A bomb shell is about to be exploded with in two blocks of the Bloomer school which will be apt to create a large sized sensation. The parties to the affair are a man and his wife who have resided in Council Bluffs for fifteen years or more, and have moved in the best social circles. For some time past the woman has had serious doubts as to her husband's fidelity. About six months ago she employed a detective to assist her in ascertaining whether her suspicions were well-founded. Ever since that time the case has been undergoing an invest-igation, and although carried on in a very quiet manner, it was whispered abroad among the intimate friends of the family, that some thing was going to drop soon that would set the gossips agog. For about a week the lady has been going

For about a week the lady has been going about the city disguised as a conset peddler, and day before yesterday, it is alleged, she managed to get inside the doors of the house where she thought her husband had been spending most of his spare time. The first thing that greeted her eyes was a stove which had formerly belonged 'o her husband but had been sold by him, according to the story which ne told his wife. She also ob-tained plenty of proof in other ways that her husband has been practically making his home during the daytime at the house. The woman who she claims is responsible for the alienation of her husband's affections is the wife of a man who works in an Omaha gambling house. The aggrieved lady has retained the services of an attorney and a petition is now being drawn up for a divorce.

Domestic Troubles.

An information has been issued in Justice Hammer's court against May Thompson, a woman who has been living over Walter's harness shop on Upper Broadway, charging her with being an inmate of a house of prositution. The complainant is Mrs. William Priest, wife of a barber who has been doing business on Broadway near the corner of First street. The filing of the information is the secuel to a story of domestic troubles which have been going on in the Priest household for some time set. The Priest household for some time past. Mrs. Priest claims that ber husband has been led astray by the machinations of Miss Thompson, so that she is cheated out of that portion of her hus-band's society which belongs to her by right. She deternined to put a stop to this, and with that end in view has in-volved the strong arm of the law to her assistance. Miss Thompson learned that something desperate was about to be done, however, and a day or two ago shut up her house and fied to the seaside. Priest sold out his barber shop, and there was a report last night that he had left town but an investigation failed to verify the rumor. All efforts to find the woman have been unavailing, but Justice Hammer's office will be kept warm for her night and day in the hope that she will return.

The police received a telegram a day or two ago from a man in Wahoo, Neb., stating that a man named Pollsey had eloped with a young lady named Maud Porter, and had come to this city. They were located at a hotel and word was sent to the trate father that they were living as husband and that they were living as husband and wife. Yesterday morning another message was received, telling the police to arrest them unless they had been duly married. The communication, however, was anony-mous, and no attention was paid to it by the police. The parties were seen by a reporter, to whom they stated that their marriage was opposed by their friends, whereupon they de-cided to steal a march on the meddlesome relatives by skipping. They skipped, and secured their license to wed in Nebraska.

"A pig is a dangerous thing to run over, for he is likely to throw the loco-motive off the track. When the pilot of the engine hits him it usually knocks him down and then rolls him for a few yards under it before the trucks strike him, and when they do there is great danger of them leaving the rails. The drivers are almost certain to follow the trucks, and if you don't go down the bank you are lucky. So you see what havoc one pig can make with a railroad.
