Another New Building. The year 1892 promises to be prolific of building enterprises in Omaha, Already contracts are being let for structures which are to be begun as soon as weather will permit. The W. R. Bennett Co. have contracted for a 66x104 foot addition to their store, which will extend from their present location clear down to 15th street, thus making one of the largest and finest business houses in the city. Excavation will be commenced at once, and the firm hopes to be installed in their new quarters in time for the spring trade.

This move shows commendable enterprise on the part of "Bennett's" and a faith in of Omaha, which is no warranted by the remarkable growth of the firm's business during the past twelve years

GOOD LOCKING BOYS. The List of Those Securing Prizes from the Nebraska Clothing Company. The novel photograph contest which Mr. F. J. Taggart, the advertising man of the Nebraska Clothing company originated in order to get a set of cuts of "typical western boys" for their semi-annual catalogue, took place in the corner show window of that popular concern on New Year's eve. With rare good judgment, the Nebraska Clothing company had invited six prominent newspaper men, Messrs, N. P. Feil, Frank J. Burkley, Sol Davidsohn, Dan B. Houin, C. A. Elmen and Sophus F. Neble to act as judges. At 7 o'clock the judges entered the window where the photos were arranged on a white back-ground, and began their task. Willie C. Gillie of Carroll, Ia., was a unanimous first choice, as was F. Waldo Scott, 2822 North Nineteenth avenue, Omana, for sec-ond; Louis G. Whitehead of Council Bluffs secured third and Jerome Heyn, son of Heyn the photographer, fourth prize. It took man ballots and fully half an hour to decide which which was the handsomest of six handsome boys, but Leroy Harris, 2618 St. Mary's avenue, secured fifth prize. To show the extent that the Omaha newspapers circulate, it is only necessary to state that pho received from fourteen different If you want to see what judges of beauty Omaha newspaper men are look in the window, where the photos will remain till Tuesday.

SHE MAKES BISCUITS.

This Minneapolis Young Lady Has a New Scheme. to which home patronage been practiced by the people of Omaha has made serious inroads upon the business of some outside firms that have been growing fat out of Omaha, and some of these firms are making strenuous efforts to stem the tide of popular sentiment. In spite of the ract that it has been pointed out time and again that it is to the advantage of Omaha retail dealers to promote home industries, as it will im-prove their trade, many of them are assisting these outside firms to keep their grip or Nebraska. The retail dealers who are doing this are not the new-comers to the city, but they are men who have been in business in Omaha for years, men who have made every dollar they have out of the patronage of Onaha neople. In the face of this they turn round and stap their ewn city in the most vital point by siding outside manufacturers to crush out the manufacturing spirit in Nebraska. The latest example of this hostility on the part of retail dealers to Nebraska industries is to be found in the grocery trade. There was a time when the people of Omaha believed that no flour was good unless it bore some Minneapolis brand but on foot they tried Omaha and Nebraska flour and found it equal in every respect to the best Minneapolis brands. The discovery of this truth has materially cut down the sale of the leading Minneapolis brands in Omaha and the manufacturers of that city felt that something must be done or Ne braska millers would be able to build up a business within their own state and in time become strong enough to compete with Minneapolis in other states. Accordingly the largest flour manufacturer of Minneapolis came to Omaha and perfected arrangements with the enemies of home patronage by means of which it is noped to one more make the public believe that Minneapo-lis is the only city that can make good flour. This Minneapolis miller brought with his a young woman who is noted as an exper bread and biscuit baker. The past week this baker has been operating in a well known grocery store in Omaha. Every custome that enters the store, gentleman or lady, i treated to hot biscuits, which are certain! of excellent quality and taste, good espe cially to one whose appetite has been sharp ened by the exercise of shopping.

While partaking of this free lunch the consumer is cutertained by the glibrecital of the fact that the flour was made in Minnespolis, and for fear that it may be forgotten circu lars are distributed.

This Minneapolis bake shop is not located in the back part of the store or under the counter where Nebraska made goods are so frequently placed, but the best part of the store is given up too it, the front counter close by the entrauce. The clerks and the proprietor vie with each other as to which one can lead the greatest number of cus-tomers up to the free lunch counter and say the most complimentary things about the Minneapolis flour and the fair baker.

