WERE READY TO WHITEWASH.

Majority of the Council Investigating Committee Undertakes to Railroad a Report.

CHAFFEE BLOCKS ITS LITTLE GAME.

Special Session of the Council at Which Some Members Were Unwelcome-The Affair by Rounds.

The statue of Liberty that poises upor the central dome of the new city hall hid her face in the folds of her garments last night when she was compelled to look down and witness the attempt at railroading that was being carried on in the council chamber.

Before the council adjourned Tuesday night a resolution was adopted by an almost unantmous vote giving Messrs, Chaffee and McLearie, the minority of the committee appointed to investigate the boodle charges preferred in the city hall furniture deal, two weeks' time in which to prepare and submit its report, it being understood that Chairman Tuttle and Messrs, Cooper and Osthoff would submit a majority report, to the effect that the charges were without foundation. At that meeting Mr. Chaffee announced that he would leave the city yesterday and would not be able to pass upon the papers until his return. During the afternoon a call for a special meeting was issued and signed by several of the members calling for a special meet-ing isst night. These who did not sign the call would have known nothing about the meeting, had they not read the notice in THE EVENING BEE. It so happened that when the meeting was called t order, Measrs. Blumer, Burdish, Chaffee, Cooper, Conway, Davis, Elsasser, Mudsen, McLearie, Morearty, Osthoff and President Lowry were present.

Led for the Face.

Mr. Osthoff was the first speaker. He moved that the council go into committee of the whole and that the evidence in the furniture boodle case be read. President Lowry had some doubts about the motion being in order. The papers were in the hands of the committee and he did not think the case could be considered until a report had been submitted to the council. Mr. Osthoff replied that he had the papers and was ready to report. Suiting the action to the word, he started toward the clerk's desk, bearing the papers and the majority report. The motion to go into committee of the whole was nover put to the house, as Mr. Morearty saw a chance to shp in a wedge and at once moved that the motion by which nnd at once moved that the motion by which the minority of the committee was given a week's time in which to report be rescuided. That brought on any amount of redhot ora-tory, with Mr. Conway leading off. He said that Mr. Chaffee had been trying to do some funny work. Mr. Chaffee, he said, had stated that he was going out of the city. He had not gone, and the indications were that he wanted to been the mulic looking at some wanted to keep the public looking at some councilment, thinking that they were thieves and rascals.

Mr. Davis charged bad faith. When he signed the call he supposed the meeting was for the purpose of transacting business, and not taking a snap indgment with barely a quorum present. It was a fair and honest understanding that the matter was to go over for two weeks, and ne did not propose to be a party to the proposed whitewash. The minority of the committee had not been given an opportunity of seeing the papers, and to adopt the majority report meant no vindication of any person.

Forcing the Fight.

"Reconsider and adopt the majority report fr you want to, gentlemen," said Mr. Davis, "You have the votes, but I ask you, can you afford to do this? Can you afford to have the information go to the public that after spending weeks in taking testimony you have rail

Mr. Chaffee remarked that a large number of the members of the council had been men-tioned in connection with the investigation, and he doubted if they could afford to have man, nor did he consider the investigation a farce. It was too important a matter to treat to a coat of whitewash. The time had come when councilmen should protect inemselves. It had reached a point when old men and women, children and girls upon the street looged upon councilmen as boodiers. This was largely due to the fact that an attempt was made to whitewash every investigation. Mr. Ostboff asked if Mr. Davis would serve in Mr. Chaffee's stead and report tonight. Mr. Blumer stated that he had listened to considerable discussion and fancied that some of the talk was intended for him.

Mr. Davis replied that possibly it was Biumer had sat silently by and had allowed men to vote for the Andrews contract with-out notifying them that Colonel Reemer was around with a bribe. Mr. Davis denied that the investigation was a political scheme. There had been no politics in it. It was folly, he said, to talk about meeting tonight, folly, he said, to talk about meeting tonight, as the evidence could not be read in one day. "Take until Saturday night, then," re-marked Mr. Morearty. After that Mr. Morearty showed a disposi-tion to become angry. He said that Mr. Ubaffee had buildozed the council and it must stop. He would submit to it no longer. Last night after the council had ad-journed, Mr. Chaffee, so Mr. Morearty said, had danced the Highland fling. Things had reached apass when he must sorve or had reached a pass when he must serve or

Mr. Chaffee denied that he had danced, and was preparing to reply to Mr. Morearty when the president called both men to order. Knockout Blow Administered.

