DR. BILLINGS CALLED DOWN

Full Text of Secretary Rusk's Letter on the Nebraska Man's Methods.

CALLS THEM A DISGRACE TO THE STATE

His Attacks on the Department of Agricul ture Virulent and Engentlemanly and the Whole Controversy a Gross Impropriety.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2. - Special to THE BEE |- Following is the full text of the letter of Secretary Rusk on Dr. Billings of Nebraska's Agricultural station:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 21.-Hon. A. S. Paddock, United States senate-My dear senator: I am in receipt of three letters from citizens of Nebraska referred by you for my information, which letters assume that Dr. Salmon, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, has been carrying on a controversy with Dr. Billings of the Nebraska experiment station, making unjust and unwarranted attacks, and interfering with the latter's scientific work. The writers of these letters request you to take such steps as may be possible to prevent such attacks in the future, and to cause the chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry "to let your ex periment station alone." Coming from intelligent gentlemen, one a member of the State Board of Agricultural, and one a state senator, these letters are deserving of attention; and as their statements are diametrically opposed to the facts. I take this opportunity to place the matter before you with some detail, since if your correspondents had directed their attention to the state experiment station where the controversy originated, instead of to this de-partment, the evil of which they complain might have been arrested long ago.

It may not be known to your correspond ents that when Dr. Billings first became connected with the Nobraska Experiment station in 1886, a request was made on my predecessor that his salary be paid from the appropriation for the Board of Animal Industry, so that he could have more funds to use for other purposes. It was not deemed proper to comply with that request, and since it was declined, Dr. Billings has kent up a constant attack on the Burgau has kept up a constant attack on the Bureau of Animal Industry, not in the form of courteous, scientific criticism, but made un of dogmatic assertions clothed in the most o fensive language, and filling column after column in the Nebraska State Journal and Western Resources, but not by any means confined to these. It is a fact which can be established by documentary evidence, that when this investigator first reached Ne braska, and before he saw a case of swine disease, he began his attacks on Dr. Sal mon's investigations of this subject in an editorial covering nearly a page of the Ne-braska Farmer, which had been temporarily placed in his charge.

These attacks were so frequent, so viru-lent, and so ungentlemanly in their language, and occupied so much of the space in the station bulletins, of which he was the author that it was considered a disgrace not only to Nebraska, but to the experiment stations as a whole, and resulted in a resolution of 'emphatic disapproval,' passed by the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experimental Stations. But the attacks were kept up, and he finally demanded a commission of scientific men to decide whether or not he had shown the investigations of the bureau to be unreliable, whether the reports of the bureau to be unreliable, whether the reports of the bureau were true or false, and whether, to use his own words, he himself was or was not a fraud. On the request of the National Swine Breeders' association, such a commission of scientific men was appointed by my predeces sor; it was constituted in accordance with Billings' wishes, it was pronounced by him to be satisfactory, and yet, after a long and careful investigation, it endorsed the inves-tigations of the Bureau of Animal Industry in every essential particular, and in every essential particular decided that Billings was wrong, and intimated that his methods of work were not all that could be desired. Not satisfied to allow the controversy to drop here, he issued a pamphlet entitled, "Evidence Showing that the Report of the Board of Inquiry Concerning Swine Diseaso was Fixed," in which he attacked the honesty and veracity of the honorable, scientific, gentlemen composing the commission. This disgraceful conduct, this use of ex periment station funds to carry on these bitter attacks against the Bureau of Animal Industry, must have attracted some atten-tion in Nebraska, for it was publicly stated by the press that it was a condition of his recall to Nebraska that this warfare should

Soon after his reappointment I received : icuter from him asking that $5,000 of the funds of the Burcau of Animal In-dustry should be turned over to the state experiment station, to be expended by him in his investigations, the conditions being that the persons employed should be selected by him, and that the Bu-reau of Animal Industry should have no connection with the work, and no control or su pervision over the expenditure of the money At the same time he assured me that he At the same time he assured me that he should do his utmost against the oureau, Such a proposition, it is needless to say, was not accepted, and since that time it has not only been Dr. Salmon and the Bureau of Animal Industry that he has attacked, but myself and the department of agriculture as a whole.

Under date of August 10, 1891, he published an open letter addressed to me, in which he quoted from department reports, garbling his extracts and misrepresenting the position of the writers in order to deceive his readers and convey the impression that the department had been inconsistent in its published reports. He asked that a man be sent to Nebraska to investigate his methods and the results of his inoculations; but he was careful to dictate as to the man whom he would receive, and couple this with the threat that various influential men "are all anxious to bring this about; and I will re-spect their desire quietly and gentlemanly if I can, bitterly and determinedly if I must."
As I declined to consider this proposition until the return of Dr. Salmon from Europe, he telegraphed me under date of September 29 in the following peremptory language:

Parsons only will be accepted. Time expires October I. FRANK S. BILLINGS. A second open letter appeared soon after which occupied four columns in Western Re-sources, and the main point of which was that he did not want a scientist sent to Ne braska to observe his methods and would not receive one. Still later, in the Nebraska State Journa of December 15, 1891, Dr. Billings publishes an open letter three columns in length, headed, Let Uncle Jerry Answer. Is the Secretary What He Pretends to Be? Dr. Billings Questions the Sincerity of His Priendship for the Farming Classes, Etc.

