SECRETLY MET AT COUNCIL BLUFFS

Though No Objections Were Offered to the Match, the Young Couple Preferred to Surprise Their Friends - Nebrasks News Notes.

FREMONT, Neb., Feb. 11.- [Special Telegram to THE BEE.]-A big sensation was created here this forenoon when it was learned that Paul Colson and Nellie Blewett were married yesterday at Council Bluffs. These young people are from two of the oldest and wealthiest families of the city and nothing has created so much surprise in society circles for many a day as the announcement of their clandestine marriage. The two families have lived for years in fine residences adjoining each other. During the time Paul and Nellie have grown up together with a fondness for each other from child-Their engagement has been an open secret for some time, but the members of neither family had any intimation of the marriage the young people had need. The bride left secretly arranged. The bride left yesterday, ostensibly to attend the Boston conservatory of music, and drew a sum of money at the bank to pay her expenses. The groom has been attending school at the State groom has been attending school at the State university at Lincoln, and met his affianced at Council Bluffs, where the ceremony was performed by a justice of the neare. Up to noon the parents of neither one had received any notice from them of what had happened. The match is agreeable to the families of both, only the young lovers were advised to wait until they had finished their schooling. Both are exemplary young people and they will doubtless be cordially received by their parents when they come home after their romantic when they come home after their romantic Fitz Preparing for a Licking. New ORLEANS, La., Feb. 11.-Tue proposed battle for the $12,000 purse offered by the Olympic club of this city, for Bob Fitzsimmons, the champion middleweight, and Peter Maher, the Irish champion, to fight for, is already creating considerable interest. Fitzsimmons went into training at Bay St. Louis on February 2. He went through the following training routine on Saturday: After walking twenty miles, on return to Robinson's, his training quarters, he was rubbed down and weighed 165 pounds. In the afternoon he punched the ball for half an bour, and boxed about one dozen of the best boys of St Stanislans college. Fitz delights in punching the ball, and unlike many others, who do this work, he uses every muscle of his body equally His feet and legs are brought into play with his hands and arms, and his ball boxing is worth seeing. He is exceedingly active in every movement, and has a quick eye and cool head. The indications are that he will lead Peter Maher, the heavyweight champion, a dance around the ring for an hour or two until he wears the Irish champion out, then try to end the contest by a knock-out blow. The majority of sporting men here will back Fitzsimmons in spite of the fact that advices from New York state that there is $10,000 benind Maher.

Match Made for Sully. CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 11.-A private communication bearing the signature of John L. Sullivan, received by a personal friend of the king pin slugger in Chicago today, states that Sullivan on February 9 attached his name to articles of agreement to fight to a finish with five-ounce gloves, Queensberry rules, with Peter Maher, for a purse of St,000 before the Metropolitan club of New Orleans and a side bet of $10,000 some time during next August, pro-vided that Maher whips Fitzsimmons. Sullivan does not underrate the Irish boy in the least, and says he thinks he will ooy in the least, and says no taines he will do Fitzsimmons in less than afteen minutes. Sullivan's theatrical engagement expires next June, and he will go into training immediately on the expiration thereof at some point near New Orleans.

That the metropolitan's agents have been exerting every effort to secure the champion's signature to a set of conditional articles, to good in the event that Maher wins against Fitzsimmons, leaked out today, when the fact became known that the agent had stuck to Sullivan's side all the way from the coast to Ogden and Salt Lake.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

Aaron H. Woodbull, the gifted and popular comedian, will enter on a week's engagement at the Farnam Street theater next Sunday afternoon, presenting his highly successful Yankee play, "Uncle Hiram," which has made a series of pronounced hits the past three seasons throughout the east. The play is a healthful domestic picture of the rural order with a natural and effective plot and with pienty of just such episodes as would be hikely to happen. Miss Troja Griswold, the sweet singer, will appear in the support, in-cluding a well selected company.