The vote was then taken on reconsidering to granting of two weeks' time, and was as lows:

Nays-Chaffee, Davis and McLearle-3. Having won a point, Mr. Osthoff moved to aopt the majority report. Mr. Elsasser objected. It was not the oper course to pursue, "Let them go on," quietly remarked Mr. Chaffee.

"No they cannot," responded Mr. Elsasser "This looks too much like railroading, and I am in favor of giving the minority members time. If this report is adopted it does not clear up anything." Mr. Blumer wanted the report to go over

Mr. Bitumer wanted the report to go over until Tuesday night. Mr. Cooper said that he was through with the tomfoolery. He wanted to do something or quit. He did not like the idea of men going around bidding for money.

Mr. Chaffee asked if the report said any-thing about any men receiving or offering to receive bribes. He wanted the report to show the facts, and then he wanted to see a grand jury take up the matter and indict the bribe takers as well as the bribe

Mr. Conway grew wrathy and arose upon his feet. He knew that Mr. Chaffee's re-marks were aimed at him. Said he: "If any mun had offered me money I would have told

BERNE, Dec. 2 .- A terrible pened yesterday owing to the passion of a man who so allo o overmaster him that he became a veritable maniac and wilfully sacrificed the lives of two of his fellow workmen and a number of other persons. The news of the startling affair, as received here, is to the effect that an engineer employed on the railway line running between Aargau, a canton of Switzer-MAY DISTURB THE THROUGH TARIFF and, and Waldshut, a town of Baden, on th Rhine, had committed some infraction of the rules of the road and, after an examination into the matter by the officials of the company, he was notified of his dismissal from the service. When informed of the action of his superiors the engineer became infuriated. Watching for a favorable opportunity, the engineer entered the cab of a locomotive and opening the throttle of the engine as wide as possible, he jumped from the cab and let the loco-motive dash down the track at full speed just as a train loaded with passengers came shing from the opposite direction on the same track. The runaway wild locomotive and the locomotive of the passenger train plunged into each other with awful force, both engines being entirely wrecked and filling the track with a The engineer and fireman of the passenger train had no warning of the terrible fate in store for them and were only aware of their great danger when too late to make any effort to save their lives. Both men were caught in the wrecks of the engines and were instantly killed, their bodies being frightfully crushed and mangled. The passengers on the train were flung in all directions by the terrible shock of the and nearly all were bruised by the collision. The greatest excitement was caused by the accident.

CONTINENTAL CLOTHING HOUSE.

Boston, Nov. 10th, 1891. We have this day sold to the Freeland-Loomis Co., Proprietors of the Continental Clothing House, Boston, our Fall and Winter stock of Fine Tailor-Made Suits, manufactured in our best manner, from well known selected Fabrics, of both foreign and domestic manufacture.

> MINER, BEAL & CO., 63 Summer Street

Unparalleled success of our Great Sale of Men's Fine Business Suits from the wholesale stock of Miner, Beal & Co.

One more week of the greatest sale of fine clothing ever known in the history of the clothing business of Omaha.

Many of the lines are still complete and a number of lots were received too late for the sale last week. These' goods will be offered until next Saturday at prices averaging not over 60 cents on the dollar. See samples in our show windows or step inside and look over our counters and see what the goods are.

Messrs. Miner, Beal & Co. areknown all over the United States as among the best, if not excelling, all other manufacturers in Boston of fine, high grade, stylish clothing for gentlemen's use.

This is no ordinary class of merchandise and should receive the just and careful attention which themerits of the work demand. For the purpose of enabling buyers to determine the value of each lot as compared with usual retail prices, we have arranged the lots in three parallel columns. First column gives the actual guaranteed wholesale price of Miner, Beal & Co. The second column gives what would usually be the lowest retail price. The third column gives the price at which we are offering them in the Continental Clothing House, showing the actual saving that each customer is guaranteed when purchasing from this wholesale stock.

The prices marked on these goods are not fictitious values. Remember, that the wholesale prices named in the first column are guaranteed by the well-known firm of Miner, Beal & Co. to be their wholesale figures.

whitewash spread over the whole matter. Mr Osthoff replied that there was no tention upon his part of whitewashing any person or railroading any report. The minority should have been ready with its report. Mr. Chaffee, in answering, said that he had been unable to obtain the papers in order to make a report. Mr. Davis stated that it was in the interest of the councilmen who had been charged with guilt and found innocent that he wanted the minority to have time in which to make its report.

