"Must a Man Pay if He Loses" Under Debate in a Justice Court.

INTEREST IN THIS QUESTION

Forensic Broadsides Trained on it for Ter Hours' Steady Firing-Shot in the Shoulder-In Memory of John F. Boyd.

The entire neighborhood in the vicinity of Justice Levy's office was streaked during the livelong day with flights of oratory. The case on trial was McMillan against Parks, although the fuss was really between Mc-Millan and Thomas O'Neil.

The whole day was consumed in the presentation of the case to his honor. As near as can be ascertained, the plot is as follows: O'Neil made arrangements to sell a lot on Q street for $1,150. The customer went to the piece of realty in question and there was confronted by John McMilian, another real estate man, who, after learning what the man was after, told the prospective purchaser that he could get the lot for him cheaper. Of course the would-be purchaser went to O'Neil and told him what McMillan claimed he could do. O'Neil sent for Mc-Millan, and in the exciting scene that followed O'Neil offered to bet $100 that McMillan could not furnish the lot for less than the sum specified within a given time, as O'Neil had the sole contract for the same. Each put up a $100 forfeit, George Parks holding the stakes.

O'Neil won and Parks returned to him the $100 put up by him, but dared not surrender the $100 won on account of threats by McMil-lan, who is something of a lawyer himself.

Consequently suit was brought by O'Neil to recover the $100 forfeit.

After sitting patiently for ten hours listening to the contending lawyers on the case, Judge Levy decided to take a little time to consider the matter, out of the reach of pratorical thunger. oratorical thunder.

The entire bar of South Omaha listened to Shot in the Shoulder. The shooting affair at Twenty-fourth and Milroy avenue occurred on Tuesday evening instead of Wednesday as previously reported. Mason and Regan, the fellows whom Mr. Johnstone believed were to intimate with his wife, have made themselves very scarce, one of them carrying a bullet wound in his shoulder. The wound was received after he was caught hugging Johnstone's wife. He was not seriously hurt, but he got away from the Johnstone home so quick and has so suddenly dropped out of sight that it is believed that he is running yet. An attempt is made to conceal the facts in regard to the case, but the police got wind of it Thursday night. No arrests will probably

City Safe Needed. "There is nothing the city needs more than a fireproof safe in the city offices,' says City Treasurer Hoctor. One good safe would answer the purpose for the city clerk, engineer and treasurer. Few citizens realize the risks the city is running without a proper receptacle for the documents belonging to the city. In the clerk's office are the ordinances and official records of the city and a large quantity of other valuable papers. In the city engineer's office are the various plans for everything in the line of public grades, plats, etc. In the treas-urer's office are the warrants, bonds and other papers relative to the city's finances. Suppose a fire should break out in the build suppose a fire should break out in the build-ing where the city offices are, a thing which is liable to happen any night, what would be-come of these valuable papers! They would be simply wiped out."

Change of Inspectors. Dr. S. S. Stewart of Council Bluffs, who for some time has been government meat inspector at Swift's packing house, has been transferred to the packing establishment at Nebraska City. Dr. S. M. McGrew of Ne-maha county has been appointed to succeed Dr. Stewart here, and he enters upon his duties immediately. The serene face of Cap-tain Payne of Lincoln is still seen among the carcasses, and the first oversight made by him is still to be reported. He steadfastly re-fuses to discuss politics while at work.

Matter of Crosswalks.

"I am glad," says Mr. W. S. Berry, "that THE BEE is agitating the matter of crosswalks. Sidewalks are of but little use unless you have crosswalks. I understand that there is a pile of displaced crosswalks lying near the old engine house that has been there for months. They are doing nobody any good there excepting the people who are rap-idly converting them into kindling wood. Why can't they be put where they will do some good to the public at large?" Has Official Permission.

A kick has been raised by a number of citizens against Mr. C. M. Hunt constructing a wooden shanty on the south side of N street between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh, as the site is in the fire limits. An examination of the records, however, shows that at the last meeting of the city council permission was granted Mr. Hunt to do so. This exclusive privilege has aroused considerable invective.

the south side of P street between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth, and the residents in that block who heretofore have been environed by a sea of mud are talking seriously of holding a jubilee. It is believed that the boys who are running such dangerous risks to steal rides on the motor cars are all pupils at the L street school. The motormen will today ask the officials of the street railway to inform the principal of the school of this fact.

