

CITY HALL FURNITURE AGAIN.

Builders and Traders Declare in Favor of Municipal Business Methods.

CONCILIATION EXPLAINS THEIR POSITIONS.

Interesting Session of the Exchange After Its Summer's Vacation - Plans for Better Work in the Future.

The Builders' and Traders' exchange returned yesterday for its summer vacation and took a new lease on life with a grip so strong and vigorous as to astonish even its oldest members.

The meeting was conducted on something of a new plan, and there was a larger attendance and more interest was manifested than has been before noticeable in the exchange rooms. Recent applications swell the membership list to about fifty, and it is the intention of the organization to include within its ranks every reputable contractor in the city.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

The Chicago physicians performed their duty in the way of taking the man's case, but they left him in a cradle for life. After he was cured of his illness and his eyes were healed he returned to the western home, and became convinced that the proper thing would be to strike out and throw himself upon the breast of the cold world.

LATE OF A BOOMER.

He Refused a Fortune and Now Travels on His Nerve.

Mike Schickel is something of a traveler whose destination is Riverside, Wash.

Mike is not the owner of a sailing vessel of the realm, but he is full of gail, and if the supply holds out the home on the golden slope will be reached before the roosa bloom again.

Schickel presented himself and his credentials to County Treasurer Mahoney yesterday morning and unfolded a tale of woe, after which he asked for a little transportation.

The tale was a simple one. Years ago Mike and his good wife went west. Children were born to the happy couple, and in a few years they were a little better off than about the door of the humble cottage that was had among the sighing pines.

Everything went well for a time and Mike and his wife were not much better off than about the door of the humble cottage that was had among the sighing pines. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city. He had lived in the city for some time and had acquired a taste for the life of the city.

ATTEMPTED JAIL DELIVERY.

An Alleged Counterfeiter Digs a Hole in the County Jail Wall.

HE IS NOW IN SOLITARY CONFINEMENT.

His Recent Treatment by the Jailor Led Him Into a Betrayal of Confidence - His Punishment.

"Can I get a permit to see my husband?" asked a demure and sad looking woman yesterday as she approached Assistant United States Attorney Haldrup at the government building.

"No, you can't. Your husband has been acting very badly at the county jail and he is now in a solitary cell and will stay there until the grand jury meets," was the positive reply of the attorney.

The woman was Mrs. John Clark, and her husband is in jail upon a charge of making counterfeit money. He was committed to the county jail on the 10th of September last to await the action of the federal grand jury.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one. He had remarked confidentially to a fellow prisoner, soon after securing his position as a guard, that he would cut his way out of jail in a very short time.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Clark did not go very far in the work of digging a hole through the wall before one of the guards caught him in the act. He had dug a hole in the wall and had loosened the plaster about another one.

Who Shall Decide?

The suit of Irving against Small and others was called for trial in the county court yesterday afternoon.

There was nothing out of the ordinary in the title of the suit, but the facts were of a nature to interest the average citizen of Omaha.

Small and the others were the stone contractors who furnished the gargon, giarascutes and other mythical images that adorn the city hall.

Irving was the workman who carried the figures. It is being assumed that the work was done in a right mind, that the carving was artistic and that he had followed the designs furnished by the architect.

Dewitt's Little Early Risers, best pills. Assessing Railroads.

City Clerk Groves Getting Ready to Perform the Work.

Acting under the instructions of a resolution, City Engineer Wilson, yesterday commenced the work of making plans to show the right-of-way of the various railroads that enter the city.

This plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

The plan will only show the location of the right-of-way within the city limits. It will, however, show what buildings are situated thereon and what parties are the lease holders.

YOUR TIME HAS COME.

Every fall since we began business, some time during November, we have made it a point to hold a special sale of Overcoats. These sales have not been the inspiration of a moment, gotten up simply to fill so much space in the newspapers, but have been the result of well directed efforts toward a certain end.