Only about a week is spent in a place and then the bakery is moved into some other store. In this way it is proposed to make the rounds of all the leading grocery stores, or as many of themsas are willing to lend themselves to the aid of Nebraska's com-Ladies who sample these buscuits, and are inclined to believe that they are better than the ones which they get at home, must bear in mind that there is a wide difference between their $3 a week servant girl and the $75 a month Minneapolis expert. People who find themselves financially embarrassed at meal time would do well to re-member this Minneapolis free lunch counter.

Holidays Celebrated by Nearly All of the Societies-Coming Events. The holidays-both Christmas and New Year's-were, as usual, celebrated by the Germans of Omaha in a way according to the style of their fatherland. There was hardly any German society in the city which did not celebrate Christmas and New Year's. Among the singing societies the well known Lieder-kranz ranks the foremost. This society has a membership of thirty-seven male and thirty female voices. The leadership is under the able direction of Prof. Dworzak and at the New Year's entertainment the society sang admirably. The tadies of the Liederkranz held a fair in their hail, Tenth and Farnam streets, Saturday and Sunday nights for the purpose of increasing the fund for the vereinsfahne a banner. The fair was in every respect a success. The well known tenor, Herr Peter The fair was in every respect a Kaiser, sang a few of his great songs. The singing of the chorus was also excellent and was heartily applauded. The receipts of the fair netted the society about $200. The success of this was celebrated New Year's eve, the ladies giving the male singers a punch

The ladies of the society also presented Prof Dworzak with a handsome tyre as a token of their esteem for him. Ed Gautsich, the lanitor, was given a meerchaum pipe

At the presentation of these speeches were made by the members of the society. The Arion society held its holiday entertainment Sunday night at Metropolitan hall. The concert was led by Prof. Charles Peterson, also one of the best leaders of the Conand everybody enjoyed themselves to their heart's content. During the concert Ed. event. Mr. Tulleys' Rejoinder. Омана, Jan. 2.—To the Editor of THE BES In your Thursday evening paper is an article referring to the Anglo-American Mortgage & Trust company, to which allow me to make a brief reply. The statements contained in the article evidently emacate from Mr. Breen. The injunction suit mentioned is a matter of current publicity. It will be rigorously prosecuted, and, no doubt, 'hotly con-tested." Large interests are involved; we have some $4,000,000 in business upon the company's books, and about $100,000 in stock, of which the writer has the largest holdings. Besides a personal interest, we feel it a duty to look carefully after the interests of investors. From the action by the eastern directors, ever since care a farthing for any interests but their own. With such reasonable and legal in-structions as they have given, we have

DR. TRACY'S BIG DISCOVERY, Cure for Drunkenness, Opium and Tobacco That is Not Dangerous.

RESULT OF A PHYSICIAN'S RESEARCH. Many Years of Ardent Study Rewarded with Success-Popularity Which the New Cure Has Already Achieved in the West.

A BEE representative called upon Dr. J. F. Tracy, physician in charge of the Tracy institute at Blair, Neb., yesterday and found him busy attending to the wants of his many patients, who are being treated for drunken-ness. The doctor is a very genial man and an easy talker and feels quite confident that his is the best cure for drunkenness, opium and tobacco habit in existence. He has been studying up on the subject for years, but has never been fully satisfied with his experiments until recently, when he was able to demonstrate to the public that he had a cure that was in no way injurious to the patient, and in fact had a tendency to build him up, and at the same time take away the appetite for these abominable habits. As soon as it became known to the public he was flooded with applicants who wished to get hold of his secret, knowing him to be a thorough medical man. He has now organized a stock company, which consists of some of the most prominent merchants and business men of the city. Dr. Tracy has practiced medicine over twenty-six years, eleven of the latter in Nebraska, and is well known through-

counties, and is considered one of the best physicians in Nebraska. Since the company has organized under the name of "The Tracy Institute" at Blair their patients have increased so rapidly that they have been compelled to move into larger quarters, and the doctor devotes nearly all of his time to the care of the patients. They have fitted up a nice building on Washington street, within one block of the passenger depot, have good accommoda-tions such as board, lodging, etc., and everything convenient for the patients.

Several of the patients were seen by the writer and each and every one expressed themselves freely and in the nighest praise of the cure. The company are now in shape to accommodate a limited number of patients and are receiving daily applications for territory to operate the cure in other states. The medicine will be prepared at Blair under the direct supervision of Dr. Tracy and supplied to the branch institutes in other states in large quantities.

