WILL HAVE AN INDUSTRIAL SHOW

Plans for a State Exposition Talked Of—Omaha Dealers Who Have Not Joined the Procession Will Be Laboring With.

A meeting of the directors of the Manufacturers and Consumers association was held yesterday afternoon at their rooms 624 Bee building.

The following firms were admitted to membership in the association: Thomas Carr, Lincoln, soap manufacturer; Hall Rung and Furnace company, Lincoln; The Purty Extract company, Lincoln; Lincoln Paper Manufacturing company, Lincoln; Vitified Paving and Pressed Brick company, Lincoln; Lincoln Sashery company, Lincoln; Nebraska Mantel and Cabinet works, Lincoln; State Journal company, Lincoln; Omaha Barbed Fence and Nail company, Lincoln; E. T. Smith Fence works, Fremont; George F. Wolf, Fremont, potato chisels; Nebraska Creamery association, Fremont; The Nebraska Binder Twine company, Fremont; Fremont Milling company; Creamery Package Manufacturing company, Fremont; Nebraska City Starch company; Nebraska Distillery company, Nebraska City; The following companies are Nebraska City: Paul Schminke & Co., Nebraska City, distillers; Oteo Creamery company, Nebraska City; McElhenny Manufacturing company, Nebraska City, novelty works; Nebraska City Cereal mills; the Borone Manufacturing company, blackboards, Omaha; F. M. Russell, manufacturer of gas and electric light fixtures.

This gives the association a total membership of 167.

New Directors Named. The increased number of the members in Omaha entitles Omaha to five more directors on the state board, and the following parties were elected: George M. Tibbs of M. E. Smith & Co., overall manufacturers; Charles H. Hastings, of Emerson, Fremont; C. W. Thompson of the firm of Hehn & Thompson, merchant tailors; H. F. Cady of the Cady Lumber company.

The president stated that the following directors had been elected from other Nebraska cities: Beatrice, A. H. Demeter and A. U. Scheiblich; Nebraska City, Carl H. Forster, Hastings, H. F. Cady, and F. Hummel. Lincoln and Kearney have not yet reported the election of directors to represent them.

The Omaha Barbed Fence and Nail company reported that they would use from 5,000 to 10,000 labels per month during the busy season of the year, and that the machinery for the production of labels is being constructed. The exhibit would aim to show the raw material, the method of manufacture and the finished material. The exhibit would be an exhibit to be held before the people of the state the different lines of manufacture and interest them in the subject. The advantages to the manufacturers would come from the advertising which they would get from such an exhibition of their goods.

The president was instructed to appoint a committee of five to call on the architects of the city and ask them to sign an agreement to use all their influence to have Nebraska material used in all the buildings to be constructed the coming season.

It was decided to ask members of the association to report to the secretary all cases where individuals or firms are refusing or neglecting to use Nebraska material. A member of the Manufacturers association will then be designated to call on the contractor and the Board of Trade, the Real Estate Owners association and the Builders and Traders exchange will be asked to send one man with him. The committee of five men, representing the four large commercial organizations of the city, will call upon the man who insists upon sending Nebraska material and try to prevail upon them to change.

tell. The jury insists upon knowing something about a certain system of heating and ventilation. The jury is inquiring into the fact of a heating system in Kansas City, a trip that was taken a year or more ago.

Some of the witnesses furnished some information upon this point, swearing that before the trial in Kansas City and Nebraska City certain members were loud in advocating another heating system. After their return they at once changed their tactics, dropped their own and lauded the system in question until it was adopted and placed in both the Clifton Hill and the Kellom schools.

Sharp Practice of Alleged Lawyers. Judge Davis has arrived at the conclusion that some of the lawyers and the profession in the county had formed a pool to draw a little money out of the county treasury.

When prisoners are in indigent circumstances it is the usual custom to appoint an attorney to defend. This practice has prevailed for years and as a rule the county treasurer has been obliged to pay the cost. Yesterday morning when a criminal case was called the accused stated that he had no lawyer; he had paid one to look after his interest, but since that day he had not met the legal gentleman.

The court at once entered an order that hereafter when any attorney accepted money from a prisoner he was to be paid by the court until the case was finally disposed of by the court. The judge stated that it had come to his knowledge that a number of lawyers had retained, had accepted money from and then deserted their clients when the cases were called.