For a number of weeks past, our resident buyer in New York has devoted his attention pretty closely to Overcoats. He has shopped New York as closely as a woman trying to match a piece of dress goods, (but with more success.) Luck seems to have favored him.

The continued warm weather has left the manufacturers with great stacks of winter garments on hand. They were anxious to sell even at a loss. Our buyer bought, and bought heavily. He was there for that purpose.

During the past week we have received over Two Thousand Fine Overcoats from the leading makers in New York. They represent every kind and style of garment in use this season. They represent every possible shape, shade and color.

From the materials used in their manufacture, to the manner in which the buttons are sewed on, they are right in every respect. We have taken this immense lot of garments, divided them into two lots, placed them on sale, and today you can walk into our store and buy an overcoat for eight dollars or ten and a half, that a month ago would have cost you from six to eight dollars more.

That's straight. Gives you your choice of a line of fine all wool Kersey and Chinchilla garments that a dozen dollars wouldn't have touched a month ago, and many of them are worth fully fourteen dollars today.

The Chinchillas are in smooth and rough weaves, with full velvet collars, corded edge binding, fine twilled linings, fancy striped sleeve linings, and fancy canton flannel pockets. They come in blues and blacks. The Kerseys are in all shades; grays, slates, tans, browns, modes, drabs, &c.

They are lined with fine fancy plaid cassimere, have fancy heavy surah sleeve linings; either set velvet or self collars and fancy canton flannel pockets. Here's the greatest value ever offered by any American clothing concern.

Here are fine Kersey, Chinchilla, and Fur Beaver garments. Two-thirds of them are worth well up to eighteen dollars. Fur Beaver Overcoats in blacks, browns, greens and other popular shades; garments made up in elegant style, with fine Farmer satin linings, heavy fancy satin sleeve linings, full velvet collars and plush pockets.

Kersey garments in a dozen elegant shades, with fine plaid cassimere linings, fancy surah sleeve linings and either set velvet or self collars. Here are garments which for style and fit will challenge your admiration. Here are garments that you'd call cheap on the Fourth of July at the price. We can positively make this assertion;

YOU NEVER SAW SUCH VALUES BEFORE. Nebraska Clothing Co. Cor. DOUGLAS & 14TH STS.

IN TIMES OF PEACE.

News and Gossip Gathered From the Army Headquarters.

Lieutenant William Brooke, son of General Brooke, and Lieutenant Short, of the Sixth cavalry, left last evening for San Antonio, Tex., where they have been assigned to duty.

Thomas S. Bell, son of Major Bell, chief of the commissary department, is in the city visiting his father. Mr. Bell is attending the Academy of Fine Arts at Philadelphia, from which institution he will graduate next spring.

He intends to make a specialty of the work of portrait painting. The artistic tendency comes by heredity to young Mr. Bell, for the major is known to be a very enthusiastic artist, not only in the rendering of light and shade upon the canvas, but in the general figure in the view is an old canvas occupied at one time by Kit Carson.

It is surrounded by cottonwood trees and the view is a beautiful one. The door there winds a well beaten road leading into the foothills in the distance.

The approach of winter has its effect upon the streets of Omaha, and during the winter was produced yesterday by the combined efforts of Messrs. Wright, Lowe, Gill and Williams.

Mr. Wright, chief of the commissary department, and now comes the winter of our discontent; no coal in the bin, and we can't pay our rent. Our only hope is to get a loan from the city.

Speaking of the robbery the other day of Colonel Smith, paymaster of the Department of Arizona, Colonel Stanton said: "A great many attempts have been made during the years that I have been paymaster. During the war I was obliged to shoot one man for the robbery of my paymaster's chest."

Paymasters always take an escort, but sometimes there is more danger of being done up by the escort than by anybody else. We usually try to take one who has no money to be thoroughly reliable and check full of courage."

The School of the Holy Family, at Omaha, Neb., is under the direction of the Ursuline Sisters, is a most excellent educational institution. The terms for board and tuition are very reasonable and the course of studies includes all branches taught in public schools, and also common needle work.

