HAS A MECHANICAL TYPESETTER. A Michigan Printer Claims Wonderful Results From a Machine of His Own Invention. Erie Beals of this city, says a Muskogean, Mich., correspondent, has invented a typesetting machine. He visited Chicago this week and found nothing there among the typesetting machines exhibited, similar to his own. He left today for Detroit, where some financial backing has been secured. The machine in operation will take the place of twenty men at the case. His invention consists of two separate machines. The first most corresponds to the typesetter's stand and is operated by a compositor who works from the copy, but this, instead of being printed as by a typesetter, is transferred to a strip of paper by perforations made by a machine. The strip of paper, the particular letter or character being determined by the distance of the perforation from a base line. This machine may be called the perforator and the copy being taken from the perforations, the strip of paper is taken to the second machine, which, working automatically by electricity, sets up the types, and as each line is composed, impressions are made on a matrix paper in a way that makes the various letters appear upon a much larger scale. Numerous perforations under the surface of the various letters, and the perforations are made by a machine which is operated by electricity. They are extendedly advertised in the newspapers and also by means of posters and handbills, and attract vast multitudes of people to the meetings.

LA LIQUORER'S NERVE. He Gained His Position by Actual Service in the West. A story very much out of the ordinary run of military affairs is connected with a general officer issued a few days ago by the war department, and will be of especial local interest because the principal interest party is soon to take up his residence here. A little more than four years ago, a handsome, fair-haired lad named Alexander Peter S. Marquart was the pride of the military drum corps at West Point academy. He did not drum at the time, however, as that is a peculiarity that the army's drummer boys have. They are called orderlies and much of their time is occupied in running and maintaining the band, and are generally useful to the officers and cadets. Young Marquart's father was first sergeant of Company E, corps of engineers, stationed at the academy, and Peter wanted to be a soldier too, but the performance of the orderly's functions that led to his being recruited into the band. He had a high opinion of himself, and was not a little proud of his position. He was a soldier's son, and he wanted to be a soldier too, but the performance of the orderly's functions that led to his being recruited into the band. He had a high opinion of himself, and was not a little proud of his position. He was a soldier's son, and he wanted to be a soldier too, but the performance of the orderly's functions that led to his being recruited into the band.

The Bachelor of Balaklava. A Denver, Col., man makes claim to the honor of being the "Bachelor of Balaklava," the trumpeter who sounded the charge that ordered the Light Brigade up to the mouths of the murderous Russian cannon. His name is Alexander Sullivan, and he is an erect and well-proportioned man of 50, with hair and beard of silvery whiteness. He tells the story of that military massacre in a dramatic manner, but with quietness of lip.

A heavy burden - all the ills and ailments that only female flesh is heir to. It rests with you whether you carry it or lay it down. You can cure the disorders and derangements that prey upon your sex, with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. For all organic displacements and weaknesses, accompanied by weak back, bearing-down sensations, and for all uterine diseases, it's a positive specific. It's guaranteed to give satisfaction, in every case. If it doesn't, you've only to ask for your money and it's cheerfully refunded. If it does, you'll want to ask for nothing more. It's the cheapest medicine you can use, because you only pay for the good you get. It improves digestion, enriches the blood, invigorates the system, and produces refreshing sleep.

The funeral of Thomas Carey took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of his parents, corner of Twenty-first street and Ninth avenue. A large number of sympathizing friends were present. The November term of the district court will open Tuesday, with Judge Smith on the bench. Judge Macy will also hold a short session for the purpose of disposing of a few small matters that a lack of time prevented his attending to last week.

This evening is the time for the regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. It is said, however, that a number of the adherents are in favor of adjourning in order to attend the republican fair and bazaar, and it is probable that this will be done.

Among the many pleasant Halloween parties Saturday evening one of the most enjoyable occurred at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Luster, on Mylar street. About thirty guests were present and engaged in all of the old time Halloween sports with unusual alacrity. Dancing and lady poling were the special features of the evening.