THEIR ANNUAL REPORTS.

Chiefs Seavey and Galligan Weite to the Fire and Police Commission. Chief Seavey submitted his annual report of absentees to the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners at its regular meeting last night. Six hundred and sixty-five days were lost on account of annual leaves, 210 excused by the board, 146 excused by the chief, 1,307 on account of sickness, making a total of 2,331 days lost. Three hundred and sixty-four days were lost in December, of which 123 were on account of sickness.

I would respectfully request your honorable body to place a clock in the elerk of the court's office that will go (some place) and will keep time.

The present clock is worn out, having been in use in the old court house from "fore de wah;" has been repaired and repaired time and again, until it has worn itself out and now refuses to ro at all. Even its face looks sad and worn. Won't you kindly get the office a new clock? And I will forevever pray, etc., etc. etc., etc. Referred to the committee on court house and jail, after Major Paddock had moved that the opening lines be submitted to Mr. Berlin as the literary member of the board. Bids for constructing a pile bridge over Cut-Off lake at eastern terminus of Ames avenue were opened and read, the only discussion being over the admission of F. L. Reeves & Co.'s bid, which was filed ten minutes late according to the commissioner's clock. The bidder offered to prove that he habie watch, and the bid was finally admitted. The bid of D. S. Beatty was reje because no certified check accompanied i:

cheerfully complied. They know little about this business, live 1,500 miles from our field of operations, and their ideas of conducting of operations, and their ideas of conducting a western real estate business are purpracti-cable. We have been disposed to curtail ex-penses, have reduced the salaries of all the Omaha officers and employes, and have cut

Omaha officers and employes, and have cut down expenses where practicable. The said directors have no consention of the work a business of this magnitude requires, and would so reduce the clerical force as to involve the business in inextricable confusion. Yet, while complaining of necessary expense at this end, they force the company to expend about $5,000 annually to support an eastern office, which is not only of no ad-yantage, but an absolute hindrance to the business; not only this, but at heavy ex-pense they keep an attorney in their employ constantly, whose only purpose seems to be to wreck it. We have refused to obey cer-tain instructions of the eastern directors, to wit: that all moneys coming to this office shall be sent to the New York office, no officer of the company to draw a check on its funds except Mr. Brown, the vice president, for an amount exceeding $50, and not for that amount without first submitting it to Brown. This places the entire financial or u-trol in the hands of Mr. Brown, and mea-practically, liquidation, for very little new business can be done under such instructions. Our lack of confidence in Mr. Brown would not permit us to send the funds of the company to his office. This fact we have repeatedly and emphatically stated to the eastern directors. We have proposed to give the facts which have destroyed our confidence in Brown, but his smooth and specious address seems to have charmed them into quiescent security. The company's attorneys advise us that the instructions just referred to are in contravention of our articles of incorporation, and therefore illegal; so that we are all well fortified with reasons for refusing to obey such instructions.

Mr. Breen states what he knows to be false when he says we have refused to permit the stockholders to examine the books and accounts of the company. He himself presented written authority from a stock-our records, and the outfit he represents seems to be chagrined because he has been unable to find anything reflecting upon the management. We did refuse to allow Clark to make examination, because of his hostile attitude to the best interests of the company. At a late directors' meeting, held in New York, we are on record as having voted for the resolution to make a thorough examination, provided it was done by any other person than Clark. We have nothing in our business transactions to conceal, but we decline to have such a man as Clark behind our counter. They must trump up some charge which looks reasonable on its face, so they charge us with mismanagement. We are willing to submit the question to competent parties who are acquainted with this business. We have had a long ex-perience in this business, and trust we may not seem to be guilty of boasting when we say that we have established a good reputation for integrity, honest dealing and business ability. The fight is on, we "nold the fort," and propose to stay right nere till the courts recommend a change of base.

Major Paddock declared that the statutes provided that the contract should be twarded at the first meeting in January and that meant the present meeting. The chairman explained that the statutes provided that the first meeting in January was to be held by the new board on the second Tuesday in January, and that this was properly an adjourned session and didn't count. The bids were opened to see that they were properly signed and accompanied by a certified check and were then referred to the finance committee.

Another job lot of official bonds were referred to the proper committees.