Particular attention is given to young ladies preparing themselves for teaching. The business course comprises bookkeeping, correspondence, shorthand and typewriting. The sisters make a specialty of caring for delicate or sickly children and take great pains to follow out the instructions of physicians in cases where children need a doctor's care.

Children of all religious denominations can be educated at this establishment, and receive the same careful educational training, the only difference being that non-Catholic children need not attend the religious services.

A Lady Commercial Tourist.

Yesterday Miss Mamie Sicum, representing the Consolidated Cofee company of Omaha, called upon our local merchants, says the Rapid City Journal, and succeeded in taking a number of orders. In fact the lady is a smooth and witty talker and the dealers were aware of it she had them on her "little book."

The appearance of this lady on the road makes the old commercial travelers look with envy as they stand on the show with a lady that is thoroughly posted in their particular line of business. This is the young lady's first visit to Rapid City, but from the success she met with yesterday she will make the city further call.

My dear sir, I love your daughter and want to marry her, but she says you have a condition to your consent. Certainly sir, you promise you will always keep Haller's Sure Cure Cough Syrup and Haller's German Pills for the children.

Certainly, I will give them a dose just as soon as - All right - you have my blessing.

Westminster Suitable.

The ladies of the Westminster Presbyterian church have arranged to give a free entertainment and social at the church parlors, corner 29th and Mason streets, this Friday evening between 7:30 and 10 o'clock, at which Miss Oliver of Council Bluffs and Mr. Derrick of this city, both well known solisters, will sing. In addition to the music an interesting program has been prepared by the ladies.

Federal Court Notes.

The case of the United States against J. J. Wilkinson was taken up yesterday in the United States court. This case is the result of an alleged illegal transaction on the part of Wilkinson in conducting the chattel loan business.

It is reported that Mr. Hiram J. Severance, an old soldier, had borrowed some money from Wilkinson and deposited his pension papers as security for the same. The complaint against Wilkinson is for receiving and retaining pension papers and pension money due. The case is set for trial on October 12.

Messrs. L. G. and F. J. Hezel, crooks at 222 Cuming street, who were arrested upon a charge of having failed to destroy the stamps upon about forty oleomargarine tubs after the oleomargarine had been taken out of them. They were fined for their appearance when wanted in court.

The case of the United States against J. J. Wilkinson for receiving pension papers was finished in the afternoon and given to the jury. The next case called was that of the United States against L. G. and F. J. Hezel, charged with destroying the government stamps upon about fifty buckets of oleomargarine.

Several witnesses for the United States were called and testified as to finding the empty buckets in Hezel's cellar with the stamps all intact. The law provides that as soon as the buckets of oleomargarine are collected the stamps must be utterly destroyed.

The defendants will endeavor to prove to-day that they did not destroy the stamps, but during the summer they did not need the thing wood, so the supply of empty buckets had accumulated in the basement. The case will be continued to-day.

DeWitt's Little Early Risers; only pill to cure sick headache and regulate the bowels. URGING CLAIMS IN COURT.

Plaintiffs Who Want Cash for Life or Property Losses. Judge Ferguson made a ruling in the greater portion of yesterday in laboring with the evidence in the case of Richard J. Wherry against the city of Omaha.

In this case the plaintiff demands the payment of $5,000 from the city fund. For a cause of action he alleges and expects to prove that the city of Omaha is responsible for the death of his mother, Allen Wherry. In his petition he alleges that on May 3, 1890, his mother, accompanied by an escort, walked upon the south side of Twenty-fourth street during the summer of 1890.

During the summer of 1890, Mrs. Wherry tripped over the plank and fell into the street, sustaining injuries from which she died a few days later. The plaintiff alleges that the accident was caused by the defendant having neglected to repair in a proper state of repairs. The city through its attorney admitted that the woman died, but denies that death resulted from any injuries sustained on account of carelessness or negligence upon the part of the city.