The republicans will have the closing rally of the campaign this evening at the Broadway theater. Hon. John W. Thurston of Omaha, General Caldwell of Kansas, Captain J. A. Hill and Hon. John Y. Stone will address the meeting. These gentlemen's names are sufficient to guarantee an interesting time and the theater will probably be crowded.

J. S. Powers, who found his wife in a traveling car she had been living with in this city for two months, failed to get her on board the train when he took her back to her home in Cairo, Ill., Saturday evening, and last evening they were still in the city. They were seen on the street, the woman walking arm in arm with her drummer lover, while the husband walked by her side and carried the bundles for the crowd. They are stopping at the boarding house of Mrs. Dorland on Vine street.

Woman Suffers Alone. Samuel E. Rickabaugh, a teamster who lives in Turley's Glen, filed an information in superior court yesterday afternoon, charging his wife, Susan E. Rickabaugh, with adultery. He claims that she had a tryst in the employ of Cole & Cole, is responsible for his wife's downfall. The two have a few children, and the wife in such a way as to scandalize the neighborhood. Mrs. Rickabaugh, who was arrested and told the nature of the offense with which she was charged, and the night in the city jail. Vain has not been arrested.

Swanson Music Co., Masonic temple. Mandel & Klein sell furniture, carpets, cooking and heating stoves at cost to quit business. Sign Posting Free. Yesterday morning an opportunity was afforded to pass the residence of a prominent democratic politician on Baylis park were surprised to see the front of the house covered with large beer and whisky signs. The owner is a well known church member, and that he should go into the saloon business and choose Sunday of all other days in the week for his opening, caused considerable surprise. During the day, however, it transpired that the owner of the house had nothing to do with the posting of the signs, but that it was the work of some saloon boys and girls who had taken advantage of his absence. The gentleman's reputation is still intact.

The finest line of lamps in the west. Land Bros., 23 Main street. Many have not seen Hart's new stock at 10 Pearl street. Come. Push chairs from $1.75 up; bed room suits from $10.50 up; wire springs, $1.49, at Morgan's, 740 Broadway. Miss Mary Gleason, fashionable dress-maker, 14 Pearl street, upstairs.

A good share of yesterday was spent by the political wireworkers in holding meetings and arranging for the election which comes tomorrow, and on the street corners the political orator was the one theme of conversation. Men of both parties can be found without trying who insist that their side is going to make a clean sweep and elect the white ticket, but the more conservative ones on both sides are free to confess that the situation is very complicated, and that neither one can claim a sure chink on the case.

Of the republicans, Scanlan is undoubtedly making a good run, and many claim that he will be elected sheriff by quite a large majority. He is not only popular personally in the city, but he has many friends throughout the county who are working for him right and left. His opponent, John W. Thurston, is content to stand against in the past end of the county, and that fact has been taken advantage of by the republican leaders, and the opinion is very general that Scanlan has a good chance to be elected. E. L. Shultz, the republican nominee for coroner, is also doing a grand deal of quiet though effective work during the campaign, the results of which will be seen in the coming week.

Both sides are well organized for the contest, and one of the hottest elections ever held in this county may be looked for. A republican victory is the more likely result, and indications point to the polling of a large vote.

Some elements are of the opinion that the vote will be altogether too large. It was reported Saturday night that a large gang of men had been brought down from the government prisons, where they are working and were registered in the Sixth ward. It is also stated that these same men registered in Omaha that day and night, and that they tempt to vote in each place. Whether this report is true or not could not be ascertained positively, but it is a fact that a colored man presented himself at the place of registration in the Fourth ward and stated that he was not a native born citizen, but that he had his residence was in the car. He was registered without a word on the part of the registrars, and the fact is not to be ascertained, but a fair vote on one which should be looked after.

The ladies of Pythian Sisterhood will give an entertainment in Red Men's hall, corner of Main and Broadway, Tuesday evening, Nov. 3, in honor of Mrs. A. A. Young, a former resident of this city. All Knights of Pythians, their families and friends are cordially invited. Dancing, literary and musical exercises and refreshments.

