Delivered by Carrier to any part of the City H. W. TILTON. - MANAGER.

MINOR MENTION.

N, Y. Plumbing Co.

Council Bluffs Lumber Co., coal. Craft's chattel loans, 204 Sapp block.

A marriage license was issued vesterday to James Johnson and Lucinda McCoy, both of Omaha.

C. A. Van Loon and Mrs. Emma Sippel, both of Omaha, were married Saturday night by Justice Hammer at his residence.

Jacob Howarth executed a chattel mort-gage yesterday to John Boekboff for $225, covering all the bar room fixtures of his lace, known as the St. Joe house, 621 South Main street.

Major J. J. Keppel, accompanied by Captain and Mrs. Lindsey and cadets from Omaha, are expected to lead the special meeting at the army hall, Bryant street, tonight. No charge at the door.

Alice Holland, who lives at the house of her uncle, N. P. Dodge, met with a serious accident last Saturday, failing on the ice and breaking her arm. She was given prompt medical attention, and is now resting easily. A pleasant surprise party was given last Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. Carrie Murphy, 739 Broadway, by about thirty of her friends. The hours were whiled away with dancing and card playing. refreshments being served during the eve-

Sims and Saunders commenced suit in the superior court yesterday against L. J. Eili Superior court yesterday against L. J. Ent-thorpe to collect attorney fees in the sum of [380.20, which are claimed for legal services rendered in connection with the famous "Ellithorpe road cases," which have been pending since 1889 until recently in the district court.

Information was received in the city last evening of the death of Rev. M. Geer, an old well known citizen of Tabor, which occurred at noon. He had been ill with la grippe and the died very suddenly from heart failure. He is the father of E. B. Geer, professor of music in Gates college, Neligh, Neb., and Dr. Geer of Chicago. All the family is well known in this vicinity.

The case of Wright & Baldwin vs. Kimbali & Champ for $10,000 attorney fees, was yesterday assigned for trial on February 13. The defense claims that the fee is excribitant, the chief work done being the drawing of a lease for the Grand hotel and a few days' trip eastward in connection with the Cragin trouble with the hotel and ejecting the tenant, Kimball & Champ raying at the time all the expenses of the trip which was a large amount.

The case of George E. Williams, charged with burglarizing a house owned by John Morgel in the northeastern part of the city and stealing some lath, was continued by Justice Swearingen yesterday on account of the absence of a man named Jensen, who s the main witness in the case. He has Socked up his house and taken his family to Omaha, presumably in order to avoid having to appear against Williams. The case is nov set for a hearing on February 4, and in the meantime an effort will be made to secure Jensen's attendance in court.

Last week Brown came to the city and tried to get his brother-in law to increase the amount of stock he had invested with him, telling him it was impossible to compete with the other dealers of his town on a cap-ital of $200. Marcus refused to give him any more money and wanted him to pay him what more money and wanted him to pay him what he already owed him. There were some angry words spoken, but the trouble between them was finally patched up for the time being and they agreed to submit their difficulties to a committee of arbitration. Last Saturday this committee heard the evidence, and vesterday rendered judgment in favor of Marcus, finding that Brown was indebted to him in the sum of

WEST POINT, Neb., Jan. 25,-|Special felegram to THE BEE. |-A large and enthusiastic audience composed of the representative people of West Point and Cuming county greeted Mr. Edward Rosewater, editor of THE BEE, in his lecture tonight on "Europea Travel." The lecture was given under the auspices of the Congregational society of this city. The Juvenile cornet band and the Congregational choir furnished excellent music for the occasion.

Crawford, Mr. Rosewater was received with hearty ap-plause. He said that he felt that any man who was laboring to build up the industries and develop the resources of this great state had the sympathy and the appreciation of offered prayer, after which the waiters com-menced their task of looking after the waits of the guests. Dalbey's orchestra, in the meantime, played a medicy of Scotch airs that sent the blood tingling to the finger tups of the loyal Scots and the barbarians alike. the people. He then started on his European trip, touching briefly on his landing at South-ampton, England, and then on his visit to London, the Babylon of the modern world.

England's Underground Railroads. He contrasted the underground railway ystem of London with the elevated system of New York, somewhat favorably to the latter. His description of St. Paul's cathedral and the London Tower was especially fine. He humorously contrasted the habits and customs of London with those of this country. Among other things he said that during his stay in London he received a card from Mr. Lincoln which contained the following: "Mr. Lincoln will be at home after 11 o'clock," ientioning the day and date. He interpreted the 11 o'clock to mean 11 o'clock a. m., and accordingly sallied forth at that hour. Mr. Lincoln was surprised at receiving a caller before breakfast, but matters were soon explained and he made his second call at the proper time-11 o'clock p. m. "Imagine my surprise," he said, "when during my second call I heard a gentleman ex-cusing himself at 1 o clock a. m., on account of the earliness of the hour and still another at 2 o'clock a. m. for the reason that he had baif a dozen other calls to make."

Interesting Scenes Described.