Fred Hagman and Swan Larson, respectively Doutscher and Scandinavian, had a discussion last night in regard to the relative merits of the Germans and Swedes in the tug-of-war contest. In the excitement that followed Larson's face became badly disfigured and Hagman was arrested on the pharge of disturbing the peace.

"Those fellows must think we have a barrel of money," remarked one of the com-missioners as the letter was placed on file. A petition was presented from citizens of the south side asking the board to purchase Syndicate park. It was signed by nearly 500 names.

Some informal discussion took place with regard to the possible objection on the part of members of the council to the lands selected by the Park commissioners for park purposes. It was stated that some complaint had been made to the effect that the board had rejected a tract of land lying immediately southeast of Forest Lawn cemetery offered by Shaw & French at $460 per acre and had agreed to purchase the Parker tract at $900 per acre. The reasons given by the board for declining to purchase the Shaw & French tract were that the land was not suitable for park purposes at any price, and that the tract lay too far to tho west to bring it in the line of Florence boulevard.

It is now reasonably sure that Omaha will be favored with a concert by Madame Adelina Patti Nicolini and her company of musical artists. Considerable correspondence has been had with the managers of the Coliseum, who have been asked to forward a diagram of their bouse to Patti's managers at New York. The facilities of the Boyd theater are also under consideration, and an effort will be made to have the concert in that Patti's management ask a guarantee of $5,000. SUGAR BEET ASSOCIATIONS

Text of a Circular Sent Out by the State Executive Committee.

NEBRASKA'S NATURAL ADVANTAGES

an Raise the Best Beets Grown in This State-How to Organize a County Society-Everybody Should Join One.

Intense interest is being felt among business men upon the beet sugar industry and a very large attendance is assured at the meetng which will be held at the Board of Trade rooms at 10 o'clock today for a discussion of the advisability of establishing a factory in Omaha. Messrs. C. A. Atkinson, W. N. Nason and M. A. Lunn, the executive committee of the state association, have issued a circular touching upon the plan of county associations, and urging a study of the best methods of cultivating boots.

In consideration, says this circular, of the magnitude as well as importance of this great national industry, and what can be done in this state to secure factories for manufactur ing sugar from beets, the committee thinks it very important and essential that not only the results that have been attained for this state should be generally well understood and known by the people of the state, but also a general knowledge of the conditions that exist in European countries, where this industry has become an established and

We find by referring to the best authorities of both France and Germany, where beets are cultivated on expensive land—land frequently valued at from $300 to $600 per acre, and where fertilizers are annually required, and not infrequently at a cost of $40 quired, and not infrequently at a cost of $40 per acre, at an average annual cost of $20 per acre. We also find that the average per cent of sugar in their beets is much less than in beets grown in the state of Nebraska. in Germany that manufactures more beet sugar than any other nation in the world, and where the first beet sugar factory was established as early as 1805, and where thor-ough cultivation has been prosecuted for many years, they have not succeeded in raising the average above the percentage in Nebraska,

Necessary to Grow Beets, Nearly every county in the state of Ne-braska has during the past few years grown sugar beets under the direction of the state experimental station at Lincoln, and has from analyses of the beets so grown, demonstrated the fertility of its so grown, demonstrated the fertility of its soil and climate to produce beets containing a high percentage of sugar as well as a high purity co-efficient. We find, however, that in order to secure the erection of a beet sugar factory at any point, it is not sufficient to be able to show that beets of a high per cent of sugar can be grown, but that it is necessary to give evidence that sufficient experiment. to give evidence that sufficient experiment has been engaged in to demonstrate to the farmers who grow the beets that the business can be conducted with greater profit to them than the cultivation of any other crop for market.

We find from results of the general experiments that have been made throughout the state of Nebraska that the entire state gives evidence of having the natural conditions of both soil and climate for the production of sugar beets having a high percentage of sugar; we also find that little or no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining a full and sufficient supply of water, so essential and indispensible for the use of beet sugar factories; also, that most portions of the state are now well supplied with railroad transportation facilities, by the means of which coal for fuel and hime-rock for lime can be transported when not found in the impression ported when not found in the immediate vicinity where the beet sugar factory is desired; with these natural conditions of transsired: with these natural conditions of trans-portation, lime-rock, coal and water all being accessible, it remains only to be able to furnish the required acreage of sugar beets to supply the factory with the rive essential and indispensable elements of success; for this and many other reasons we most earnestly recommend that Beet Sugar associations be formed in each county of the state of Napraska for the purcounty of the state of Nebraska for the pur-pose of aiding in the development of this industry and encouraging the erection of beet sugar factories; we recommend that the name of each association shall be that of its county, and that each county association shall co-operate with and be an auxiliary to the state association.