Views From Ceylon. Rev. Mr. Leach, a missionary just returned from the island of Ceylon, delivered a lecture in the First Presbyterian church last evening. His subject was "Views from Ceylon." It was illustrated with about a hundred stereoscopic views, descriptive of the scenes to be had in the far east. The lecturer went out of his way to read the Sunday newspapers, in which the announcement of his lecture had appeared, and exchanged his views on the subject, for read, or advertise in, any paper that issued a Sunday edition. On the whole, however, his address was well liked.

Driesbach's formal opening at the new location, 355 Broadway, will occur in a few days. The new parlors are being elegantly furnished, and the new building is a leading fashionable resort in the city in the winter.

Sudden Death. Mrs. Ann Botts died yesterday morning at the residence of her son-in-law, G. L. Ogers, 212 North Ninth street, at 12:30 o'clock. The deceased was 69 years of age, and had been sick about two weeks. About midnight Saturday night a noise was heard as of some one straggling, and the daughter rushed in to see what the matter was. She found her mother in terrible agony from heart trouble, and sent for a physician. In the meantime the doctor came in, but he could do nothing but draw the breaths until he was taken away. The remains will be taken over the Wabash in Boone, Randolph county, Ky., for burial.

J. B. Driesbach has removed his candy factory and oyster parlors from 211 to 355 Broadway. He has now one of the finest places in the city.

Removed to 10 Pearl street, Hart, jeweler, formerly at 337 Broadway. Call on him. Have you had one of those elegant teapots with a pound of good tea? Only 75c. Land Bros.

Robbed of His Jewelry. Dr. Harvey of No. 14 in the city yesterday looking for some burglars that entered his store Saturday night and left with his hands full. They broke open a rear door and overhauled all the goods in the store. Yesterday morning when Harvey opened up he found the demoralized condition things were in, and when he had completed an investigation he found that over $100 worth of watches, watch chains, rings and fancy articles of various kinds were missing. There is no clue to the robbers, but the affair was reported to the police and an effort will be made to find the goods.

We have our own vineyards in California. Jarvis Wine company, 813 Main street. Frank Trimble, atty., Baldwin blk., tel 303. O, did you see those new goods at Hart's jewelry store, 10 Pearl street?

The Russian Plotter. Unconventional printed or written comments on Russian affairs do not usually pass through the Russian mails unscathed, says the New York Sun. Mr. Kennan complained that the century was mutilated before it reached his hands when he was in Russia, although he had presented letters and passports of exceptional strength to the Russian officials. The American Embassy of the current issue prints a fac-simile of one of its pages as it appeared after the Russian censor got through with it. Two paragraphs had been covered with black ink in such a way as to completely destroy them. One paragraph, thus obliterated referred to the sympathy expressed for the Russian Jews by Stephens and Kennan. The other challenged Goldwin Smith's understanding of the Russian question. The censor is said to have several ways of striking out objectionable passages in periodicals or books. Sometimes they are cut out or torn out, but the more frequent way, when the passages are small, is to "blacken" them. In this process they are blacked out by means of a rectangular stamp which has about the width of an ordinary newspaper column, and which is "cross-hatched" in such a way that when ink is pressed upon the paper it makes a close network of white lines and black diamonds. The peculiar mottled or grained appearance of a page of print that has been blacked out with this stamp suggested to the Russian readers a descriptive slang term for it, namely, "caviare." Any one who has ever seen the black saluted caviars of Russia spread upon a slice of bread, and who has observed the facility of the metaphorical comparison. From the noun a verb has been formed, and every Russian now understands that to "caviare" means to "black out" an objectionable page or paragraph by passing upon it the censor's stamp. The American Hebrew had a number of subscribers in Russia, but complaints of non-delivery became so numerous that they had to be abandoned.

