Fire Consumes a Block of Vinton Street Property in Short Order.

MR. ANDREW ROSEWATER A HEAVY LOSER.

Washington Hotel, a Residence Flat and a Paint Shop Destroyed-Mr. Conrad Badly Burned -The Insurance

A very disastrous fire occurred at an early hour yesterday morning at the corner of Sixteenth and Vinton, wiping out $13,000 worth of property in a very short space of time,

The fire originated in the two story frame structure known as the Washington hotel, and occupied by Nicolaus Conrad. The alarm of fire was turned in at 3:24 o'clock, and the department responded promptly, but it was a long run for the uptown apparatus, and be-fore any of the hose companies reached the spot the Conrad property was completely destroyed and the adjoining property was burning fiercely.

A fire company which was stationed at the new engine house at Twentieth and Vinton new engine house at Twentieth and Vinton streets, only four blocks away, was early on the ground, its apparatus was the hook and ladder truck until recently stationed at Twenty-fourth and Cuming, it was sadly handicapped and could do little but await the arrival of a hose cart.
Next to the Conrad building was a small structure owned by Fred Lehman and occupied by him as a paper and paint store. It pied by him as a paper and paint store. It was completely consumed. The stock was valued at $500 and the building at $500. Mr. Lehman had been located there but a short time, having moved there when burned out a few months ago at his uptown location.

The brick building on the corner owned by Andrew Rosewater withstood the flames, save for the porches and window frames which were burned, but the fire jumped across behind it and began eating its way along the row of one and two story buildings and flats on Sixteenth street, also owned by Mr. Rosewater. Those at 1865-67-69-71 and 73 Sixteenth street were and 73 Sizest totally destroyed, families living up-stairs in the flats lost more or less of their furniture.

Mr. Conrad's loss will amount to $1,500, that of Mr. Lehman nearly as much, while Mr. Rosewater's loss will approximate $10,-000. The frame buildings were insured for $7,000 and the brick for $8,000. The companies carrying insurance on the property was badly burned and his stock much damaged by water.

Mr. Conrad was very badly burned about the face and arms. He kept a cow in a little shed adjoining the rear of his building, and forgot all about the animal until the stable was in a blaze. He rushed inside to get her out, and before he regained the open air the roof fell in, knocking him down. Fortunately he had wrapped the balter rope around his hand, and as the frightened brute dashed out of the place she dragged him behind her to a place of safety.

The hook and ladder truck at the Vinton street house had only been placed there tem-porarily and will remain only until the hose wagon now being built is ready for service. Complaint is made of the location of the hree keys to the fire alarm box and the delay that ensued before an alarm could be turned in. It is claimed that one key was locked up in the old street car barn, and there was no one there, not even a horse. Another was in a furniture repair shop, and no one sleeps there. The third was finally found in a neighboring grocery store after a lengthy search had resulted in the loss of several minutes of valuable time.

DESERVED OFFICIAL RECOGNITION.

The Government Examination of Baking Powders-Royal Officially

Reported Pure. The reports of the government analysts, as made public from time to time in the offi-cial reports, form useful subjects for study. A great deal of attention is devoted to the examination of baking powders and very properly so, for they are articles of general use, and many of them being so gressly adul-terated, all possible information should be given to enable consumers to distinguish between the good and the bad.

A large number of these articles have been analysed, the samples being collected from dealers in all sections. The impurities found were principally aim and lime, both un-wholesome. The alum is used in place of cream of tartar because of its low cost. The lime, both tartrate and sulphate being found, was present from the use of improperly re-tined cream of tartar.

The analysts found and reported the Royal Baking Powder to be pure, free from lime, alum and phosphatic acid, and of high leavening strength A complete analysis would undoubtedly have shown no baking powder, except the Royal, entirely free from some one of these objectionable ingredients. This, we presume, accounts for the lack of leavening power in the other powders, as some-times complained of by the cook, and for the bitter taste found in the biscuits so fre-quently complained of our by ourselves. The reasons for the chemical purity of the Royal Baking Powder were recently given in the New York Times, in an interesting de-scription of a new method for retining argols, or crude cream of tartar. It seems that it is only under this process that cream of tartar can be freed from the lime natural to it and rendered chemically pure; that the patents and plant for this cost the Royal Baking Powder company about half a million dollars, and that they maintain exclusive control of the rights, This official recognition of the purity and value of the Royal Baking Powder by the government will add to the already wide popularity of that article, and deservedly so. HAD MANY DEFENDERS.

