of David Mercer the temporary organization was made permanent. It was then decided to proceed with the nomination of officers, the first on the list being the clerk of the district court.

On motion of George M. O'Brien it was decided that the national rule should govern in the taking of ballots, namely, that no changes of votes would be allowed and that when no selection was made a new ballot should be ordered.

On motion of Thomas Swobe it was ordered that the delegates present from precincts not fully represented should be allowed to cast the full vote of the delegation.

For Clerk of the Courts. W. F. Bechel then rose and said he desired to place in comination for the position of dis-trict court clerk a man who needed no ful-some flattery. His record spoke for itself. His republicanism spoke for itself. He was a man who had made a competent and accommodating clerk and he took pleasure in naming Frank E. Moores. The mention of Mr. Moores' unine was re-

David Mercer then arose and said that he felt and every republican felt that the ticket which that convention would nominate would fill the offices for which they would be nominated this fail. The convention, however, should exercise care in its deliberation, not only with regard to the first office, but even the justices of the peace and the constables. The Seventh ward had desired him to present the name of a young man who had been in the state of Nebraska for many years, and they would agree with him that he was competent to fill any position in which he might be placed. He referred, he said, to the assistant clerk of the United States district court, Albyn Frank. This

C. Aikin. Thomas Swobe also seconded the nomina-tion of Frank E. Moores. A ballot was started and every vote for Moores brought a yell from all parts of the hall. It was evi-dent from the start that he was well groomed for the nomination and before the result of the vote had been announced there was a cry in many directions to make the nomination by acclamation.

The chair refused to entertain the motion until the vote had been announced which was 120 for Moores and 35 for Frank. Moores was declared the nominee.

Mr. Moores' Acknowledgment.

This announcement increased the enthusiasm of the convention and loud demands were made for Moores to appear. When, at length, the big district clerk struggled through the crowd and leaned his back against the front of the stage, the crowd went wild with enthusiasm "Get on a chair," shouted a number of

Their example was emulated by the convention and one of the stanzas was sung with great enthusiasm. When the song had ceased Mr. Moore said:

There's a Hole in the Bottom of the Sea. But I can say that I'm not in that hole. [Laughter] Ever since I have been in politics. I have been a republican. I've tried to do my best to aid in the success of the remblican party. When I sought to be renominated according to a custom when an officer does his duty in a half decent manner. I should feel very sore if you did not give it. You have given it to me and I now assure you that you will never regret it. We must take advantage of the nistakes the opposition has made, and we should make no mistakes ourselves. I can't take and I assure you that I am thankful for this nomination.

For Coanty Judge.

For County Judge.

Fred McConnell then mounted a chair and said that in behalf of the Fourth ward he desired to place in nomination for county judge a young republican who had been for years devoted to his party, who was a bright lawyer, a good citizen, and who, he was sure, would make a conscientious and intelligent judge. In behalf of the Fourth ward he would place in nonversion Meaning II. would place in nomination Moses P. O'Brien.

[Cheers.]
R. C. Patterson nominated F. L. McCoy, a young man who had been in the city several years, who had a clean republican record, without a stain upon his character, and who, in the speaker's opinion, could polithe strongest vote of any young man. He was at present attorney of the school board and was giving satisfaction.

Thomas Swobe nominated Judge Berka.
C. W. Miller nominated A. A. McClenahan.

David Mercer nominated J. W. Eiler.

The first ballot resuited as follows: Total number of votes cast, 155; necessary to a choice, 78; O'Brien 43, McCoy 2, Berka 31, Eller 69, McCleualian 10.

In the second ballot only 154 votes were polled: Berka 22, O'Brien 49, Eller 84. The last mentioned was declared the nominee.

Mr. Eller was called for and said that he did not suppose it was a time to make a Mr. Eller was called for and said that he did not suppose it was a time to make a speech. It was something new for him to be a candidate for office. He had been in the city several years, and had always been a republican. Nobody had ever heard him kicking against a republican ticket. He had always labored for the election of the republican ticket. He thanked them for the nomination from the bottom of his heart because his candidacy had been a his heart, because his candidacy had been a very short one. Van Alstyne's name was withdrawn by D. f. Wheeler.
The second ballot nominated Sackett, as Total vote 155; necessary to a choice 78; Sackett SS, Gridley 54, Allen 13, On motion of Fred McConneil Sackett's nomination was made unanimous.

