SOUTH OMAHA'S STOCK MEN.

They Have Some Important Points Which Require a Little Regulating.

cilman.

The regular monthly meeting of the Live Stock exchange was held yesterday afternoon. Vice President Ab. Waggoner presid-

A. H. Noyes, general manager of the G. H. Hammond Packing company, was elected a member of the exchange.

Lee Rothschild brought up the question of through billing, claiming that he and other speculators could not buy cattle billed locally, as the rate from here to Chicago is too high. On motion the secretary was instructed to notify all snippers to bill their cattle and sheep to South Omaha with a notation in billing "destination Unleago." A resolution was brought up declaring it the sense of the exchange that the custom of prepaying telegraph messages to country shippers was an unnecessarily expensive one, and should be stopped. The resolution seemed to meet with general favor, and a committee consisting of Messrs. Bianchard, Martin and Savage was appointed to draw up an amendment to the by laws of the exchange to that effect, and have it posted to be acted on at the next regular meeting.

A similar motion to draw up a rule apol-ishing traveling men for commission firms was, after a brief discussion, voted down by a big majority, the general sentiment being that so long as Chicago, Kansas City and Sioux City had traveling men out soliciting stock from Omaha territory, it would not be the part of wisdom for the South Omaha market to be corresented.

The next business was the nomination of officers for the ensuing year to be voted on at officers for the ensuing year to be voted on at the next regular meeting which will be the first Monday in January. The following ticket was placed in nomination: President, Ab Waggoner; vice president James G. Martin; board of directors—D. L. Campbell, J. B. Blauchard, D. S. Parkhurst, L. C. Redington and Walter A. Wood; board of arbitration—Al Powell, J. D. Snields, J. B. Smiley, James Horne and Nathan E. Acker; board of appeal—P. J. McGraith, W. H. McCreary, E. P. Savage, W. B. Cheek and Sol Hopper.

City Conneil,

At the meeting of the city council of South Omaha the first thing considered was a resolution by Mr. O'Rourke that an electric light be put on the L street viaduct and two on Thirtieth south from L.

This caused an avalanche of criticism from the gentlemen representing the territory east of the tracks. Mr. Haley remarked that Mr. O'Rourke had "lots of gail" to make such a request. Mr. Rowley followed in the same vein, and for a time it looked as though a Kilkenny cat fight was imminent between the gentlemen living east and west of the tracks. Fortunately Mr. Walters came to the rescue and moved that the matter be referred to the committee of the whole. A unanimous shout of av

The embargo put on travel by the unfin-ished coedition of the paving at the east end of the Q street viaduct came up. The Metropolitan Street Railway company was also roundly condemned for digging two ditches to the same place, putting ties and rails therein and failing to fill up or pave the gaping interstices. As it was learned from the city engineer that the paving was post-poned only on account of a delay in receiving material the matter was dropped.

Dr. Ensor offered to perform the duties of city physician one year for $200; referred.

The application of Captain O'Hara of the police force for a Sunday off once a month was referred to the chief with power to act. The report of the police judge for November showed seventy-eight arrests.

The monthly paving estimate of the California Asphalt Petroleum company amounting to $4,374.09 was approved, Mr. Walters called the attention of the council to the fact that the electric light company was not giving good service; that time and again various lights did not burn for hours and yet the Electric Light company put in its bills just the same, and was being paid for service not performed. He therefore moved that the chief of police note the service of the company and a ceduction be made for

The attention of the council was called to the fact that a saloon was being run under the name of Gottlieb Sautter at 2597 N street, when a license was granted to 2523 N A number of persons interested were present and it developed that the whole fight was between the Jetter and Omaha Brewing associations as to which should sell beer to the man holding the license. Representatives of both breweries presented their claims, and talked beer until the crowd became dry. It developed that Mr. Sautter had sold his license to the Omaha Browing association, although Jetter had paid for his license, and that two saloons were rinning on one license.

On motion of Mr. Walters the chief of police was instructed to visit the various loons and close up any that did not have

After looking it over he said: "I shall most cer-tainly withhold my approval," which means

The council may refuse to sustain the veto. In that case the mayor will refuse to sign the warrants until the courts by a mandamus order him to do so.

order him to do so.

