TEAM OF NERVY EMBEZZLERS.

They Are Landed in Jail by the Police of Omaha.

ONE WENT THROUGH WITH $35,000.

The Other, an Old-Time Deputy Treasurer of Omaba, is Caught After Sixteen Years in Leavenworth, han.

Theodore Doerflinger is another man who is constitutionally unlitted by nature to handle other people's money, and that is why he is charged as a defaulter to the amount of $35, 000. He admits the truth of the charge and that he is a fugitive from justice as well, but cheerfully asserts that he is not wholly to blame for it, as the committee which was supposed to audit his accounts wofully neglected its duty and allowed him to steal without let or hindrance. Mr. Doerflinger is the absconding treasurer of the school board of Pittsburg, Pa., and he arrived in Omaha yesterday morning over the Rock Island from Chicago.

Rock Island from Chicago. He came in very unostentationaly and his coming was unannounced except by a couple of telegrams to the chief of police to arrest him on the charge of embezziement and wire the Chicago and Pittsburg authorities. Chief Detective Haze met the train at the other other other sides of the train at the stars of the sides of the train at the sides of the sides of the side of the was fones, but soon numerical that the onless was right and that he was the Pitsburg de-faulter. At the station he talked very freely to a representative of The Bes, and admitted that there was a shortage of about $35,000 in his accounts.

Deerflinger is 37 years of are, and for the past fourteen years has been a member of the school board of his city, during the past seven of which he has been treasurer, his present term expiring next June.

He said that his stealings had extended over about the whole time that he had been treasurer, and that the auditing committee had never done anything more than to casually examine his accounts, while for the past three years they had not looked at them at all. He said he could not tell how the money had gone, but thought that he had been too accommo-dating and had let everyone have money who had asked for it.

Doerlinger is a druggist and is the president of a retail drug stock company that he organized some time ago. He is also engaged in manufacturing wagon springs. He said the drug business had always paid, and he had not lost the money in his business. He claims that he gambled but little, drank even less and was motion of the first of the second was not ward when a second was women. He thinks he can fix up the matter, as he says he has about $20,000 worth of property, and he professes to believe that his friends and bondsmen will make up the balance without causing him

His bondsmen are his mother and his brother-in-law, ex-Mayor McCallan of Pitts-burg. He says that it will leave his mother very little after settling the claim, but that his brother-in-law is quite weaithy. He says that he did not want to leave home, but that his attorneys and friends told him that they could not save him from the peattentiary and advised him to skip. This he did last Thursday afternoon, after first shav-ing off his moustache to disguise himself. He went to Cleveland, and from there to Alliance, from which place he drove out in the country fourteen miles and sent back a friend who had accompanied him to say that he did not want to go any further but wanted to return home. Word came back from his attorneys telling him that he could not return but on the contrary to get away from Pittsburg as far and as fast as the Ruler of the universe would let

He then went to Chicago, and after a half day's stop there left last evening for Omaha. He had but $80 in his pocket when he left home, and only $10 of that amount was left when he found himself in the clutches of the dedicatory exercises of the World's fair. The first 100 years after 1492 are given nine floats, which represent the life of Columbus, his struggle for recognition and his discoveries. The next nine floats, illustrating the second century, depict the early settlers-Dutch, Puritan and Quaker-and their struggle with the Indians, Float 20 begins the colonial and revolutionary period and ends with float 28, which is emblematic of the nation. Thirteen women are grouped to represent the thirteen original states, and the other states are gracefully arranged, each bearing a shield with the coat of arms and date of admission into the union. A Pure Baking Powder.

A Pure Baking Powder. A baking powder that can be depended upon to be free from lime and alum is a desideratum in these days of adulterated food. So far as can be judged from the offi-ciai reports, the "Royal" seems to be the only one yet found by chemical analysis to be catirely without one or the other of these substances and absolutely pure. This, it is shown, results from the exclusive use by its manufactures of cream of tartar specially re-fined and prepared by patent process which fined and prepared by patent process which totally remove the tartrate of lime and other impurities. The cost of this chemically pure cream of tartar is much greater than any other, and it is used in no baking powder ex-cept the "Royal," the manufacturers of which control the patents under which it is Dr. Edward G. Love, formerly analytical chemist for the United States government, who made the analysis for the New York Board of Health in their investigation of baking powders, and whose intimate know-edge of the ingredients of all those sold in this market enables him to speak authorita-tively, says of the purity, wholesomeness and superior quality of the "Royal:" • "I find the Royal Baking Powder composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a ream of tartar powder, and does not contain other alum or phosphates, or other injurious ubstance.