Mr. Morearty felt that the remark had touched his honor and integrity and informed the council that he feared nothing that had appeared in evidence. Three members of the committee had found time to make up a majority report and he saw no reason why two could not have done likewise. The trouble was the two members had not seen fit to perform the duty that had been as-signed to them. Mr. Elsasser said that after the action taken Tuesday night, the granting Mr Chaffee two weeks' time, he could never vote to reconsider the vote. He thought that each member should have the testimony for at least twenty-four hours, but it was evi-dent that Mr. Chaffee had never had the testimony in his hands.

Elsasser's Cross Counter.

"Look at this," he said, "if we go on and adopt the majority report, twenty years hence men will look back and say: 'In an investigation held there were two members of that committee said the men were not cleared of the charge.' "No, sir; at this time I will not vote for the majority report." Mr. Chaffee explained why he had remained in the city. It was simply a business matter, but he would leave today and be absent ten days or two weeks. Mr. McLearie explained some things that happened in the committee room. Mr. Chaf-fee had asked for the evidence, but had been refused. The minority of the committee had Chairman Tuttle had made a report, but it was not in accordance with the evidence, nor with the facts. The report aid not suit Mr. McLearie, who so informed Mr. Tuttle who made another report. That one, like the the first, was not based upon the evidence submitted. In fact it did not touch upon the matters testified to, and to adopt it would be making a farce, the biggest kind of a farce, of the whole affair. That was not what the people wanted

President Lowry walked down upon the floor of the house and spoke a few words that had a sulphuric ring while Mr. Cooper held the chair.

Short Arm Work by Lowry.

There were members before him who took the oath of office. They had solemnly sworn to be true to their constituents, honest and fair with all men. These same men, or at least one of them, had been upon the witness stand and had there testified that Colonel Reemer, the agent of the Andrews company. had told him that he could have $500 if he would vote so and so. "Now, gentlemen," continued the presi dent, "that councilman either lied when he took his oath of office, else he did when he went upon the witness stand.

"There is more to this," and the presi-dent pointed his finger at Mr. Blumer. "The man I refer to locked the secret of the attempted bribe in his breast and allowed five or six of us to yote for the Chicago con-Again I say the man hed when he his oath of office, else ho lied when he went upon the witness stand."

Mr. Lowry was not in favor of railroading anything, but the farce-the d-d farce, he said-had gone far enough. He saw but one way out, and that was for Mr. Davis to take Mr. Chaffee's place on the committee. The whole investigation, he opined, was a politi-cal scheme from beginning to end. If there was any crockedness, it was upon the part of the home people, and one member who had peddled figures upon the streets. He did not think any money had been used in securing votes, but had he known what he learned later on he would have voted for the Ketcham company. Mr. Havken, so Mr. Lowry said, had told him that a man on THE HEE, a reporter, had wanted to interest himself in the matter and had wanted to get on the inside.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 2.- [Special to THE BEE. |-The regular monthly session of the State Board of Transportation was held this typoscript. afternoou, all of the members of the board being present with the exception of Auditor

Benton, who had been called out of the city by official business connected with his de partment. State Treasurer Hill presided over the deliberations of the meeting. The first matter taken up was the case of Mr. Johnson, the furniture dealer of Nortolk. who at two former meetings of the board had made complaints of discriminations. The case was discussed somewnat informally but po definite action was taken. Secretary Dilworth stated that he had ocen informed that after looking into the matter more carefully Mr. Johnson had come to the conclusion that his business at Norfolk was not affected so much by the local rates as by the through rates from Chicago. What Mr. Johnson evidently wanted now was for the State Board of Transportation to carry his case before the Interstate Commerce commission, Mr. Dilworth thought that the board could not go before the interstate commission, bu that the proper procedure would be for Mr. Johnson to bring an action before the later-state Commerce commission on the grounds that Norfolk was being discriminated against in favor of some other particular locality. Secretary Johnson was of the opinion that if any attempt was made to establish a rate in Nebraska the rates in other states would be affected, and that in the long run the complaining party would not be benefited. He stated that the railroads seemed disposed to do the fair thing in the matter and that even tually the case would be satisfactorily adusted.

After some further discussion it developed that the unanimous sentiment of the board was in favor of the secretaries making a regular finding in the case and thus bring the matter definitely and officially efore the board. The matter was then dropped with this understanding. The reports of the grain inspectors at Omaha and Lincoln were read by Secretary Koontz, out as both reports were incomplete for the reason that the end of the month
