Result of the General Conference of the City Officials—Changes in Laws,

Mayor Macrae, Aldermen Pace and Wood, City Attorney Stewart and Surveyor Tostevin returned yesterday noon from Des Moines, where they went to attend a meeting of the officials of some of the leading cities of the state. Most of the time was spent in deliberating upon questions connected with municipal affairs, and a number of steps were taken which will be apt to lead to important legislation in the near future. The question of allowing cities having a certain population to levy a tax of 5 mills or less for city lighting purposes was brought up, but a resolution favoring it was defeated, owing to the decided stand taken by the Biuffs delegation.

"In looking around," said Mayor Macrae a speaking of this question, "I find that in speaking of this question, "I find that Council Bluffs is in a much better condition in every way than almost any other city in the state. Many cities are heavily in debt and would like to have a way invented for raising the necessary funds to carry on their running expenses. We are not troubled in that way, and so our delegation opposed the plan with all our might, and induced the Burlington and several other delegations to look at the thing in our way."

This plan did not work, however, in considering the question of allowing cities to levy a tax of 5 mills or less for fire profor a resolution favoring it was

Grand Jury Returns Five Indictments OFFICE: - NO. 12 PEARL STREET. Against Kimball and Champ.

CHARGES THEM WITH EMBEZZLEMENT

Grand Larceny Also Included-What the Specifications Are-Ball Furnished for the Accused -- Attorney Burke Outlines the Defense,

The grand jury, which has been in session for over four weeks, made its second and last report yesterday morning and was discharged. The session has been the longest held in this county for years, the cause of the length being the vast amount of business connected with the Kimball-Champ cases. Five indictments were returned against each of the two men, four being for larceny and one for embezzlement. The warrants were served on them at the office of their attorneys, Burke & Casady, and bail was at once secured, their bond being fixed at $10,-500 and signed by J. F. Kimball, George H Champ, D. Carrigg, J. J. Shea, C. E. H. Campbell, and James Soguin.

In the various indictments they are charged with embezziing $500 belonging to George Olcott of Charlestown, N. H., and the larceny of $2,833.33 from D. W. Archer, of the Keene Five-cont Savings bank: $1.485 from the Littleton, (N. H.), National bank; $859 from J. C. Teller of Denver, and $143,000 from the Kimball-Champ Investment com-

The defendants claim, with reference to the charge of embezzlement, that the $500 had been fully paid back to its rightful owner before the case was submitted to the grand jury, and that they hold a receipt for the amount. In regard to the Archer claim and the claims of the two banks, they state that the shortage is fully covered in the trust deed to the Manhattan and other individual property which they executed on the day they made their assignment, and that the amounts claimed to have been stolen represented money that was in the hands of the Investment company standing as credits on the books, but not remitted to its owners.

in connection with the case, Attorney Fin-ley Burke, who represents the defendants, spoke as follows: 'It is evident from the indictment returned that the complaints used before the grand jury, are not of alleged wrongs to our own people, but alleged wrongs to eastern capi-talists. The acts are acts of the investment talists. The acts are acts of the investment company, which, in the nature of things, must have been known to the other officers and employes of the company. In one case, that of Teller, the court has already passed on athe case by making an order on the receiver of the Kimball-Champ Investment company to pay the amount out of the assets of the company. The chief charge purports to be made on behalf of the eastern stockholders, but we claim that the stockholders have not authorized such use of their names, and it is known that Messrs. Kimball and it is known that Messrs, Kimball & Champ put in the hands of Mr. Milton Jackson, an honorable man representing holders of $39,000 worth of invest-ment company stock, for their use and can-cered $35,000 so that the effect is to reduce the stock $124,000. We also claim that this overdraft is greatly exaggerated and that there is nothing criminal in it, but a mere matter of the difference of opinion as to the advisability of building a hotel in Council Bluffs and that if a mistake it has been more than provided against by the deeds to the company and transfer and cancellation of stock. The company had a capital of $300,-000. If Kimball & Champ surrendered and canceled $124,000, this reduced the stock by that amount so as to make it a company of $170,000, and this covers any impairment of the balance of stock." of the balance of stock."