A Leon, Iowa, Democrat Recalls the Suit Against Judge Post.

Hon. E. W. Curry of Leon, Ia., is one of the representatives of Iowa at the transmississippi congress now in session in this city. Mr. Curry's presence in Omana at the present time enables him to make a state-ment in a matter that has occasioned more or less talk for the past two days—the attack made on the private character of Judge Post. Mr. Curry talked shoul it very freely and ex-

Mr. Curry talked about it very freely and expressed himself with much carnestness.

"The matter has not been referred to in Leon for years," he said, "and the first intimation I had that the story had been resurrected was when I picked up a paper in Council Bluffs on my way here. It was a most outrageous assault and I regret exceedingly that it occurred, especially as the victim is a man of the character and reputation of Judge Post, for whom I have always entertained the highest respect and esteem.

I am a democrat and was appointed as such by Governor Boies as a delegate to this con-gress, while Judge Post is a republican, but that does not prevent me from sympathiz-ing with him for the injustice that this scurrious assault has done him."
"Who defended him as to the criminal charge made against him?"

"Everybody. An attorney named Penney, who was the woman's brother-in-law, and who was the woman's proteer-in-law, and another man named Bulloca, together with Colonel D. B. Dailey, who was the district attorney, represented the prosecution, while the entire bar of Decatur county flocked to the support of judge, or as he was then, Mr. Post. He was a very roomly man, and was generally recarded as popular man, and was generally regarded as a brilliant and very promising young lawyer. That this opinion which was then enter-tained by the citizens of Leon was a correct one was attested by the fact that he reached almost at a single bound a place at the very top of his profession and has maintained it through so many succeeding years. The case against him was laid before the grand tury, and that body refused to return any indictment against him. I will also state that neither any previous nor any subsequent grand jury ever indicted him.

"The cavil case was taken to Clark county on a change of venue, and before it was called for trial it was dismissed at plaintiff's

Mr. Post was not driven out of Leon by the stress of public sentiment, but on the contrary he remained there a prominent and respected citizen until he was given a consutar appointment."

ALONZO HILTON DAVIS. He Lived Daily a Better Poem Than

He Ever Wrote. The funeral of Alonzo Hilton Davis, the well known poet, who died Saturday, took place at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the Seward Street Methodist church, interment at Forest Lawn, Rev. H. A. Crane officiated, assisted by Revs, Charles Savidge and George H. Brown,

Mr. Davis was born in 1859 in Mattoon, a leturesque little town in Effingham county, linois. He attended the public schools in his native town, afterwards pursuing a classical course at Westfield college. That he was a popular alumnus at his alma mater is attested by the fact that he was annually invited to attend the closing exercises and con-tribute an original reminiscent poem.

After his graduation he taught school for several years. While still engaged as a teacher, he married one of Scotia's fair daughters and went to reside at Charleston, Ill. in 1886 he removed to Omaha.

He successfully engaged in the clothing business in purtnership with his brother.

Of late years he has been engaged in the hat

Mr. Davis, always of a delicate constitution, contracted consumption about three years ago. He sought the mild, balmy limate of Florida and the south, and re-urged home after a six months' sojourn much improved. The disease again began to nake rapid inroads, and he sought to stay ts ravages in southern travet. He was stricken down with hemorrhages finally about three weeks ago. Mr. Davis had a national reputation as a poet, and some of his verses are destined to find a place in our literature. He began to write verses when quite a

Five years ago, he began the study of Scotia's dulcet dialect, and within that period he gave to literature at least two poems that deserve to be ranged not far below those of the immortal Burns, and which have been copied in the leading Engish journals of the world. They are beauti ul bits of description and pathos. The 'New Scotch Hame' and "An address to a lolet plucked from 'Bobble's' cot."