This evening M. B. Leavitt's great spectacular pantomime, "Epider and Fly," will be the attraction at Boyd's New theater. The saie of seats opened this morning and the demand was very good. This superb organization comes to us heralded as the most complete and costly production seen on the American stage in years. The company numbers forty people, and embraces the choice of American operatic, pantomime and vaudeville stars, and several of the latest European novelties. The story of the "Spide and Fly" is not only deeply interesting, but teaches a good moral, and serves as the foundation for a delightful evening's enjoy-ment; catchy music, funny topical songs, magnificent scenery and half a dozen imposingly gorgeous bailets.

Gessler's Magic Headache Wafer cures all headaches in 20 minutes. At all druggists, Thurlow Weed's Generosity.

When Thurlow Weed was a little boy in Catskill, where he was born, he had as a playmate another lad, says the St. Louis Republic. They met in early manhood afterward when Weed as the editor of the Evening Journal in Albany was fighting the battles of the whigs and William H. Seward, and when this man, Edwin Croswell, as editor of the Argus, was one of the princes of the Albany regency. The political controversy became personal between these two men, something that was very rare with Mr. Weed. For more than twenty years they were personal enemies and were as strangers to each other when they met. After they reached mature years, a reconciliation came, the tender of it being made by Mr. Weed.

Mr. Croswell, when an old man, went, to New York and entered into business which proved disastrous. He becam impoverished. Mr. Weed heard of it indirectly. He was then living in New York in delightful retirement. He be stirred himself at once to help Croswell. Among others whom he saw was Marshall O. Roberts, Mr. Roberts at once bought the house adjoining his own on Fifth avenue for $25,000 and presented it to Mr. Croswell, and on a Christmas day Mr. Weed called upon his old enemy but then friend, saying that he had brought him a little Christmas present. and he put into Mr. Croswell's hand a check for some $40,000. Croswell was so affected that he could not speak, but he wrote Mr. Weed a note afterward, which he said such experiences as that made men rejoice that they had lived and had discovered the goodness which was in the heart of men.

Origin of Hoodium. An old resident of San Francisco tells the Portland Oregonian that a great deal of time has been wasted in searching for the acrivation of the word "hoodium," and it has been credited to many different languages, but all the derivations given are wrong.

Some twenty or twenty-five years ago there lived in that section of San Fran-cisco known as the Barbar Coast a couple by the name of O'Houghlihans, who were blessed with a family of boys who were the terror of that uesavory region; ignorant, brutal young toughs, whose sole delight was getting drunk, whos only pastime was tormenting, abusing and beating all other youngsters in the neighborhood. They were so much dreaded by the neighbors that when they were seen approaching children were called in doors and kept there til they had gone by to a safe distance, and it was easy to know when they were in sight by hearing the women calling: "Patsy, Mary Ann, come in; the Hough-lihaes is comin'." The O was dropped in the haste of calling the young ones, and after a little the name, a somewhat difficult one to pronounce at the best was in the mouths of the Germans, Italians, Chinese and nationalities residing on the Barbar Coast corrupted into "hoodlums," and the Houglihan boys and their associates became generally known as the hoodlums.

Judicial Dignity. Certain Georgian judges have a pe-culiar way of defending their dignity. The other day one fined a lawyer for being late in court, for which the latter char acterized him as no gentleman. Whereupon the judge, it is related, stepped from the beach and knocked the tawyer down. He then resumed his seat, had the offending lawyer brought before the bar and put him under heavy bonds to answer for disorderly conduct and contempt of court.

Squaws and Alcohol. PINE CITY, Minn., Feb. 11 .- A bloody battle between two squaws took place last night at a small Indian colony at Pokegama creek. The squaws of the colony procured a large quantity of alcohol and indulged in a spree Two of them quarreled. The younger woman drew from her waist a butcher knile and at tacked her companion, who tried to defend herself with a smaller weapon. Both women were terribly out and mutilated. Both squaws have disappeared and it is believed have died of their injuries.