In addition to the above indictments were returned as follows: E. G. Tobin, who stole $17 from the pocket of J. Y. Hendricks of Shenandoah at the Kiel house, larceny in a building; William Criss, who stole $2.50 belonging to Mrs. Anna Pralor, larceny; E. R. Rowe, embezzling $164 belonging to W. A. Edwards & Co. of Des Moines; William Probleta selling mortinged property. It is Probstele, selling mortgaged property. It is claimed that Probstele mortgaged a couple of billiard tables to N. Schurz, which afterwards turned out to be the property of the

Frederick Paulding's Early Dramatic Ventures-His Hopes and Plans Discussed. Mr. Frederick Paulding, now playing an engagement at the Boyd theater in "The Struggle of Life," was an Omaha boy and began his stage work in this city. He is the son of Mrs. Colonel William Irving Dodge, whose husband was second in command at Fort Omaha nearly twenty years ago. Mr. Paulding has brought to his profes-sional career the enthusiasm of a passionate love, and now, at the early age of 33, he can see the promise of a brilliant and famous future. He has for years been recognized as one of the best leading men in support of famous stars, and is regarded as one of the likeliest of young American actors. He has already set his mars high in tragedy, and his friends predict that he will be the great Booth's successor. He is fixed by that high ambition, and brings to its achievement the application of a student and exceptional abilities that are already well developed. Mr. Paulding was superintending the set-ting of the cathedral scene in "The Struggle for Life," when a Ber representative was presented to him, and he explained that his heart was so wrapped up in the success of this venture that he watched every detail in order to give the public a perfect perform-

"Yes, I am in a sease an Omaha bov." he said in response to an inquiry, "and some of the happiest days of my boyhood were spent in this city. But what a magical change has cone over Omaha! I remember very well coasting belly numpers down the Farnam street hill by the old frame court house, but you have cut down the hill and piled up brick blocks until nothing of the dear old spot is left. So many of the old friends have moved away or passed over to the beyond that I find very few here now.

"My femily came to Omaha in 1874, when I was but 15, and remained until 1876. My thrst appearance on a stage was in amateur theatricals at Fort Omaha. I had a passion for the stage from childhood. In New York I cultivated the friendship of the keeper of the stage door at Wallack's old theater, spent many a recess during school days in wandering about the enchanted place

"After leaving Omaha I visited Europe, and for five months had free access to Mr. Henry Irving's theater in London. I took no part in the performances, but made a study part in the performances, but made a study of stage craft and received many useful hints from Mr. Irving. On returning to America I again took up a matteur theatricals, and decided to go upon the stage.

"My professional debut was made in 'The col's Revenge,' in 1879. The enthusiasm of youth led to overwork resulting in spinal meningits and partial paraissis. The physi-cians commanded me to abacdon the stage for at least five years, but a year or two later for at least five years, but a year or two later my mo.her's fortune was swept away. She had given power of attorney to an agent, who dissipated her means in speculation. Thereupon I resumed from necessity the calling I had taken up from love, and in 1884 returned to the stage in "The Shadows of a Great City." Since then I have supported Miss Fanny Davenport, Miss Margaret Mather, R. E. J. Miles, Frank Mayo, Joseph Jefferson, and William J. Florence. I was associated with Miss Mather for six years, and have played Romeo more than 700 times. "The present venture in melodrama is not altogether to my liking, but it is a means to an end. Mr. Edwin Booth and Mr. Joseph Jefferson, both of whom have given me kindly encouragement, advised me to give two or three years to melodrama and a like time to high comedy. With tastes and in-clinations all toward tragedy, my present work is merely training to better fit me for my chosen line of work. My cousin bequeathed me 'The Struggle of; Life' and $20,000 with the understanding that I should give the play a fine mounting, come before the public as a producer and bend all my energies toward the goal of my ambition. Thus far the venture has met with flattering success, and public and press have given me a a gratifying reception. "My ambition is to be a worthy successor of Edwin Booth, and while that may sound vainglorious you must admit that it is a proper purpose to spur one to noblest enleavor. I am prepared to give years of study and effort to the pursuit, and if I come within sight of the goal by the time I am 50 I will be satisfied. I may continue in melodrama and comedy for several years yet, but will surely return to tragedy.'

Sloux City Saloon Business.

Sioux City, Ia., Feb. 5 .- | Special to The BEE. |-The salocnkeepers of this city are closing their places by dozens. The majority of them were caught in the trap of the Law and Order league, which has redoubled its efforts since the late state election. The liquor men were confident that the prohibi tory law would be promptly repealed by the legislature, and two months ago they readily entered into stipulations with the Law and Order league that if the prohibitory law was not repealed by the Legislature by February I they would appear in the district court and plead guilty to the charge of contempt of court, which carries with it the closing of their places with fine and possible imprison-ment. If the law should be repealed they still agreed to pay costs of the proceedings that had been begun against them. The agreement at least gave them two months of reedom. But now the time has expired, and the Law and Order league is enforcing the agreement to the letter. The saloon men are forced to close or go to jail, and in addition suffer confiscation of all fixtures, etc. Many of them are leaving town to avoid payment of the fines, which the plea of guilty involves the minimum fine being $300. Even if the legislature shall repeal the law it will not be for some time in the future. It looks as if the saloon men would be compelled to give up the light, and suffer the liquor supply to go again into the hands of bootleggers, dive keepers and secret joints .
