THE WRECK OF THE ELDORADO

A Morgan Line Steamer Wrecked on the Great Bahama Banks.

A WRECKING STEAMER TO THE RESCUE.

Towed Back to Port—She Carried a Cargo Valued at $100,000 and Was Bound From New York to New Orleans.

During the gale on the 8th of August the Morgan Line steamer, Eldorado, was driven ashore on the great Bahama Banks.

On the same date Acting Secretary Nettleton, at Washington, received a telegram from Collector Horr at Key West, Fla., saying:

Southern Pacific steamer Eldorado now ashore ten miles southeast of Great Isaac Shoal, with forward compartment full of water. Ship and cargo possibly be saved by prompt assistance. Wreckers at ship and no appliances. Southern Pacific agent here requests authority to send McLane to tow wrecking pumps and gear. Assistance ordered from New York, but will probably arrive too late. McLane only available help.

Orders were sent to the commanding officer of the McLane to render all possible assistance.

The Eldorado was finally towed into port.

The cargo was valued at $100,000 and insured in the Atlantic Mutual. The entire freight, stored into upper and lower deck and "in hold" cargo was sold by the Marine Underwriters in New York.

THE BOSTON STORE BUYS IT.

Advice in private of the probable sale of this cargo in New York, one of the firm immediately left to confer with the Marine underwriter.

After four days' hard work cash once more proved a bonanza,

AND THE BOSTON STORE GOT IT

For the last two weeks one of the firm has personally supervised the loading of these goods.

In consequence of the lower deck cargo being soaking wet, it has been advisable to ship it first. The shipment is now in part here. The rest of the lower deck and hold cargo will arrive in order as they are gotten ready.

The upper deck cargo is entirely free from damage, all being protected in a measure by the casings, which if broken leave the contents perfect.

This greatest of all wreck sales and the greatest single cash purchase ever made by an Omaha firm, will commence Wednesday, November 4.

All wet goods will be sold in the basement. THE BOSTON STORE,
Right on the corner now,
N. W. Cor. 16th and Douglas.

WILL BUILD A COPPER PLANT.

Smelter Company to Add a New and Important Enterprise.

Another very important increase in the number and variety of Omaha industries is now an assured fact.

Omaha is to have a copper works which will turn out five tons of pure copper per day.

The plant is to be the property of the Omaha and Grant Smelting and Refining company and President Barton stated yesterday morning that the work of establishing the plant would commence at once.

Mr. Barton returned Saturday from Denver where he had completed the arrangements for locating and operating the large plant.

A building about 80x150 feet will be erected on the river bank about midway of the length of the smelting company's property and in this about $75,000 worth of machinery will be placed. This machinery has been ordered and a large part of it is on the ground.

The new works will only employ about fifty men, a number of whom will be expert workmen, but it will be a very important addition to the smelting works as it will then be possible to treat the ores for every metal they contain.

The process to be used is known as the electrolytic process, and is the most advanced process known to the trade.

The copper matte is roasted to burn out the sulphur and is smelted in order to draw off as much of the other metals as possible. The residue is then made into thin plates containing copper with a small proportion of gold and silver. These plates are treated to an electric bath in which the copper is deposited in the form of fine copper and the gold and silver are freed.

Heretofore the copper produced at the smelter has been made largely into blue vitriol and the portion which was not used for that purpose has been shipped to eastern copper works or to foreign markets.

The Omaha smelter will still continue to make blue vitriol but will also use all of the matte made here as well as all matte made at the Denver works of this company. In anticipation of the starting of this plant the company has been holding all its matte, both here and at Denver and now has a large stock on hand.

The Omaha and Grant company will now be able to handle all of the copper ores of the west. They have heretofore refused to handle these ores as they were not prepared to treat them properly but all these ores will now be shipped here and every particle and kind of metal extracted.

St. Louis has had almost a monopoly on the copper industry in the west, as the only works of importance were located there and were in the hands of the copper trust. Now, however, copper plants are being erected at Anaconda, Baltimore and Chicago, as well as one here.

BAPTISTS IN CONFERENCE.

"The Deacon" the Subject of a Paper and Discussion.

The regular monthly meeting of the Baptist ministers of Omaha convened in the cafe at the Paxton yesterday morning. The president, Rev. L. A. Hall of Council Bluffs, being absent, Rev. Wilcox was in the chair, and Revs. F. M. Foster, E. N. Harris, S. E. Wilcox, J. W. Harris, G. J. Peck and Mr. Janson in attendance.

