PUSHING ON TOWARD HELENA.

Work Progressing Rap dly on the Burlington's Extension to Montana.

SHOPMEN ARE RATHER DISSATISFIED.

Latest maps of the B. & M. show its northwestern line under construction to Sheridan in northern Wyoming with a spur running down to Buffalo. A rallroad man recently from the scene of operations up in that country reports the work of construction actively going on. He says luside information indicates that the line from Sheridan will cross the Northern Pacific at or near Billings, Mont., and will then turn west on the most direct route to Helena.

It is understood that the extension will be

Still Short of Cars.

The car famine continues without material change. The freight agents profess a belief that the blockade will be broken next weak, but they have no definite information upon which to base the none.

General Agent Ritchic of the Northwestern has received advices from headquarters that his line is now prepared to receive consignments of No. 2 spring wheat, red winter wheat, yellow corn, rye and oats and No. 1 flax for Chicago. Shipments for points cast of Chicago, however, will not be received except in the cars of the eastern connecting line. Shipments that are not re-consigned at Chicago by 2 p. m. after in-spection at that point will be sent to ele-vators.

The Milwaukee freight agents have notice that the Lake Shore and the Nikel Platerall-rones will accept transfers of grain at Chi-The Baltimore & Ohio is prepared to receive a limited amount of grain, but must have advance notice of consignments.

General Freight Agent Crosby of the Bur-lington returned yesterday from Chicago, but he was unable to give any encouraging news of the car blockade. Some railroad men in Chicago thought it would be raised in fifteen days, and others not for thirty, so it seems to be largely a matter of speculation. Mr. Crosby heard a rumor that the Nickel Plate would receive consignments of grain, but he had no official notice to that effect, and he thought there were enough cars already in Chicago to gorge a single eastern line. Without having the data at hand for reference, he presumed the Burlington had 2,000 to 3,000 cars of grain standing on sidetracks in Chicago awaiting transfer into cars of eastern connections. In some cases the Burlington has allowed its cars to go east, and these may be gone many weeks.

Shopmen Dissatisfied.

Union Pacific shopmen are reported to be grumbling about their pay. When they were working ten hours a day they quit at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, but got pay for that off hour just the same. They are now working a half day on Saturday and eight and a half hours on other days, and they are only paid for the number of hours they actually put in. Naturally there is some dis-satisfaction at losing the pay for an extra hour. The grievance has not taken tangible form, however, and it has not been brought officially to the attention of the superintend-

In some eastern railroad shops where the employes quit at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, they make up that time by having the noon hour cut short ten minutes each day,

In the case of the Union Pacific, that hour has been a gift to its employes, and it came about in a rather curious way. Some twenty years ago a custom was inaugurated at thes shops of stopping work at 5 o'clock on Saturday to give the men an hour for cleaning up the machinery. It did not require all the employes to do this, but they were all allowed full time. Pretty soon the men who had to stay and wipe the machinery began to grumble because others could go home at o'clock. The result in time was that work after that hour was abolished and the full

Fred Whitney's Successor.

As time goes by there is an increasing interest in the appointment of the successor of the late Fred B. Whitney, first assistant general freight agent of the Union Pacific It is not likely any appointment will be made until General Traffic Manager Mellen returns. He is now at Salt Lake City, headed for Omaha, but is not expected here until after Christmas. Circumstances, however, now foreshadow his probable action, and they are considered such reliable pointers that men familiar with Union Pacific methods, accept them as all but conclusive.

Last week Mr. C. J. Lane, traveling freight agent for the Union Pacific with headquarters at Grand Island, was called in to Omaha. Since then Mr. E. H. Wood, ussist ant general freight agent, has occupied the office and discharged the duties of Mr. Whitney. Mr. Lane has been occupying the desk vacated by Mr. Wood and taking up the lines of that gentleman's work. It is assumed, of course, that these changes have been made by direction from Mr. Mellen, and railroad men who Mellen, and railroad men who have watched his policy closely say it is pretty safe to gamble that they clearly indi-cate coming events. It is, therefore, predicted that Mr. Wood will be promoted to first assistant general freight agent and Mr. Lane to assistant general freight agent.

Different in Kansas.

It is a noticeable circumstance that' the Kansas railroads will give a holiday rate of one fare for the round trip, while the Nebraska lines will charge a fare and a third The Kansas City, Fort Scott & Memphis railroad is charged with bringing about this state of things. It announced a determination to make a one-fare rate, and other roads in its territory had to meet the reduction. The affected area spread until it took in Kausas, and the Union Pacific presents the curious spectacle of offering unequal holiday rates on different parts of its system in adjoining states.