The Criminal Calendar. Joseph Miller, who was charged with having burglarized a store on South Thirtieth street, a free man. The case was called by the jury in Judge Davis' court at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and in fifteen minutes a verdict of not guilty was returned. The prisoner was immediately discharged from court.

Lou Cassidy was on trial in the criminal court yesterday afternoon. The information in the case states on November 30, Cassidy burglarized the store of the late John J. Paulschinke & Co., Nebraska City, distillers; Oteo Creamery company, Nebraska City; McElhenny Manufacturing company, Nebraska City, novelty works; Nebraska City Cereal mills; the Borone Manufacturing company, blackboards, Omaha; F. AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Things Which Robbed John Nelson in Syndicate Park Put on Trial.

THREE OF THEM ARE HELD TO ANSWER

Carlson's Costly Experience in Search of Work as Developed During the Trial—How the Horse Market Progresses—Magic City Notes.

The trial of the things which robbed John Nelson in syndicate park and there brutally beat and robbed him commenced yesterday before Judge King. It was decided to try them one at a time.

Fred Hagerman, better known among the tough element of Omaha as "Dutch Fred," was the first to be arraigned. He was identified by the witness as the man who held him while the other three went through his pockets and took his money, watch and ring.

Dave Loeschler, the saloonkeeper, testified that just before the robbery Hagerman came to his place of business and asked for a drink. The witness testified that he was "going to turn trick." Loeschler refused to let him have the weapon.

Tom Beard, another saloon keeper, testified that he saw Hagerman and two other fellows follow Nelson to the park after he had been decoyed there by Mike Corcoran.

Work was received at the police station yesterday that Neal Corcoran, another of the gang, had been captured at Covington. The chief of police leaves today to bring him here for trial.

Hagerman was held to the district court in the sum of $1,000.

As expected there was no evidence to prove that Billy Niece was the man who committed the crime as was alleged. On the contrary there were witnesses to swear that at the time the robbery was committed he was in another part of the city. Niece, the Assistant County Attorney, was dismissed. Charles Swearington, another suspect, was also released.

After the coroner was next arraigned. Nelson positively identified both of these fellows as being with Hagerman and assisting in the robbery. Tommy Beard, the saloonkeeper, testified that he saw the two with Hagerman follow the Swede to the park where a few minutes later the robbery was committed. Both Niece and Corcoran were held to the district court in the sum of $1,000 each and in default of bail the two with Hagerman were sent to the county jail.

Everybody Worked Him. From the testimony brought out it appears that Nelson came to the city with $70 in his pocket, that on account of being a Swede he was made a mark of by all who met him and his roll in twenty-four hours had diminished to nearly half its original size. The Swede was looking for a job and among the people he met was one Gus McDonough. Nelson says that McDonough told him that he could get a job for him in the fire department, but would cost him $10 for his influence with the chief of the fire department. The Swede put up the $10 and the money was called for by McDonough. The company of bananalians accompanied by Nelson then went to Dave Loeschler's saloon where it was claimed the fire chief had been found.

Two men drove up to Mrs. Spile's boarding house, 2105 Douglas street, in a buggy about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and engaged a room. The landlady was told that the room was to be occupied by both of the men, one of whom would sleep in the day-time and the other at night. The lodgers claimed to work in the Union Pacific yards.

After everything was arranged and each stranger had paid for his room, the man who was to sleep in the day-time returned at 6 o'clock and requested that dinner be hurried. When the other boarders had assembled around the table the newcomers were missing. An investigation showed that Dr. Alexander's rooms had been ransacked and quite a quantity of linen and underclothing stolen.

An officer with the police was called to wait the return of one or both of the suspected crooks. About 2 o'clock yesterday morning one of the strangers came in and admitted that he had stolen the linen.

Dr. Alexander had arranged a bell on a thread and when the new lodger opened his door the bell rang and the doctor's room and awakened him. The stranger heard his horse and quickly turned out the light and jumped into bed. A message was sent to the police and the officers went to see about the matter. The officers entered the room very quietly and found a well known young crook lying on the bed with his hands in his pockets.

