Coots, Omaha $117,239.99 and $15,159, 310 days

Total Bids of the Firms.

The supervising architect has tabulated the combined or total bids as follows: Rockford & Gould, $138,000; Goddes & Seeris Denver, $134,500; James Creighton & Co. $137,000; Raymond Bros., $130,000; O. J. King, $113,000; J. Field, $124,000; Jobst Bros., $135,000; Evans & Co., Topeka, $119,000; L. L. Lench, Chicago, $124,000; Frank L. Reeves, $130,000; Probst & Co., $126,000; John F. Coots, $135,000.

The successful bidders will be announced The successful bidders will be announced probably next Monday and they will probably be O. J. King for the general superstructure, to be completed by August 30, next, and the Phonix Iron company for steel and iron, to be completed in sixty-seven days. If King should not be declared the best bidder it is likely Evans & Co. of Topeka will get the sward. The superintendent of the building has submitted his report on the excavation and made suggestions as to the basis for foundation, but the report has not yet been examined by the supervising architect here. Chamberlain & Co. From the Clinton County Advertiser, Lyons, Ia It was the good fortune of a representative of this paper to visit the laboratory of this enterprising firm at Des Moines one day this week. It occupies four floors of a double building and employs sixty-five hands in the different departments, which include the compounding of the different preparations, bottling, backing, shipping and grinting. In the latter department they have a firely equipped printing office, with half a dozen presses, which are kept nearly constantly in operation printing latels and different kinds of advertising matter. Their laboratory is especially oney at this time, as Chamber-lain's Cough Remedy, which they manufac-ture, has proven a splendid remedy for the grip, and in all cases greatly relieves the bottling, packing, shipping and printing. Omaha Rustlers Mean to Get the Independent Party's National Convention. An enthusuastic meeting of the committee baving in charge the matter of trying to secure the independent convention Omaha was held at the Board of Trade rooms last night. Sixteen delegates were appointed to go to St. Louis to attend a conference to be held at that place February 22. An executive committee, composed of W. N. Nasou, as chairman, George H. Experts Pronounce Against the Sixteenth Street Viaduct and Suggest Changes.
If the opinions of experts are worth anything, the Sixteenth street viaduot is in a dangerous and an unsafe condition, a menace to the lives of the thousands who pass over the structure every day.

Some time ago the condition of the viaduct was reported to the city council. The matter was referred to the Board of Public Works and the city engineer. The gentlemen comprising this committee have made their examination and now find that the report was true.

Chairman Birkhauser of the Board of Publie Works stated that in company with Engineer Rosewater he had examined the structure and found it weak. The stringers in the spans he considered too far apart to stand the loads of motor trains, especially when they were allowed to pass upon the spans of the vinduct. He feared that some day there would be a terrible accident which would re-sult in a great loss of life. Colonel Egbert thought the Sixteenth street viaduct a disgrace to the city. It was not the kind of a structure that was demanded by the public. In fact, it was only latended for a bridge, capable of bearing up light loads. At the present time, he stated that the heaviest traffic in the city was over the arranging to strengthen the structure. He had ordered timbers for additional stringers, which would be put in place as soon as they arrived. The viaduct was never intended to carry heavy loads, such as motors, but for light hauling it was strong enough. He would appear before the council and ask that the Street Railway company be compelled to regulate its running time that motors would not pass each other on any one span. great danger was when concentrated leads were put upon the bridge. A motor was a concentrated load, as each one weighed about seven tons, with the cars, when loaded, wheels of the cars were six feet from center to center, which concentrated a load of twenty-two tons at any spot where two trains happened to pass.

Engineer Rosewater stated that he was

Mayor Bemis stated that he had heard of the unsafe condition of the viaduct. If the report was true he would favor closing the thing up altogether until other arrangements could be made. He realized that if an accident occurred it would subject the city to innumerable damage suits, to say nothing of the great loss of life that would result from the falling of the structure.