Mary Lyons has asked the courts to stop the sale of her husband, James Lyons. She alleges that she has cause for asking that the marriage be severed, and in a four page typewritten petition, most solemnly sworn, that she gave James Lyons money and fortune at Brazil, Ind., six years ago last February. At the time of the marriage the plaintiff was a widow with two children. The whole family moved to Omaha, and it was then, so plaintiff alleges, that the defendant grew cold and cruel. He took to smoking, drinking and made her support the family, which she did by milking daily five cows that fed on the hillsides in the country. The defendant, she says, then sold the milk from house to house. Although a stout and healthy man, James would be in bed until noon. The defendant, she says, then sold the milk from house to house. Although a stout and healthy man, James would be in bed until noon. The defendant, she says, then sold the milk from house to house.

Luise Androsen has sued Dennis Cunningham and asks for the payment of $1,400. She alleges that Dennis is the lessee of a lot and that he has failed to pay the ground rent. C. L. Drake would have the Nebraska Fire Insurance company pay him $2,000. He charges that he was the owner of a frame hotel, situated in Hardy, Nebrasko county, and that on February 2, 1891, he insured the property with the defendant for $10,000. The building caught fire and burned. The company refused and failed to pay the loss, hence the lawsuit that has just been commenced.

The Bank of Spearfish, located at Spearfish, S. D., has sued Benjamin and M. M. Cager, demanding $2,250, which they allege is due on a promissory note, executed May 25, 1891, and due ninety days thereafter. The plaintiff further alleges that the firm of Higginson, Higginson & Co., of this city holds $5,000 that belongs to the Eagers and proceedings have been had to get this amount.

The case of J. W. Eller against the county was called in Judge Doane's court and continued, by agreement, until next Thursday. In this case Eller seeks a restraining order to prevent the using of the cess pool at the county hospital. The continuance was reached by the county commissioners agreeing to have the hospital sewer completed by Wednesday. The sewer, which is now in course of construction, extends from the hospital to Thirty-fourth and Francis streets, where it connects with the city sewer.

In Judge Davis' court the jury in the case of Caroline Loehnsen against the Omaha Street Railway company returned a verdict of $1,375 in favor of the plaintiff. Carl, the husband of the plaintiff, was employed in packing house at South Omaha. One day he was a passenger on a north-bound motor. The motor and passenger street car were stopped from the car and was knocked down and

DR. J. E. MCGREW'S PRIVATE DISEASES EXTRACT. THE NOTED SPECIALIST in the treatment of all forms of PRIVATE DISEASES. 17 years experience. Gleet and all annoying discharges; Stricture or difficulty in urinating; Hemorrhoids; Syphilis; and all Diseases of the Blood and Skin; Nervousness; General Debility; Loss of Manhood and Ambition; Want of Life and Vitality; Bad Memory; Impotence; Disordered Vision; and all other ailments arising from business. The most powerful remedies known to modern science for the treatment of the above diseases. The weak grow strong, the despondent become cheerful from renewed vitality, Ambition, Dependence, Disordered Vision, and all other ailments arising from business. The most powerful remedies known to modern science for the treatment of the above diseases. The weak grow strong, the despondent become cheerful from renewed vitality, Ambition, Dependence, Disordered Vision, and all other ailments arising from business.

DR. J. E. MCGREW'S PRIVATE DISEASES EXTRACT. THE NOTED SPECIALIST in the treatment of all forms of PRIVATE DISEASES. 17 years experience. Gleet and all annoying discharges; Stricture or difficulty in urinating; Hemorrhoids; Syphilis; and all Diseases of the Blood and Skin; Nervousness; General Debility; Loss of Manhood and Ambition; Want of Life and Vitality; Bad Memory; Impotence; Disordered Vision; and all other ailments arising from business. The most powerful remedies known to modern science for the treatment of the above diseases. The weak grow strong, the despondent become cheerful from renewed vitality, Ambition, Dependence, Disordered Vision, and all other ailments arising from business.

DR. J. E. MCGREW'S PRIVATE DISEASES EXTRACT. THE NOTED SPECIALIST in the treatment of all forms of