After some close questioning the fellow gave the whole snap away and told who his partner was. The doctor was anxious to get the fellow out of his room and as he calls himself, advised the physician to see "Shoony Sam," who was the partner who was to sleep days.

The officers found that the same game had been worked one or twice before within a short time.

Both of the parties implicated are jail birds and petty thieves and are well known to the police.

The men gave their names at the police station as Ed Zeiner, alias Morris Kopold and Will King.

The property has not yet been recovered. King's real name is Kane, and his home is in Nebraska. His family is highly respected in the Capital City, and is reputed to be quite wealthy.

Last Saturday night the second regiment of the uniform rank Knights of Pythias elected a lieutenant colonel and major for the ensuing four years. Captain S. Latt of Lilly division was elected lieutenant colonel and Adjutant D. F. Cortie major.

Chamberlain & Co. From the Clifton County Advertiser, Lyons, Ia. It was the good fortune of a representative of this paper to visit the laboratory of this enterprising firm at Des Moines yesterday. It occupies four floors of a double building and employs sixty-five hands in the different departments, which include the compounding of the different preparations, bottling, packing, shipping and printing. In the latter department they have a finely equipped printing office which is constantly in operation printing labels and different kinds of advertising matter. Their laboratory is especially busy at this time as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which they manufacture, has proven a splendid remedy for the grip, and in all cases greatly relieves the suffering attendant upon the disease. Its continued use will effect a complete cure. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

HOLDING A CONFERENCE. Union Pacific Train Men Meet the Company's Officials. The affairs of the Union Pacific grievance committee have come to a focus. After careful consideration of the demands, Assistant General Manager Dickinson prepared for a conference with the full committee at his office yesterday afternoon.

The propositions of the committee embody a great number of changes which will require a long time for their execution. The employees are very much in earnest in their effort for relief from what they regard as discriminations in the pay scale. They determined fight for fair treatment. They intend to "stay by" Mr. Dickinson regardless of the length of time it takes to reach a conclusion.

Notes and Personal. F. S. Capron, traveling passenger agent of the Grand Trunk, is in the city. J. O. Phillip and family are again in Uncle Sam's domain, homeward bound, and will arrive Saturday morning.

Major E. Ford, who represents the Union Pacific at Des Moines, was at headquarters today with a new stock of yarns.

F. E. McMullen, chief clerk for General Manager Bart of the Elkhorn, is Assistant General Manager of an hotel in his family, and all concerned are doing nicely.

Superintendent Caughlin and Master Mechanic New of the Missouri Pacific are up in the city on business. They are at the proper handling of a greatly increased business in Nebraska. They have added two engines and crews to the motive department in this state, and have decided that two more are needed immediately. At the office in this city it is said that the Missouri Pacific's business in Nebraska is breaking all previous records. The company now has all the cars needed, but has been short on motive power, a lack which will be remedied.

The Creede Camp Excitement. Creede Camp promises to become a second Leadville. The number of people going into this wonderful camp is estimated to be the largest in the history of Colorado. It is estimated that now the townsite is located, that there will be ten thousand people in the camp by June 1. The new discovery is only reached by the Denver & Rio Grande railroad, and there is no staging.

INSTRUCTIVE LESSONS OF EXPERIENCE

Ninth Annual Meeting of the Association a Joyous One—Facts Showing the Advantages of Co-operation as a Means of Procuring Homes.

Mr. Erastus Wyman, the noted New York economist, business man, recently said to the best way to invest a given sum of money, said: "The best way to invest $100 is to become a shareholder in some well managed building and loan association. They represent the aggregate savings of the members, and the money is invested in houses built for their own members. The investment is therefore a safe one, because men will pay for their own homes and the interest due thereon sooner than they will pay for anything else."

The endorsement of so eminent an authority is illustrated by the experience of the Omaha Loan and Building Association. The ninth annual meeting of the association was held Wednesday evening at its office in the Board of Trade building. There was a large attendance than usual, owing to the fact that the first series of stock issued had reached its value, $300,000. J. F. Morris presided and G. M. Nattiger acted as secretary.

The joint report of the president and secretary was an instructive document, detailing the history of the association, its early struggles as well as its later successes.