The mayor stated that he would suggest to the council the necessity of an ordinance regulating the passing of trains, the passage and enforcement of which would insure some degree of safety to the public. Inspector of Buildings Tilly had viewed the visduct and regarded it as a death trap. He expected almost any day to hear that the whole thing had fallen. It was never built to carry heavy loads and should be condemned by the city and a new one ordered at the expense of the railroad companies.

Damaging Results of a Row Between a Hackman and His Passenger. Al Brown, a hackman, now knows what it just in front of his jugular vein is what he has to show for his experience.

T. A. Tarryman, a traveling man in the employ of the Richardson Plate Glass company of Philadelphia, is the artist who so cleverly performed the operation of vivisec-tion on the hackman, but an officer with no appreciation of good scientific work, promptly arrested the surgical traveler for ssault with intent to commit murder.

The row occurred over a disputed bill

The row occurred over a disputed bill which the hackman presented for driving the traveler out to see a friend. The commercial pilgrim stepped out of the hack at the Arcade notel at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and after a few words the hackman turned in and scraped the skin off the protesting passenger's face. Tarryman soon realized that the hackman's bood was hot, and decided to let hackman's brood was hot, and decided to let out a little of it on the frosty sidewalk to cool. As he didn't have a cleaver or broadsword about him he used his pocketknife, Tarryman's friends furnished ball for his release, and he promptly filed a complaint against Brown for disturbing the peace. Al Brown was in police court during the afternoon and filed a complaint against Tarryman, charging him with assault to do bedily injury. Tarryman will be arraigned before Judge Berka this afternoon at 2

VIEWS THE SITUATION

Inxious to Vacate the Office, but Compelled to Retain Possession to Protect the People's Interests for the Present.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 5 .- | Special to THE BEE. |-Governor Thaver has decided that he cannot with propriety or by right tender the possession of his office to Governor Boyd until he receives at least a certified copy of the recent decision of the United States supreme court. In an interview with THE BEE representative this afternoon he stated that when he read the synopsis of the decision as published in the daily press Tuesday morning he felt that the contest was ended. He so informed his cierks and told them to prepare to vacate the office. Up to Wednesday night he had intended to notify Governor Boyd on Friday that he was ready to surren der possession of the office.

He stated that the predictions made in these columns in regard to his giving up the office were based on good grounds and that a tender of possession would have been made today had not a new and unexpected aspect. of affairs arisen. The doubts expressed as to the real meaning of the decision have at last made an impression upon the minds of his attorneys, and it has been decided to wait for more definite information from Washington before taking any decisive action. He made the following statement of his views of Waiting for Information.

"My attorneys are waiting to get the full text of the decision of the supreme court at Washington. As yet they do not know what it does really contain, because of the conflicting reports. If anyone supposes that I am holding on to the office of governor for the sake of the office, or that I have the slightest desire to do so, such person is most worfully desire to do so, such person is most wofully mistaken. I am anxious to surrender the office; but I do not propose to act precipi-tately, and without full knowledge of what "The clerk of the United States supreme court wired Mr. Webster that the decision of the supreme court of Nebraska was reversed and the case was remanded for further proceedings. When it is known what the decision is we will know how to act. I am ready to comply with its requirements.

"The fact that the case is remanded for further proceedings certainly means that something further is to be done before I can surrender this office. It seems now that only four judges sustain the position that the enabling act made Governor Boyd a c.tizen; that is a minority opinion.
"There is another feature to this case. The question arises, am I justified in turning the flice over to Governor Boyd! The question is as to my right to turn over the office to any person until the decision of the Ne-braska supreme court placing me in the office of governor is reversed by the same court because, as quoted above, the supreme court remands the case here for a reversal of its judgment and further proceedings.