The British museum, Stratford-on-Avon, ho parish church and old school house at Stratford, Red Horse tavers, Kenilworth castle and the tomb of Shakespeare were each described in turn and in a highly inter-esting manner. From London he went to Manchester, which city be said had the finest municipal organization in the world. He based his opinion on the fact that not a sin-gle franchise had been granted by the city, and that all the city appliances and conveniences were owned and operated by the city authorities. Crossing the channel he landed at Rotterdam and spoke of the magnificent decorations there, the occasion being the visit of the German emperor to that city. Journeying thence to Amsterdam he described the country as being the land of wind mills, dykes, canals and ditches, "Traveling by rail," said he, "in this coun-try is very uncomfortable." Passing on to Antwerp he spoke of the decline and rise of that city. "What disgusted me," said he, "was the fact that all the old buildings of historic value were being torn down and re-placed by modern structures." Going to Brussets he gave - description of the great hall in which the English, all confi-dent of victory, held their grand ball on the night before Waterloo, also of the courthouse there which he said, was the finest temple of justice he had ever seen. Parls was not to considered, and its boulevards, hotels, cente-teries, its national boliday lasting three days, all received their share of attention. He said he had witnessed a review of French troops and of German troops and he was of the opinion that the German troops were far superior in everything excepting artillery, in which, he said, the French were superb.

Might Have Been Worse.

It has just become known that the city vater works imitated those of Chicago last Saturday night and refused to yield their accustomed supply of Missouri river water. The trouble was caused by the breaking of a valve at the power house, which laid off a portion of the machinery and reduced the pres portion of the machinery and reduced the pres-sure to eighty pounds. This state of affairs lasting until Sunday morning. If a fire had started in the glens it would have been impossible to got sufficient pressure to ex-tinguish it, and the result might have been disastrous. The socialists of London and the police had a fight last Sunday at a meeting of the former. Several were injured on both sides and ar-rests made.

The trial of the man Schneider and his wife. who are accused of murdering servant girls for the purpose of robbing them, is in progress in Vienna. The man has pleaded guilty of several murders, and accuses his wife of others.

poleon I. was then related, and said he: "When I ascended from the tomb I noticed that a number of peasants near it were in tears, thus indicating that they longed for the day when the flag of Napoleon waved over most of the civilized world."

Switzerland, with ber grandeur of scenery, was then finely pictured, and from that coun-try he passed to Vienna. The white house at Washington, he said, was not to be compared with the palaces of the kings of Europe but he was glad to see that we are retaining our simplicity and that our rulers did not embellish their palaces at the people's expanse. Coming to Prague, the capital of the land of his birth, he said. "Prague, a city that has seen a hundred battle fields, pillaged by the French and Swedes, around which the nations of the earth had made their battle fields, is today enjoying a period of great prosperity. Its citizens are making advancement along every line and their contribute the train contraction. their activity is truly remarkable. Their school exhibits were particularly tine, and we are far behind them in the matter of manual training and all that pertains to the practical in education." Mr. Rosewater held the clore attention of his audience for two hours, and his conclud-ing sentence was heard with regret. His quiet, dignified, unassuming manner and his splendid lecture won him many friends. He will go from this place leaving behind many pleasing and profitable thoughts.

USE OF OIL AS A FUEL.

Rules for Burning Crude Fluid Adopted by Chicago Underwriters.

Discussion of rules to govern the use of crude petroleum for fuel occupied the attention of the Chicago Fire Uuder writers association at yesterday's meet ing, says the Chicago Herald. The question of rates was not men tioned, the whole time being given to consideration of the new provisions concerning the use of oil for fuel. The rules adopted are as follows:

Vault to be located so that the oil it contains can burn out without endangering property and have capacity sufficient to hold twice the entire quantity of oil the tanks within can contain. Distance from any property to be regulated by size of tanks. Vault to be underground built of brick, sides and ends to be at least sixteen inches thick and to be made water tight with hydraulic cement; bottom to be water tight, con-crete, dished toward center and inclined to one end so as to drain all overflow seepage to that end, said incline to be to the end opposite to that from which the tank is to be tapped; top to be supported with heavy iron ""I" beams, with arches of solid brick "sprung from one beam to its neighbors, and to have at least twelve inches of dirt over the maoar

Vault to be accessible by one or more large man holes, which when not in use, are to be kept locked by a large pad-lock of three or more tumblers, key to be held by some responsible party. A trough must run from one end of the vault to the other, directly under each tank, and in the same direction as the tank or tanks.

The vault shall be air tight as near as possible, and must have two ventilating pipes of iron of four inches inside diameter, both inlet and outlet pipe to reach within six inches of the bottom of the vault, the outlet ventilating pipe to rise above service eight feet, the inlet ventilating pipe to rise above 'service six feet. Siphon to be arranged so as to carry out any seepage or leakage into the vault; and discharge same upon the ground, where its burning would not en-langer surrounding property, Tank to be of boiler iron or steel at least three-sixteenths of an inch in thickness, to be cold riveted, the entire outer surface of tank to have two good coats of coal tar or mineral paint before the tank is placed in position.

No tank shall be over eight feet in