The great value of building and loan associations is recognized and appreciated in every progressive country. There are thousands of them in the United States. Philadelphia is "The City of Homes." It is due to the fact that they have been in operation there for sixty years. Lately, speculative concerns, taking advantage of the confidence reposed in legitimate cooperative associations, have imposed on the public, so much so that rigid laws have been enacted in many states, regulating building and loan associations, and providing for the inspection of the Nebraska law is a model of this class, and all local associations are subject to its provisions. As the Omaha is the pioneer association in this city, a summary of its operations is of public interest.

The association was organized and incorporated in April, 1882, and began business in May. With only a superficial knowledge of building and loan systems, mistakes were made, the most serious being the adoption of the management of a mortgage company. It was required to cancel unpledged shares when they reached par. Quarterly series were then issued, making the association a continuous series. The net result of the first series was a profit of $30,000. The second series was a profit of $30,000. The third series was a profit of $30,000. The fourth series was a profit of $30,000. The fifth series was a profit of $30,000. The sixth series was a profit of $30,000. The seventh series was a profit of $30,000. The eighth series was a profit of $30,000. The ninth series was a profit of $30,000. The tenth series was a profit of $30,000.

The fact that a premium is paid for a loan and 8 per cent interest charged, lead many to believe that the rate is exorbitant and unprofitable. But the borrowers share equally in the profit, which is normally paid back at the end of the term. The total amount paid back, principal and interest, was $34,220. The net result of the first series was a profit of $30,000. The second series was a profit of $30,000. The third series was a profit of $30,000. The fourth series was a profit of $30,000. The fifth series was a profit of $30,000. The sixth series was a profit of $30,000. The seventh series was a profit of $30,000. The eighth series was a profit of $30,000. The ninth series was a profit of $30,000. The tenth series was a profit of $30,000.

Resolutions were adopted ordering the directors to cancel the association's obligations to the first series stockholders.

The election of three directors followed, completing the roster of officers as follows: President, Thomas J. Fitzmorris; loan agent, Edward A. Parmelee; secretary, G. M. Nattiger; treasurer, Eben K. Long; and Gustavus Anderson, Charles R. Turney, Frank W. Hamacher, John H. Butler, E. Bryson, associate directors.

Ask your grocer for Quail rolled oats. CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Dec. 15, 1890.—Dear Mr. Moore: I want you to know how much I appreciate your wonderful catarrh cure. When your attention was first called to it I was a great sufferer from that disagreeable disease, catarrh. Since using your catarrh cure my case of this terrible disease has been cured and my general health greatly improved. In my letter I afford great relief. I congratulate you on this wonderful remedy. Let sufferers from this terrible malady know that there is a cure for them. Yours respectfully, E. F. PERMY, Pastor Second Baptist church.

For sale by all druggists. Any grocer can supply you with Quail rolled oats—delicious for breakfast.

Her Story Was the Judge. Mrs. Doyle faced Judge Hester yesterday morning to explain how she happened to be arrested for drunkenness. She told a pitiful story about her sick children, with who she had been sitting up days and nights without number, and how she was going to the store for medicine when she met a friend who invited her to partake of a "dhrap of the crabs." She partook, and the next morning a "dhrap" went to her head and tangled up her feet until life's way became indeed desolate. Still she would have been all right if a friendly policeman had not happened along.

The story was an old one, but it was a winner just the same, and Mrs. Doyle was all right in her department without paying for her night's lodging.

Does Protection Protect? Certainly, in one instance, it does. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great protection against the dangers of impure blood, and it will cure or prevent all diseases of this class. It has well won its name of the best blood purifier by its many remarkable cures.

The highest praise has been won by Hood's Pills for their easy yet efficient action. Sold by all druggists. Price 25 cents per box.

To Entertain Conference Delegates. The following call has been issued by the local committee on entertainment who are preparing to entertain the delegates to the Methodist general conference. The call has been sent especially to pastors:

OMAHA, Feb. 2.—Dear Brother: In preparing for the approaching general conference the pressure upon us is so great as to make necessary an early and speedy adjustment of the matter of private entertainment. An urgent meeting of the representative pastors of the several denominations is called at the Young Men's Christian association parlors Monday, February 8, at 10 a. m. Please favor us with your presence, and submit a report as possible of what your people will do in the way of caring for the delegates.