[Copurishted 1802 by James Gordon Bennett.] Paris, Feb. 10 .- New York Heraid Cable Special to THE BEE, |-The commerciat arrangements between France and the United States are making good progress. France asks for a diminution of American customs duties on merchandise worth $12,000, 000, $10,000,000 in hides and $2,000,000 in sugar. In return France will grant a minimum tariff on American merchandise worth $12,000,000. The necessary details in regard to such merchandise form the subject of the present negotiations.

The Morocco question appears to be coming to the front again. The sultan of Morocco has sent to all the powers a circu lar in which he complains of the conduct of France in the Total affair. It is evident that this is not the sultan's own idea and he is acting at the instigation of some European power.

The outlook in Spain is bad. At Barcelona a great disturbance has been caused by the execution of the anarchists of Xeres and the government is afraid that a republican movement will be the result.

In Belgium the parliamentary situation i more or less at a deadlock. The king desires to introduce the referendum into the constitution. The parliamentary majority, however, was opposed to this proposition until this morning, and only gave its consent after a secret meeting, at which the minister spoke carnestly, referring especially to the imminent danger in which the king would be placed unless harmony was restored. The royal proposition will be submitted to a vote of the Chambers.

MAGNIFICENT SIGHTS PORTRAYED. First of the Series of Bishop and Mrs. New man's Entertainments. What Bishop and Mrs. Newman saw their trip around the world was magnificently portrayed on canvas by stereopticon views last night at the First Methodist

It was the initial entertainment of a series of three consecutive ones to be given at that church by the bishop and his wife. The audience last night was large, and Mayor Bemis made the introductory remarks after having been presented. He said he had girdled the earth, but had come to the church for the purpose of again seeing the world, as Rishop and Mrs. Newman would present it. The tour last night did not complete the It went as far and into China The views of their travels were superbly shown and entertainingly presented to the large and

The start of the travers of Bishop and Mrs Newman, after the great American eagle was shown, was made at Omaha. The entire city was shown in all its picturesque grandeur. The train was boarded. A palace car was taken and its magnificent interior was

The next view portraved was the Rocky mountains, the snow-white peaks and Spe-tre lake. From the range the saintly city the Mormons was reached. The world famous tabernacie, for its wonderful architectural design, was visited. Continuing the trip the Sierras were reached. From the mountains the run was made the coast, passing through the Yosemite valley and into Sacramento.

A large Pacific ocean steamer was taken to Japan. Of all sea voyages the bishop said no preferred a trip on a Pacific occan steamer. Schools of flying fish were seen in the waters as they bobbed up from the sea.

Japan was finally reached, and a mount 13,000 feet in height was viewed with admiring eyes. In a bay the royal barge of the emperor of Japan floated along on the palacid waters on the canvas. A view of Yokohama was next presented, and then the style o traveling in Japan was graphically described.

The novel and very peculiar architecture in the buildings, pleasure coats, the grand caust at Tokio, the naval academy, and a Japanese cometery were among the interest-ing views in Japan. The pictures of his majesty the emperor and the empress were Views of Japanese wedding parties, their feasts of umbrelias which meant a decoration of all the houses with rain protectors and other characteristics were all vividly portrayed. Bishop Newman, in describing the customs and habits of the "Japs," said their characteristic was industry, and among the educated they were very intellectual. A picture of Grant was shown and there vas great applause. The trip was then continued into China

The great wails around the empire were next viewed, and the cities of Pesin, Shanghai and Caston were visited. A rest was then taken until tonight. At London-Lake Ontario, from Boston The North German Lloyd Steamship com pany have decided to continue their service

WHERE REPUBLICANS WILL MEET.