Prof. Love's Tests, and recent official tests by both the United States and Canadian governments, show the Royal Baking Powder to be superior to all others in strength and leavening power. It is not only the most economical in use, but makes the purest, finest flavored and most wholesome food.

A SAW MILL AND ABDUCTION

Form the Principal Subjects Con sidered by the District Jud es. Judge Doane has occupied room No. 1 the court house yesterday, where he has listen ed to the evidence in the case of Fhomas F. Hall against David Eccles.

Twice has this case been tried by a jury and this, the third time, it will be heard by the court. The trouble grows out of an Oregou lumber deal. Some years ago, Hall, who is an Omana capitalist, avers that for the sum of $9,562 he purchased from Eccles a one-third interest in a lumber camp at North Powder, Ore. The purchase carried the logs, woods, a sawmill, store, boarding house and any amount of other property. After the purchase Hall went to Oregon and de-manded possession of his property, but was refused, whereupon he brought suit.

Sam Monacus was arraigned before Judge Tryine and pleaded not guilty to the charge of abduction. His case was set for Thursday morning. The information in the case charges that on or about September 4, 1891. Monacus abducted and took to Chicago one Julia Lagomaricus, whom he there kept for immoral purposes.

in sacks and cutaways, in the very finest of fine Cassimeres, Worsteds, Homespuns, Tweeds, &c., at prices ranging from $12 to $18.

Bear in mind these facts: This is not a bankrupt stock in any sense of the word. The concern that made these goods didn't fail, didn't settle with their creditors; didn't beat anybody. They simply had their own private reasons for discontinuing business together, so they sold out. These goods are not a "job lot" in any way, shape nor manner. They are all the very cream of one of the finest stocks shown in New York this season. These goods are not old shop worn goods: they were made for this season's trade by a concern whose reputation for making nothing but fine goods was national, and whose customers were the biggest concerns in the United States, ours among the number. We cordially invite every man who can appreciate really fine clothing to pay us a visit during the next few days. From a financial standpoint the visit will prove interesting, as it represents a saving of from eight to twelve dollars on a suit of clothes. Do you patronize the custom Tailors? You don't need to.

CHICAGO, III., Oct. 27. Forty-one allegorical floats representing the progress of America will form a grand night display at Jackson park during the law on the west bank of the Missouri. Doerflinger was only required to give a $7,500 bond, although he had as high as $00,000 of the school district's money in hi hands at one time. He told of one trip that he made to Philadelphia to sell a lot of bonds for the erection of new buildings, and re turned home with over $80,000 in his pocket He will go back without a requisition and noxiously awaits the arrival of the officer who will escort him back to Pittsburg.

AN OLD-TIME EMBEZZLER.

A Former Deputy Treasurer of Omaha Brought Back from Leavenworth.

A chapter of ancient city history was recalled by the appearance on the register at the police staticn of the name of Nicholas M. Stabell, charged with embezzlement.

The case will be readily recalled by old residents whose memories extend back over a period of twenty years to the time when Ed. Johnston, now of South Omaha, was city treasurer of this municipality.

Stabell was his deputy, and the in formation against him alleges that he was appointed to that office July 1, 1872, and held it until January 1, 1875, during which time he collected $800,53 for the city and failing to turn it over, embezzled it and converted it to his own use.

The information further alloges that Stabell at once left the state and since that times has never returned, and as the shortage was not discovered until May, 1875, no opportunity was ever offered to apprehend iim and he had constantly remained a fugitive from justice. Mr. Johnston learned a few days ago that Stabell was in Leavenworth, and after fling the complaint started at ones to arrest him and oring him back. He returned yesterday with his prisoner, who is now confined in the city jull.