Chairman Hall came in after the meeting had been called to order.

The first business on the programme was a sound and interesting paper by Dr. Stone on the offices of the deacon, in which he held there could be no use for any ministerial helper but those named in the new testament. Dr. Stone was led to an investigation of this subject by the abuses by the board of deacons in most all of the colored churches of the south.

Some little discussion on the subject followed.

A committee from the Bethesden church was present and laid before the convention the advisability of inviting the state Baptist convention to Omaha.

Mr. Wilcox though it would be the proper thing to have the pastors of the various churches lay the matter before their congregations at their next meeting and get an expression on the matter.

Mr. Foster also thought this was the proper course to pursue.

Mr. Hall thought the convention should not be invited here unless the churches paid the expenses of the delegates.

Dr. Stone thought the delegates should be supplied with their dinners and suppers at the hall in which the convention is held, in order to give them an opportunity of general social intercourse.

After some general discussion it was decided to lay the matter before the various congregations next Wednesday night and report to the Bethesden church as quickly thereafter as convenient.

WHY IS IT, HENRY?

Electric Light Company Accused of Working for Osthoff.

OMAHA, Nov. 2.—To the Editor of THE BEE: It has been reported to me that the Electric Light company has hired a man in the First ward named Talquest to work for Mr. Osthoff, and he began his work yesterday by getting several kegs of beer and distributing it where it would do the most good.

What is the reason of this interest in Mr. Osthoff's success on the part of the corporation mentioned? Yours Truly,

JONATHAN EDWARDS,
1419 South Seventh Avenue.

SOUTH OMAHA.

Board of Education.

At the meeting of the Board of Education held in the High school building all members were present.

Superintendent Monroe reported a total enrollment of 1,220 pupils in the schools of the city since the opening of the school year, an average daily attendance of 942. The average attendance is considerably increased.

Bills, including balances on the Fourth ward building and the addition to the Albright school, amounting to $8,198.37 were allowed and ordered paid.

City Treasurer Horton's report showing a balance of $18,203.44 in the school fund was read and accepted.

The question of the validity of the title to lots which the board recently purchased received a thorough discussion but no definite action was taken.

After listening to some very pertinent suggestions from Superintendent Monroe the board adjourned.

City Council.

The council met last evening and after roll call adjourned to meet Thursday evening of this week. The adjournment was taken to allow the members to participate in the political demonstrations.

Yard and Office Notes.

Inspector Howard reports eighty-four lump jaws condemned and killed during October and the average returns to owners at $8.25 per head.

W. A. Gillespie of Gunnison, Colo., was a visitor at the Exchange and looked over the yards. He said he was amazed at the growth within the past few years.

"Doc" Lee, the genial solicitor of the yards, has returned from a three months' trip through Idaho and Oregon. He says that the stockmen have about cleaned out their ranches and gone into winter quarters.

Receipts for October were 78,339 cattle, 97,773 hogs and 25,945 sheep against 69,276 cattle, 173,299 hogs and 16,026 sheep in October, 1890. An increase of 9,063 cattle and 9,919 sheep, but a decrease of 75,556 hogs.

The run of westerns from this on will be light. The corn fed cattle will now have their inning. The western stockmen are becoming warmer friends of this market every year and they generally concede that they get more for their cattle than they reckoned on.

John D. Robinson, one of the veteran and best known packing house men in the city, after a continuous employment of seven years with the G. H. Hammond company, Saturday severed his connection with that plant and will leave tomorrow for a ten days' visit with friends in Chicago, Detroit and other eastern cities. Mr. Robinson has as many friends as any man in the city, all of whom wish him well in his future business.

FREELAND-LOOMIS CO., Douglas and 15th Streets.

RELIEF CAME TOO LATE.

Edward Jorgensen Died While an Officer Ran for Medicine.

Edward Jorgensen of Omaha is no longer in the land of the living.

The old man was found lying on the sidewalk on South Thirteenth street at 6 o'clock last evening, apparently suffering a great deal of pain. He was taken in the patrol wagon to the station and the city physician was called.

Dr. Gapen was out making a call at the time and did not get to the station until after 8 o'clock. He prescribed for the sick man and Captain Mostyn sent an officer out to get the prescription filled. Before the medicine arrived the old man was dead. Just before dying he said he had a son-in-law named William Goodman living at the corner of Seventeenth and Cuming streets. An officer was sent to that part of the city to find the Goodman family, but no trace of anybody of that name could be found in that locality.