The volume of mail passing through is rapidly increasing, and by the middle of next week it threatens to become something of a crush. Postmaster Clarkson says he is better shape to handle the matter this Christmas than last, however, for he has a larger working force. The money order and registry departments have almost doubled in volume of business within the past two weeks, but the usual force in those depart-

WARNED HER AGAINST GRAVES. ieveral Witnesses Testify in Denver's

Sensational Murder Case. DESVER, Colo., Dec. 17 .- Edward Bennett was the first witness in the Graves trial this morning. He identified several letters received by Mrs. Barnaby from Dr. Graves. Mrs. Bennett testified that she had visited Mrs. Barnaby, and that the latter had said she had left Dr. B. Graves $30,000 in her first will. Witness had seen a letter from Dr. Graves to Mrs. Barnaby, in which the doctor had threatened to have a guardian appointed for Mrs. Barnaby. Witness had seen Mrs. Barnaby in the Adirondacks riding horseback, man style. She (Mrs. Barnaby) was dressed in a mother hubbard, and once fell off her horse. Mrs. Hickey of Providence, who was Mrs. Barnaby's washwoman, was next called, She had known Mrs. Barnaby and her famly over thirty years. Mrs. Barnaby lived in a small house by herself, and when her hus-band died, she told witness that her husband had left her but $2,500 per year, and she was not satisfied with this. Shortly afterwards she became acquainted with Dr. Graves, and cemed to have been fascinated with him. Soon after this, Mrs. Barnaby said that Dr. Graves had advised her to contest her husband's will, and she had advised them both not to do so. Later Mrs. Barnaby told wit-ness she was going to follow the doctor's ad-vice, and that he wanted her to sign a paper that Maud Barnaby was not Mr. Barnaby's child. Witness advised her to do no such thing, and Mrs. Barnaby said the doctor had told her if she could not get her rights she should have her revenge. Again, Mrs. Barnaby told her that, if Mr. Barnaby could give $100,000 to his mistress, she should have her rights. She said Dr. Graves told her that Mr. Barnaby had left his money to his mistress. Be-fore becoming acquainted with Mrs. Barnaby, Dr. Graves lived in a two roomed house, but soon afterwards he moved into a targe and handsome one. Mrs. Barnaby was very susceptible to flattery, and by this means Dr. Graves gained control of her until she would do anything he said. While Mrs. Barnaby was in California, witness received a letter from hor, in which she asked witness to watch Dr. Graves, that she had reasons to mistrust him. She answered that she would tell her all when she came home, because she did not care to put much on paper. In January last witness asked Dr. Graves why he sent Sallie Hanley with Mrs. Barnaby, "To spy on her?" "Cer-tainly," the doctor replied. Witness next tainly," the doctor replied. Witness next saw the doctor in April last. They had warm words about the property, and the doctor said; "If Mrs. Barnaby asked for her property, he would bring her in insane and you need not be surprised if you hear some day that Mrs. Barnaby has had a shock." "When Mrs. Barnaby started for California, it was the last lines by a says was a silvent war says." it was the last time I ever saw her alive. I wrote here but once, telling her that I would tell her all about Dr. Graves when she came home. Dr. Graves told me he understood that Mrs. Barnaby was coming home to get her money and give it to the Bennetts, and, if she attempted anything of the kind, he would have her sent to a crazy house, or have a guardian appointed for her."

Henry G. Trickey, correspondent of the Beston Globe, was the next witness. He testified to having had an interview with Dr. Graves at Providence, in which the doctor stated that he was surprised that anyone should suspect him of poisoning Mrs. Bar-naby. He believed she had been poisoned. and was under the impression the poison had been sent her from Boston. He refused to talk concerning his movements or journey west after Mrs. Barnaby's death, and he also stated that he did not know the cause of her death until he reached Denver. Mrs. Bar-naby had informed him that he was a bene-ficiary in her will, but he did not know the amount. He told witness that he had taken charge of Mrs. Barnaby's affairs, but only non her earnest solicitation. He also reected upon Mrs. Barnaby's character, and eclared he was sorry he had ever become equainted with her. Adjourned.

CARING FOR ROYALTY.

England Will be Asked to Make Another Gift of Money. London, Dec. 17 .- The corneration of the eity of London today voted the sum of 25,000 guineas for the purpose of providing a wedling present for Prince Albert Victor of Wales and Princess Victoria Mary of Teck. It has been said that the prince of Wales feels a hesitancy about asking parliament to make a grant for the proper support of his ddest son after his marriage to Princess Victoria Mary, and that parliament might, in view of the great popu-larity of the engagement, take the initiative move and have a bill for that purpose originate in the house. It has even ocen suggested in some quarters that the ord mayor of London should open a sub-scription for the fund for the support of the oyal couple, but it is not believed that the ucen or prince of Wales would give their onsent to any such means to raise money,

Some of the radicals are not backward in saying that the country is already enough taxed to support the queen and her numerous relatives, and that her majesty could very readily grant Prince Albert Victor and Princess Victoria Mary a marriage portion from her private purse.

Fergeant Jackson of the Sixth Cavalry on Trial for His Life.

QUESTION OF OFFICERS' RIGHTS INVOLVED

May a Superior Slay an Insubordinate Inferior-Slight Tilt Over Jurisdiction---Prosecution's Evidence All In.