This is not the time nor place to enter into an analysis of his poetry, suffice it to say, that he sang songs that reach the heart, veritable lyrical gems, true in tone as they are elevating in sentiment. His home life was idvilic to a degree that one could hardly credit as possible in this work-a-day world. He lived daily a better poem than he ever wrote. Indeed those who knew him most intimately felt that he was too finely fibered for the "sturm and drang"

Mr. Davis was a prominent member of the Seward Street Methodist Episcopal church and for several years superintendent of the Sunday school. He leaves a wife, a sister of Prof. Swing, the famous Chicago divine, and one child.

Shortly before he died, he gave a friend the rough draft of a poem entitled "He is Not Dead," from which one stanza is culled the truth of which he has realized ere this: "He is not dead, the angels whispered bend

In 1880 Sidney E. Locke, who then owned the franchise, transferred it to the City Water Works company and its assigns, and in due course of time this company transferred to the American Water Works com pany, with headquarters in Chicago.

Afterwards the company branched out and located a plant in Denver. Soon after its completion, both it and the Omaha plant were consolidated for corporation purposes and the stock was sold to the American Water Works company of New Jersey.

Shortly after that President Underwood resigned and since then First Vice President Venner has been acting president, and will probably serve in that capacity until the ar nual meeting of directors which will be held next January. Manager Hall of the Omaha plant stated that the transfer of stock from one company to another meant nothing more than carrying out the terms of the sale some time ago, and that the projosition to ask the city council to countenance the transfer was only a matter of form, that the company might properly go

All former contemplated plans would be carried out and no change, in his opinion, would occur in the Omaha department of the company.

Mayor C ushing in speaking of the transfer of the charter and franchise of the water-works company, stated that he did not see how it could affect the city's rights. The original charter was granted to Sidney E. Locke or his assigns and as long as the Locke or his assigns, and as long as the assignee complied with the conditions of the original charter granted by the city, the ouncil could ask nothing more. He had heard of the proposed transfer and regarded it simply as a business proposition. Of course he would carefully examine all papers connected with the transfer when they were presented to him for approval, as he wanted o be sure that the rights of the city were

Mayor Cushing's Little Veto Applied with Great Vigor to the Ordinance.

COUNCIL CANNOT DEAL IN FUTURES.

Bills Must Not Be Contracted for the Next Conneil to Pay-Action of the Body Last Night,

The city council met in regular session last night, and as none of the thirteen members present were in a mood to induige in flights of oratory the session was of short duration and all of the business was transacted within two hours from the start,

Mayor Cushing vetoed the ordinance locating additional water hydrants. There were fifty-eight of them. He gave it as his opinion that the contract in force was entered into by the City Water Works company, while the American Water Works company was instructed to remove and locate the hydrants. As another reason stated that payment for regtal would have to be made out of next year's levy, He questioned the present council's right to meur such a debt for the next council to take care of. The veto was sustained by a vote of 8 to 5. The veto on the new ordinance relating to rules governing the office of the plumbing inspector was presented. The veto was based upon the fact that one rule provided that the water works company should pe allowed to assess a fine of $1 for turning off and on water in any building. It provided also that the waterworks com-pany should be allowed to assess a tax of $4 against any party was turned on or off the water in his premises without the consent of the company. He thought that the passing of such an ordinance was placing a weapon in the hands of the company for the purposof fighting the city. The veto was sustained

TALMAGIAN TALK.

An Interesting Interview by "Carp" for the Sunday Bee. That prince of correspondents, Frank G.

Carpenter, has interviewed Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, and the results of their meeting are embodied in an article which will appear in THE SUNDAY BEE. It is a popular thing in some quarters to sneer at Dr. Talmage. but, measured by his capacity for work and the enormous sums of money he receives from the American public, he is a remarkable man whose life, habits and personality have an intense interest for millions,

The distinguished theologue gave full and frank answers to the interviewer's questions, and Mr. Carpenter has been enabled to pre-sent an exceedingly remarkable fund of Tal-magiana. The letter opens with a graphic magiana. The letter opens with a graphic description by the correspondent of the eminent preacher's home and study, of his method of using books and the rare curies which adorn his parlors. Dr. Talmage is then quoted upon the several subjects that were discussed. He first gives some of his observations in the Holy Land, and states his reasons for thinking the prosperous Jews of America and Europe should not go back to ralestine. He explains how he identified Caivary, the place of Christ's crucifixion, and m passing denies the absurd story that he in passing denies the absurd story that he tried to buy it.