In every part of the city, the flames are being kindled, and the flames of the different parties. Many of the banners are artistically gotten up and decorated with the colors of the party to which they belong. In front of Tammany hall, of course, are the red, white and blue, and the colors of the democratic party. The services of the campaign artist, but has supplied its tiger with a pot of paint of a shade which has been a new discovery. The red and white banners are artistically adorned with the words "Flower and Sun", while the blue is emblazoned with the words "The People's Choice". The truth or falsity of this charge seems to be left entirely to implication or to the convincing arguments of their stamp speakers. As for the next day, the city is in a state of excitement, and the streets are filled with the colors of the different parties.

It seems to be with them very much as it is with pins - nobody knows where and how they disappear. Yet they vanish in some fashion. Last evening, in Philadelphia, a man was found with a thousand of them. It would take a good-sized building to hold so many, but they did not begin to supply the never satisfied demand for more. Just now the establishment is manufacturing further supplies, and so it will continue.

Bronze cents are subject to more accidents than happen to any other United States coins. They are being changed hands in trade ten times for once that a dime passes from one pocket to another. Being of small value, these little pieces are not taken much care of. There are a few who, however, will be glad to get out of circulation, and thus the minting of them has to be kept up continually. The metal blanks from which they are made by the simple process of stamping are turning out at the rate of 1,000 per minute. At the rate of 1,000 per minute, they look like glittering gold.

One may get a notion of the number of pennies lost from the treasury of the old half cents. Of these 800,000 were issued a few years ago. Where are they now? A few are in the cabinets of coin collectors. None have been returned to the mint for recoinage, or are held by the treasury. Nobody sees them in circulation. All of them, except some hundreds saved out by euro-hunters, have absolutely disappeared. Of the old copper pennies 1,000,000 were issued, and accounted for, save that once in a long while one sees a specimen. There are more than 3,000,000 bronze 2-cent pieces somewhere, out of 4,300,000 of them that this government issued. Of nickel 3-cent pieces, nearly 2,000,000 are yet outstanding, although it is almost never that one of them is come across.

The Southern Aristocracy. New England Magazine: It is the favorite theory of political writers that there was in 1890 a distinct difference between northern and southern character, rising out of the fact that the dominant element in the north was derived from the Puritan, and in the south was descended from the Cavalier. It is now established that no such difference of origin can be proven. The Virginia and Maryland planters, the New Jersey Quakers and the Connecticut and Massachusetts settlers sprang from the same class in England. The elements chiefly represented in all the colonies at the time of their settlement were the intelligent yeomanry and small land-owners. The aristocracy of which the south boasted so much was not descended from the younger or the older sons of English nobles, but was made up of the sons and grandsons and great-grandsons of those planters who were the first by their shrewdness and energy to acquire large landed estates. The climate had brought about social changes, and in the south there had been developed a class of small land owners, the so-called poor whites, who had but little improved during the century previous to the coming of the Cavalier. The original basis of the white population were, however, the same.

Cold Facts From the "Kicker." M. Quad: We notice that our esteemed contemporary is advertising for a political editor, "who thoroughly understands the politics of the day." To such a one he promises a steady situation at good pay. We dearly love the old mossback claims to own and publish the alleged weekly "Kicker," but when he attempts to deceive the public we feel it our duty to state a few cold facts.

In the first place he has only 331 subscribers. Secondly, our issue of last week care a copper for politics. Thirdly, he has to pay his hands in store orders, and his political editor would starve to death in two weeks. He got a young man from Boston out here last summer, borrowed the $3 he had left, stole his suspenders, embezzled his white shirt, and then discharged him. The long-some appearance of the young and confident man as he started on his 3,000 mile walk will never be effaced from our memory.

The Bachelor of Balaklava. A Denver, Col., man makes claim to the honor of being the "Bachelor of Balaklava," the trumpeter who sounded the charge that ordered the Light Brigade up to the mouths of the murderous Russian cannon. His name is Alexander Sullivan, and he is an erect and well-proportioned man of 50, with hair and beard of silvery whiteness. He tells the story of that military massacre in a dramatic manner, but with quietness of lip.