John Jenkins was called temporarily to the chair. Mr. Sackett was called, thanked the convention for the honor it had conferred on him, and pledged to discharge the duties of his office in a capable and honest manner. D. H. Wheeler moved to pass the nomina-tion for treasurer and proceed with that of sheriff. The motion was voted down.

Henry Bolln was put in nomination for county treasurer. W. F. Bechel said while it would afford him pleasure to support Mr. Bolln, he desired to state that the gentleman had told him that he would not run.

A Van Dorn said that Mr. Heimrod would secept of the nomination if it were tendered o him with unanimity "His partner, Hausen, is nere," said a oice, "let us ask him."

Mr. Hansen said that Mr. Heimrod would ot accept the nomination.
H. B. Irey was then nominated by accidnation. He came before the convention and said that he was not expected to make a speech and also that he had a bad cold. If elected, as he hoped he would be, he would discharge the duties of the office with fidelity and honesty.

As a candidate for sheriff Coionel Savage of South Omaha was nominated by Thomas Swobe as the only man who could could carry that town against Jonn Boyd. George Bennett was then nominated and was warmly eulogized by a colored delegate. There were 155 votes cast, Savage received

66 and Bennett 89. The last mentioned was called on to make a speech and when he made his appearance was greeted with cheers. He said that it was his first attempt at public office and that he heartly thanked them for the honor they had conferred on him. Colonel Savage was called for and made his way through the crowd smiling. He "I can assure you that a happier man can-"I can assure you that a happer man can-not be found in this convention than I am over the nomination of George II. Central Committee Meets. The first meeting of the new county central committee was held last night at the Millard hotel. There were about forty members in attendance. John Jenkins was elected secretary of the committee. elected secretary of the committee.

The meeting discussed in an informal manner the Australian ballot system, the necessity of learning how to vote under it, and the best means of educating the people to comply with its requirements. A number of gentlemen defailed the result of the reading of the law, and pointed out several ways in which the effect of the statute could be destroyed. be destroyed.
One speaker advocated the necessity employing instructors who could speak the various foreign languages of which repre-sentatives are to be found in settlements throughout the county. He also suggested that the papers ought to publish a sample ballot and explain how it had to be voted. A gentleman from South Omaha said that in certain registration boards where the majority was democratic, a trick was to be re-sorted to throw the voter off his guard, namely, by telling him that it was not neces-sary for him to register, with the hope that when election day arrived, he would not be able to vote because of his failure to comply with the law regarding registration. An other trice, which was illegal, however was for at least two of the registrars to absent themselves from the place of registration when a republican appeared who desired to register. The registrar who might be present could not place the name upon the lists. If he did it would be illegal. The scheme then would be on the day of election to protest against the vote in question because of the illegal registration.

Chairman Mercer said that if any case of the kind could be discovered the violators would be prosecuted. He would send to the secretary of state for 300 copies of the pamphiet printed by the secretary of state, containing not only the Australian ballot law but the registration law which is still in law, but the registration law which is still in The chair also told how the Australian ballot was introduced into O'Neill in this state. how it should be voted and how it operated in the case of a man who was unable to read

r write, and who was also deaf. It was also urged that the registrars should be men of intelligence and information. The city in many places contained graders living in tents, who were not citizens, and who were voted at elections by democrats and at republican and democratic primaries to the detriment of the republican party. These men should be watened. They were not citizens and could not vote because the law said that nobody could vote who did not live in a house. He also suggested that where any of these tenters registered, their vote should be protested against and challenged on election day.

Judge Post, candidate for associate justice of the supreme court, made a short speed suggesting that the campaign should not b one of personality, and the republicans would be successful because half of the democratic party would vote for the republican ticket. The committee adjourned to meet at the same place next Tuesday night,