What Minneapolis is Doing in Arranging for Their National Convention. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Feb. 10. - Convention matters are progressing rapidly, and the plans for the accommodation of the great crowds which will attend the republican convention are crystalizing. Mr. Addler, the world famous designer of the Chicago Auditorium, and for many years past widely celebrated as the special architect for the national political conventions of both leading parties wherever held in the United States, today handed in his report. He says that arrange ments for the conversion of the Minneapolis exposition building into a hail for the republican national convention has progressed sufficiently to justify the prediction that Minneapolis will furnish the republican party the best convention hall yet constructed this country.

The exposition building, he says, is being reconstructed to seat between 10,000 and il. mand a full view of the entire space occupied by the delegates. Every spectator in the hall will be able to see and hear everyone who may rise to speak in the body of dele gates, or from the rostrum.

In a general way, the arrangement of the hall may be described as follows: In the center will be a space nearly square which will be occupied by the delegates for whom settees and opera chairs will be provided. The aisles will be so arranged as to render easy the approach to the seats themselve and communication between the differen delegations. Immediately in front of the space occupied by the delegates and extending across its entire width will be an elevated rostrum, in the center of which will be another elevation, which is to be occupied by the chairman of the convention, the clerk of the convention and the stand for the speak Immediately behing this will for the national committee and for the hon ored guests of the convention. To each side of the rostrum for the officers of the convention will be tables, first for the representa-tives of the Associated Press and for the chief representatives of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies and their for the reporters of the leading dallies of the country. In addition to these will be chairs for those representatives of the press not en-gaged, in the immediate work of making verbatim reports of the proceedings, but en gaged in description writing, etc.

The scats for the anectators will rise in very direction from the central space before described upon a method of stepping tech nically known as the "isacoustic curve, the purpose and effect of which is to give the est and most effective combination of sight and sound lines known to modern science Barring the difference as between curvilinear and the rectangular plan, the conditions resemble more the Roman amphi-theater than those of the interior of any modern structure.

The means of ingress and egress will be similar to those in use at the various music festivals and conventions held in former times in the exposition building, and now in use at the Auditorium. The seats will be subdivided into comparatively small sections, each with a separate entrance and such arrangements will be made in the printing and designing of the tickets that the entire mammoth audience can be seated as rapidly as the audi ence of an ordinary theater. The arrangements made for egress from the house in volve the erection of new stairways, aggregating 120 feet in width. Work upon the drawings is being prosecuted will the utmost diligence and it is expected the work will be ready for letting contracts within two weeks.

The citizens of Minneapolis have taken hold of the preparations for this convention with a zeal and enthusiasm that promise great results. To supplement existing hote accommodations arrangements are being made to convert a number of new and no as yet occupied office buildings into tempor ary hotels for the time of the convention This plan will triple the ordinary hotel ac commodations of the city.

VICTORY FOR OMAHA.

Wabash Railroad Loses Its Fight Nebraska Shippers, Washington, D. C., Feb. 10 .- The Interstate Commerce commission today announced its decision in the case of Murphy, Wasey & Co. against the Wabash and other railroad companies in favor of the complainants, who ship chair stuff, bed and mattress material in mixed car loads from their factory in De troit to their other factory in Omana. On chair stuff, for example, they are charged as much per hundredweight under the western classification for the transportation from Chicago to Mississippi river points as for the more bulky finished article. The commission reaffirms its power and duty to fix maximum charges in cases where complaint is made of unreasonable rates. The points decided are briefly as follows: carrier should receive a greater compensa-tion in the aggregate for hauling a car load of large tonnage than one of less tonnage, but other things being equal as a general rule the rate per hundredweight should be less in the former than in the latter case.

A maximum rate is prescribed for complainant's shipments in mixed car loads of chair stuff, spring bed and mattress material all wooden, minimum weight 25,000 pounds of not exceeding 20 cents per 100 pounds from Mississippi river points to Omana, re-sulting in a through rate from Detroit to Omaha via Chicago of 30 cents per 100 pounds and via Mississippi river points, not through Chicago, of 311; cents per