In speaking of the matter the mayor said that he was not opposed to each judge and clerk receiving $6, but there was no law for the payment. The law plainly stated that each judge and each clerk was entitled to $6 for his services at each election. That law was not capable of being stretched to such an extent as to justify the city paying the men $6 each. If it was, then there were three elections held, as the city held one, the county one, and the Board of Flucation another. The mayor thinks it would also be a bud precedent to establish, and would be a costly one for the city. When the registrars costly one for the city. When the registrars were sitting the city paid the entire bill, something over $10,000. Atthat time neither the county nor the Board of Education stepped in and offered to foot the bill, though both were equally interested.

As passed by the council the bill of the judges and clerks amount to $3,696, of which the mayor claims they are entitled to onethird, or $1,339. They had lots of wedding presents, but the trainan saive.

RECEPTION AT HAYDEN BROS.' STORE.

He Meets Many Happy Faces at His Headquarters-He Will Not Leave Until After the I olidays.

Santa Claus came to town yesterday. He arrived a little after noon, and promptly at 12:30, as previously anounced, drew up his six white steeds in front of Hayden Bros', store, and then the fun began. Following the furclothed magnate came load after load or toys for the little ones and more substantial gifts for the bigger ones.

The A. O. H. band led the procession, and they played as they never played before, for the eyes of Santa Claus were upon them. As the mighty host of gaily caparisoned wagons passed along the route you just ought to have seen the little darlings shout with delight. or old Santa brought with him visions f beautiful gifts and the merry Christnas they are soon to enjoy

If the reception of old Santa Claus was regal what can be said of Mr. Clown, who occupied an open carringe down toward the end of the thirty-three wagons in line. He was big, fat and "sassy." His face was so white you ouldn't tell whether the boys hit him or not as they snow-balled him all along the route.

After a two hours' ride the procession gain came to a standstill in front of Hayden Bros.' store, and old Santa was spirited away for a much needed rest. But he made his appearance again at way on the fourth floor, where the children gave him a royal re-ception in his headquarters. Many ave the displays that Santa laus has been the cause of but of none them is he so proud as the one now n the fourth floor at Hayden Bros. This brilliant holiday bazaar is almost beyond description, such variety, such quantity—vast piles of holiday books, standard poets, children's annuals, tea sets, tin toys, and by far the grandest and most complete stock of dolls ever brought to this city. One whole side of the house is covered with these beautiful things. The stock of musical instruments on this floor is simply indescrib-able, everything that can make music is here represented; toy pianos, accor-deons, horns, harmonicas, banjos, gui-tars, fiddles, zithers—but life is too short to mention everything. They cover a floor space of 300 feet square, so go and see for yourself.

Besides toys there are beautiful hats and cloaks for mamma or sister, clothing of all kinds for papa and brother, esides shoes, neckties, handkerchiefs and furnishing goods innumerable. The display of linens, including fine majority and minority reports of the commitlunch cloths and napkins to match was never equaled in America.

But don't go out of the store before you have seen the gold-plated banquet lamps down in the basement. In fact the basement vies with the fourth floor in magnificence. There are Japanese and China ware, beautiful r'rench Engish and American carving sets and outfits for the kitchen complete. It must be seen, it cannot be described. The Wegman pianos on the second floor sughandsome Christmas Suffice it to say, however, that even Hayden Bros. in all their previous eforts have not equaled this grand display, and that the people of Om tha appreciated it was fully demonstrated by the crowds at their opening last evenng. It was a regular evation and a compliment to those in charge. Sauta Claus will continue to make his headquarters at Hayden Bres', until after the holidays, and invites everybody to come and see him.

JUDGE DAVIS' IRE.

Actions of the Sheriff and a Juror Exasperate the Court. There will be fun in Judge Davis' court this morning and several explanations will the jurors were present. Lawrence P. Wassmuth, who resides at 917 Leavenworth, was the absence. The attorneys refused to accept the verdict with one man absent. This resulted in the judge issuing an attach-ment for Wassmuth. The document was ments after 10 o'clock.

All day the court waited for the juror and the sheriff, and as the hours dragged on his indicial mind became exercised. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon information was conveyed to the court that the attachment still quietly rested upon the sheriff's table. Then the court did grow angry, and seizing his pen the following entry was written on today's page of the docket: "Sheriff Boyd will appear before this court at its opening tomorrow morning and show why he should not be fined for contempt."

A few moments later a deputy sheriff was burrying down to Ninth and Leavenworth streets. He found Wasmuth's boarding place but he did not find his man. He was informed that the juror had departed upon a protracted drunk and might not show up for several days.
