WILLIAMS OF INDEPENDENCE ASKED FOR

What an Interested Party Has to Say Concerning the Failure Which the Park Has Heretofore Scored and a Remedy Therefor,

The secretary of the Driving Park association is corresponding with a number of prominent horsemen throughout the country with a view to inducing them to locate here and take the management of the driving park. Among those on the string is Williams, the owner of the famous kite shaped track at Independence, In., and the terms of the proposition which has been made bim are that he take the entire control of the park for what he can make out of it, no rent being charged, and all the proceeds to go to him. It has already been decided to hold two meetings during the coming summer, and it is hoped that by the time it is necessary to begin making the arrangements something definite will be learned from him. "The park has been a financial failure for the past year or two." said a gentleman yesteruay, who is connected with the Driving Park association, "by reason of mismanage ment. There is no reason in the world why t should not be made to pay well, situated as it is between two cities with an aggregate population of 175,000. The main difficulty was that every one went in free and the gate receipts were consequently cut down enormously, nearly all the stockholders of the park being also stockholders in the motor company and well contented to take their share of the profits of the motor line at the expense of those who owned the stock in the association. I think that even those who do not own stock in the motor company will be willing to let Williams or any jother first class man take hold of the park free of rent, although the proposition that has been made hin, will not bring us in a cent of revenue."

Leading drugstore and news stand, Davis, Famous Will Case.

The public interest has been smused some what in an interesting case which has been pending for some time in the supreme court of lows, and in which the will of Baxter Whiting, who died in March, 1886, was the subject of controversy. Attorney General John Y. Stone was notified about six months ago of the facts of the case, which were about as follows: Whiting died leaving a large amount of his property to various public institutions. Among other bene-ficiaries were the "Orphans Asylum" and the "Old Ladies' Home." There were no institutions in the state bearing these names, and the relatives of the dead man accordingly and the relatives of the dead man accordingly divided the money up among them. Five years after the death of Whiting the author-ities of the Soldiers Orphans Home and Home for Indigent Children at Daverport claime for indigent California at Daverport ocgan as suit to collect the money which they claimed was coming to them according to the provisions of the will. A demurrer was filed, claiming that the will was void for uncertainty, and yesterday news was received at the office of the attorney general that the court had overraled the demu:rer, thus leaving a good prospect for the state institution receiving the bequest after all.

HOW FARMING PAYS IN NEBRASKA.

At a recent meeting of the Dixon County Farmers' institute, Senator H. P. Shumway read the following paper on 'Does Farming Pay:"

In the fall of 1886 we purchased 240 acres of land, of which 150 was improved and for which we paid $16 per acre, or $3,840. In 1887 we broke 40 acres more, putting 150 acres in corn, wheat and oats and 40 acres in flax, leaving 50 acres for pasture and hay. That year we paid for cattle, horses, hogs, farm machinery, etc., $3,811.75. But before January we had sold from the farm $2,121.33, in produce and live stock and grain, leaving us after deducting all cost of labor, taxes, and 10 per cent interest on all money invested in land and chattels, a clear profit of $957.58, or a clear profit of almost 4 per acre, after deducting expenses and interest. In 1888 we rented part of the land. It was a mistake. We would have done much better to have hired the labor and farmed it ourselves. That year's in-voice only showed, after deducting ex-pense and 10 per cent interest, a clear profit of $318, but that left us, after 10 per cent interest, $1.30 per acre clear profit.

advance of $600, and added to our farm a Life :" half section at $20 per acre, so we farmed that year 400 acres. On ac-count of the great drop in prices of live stock, light crops and low prices, 1889 was probably the hardest year northeast Nebraska farmers have had the products of the American farms. Then we would have a home market independent of foreign countries. Then the price of farm products would be increased not only by what it now costs to ship products abroad, but also by what it would cost other countries to ship produce here to compete with our farmers. And if the protective policy is wisely used, I believe there will come to American farmers an era of prosperity that has never been equalled by any class of people in the history of the world.
