Neatly Taken In.

A smooth discipline of Canada Bill, in the garb of a member of the cloth, unconsciously as it were dropped into a saloon in Cheyenne. The all-pervading odor shocked him and he at once announced his intention to rear a tabernacle next door. The saloon keeper endorsed the idea and asked the preacher to have a drink. This invitation was promptly accepted, though he had not been invited to inquire the man of the word. "A little on the quiet sometime," admitted he of the cloth in low tones and with an anxious glance to the street. Continuing in a confidential way he said: "I do love a poker game and I am a good player. I am not afraid to lose if I can induce without being found out. 'Come right in the back room,' said the accommodating saloonist. 'I'll play you single handed.' The preacher demurred at first, but on being promised every protection from publicity, a seat and the game opened. They played four hours, and the alleged preacher quit $350 winner.

Farm Profits in Washington.

The yield that caps the pyramid of crops in the Palouse country was harvested and sold. That meant nearly 2,000 bushels, or an average of fifty-six bushels and fifty-seven pounds to the acre. Lippitt Bros. paid him for the crop $455.70. By this transaction Mr. Stevenson makes $78 an acre from the crop, netting him a profit of $15 per acre on the investment, and all other expenses. It is a clear profit of 50 per cent.

Prohibition Constitutional.

The supreme court of North Dakota has rendered a decision in the noted liquor case of John Hass of Fargo, who was prosecuted for selling liquor contrary to the prohibition law. The only question in the appeal was as to the constitutionality of the prohibition law, and the court sustained the statute in every particular. The court held that numerous errors were made by the counsel for Hass, but on appeal all were abandoned, saving the constitutional feature, this being settled in favor of the law.