This appears to be military week in the United States district court. The entire week will be taken up with two military

The trial of Trumpeter Dixon charged with murder was completed Wednesday and the trial of Sergeant Jackson charged with manslaughter was begun yesterday. Jackson was sergeant of the guard at Fort Robinson last October. He had charge of ome prisoners and one of the number, a pribadly intoxicated. Donovan became very insulting and abusive in his language and would not obey the orders of the guard. The sergeant, Jackson, finally became exasperated and struck Donovan over the head with the outt of his rifle, crushing his skull. This occurred on October S, and the injured man iied on October 15. Jackson is a colored man and is a member of the Sixth cavairy. Donovan was a white man and belonged to the Eighth infantry.

. Raised a Pretty Point.

After the jury had been called and sworn for the hearing of the Jackson case Attorney Offut, for the defense, began to contend that the case should never have been brought into the civil courts at all. He held that it should have been tried by court martial. The defendant, Mr. Offut chaimed, would have been cleared by a court martial, because he had a right, as an officer in the discharge of his duty to kill a man who disobeyed military orders. Mr. Offut insinuated that the civil authorities had been over anxious to get bold of the case, and this brought Mr. Baker to his

"I never asked the military authorities for the privilege of trying this case. The military authorities sent word that they wanted us to take charge of the case and we have done so," said Mr. Baker. "The grand jury returned a bill against this man and bere am to do my duty.

"I am not anxious to try the case. If the military department went the case they can have it, so far as I am concerned," the district attorney said rather sharply. "This is all out of order," in-torposed the judge. "This matter should have been discussed before a jury was order," called. The trial must proceed now. Sympathy for Jackson.

The fact of the situation is just this: The sympathy of the army officers is, to a very large degree, with Jackson. The judge advocate seems to desire that Jackson should be acquitted. It is feared, however, that he will be convicted of manslaughter. He would have been acquitted by a court martial because nine out of every ten officers believe that an officer has a right to kill a subordinate who will not obey orders.

Speaking of the case an officer of very high rank in the headquarters said: "It has high rank in the beadquarters said: "It has been held and established that an officer has a right to kill a man who interferes with him in the discharge of his duty. Evidence for Prosecution.

Something like half a dozen witnesse were introduced by the presecution to prove that Jackson struck Donovan over the head with his gun and that the blow was the cause of Donovan's death. The prosecution also proved that the act took place on the Fort Ropinson military reservation on Octo

The evidence introduced brought out the fact that the decased was at the time Jackson struck him using the most vile and abusive and insulting words and applying the most obscene epithets to Sergeant Jackson that human speech could possibly frame. It was also disclosed that Jackson took the gun in both hands by the barret, and swinging it over his head as a club, he struck the offending inebriate a terrific blow on the side of the head, crushing in a section of the head about four inches long and cracking the base of the skull clear across.

Judge Dundy said yesterday that in case a new trul was not granted that Dixon would be hanged in Omaha. The sentence, the judge said, if pronounced vithout interference would be spoken some day toward the close of the present term. The time for the execution might be fixed within thirty days or within a year at the discretion of the judge. In all probability the execution, if it should take place, will be within sixty or ninety days. It is a well known fact that Judge Dundy distikes to have any cases of that kind upon his mind and will, no doubt, want to get the painful duty out of the way and out of his mind as quickly as Dixon Takes it Cooly.

Among those who know something about the facts in the case, the verdict seems to give general satisfaction. About army head quarters several officers stated yesterday that they believed the verdict was a just one and that would not only be a wholesome lesson to victous men in general, but would have a saintary effect upon the victously inclined in Dixon, the convicted murderer of Corporal Carter, accepts the situation very quietly. He is apparently but little more concerned than he was before the trial. On returning to the jail he remarked: "Well, they stuck it into me," and afterward declared that he had been given the worst of it. FORGERS CAUGHT.

Clever Capture of a Pair of Expert But Rockless Peamen.

On Sunday last there arrived in town from Grand Island two very smooth young men who set out at once to raise a sum of cash by forging checks. Monday and Tuesday the sharpers worked and managed to gather in a couple of hundred dollars in cash. Alfred Laughland is the head of the firm and J. A. Dowell is his able lieutenant. After successfully working Grand Island for a week or so the pair struck out for new fields where they had begun to reap a rich harvest. The firm of W. V. Morse & Co. was chosen as victims and a number of checks bearing an alleged fac-simile of that concern's signature were floated in several different banks on Monday.

A letter from the Grand Island officials to Chief Seavey put him on the lookout and Detectives Savage and Dempsey took the matter in hand. Laughland evidently got scarcel yesterday for he sloped on the Mis-souri Pacific moraing train, Dowell was arrested by Dempsey after a nalf day's hunt, and safely lodged behind the bars. A tele Chief Senvey received word that Laughland had been arrested at Weeping Water. Detective Savage left at 9:30 o'clock to oring the man back to Omaha.

The detectives certainly deserve credit for a very clever catch. So far as heard from the bogus checks amount to about $200.