"It is the opion of the best legal lights her that I have no right to thus dispose of this office. This is not a personal matter between myself and Governor Boyd. I am holding the office of governor in behalf of the people of Nebraska and not for myself. My attorneys, Messrs. Webster, Blair and Lambertson, are giving these questions the most thorough consideration, and I shall act in accordance with their advice.

"No threats or abuse will deter me from my course. I shall not run from any duty or from any controversy.

"I assure the people that nothing would now please me more than to be relieved of the duties and cares of the office. I will leave on Monday for Texas, where there are important interests awaiting my attention. I would not give up the Texas of the office. would not give up this Texas enterprise if I could have the governorship insured to me for all time, as much as I prize the honor of the position." Majors Will Act Temporarily.

Lieutenant Governor Majors will assume the executive functions during Governor Thayer's absence and no new developments be expected for several days yet Attorney Lambertson went to Omaha to-day for the purpose of conferring with Messrs. Webster and Blair. Governor Thayer will be guided entirely by the result of their conference. If they should conclude that Governor Thayer will be justified in turning over the office to Governor Boyd, he will do so before his departure for Texas. Until the result of their conference is known nothing can be said in regard to the situation that will have any direct pearing on the case.

Carnes' Resignation Accepted. Oil Inspector Carnes tendered his resigna Oil inspector Carnes tendered his resigna-tion last Monday. Today Governor Thayer accepted it in a letter in which hosaid: "Your favor of the 1st inst., tendering your resignation as state inspector of oils to take effect on the date of the expiration of my term of cffice, has been received. I have accepted the same and placed it upon file in this office. I take this occasion of expressing my entire approval of the manner in which you have conducted the affairs of your office. You have been active and zealous in the rer-formance of your duties. I am sure it has ever been your aim faithfully to execute the law, imperfect though that law may be, and o promote the best interests of the people."

A Thurston Move.

"Let me put you on to a very smooth bit of work that is just now going on throughout the six congressional districts of Nebraska," said a politician who knows a thing or two, if his hair is red. "John M. Thurston is moving heaven and earth to get a delocation elected to send to the Minneapolis convention that will be completely at his command. He will of course try to be one of the delegates himself and will do his utmost to get the delegation solid for Blaine.

"The Blaine boomers have promised Thurston that he shall be made president of the convention if the Nebraska delegation will go solid for the man from Maine. There are men in every congressional district now working up this Blaine Thurston scheme. As I understand it, each congressional district will elect two delegates, and the state con-vention will elect four at large to attend the national convention at Minneapolis. Thurston is not only intending to capture the con-gressional delegates from each district, but he also hopes to name the four delegates to be nominated at the state convention. Keep your eye on John M. Thurston."

In the Fifth District.

Dr. Razee of Curtis, Neb., was in Omaha Thursday, and in speaking of the political situation up there he said: "I believe that General Dilworth of Hastings will be the republican candidate for congress in the Fifth district. Prof. Andrews and Rev. J. G. Tate of Hastings are also in it, but I think they will pull into line for Dilworth all in good time. McPheeley of Minden has a good many friends up that way, but I think Dilworth will have better staying qualities." Speaking of the aspirations of Lieutenant Governor T. J. Majors, Dr. Razee said: "Mr.

Majors has been gaining friends in our part of the state, but he had better not crowd the cattle. He is inclined to claim too much and if he is not careful there will be a change of sentiment against him before the time for nomination arrives."

Thaver's Attorneys Consult, Yesterday G. M. Lambertson came up from Lincoln and was closeted with John L. Webster and Judge Blair. The status of General Thayer was discussed. Last night John L. Webster, in answer to a query, stated that the discussion was informal, that no definite conclusion had been reached, and that, so far as he knew, General Thayer had been given no advice as to his action, one way or the

FOUND AT LAST. After Years of Unsuccessful Search for a

Cure, Martin Anderson Gets Relief from the Chinese Doctor-A Voluntary Testi

Омана, Neb., Jan. 18, 1892.