The coroner was notified and visited the jail about 10 o'clock. He found in the pockets of the deceased some deeds to lots in Council Bluffs, executed only a few months ago. The papers bore the notorial seal stamp of J. H. Jerome. The deceased appeared to be about 55 years old. He wore a dark brown suit of rough and seedy looking clothing and wore a heavy beard on the chin.

Coroner Harrigan said he could not tell from a superficial examination the exact cause of death. The remains were removed to Heaffy & Heaffy's, where an inquest will be held today.

The Best Authorities,

Such as Dr. Dio Lewis, Prof. Gross, and others, agree that catarrh is not a local but a constitutional disease. It therefore requires a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which effectually and permanently cures catarrh. Thousands praise it.

Hood's pills cure liver ills, jaundice, biliousness, sick headache, constipation and all troubles of the digestive organs.

Receiver Bierbower.

"One of the unpleasant features, indeed almost the only one connected with the sale of the Pacific Short Line is that by it Sioux City will lose Receiver Bierbower as even a quasi citizen," remarked one of the Sioux City gentlemen to a Journal reporter. And the same sentiment was expressed by all who had relations with Mr. Bierbower. Mr. Garretson was warm in his praise of the retiring receiver and his conduct of the road, and the good words are deserved. Taking hold of the road when it was in the worst possible shape, he has brought order out of chaos, built up a business for the line and won for it recognition as a well managed, prosperous road, and one with a promising future. Operated under a necessarily heavy expense under the term of the receivership, it has increased its business rapidly, and from starting with an empty treasury and a balance on the debit side of the account, has come to pay expenses and accumulated a snug little surplus. As an evidence of the pleasant relations existing between the owners of the road and the receiver, it may be noted that the receiver's compensation for the term of his service, which under the statute is to be fixed by the court in case the parties in interest fail to agree on the amount, was a larger one than any railroad man in a similar position has drawn anywhere in the country within the last year.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

"Senator," said Crane one evening after the performance, "I am going to the capitol tomorrow and I want you to make a speech for my special benefit, will you do it?" "I'll try," said Plumb. "If anything comes up that gives me a good text I'll sail in." As luck would have it the text appeared in Mr. Hoar's proposition to change the title of some of our diplomatic representatives from minister to ambassador. If Plumb had been given the choice of the subject for the purpose of showing off his peculiar oratorical abilities as an object lesson to his friend Crane, he could not have picked out a better one.

How the senator pitched into poor Mr. Hoar and made the senator and everybody else believe that the innocent old gentleman was proposing nothing short of treason to American liberty. How he did ridicule the anglo-maniacs of the elite east and the snobs of the diplomatic service. Actor Crane laughed until his sides ached to see Plumb jerk out his short crisp sentences in his characteristic way as if he was stopping every few words to see how vicious and ugly he could make the next one. As usual Plumb emphasized other sentences by reaching under his waistcoat, and with the thumb of his left hand straightening out an imaginary twist in his suspenders.

Crane "caught on," to use a slang exoression, and tried the trick at that evening's performance. Now his imitation and make-up of Plumb are perfect. Mr. Crane and his excellent company come to Boyd's new theater on tomorrow and the following evenings, presenting Lloyd's and Rosenfeld's great comedy, "The Senator," for the first time in Omaha. Hundreds of people inquired anxiously at the box office of Boyd's new theater yesterday respecting the engagement. The advance sale of seats opens at 9 o'clock this morning and the indications are that by this evening seats for Wednesday night will have nearly all been sold.

During the performance of the lively comedy "The Nominee," by Nat C. Goodwin and company at Boyd's new theater this evening, the election returns, furnished by the Western Union Telegraph company, will be read from the stage between the acts. "The Nominee" is a political comedy and is appropriate to the occasion. This will be Mr. Goodwin's closing performance at the Boyd.

Seeking a Location.

The Real Estate Owners association has received a letter from Henry and L. S. Curtis of Chicago in regard to establishing a plant in Omaha for the manufacture of a new haavesting machine. It is described as a platform harvester as distinguished from the elevator machine now in use. The gentlemen do not state positively what they want, but it might be inferred from the letter that they would like to make arrangements with some Omaha machine shop to do the work for them.