Without going into a discussion of th without going into a discussion of the merits of the scientific opinions involved in the controversy, you certainly will agree with me that it is a gross impropriety for an investigator in a state experiment station to attempt to dictate to a department of the national government what kind of an investigation it should make of a matter in which he has a personal interest, and whether it should make any it vestigation at all or not And no one can fall to recognize the impropriety of such an investigator, paid out of an priety of such an investigator, paid out of an appropriation made by congress for the advancement of agricultural science, spending his time and using the resources of the station for discrediting the investigation of the National Department of Agriculture, and for abusing the secretary of agriculture and the chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry. In regard to the investigation asked for he

In regard to the investigation asked for by In regard to the investigation asked for by Dr. Billings, I would state that I am not making investigations of the experiment sta-tions, as their work is essentially separate and distinct from the scientific work of this department. If I should attempt such an in-vestigation, however, I should not allow in-terested parties to dictate to me where, when, and by whom the investigation should be made.

You will find by investigating the matter You will find by investigating the matter that during neither his first nor second engagement in Nebraska has Dr. Billings been attacked by Dr. Salmon; on the contrary, Dr. Salmon has been the subject of continued attacks and abuse by Dr. Billings, and has altowed most of them to go unnoticed. When the misrepresentations and false claims of Dr. Billings have been exposed, however, and he is driven to the wall, he finds it convenient to pose as a persecuted and longvenient to pose as a persecuted and long-suffering individual, who has been quictly and disinterestedly laboring in the cause of the farmer. In this way, and by raising the cry that Nebraska interests have been *ttacked, he hopes to excite sympathy and re-After clamoring so long for an opportunity to demonstrate the success of his inoculacertainly very ridiculous to find him evading the opportunity which Dr. Salmon gave him for making a comparative test at Ottawa, III. He wanted an investigation, but not by scientists; here was a chance to demonstrate the value of his method to a committee of intelligent farmers; but instead of accepting with alacrity, he did all he could to delay the test. The experiment, however, was made, One of his pupils whom he declared to be competent, operated by his method, and the result proves beyond a doubt that Dr. Salmon was correct in stating that inoculation was dangerous and might spread the disease. In this case 60 per cent of the hogs inoculated by the Billings method have died from disease communicated by the inoculation, and this disease has since spread to the hogs inoculated by the bureau, and also to those which were not inoculated. After his unqualified recommendation of this method and his statement that any farmer could safely use it, what more is needed to show that he cannot be relied upon, and that his teachings are deceptive and dangerous? The investigation, for which he pretended to be so desirous, having been made, though not under his direction or control, and having turned out as disastrously to his pretensions as the investigation by the commission of scientists made some years ago, he now turns to the people of Nebraska and frantically calls upon them, through the State Journal, to sustain him by writing to their congressmen. "Stir them up," he says, and let them know that they are your representatives, and not the subjects of Jerry

Rusk or his department,"
The three letters to which your refer appear to be the returns from this pathetic ap-peal, and these probably would not have been written if the writers had not been musinformed as to the origin of the controversy, and as to who was responsible for eeping it up. It will be seen from the above that your correspondents are mistaken in assuming that it is Dr. Billings who is attacked, and that they are also mistaken in supposing that to silence Dr. Salmon would have the effect of stopping these discreditable productions from the Neuraska experiment station. The controversy started with, and has been main-tained by, Dr. Billings, and he is responsible for its unscientific, undignified and discourteous tone. If the state of Nebraska wishes to continue this kind of a man in such a conspicuous positiou, paying him $3,600 a year, and allowing him to expend two-thirds of her experiment station funds, I suppose she has the power to do so; but her people cannot ex-pect and have no right to shift upon outside parties the discredit and disgrace which he prings upon her fair name.

Hoping that the salient facts in this case. have been made plain in the brief references which have been made to them, and assuring you of my sincere desire to see creditable and successful work done at the Nebraska experiment station, I am, very respectfully;
J. M. Rusk, Secretary.

Contemporary of the Weather Bureau Plays a Brief Star Engagement. His Nibs, the Ground Hog, been frightened back to his den to stav si weeks longer. The sun shone brightly all day long and if the quadruped of astronomical, astrological and metercological turn of mind was not stone blind, he must have surveyed his shape as outlined by the sun against he hillside near his den the very moment that he ventured out. "My esteemed contemporary, the chief of the weather bureau, has been furnishing you some very rocky weather this winter," said the Ground Hog, who was found by a reporter for THE BEE in a quiet nook under the river bank. "He has made such a mess of the bus-iness that I don't want to touch the machine for six weeks yet. There is a popular error, however, in the minus of the people that I wish Tun Ber would correct for me. This old yarn about my being frightened into my hole by the sight of my own shadow is all a mistage

It is my modesty that sends me blushing back to my winter quarters."
"Modesty!" echoed the reporter. "Why are you shocked? You seem to have on the same suit you wore all last year." "Oh, I am not ashamed of my own perso-nal appearance. But just look at all these naked trees," and hiding his eyes with one paw Mr. Ground Hog disappeared.

This is to testify that I have tested the medical properties of Dr. J. B. Moore's Tree of Life remedy to my entire satisfaction, and can most heartily recommend it to the suf fering and afflicted everywhere, to be all claimed for it in the above statement. Last spring I was suffering from loss of appetite, constipation, etc., originating from kidney and liver trouble, and I had not used one bottie of this great life remedy until I was creatly relieved. My wife, also, being at a very critical stage in life, was suffering much at times, and by the use of this remedy has been saved from much suffering and pos-sibly from premature death. Our youngest son's health for several years has been very delicate. He contracted some lung trouble by taking cold with measles, which produced great nervous debility and occasional bleed-ing of the lungs; he has used some four bot-tles of Tree of Life, and feels and looks as though new life had been given him. If you are afflicted, try it.