To whom It May Concern:
This is to certify that I have been a constant sufferer for many years with catarrh, asthma and bronchial affections of the throat, and tried all the patent medicines and remedies I ever heard of, but with no success. I treated with doctors in various parts of the country, but none of them could do me any good further than giving me short temporary relief. I suffered night and day, and continued to grow worse notwithstanding all the medicine I had taken. I had almost given up my case as hopeless when I was informed by a friend of Dr. C. Gee Wo, the Chinese doctor, and advised to go and see him in the hope of getting relief at least, if not a permanent cure for my trouble. I was slow in making up my mind to make such a radical change in my treatment, as I knew a trial with the Chinese docor would bring me, but I finally conluded to give him a trid, so I called at his office with that intention. I found the doctor a clever, entertaining genticman, thoroughly posted on my condi-tion, and it took only a very short time to convince me that he was the party I was so long in search of. He told me my case was curable, and that he could cure me, and prepared me a special treatment to suit my condition, and in two weeks I was so much better that I had the fullest confidence in the doctor's ability and committed my case to his treatment. I continued to grow better rapidly and am now entirely well. I owe my cure to Dr. C. Gee Wo, and am not ashamed to admit it. I advise all who want relief from their troubles to call on Dr. C. Gee Wo, and they will be cured. For all particulars apply or write to MARTIN L. ANDERSON,

The Sunday Bee,

February 7th.

Mark Twain's Letter.

It don't make much difference wha-Mark Twain writes about, the subjects is always well treated by him. This is especially true of his description of "An Austrian Health Factory," which THE BEE WILL print Sunday (Illustrated).

The Intercontinental Railway. Frank G. Carpenter's letter in PH7 SUNDAY BEE tells a fascinating stor, of the work American engineers are doing in the mountains of Central and South America. Here are some of the subheads of his letter: Nearly a Thousand Miles of Unknown Country Explored—The Troubles of the Surveyors in Feuador and How They Work on the Plateau of the Andes—Surveyor Shunk Describes the Terrible Climate—His Experiences in Colombia—The Wonderful Resources of the Country and Something About the Mineral Regions Along the Line—The Raliroad Among the Clouds Laid out by the Second Party—How the Iron Horse Will Travel Ten or Twelve Thousand Feet Above the Sea—Something Along the Raliroad Systems of couth America. Where the Intercontinental Line Will Go and the Countries it Will Open up—What Our Naval Officers Are Doing in Guntemala and Something as to the Central American Route—The Survey to be Completed in a Year and a Half. Frank G. Carpenter's letter in THT Wakeman's Letter. The mere announcement of another letter from Wakeman about his travels in Morocco is sufficient. The value of his contributions is well known.

Most correspondents in treating of hicago paint a carmine-hued in the of her greatness and beauty. Fred Nyo a his letter to The Sunday Bes turns such pictures to the wall a few minutes while he writes of the besetting evils of the great municipality. You will read it, of course. Among Local Musicians. The success of THE BEE's musical news column has been unprecedented. Next Sunday this distinctively news feature will present everything worth knowing about local musicians and events. No words will be wasted on idiotic speculation as to what would become of the people were there no music. This department deals with live subjects. It is based on news.

The Social World.

As usual this department will contain all the news. After all, that's about all you expect from it. The Reportorial Hopper. Just as sure as you blek up a copy of THE SUNDAY BEE you will have spread before you a record of the haps and misbaps of a busy pushing city. (No fakes.)

"My First Hundred."

Men who have made fortunes from small beginnings in life never forget the work and denial necessary for the accumulation of the first $100. Some of Omaha's self-made capitalists will tell in The SCHDAY BER how they got their start in the world.

Seed Growing in Nebraska.

Under the beading of home industries special attention will be called to the growing of seeds in Nebraska and the great development of the business, showing that this State is rapidly coming into the front rank as a seed producer. Special attention will be exiled to the necessity of patronizing the growing industries of Nebraska.