How to Organize.

Where it is desirable to form a county as ociation, the committee would recommend that a speaker or speakers should be pro-cured who are well informed upon this sub-ject, and who will make and address at the time of the meeting for organization. Appli-cation should be made to the secretary, W. N. Nason of Omaha, Neb., before the date of the county association is set, within a few days, or a week perhaps, before the time that it would be desirable to have the convention called, and he can thus arrange the dates for several meetings in different counties closely adjacent where one of these speakers can be present with little inconvenience. Where a county convention shall be called for the purpose of effecting county, organiza-tion the following officers shall be elected: President, vice president, secretary, treas-urer and corresponding secretary, and if thought advisable a vice president from each of the townships of the county, and an assist-ant secretary from each town of the county; that each county organization shall endeavor to secure as many energetic farmers in their county as possible to engage in growing at least one-fourth of an acre of sugar beets for experimental purposes; that this experi-ment is recommended in order that the farmer may have the opportunity of learning for hunself whether or not he can engage to grow sugar beets for the factory with profit

We recommed that every citizen who wishes to encourage the development of this great industry, should identify themselves with the association, and assist in raising a premium for the encouragement of farmers to make this experimental trial. It is the opinion of the committee that these premiums will have the tendency to stimu-inte a more general interest throughout the county, and also encourage thorough cultiva-tion of the sugar beet, which will insure a good tonuage and high per cent of tion of the sugar beet, which will insure a good tonuage and high per cent of sugar. This very generally engaged in will result satisfactorily to the farmers, and the coming fall will demonstrate that a large number of farmers will have learned a very important and essential lesson, and that they will be very desirous for the erection of a beet sugar factory in order that they may find a more profitable market than they now have for the products of their fields. The committee is also firmly convinced of the fact that where unmistakable evidence of this kind can be presented to local, eastern and foreign capitalists and those who are anxious to engage in the berection of eet sugar factories, in this country. Little difficulty will be experienced in securing factories in such localities where these facts are found from investigation to be true. The committee has made a statement which investigation will find to be true, that our natural conditions for producing sugar beets, are superior to that of Europe, This is shown from beets grown on our natural soil without the knowledge or experience as to the best methods of cuttivation, and without the use of commercial or other fertilizers. We also call attention to the fact that so generally and so thoroughly well understood is this business at many countries of Europe, that when so thoroughly well understood is this busi-ness in many countries of Europe, that when we are able to demonstrate beyond question that not only our soil and climate possess these necessary and natural conditions, but also that our farmers have grown and are willing to grow bests for the factory, that little difficulty will be experienced in securing an abundance of experienced men to furnish the meanage build our factories for Railroad Entes Asked For.

Realizing that itumay be desirable on the part of some of the farmers to ship the beets that they shall grow for experiment to either Norfolk or Grand Bland, the committee has applied to the railroad companies of this state for a schedule of rates for a distance of 200 miles or less, as the railroad companies 200 miles or less, as the railroad companies have manifested a disposition to transport beets at the very least possible cost in order to assist in building up this industry, an agreement of rates per ton per mile must be considered by all lines that do business in this state. This and many other important subjects have been considered and will be reported at the very earliest possible magnet. Suggestions very earliest possible moment. Suggestions where seed may be procured, of whom and at what price, where seeders and other implements for cultivating and harvesting the beets can be had, as well as giving sugges-tions and information regarding the selec-tion of land, cultivating and harvesting the

The Bulletin, a small weekly sheet printed at Buffalo, Wyo., is evidently running a neck and neck race with a great Dally Fake printed in these parts. Lieutenant Roe received a letter today from Lieutenant Mercer at Fort McKinney which is about three miles from Buffalo, in which Lieutenant Mercer enclosed a small extra edition of the above mentioned weekly paper. The alleged extra is a corker in its way. It is made up principally of a scare head announcing in the wildest sort of a way that war has been declared between the United States and Chili. "Word has been received here," says the fakelet, "to the ef-fect that one of the largest war ships of the United States navy has been blown to atoms by the Chilian torpede boats in the straits of Magellan. War has been declared and the United States has issued a call for 10,000 volunteer soldiers."

Lieutenant Mercer stated in his letter that no mail had been received at Fort McKinney or at Buffalo for three days and this alleged or at Buffalo for three days and this alleged news created a great sensation.
