

RELIGION IN SCHOOLS

Angry, Vigorous Protests Go Up from Germany's Best People.

ALL LIBERAL CITIZENS OPPOSED TO IT

INCLINED TO KICK AGAINST ENGLAND

Egypt's New Khedive Would Like to Out Loose from English Influence.

SAXONY WILL INSPECT AMERICAN PORK

Illness in Germany's Royal Family—American Girls Who Have Married Titled Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Foreigners Presented at Court—Mark Twain Convalescent.

Hausener, a native of San Francisco, who is the wife of a former Prussian minister to Hamburg.

"Mark Twain" is recovering from the relapse which he recently suffered. He left his bed for the first time yesterday, but he must keep his room for weeks yet.

LONDON GOSSIP.

Result of Giving Command of a Vessel to a Man with a Fall.

Copyrighted 1892 by James Gordon Bennett.

London, Feb. 13.—[New York Herald Cable-Special to THE BEB.]—The circumstances connected with the stranding of the battleship Victoria may prove a beneficial warning to all governments disposed to favor officers with a fall, and is especially recommended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion. When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion. But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

But his pull was too strong and Bourke got the ship, which he ran promptly around the first time his admiral left him to his own devices.

It is believed to be a definitely recom-mended to the attention of Secretary Tracy.

The captain of the Victoria is Maurice Bourke, son of the late earl of Mayo, who was assassinated in India, and cousin of Lord George Hamilton, first lord of the admiralty.

Bourke is the youngest post captain in the navy, and has had soft berths during his entire career. He has been equerry to the king of Edinburgh, chief of the intelligence department, and captain of the cruiser Amphion.

When he was posted for the command of the Victoria, there was a universal howl from the long line of senior captains that a young man should get the finest ship in the world, in spite of the fact that Bourke had made a failure in the Amphion.

regarded with distrust by his party associates.

If the bill fails in the senate it will be because its democratic supporters carry out their caucus program to vote down all amendments calculated to weaken the measure and make it less objectionable to the true friends of temperance.

What the Democrats Want.

The bill is not an ideal temperance measure. Several provisions in it are especially objectionable to the large cities. Davenport and Dubuque want the fee reduced to $200, while counties in the interior, like Davis, that voted overwhelmingly for prohibition in 1882 insist that the license shall not be less than $1,000, with county option a feature that was demanded by the party platform, but which has been eliminated from this bill.

Some interior localities also ask that the petition for a license in each ward shall require the signature of a majority of all the resident freeholders. The word has gone forth that all amendments of this character must be voted down and the bill passed just as it comes from the democratic caucus.

A bill providing for a $1,000 license with county option, it is believed by many, would command a sufficient number of republican votes to secure its passage, but the large cities would prefer the present law and the representatives from those localities would not dare support a bill containing these provisions.

How the Senate Stands.

Thus could the bill, if safely through the senate, secure the necessary fifty-one votes in the lower house. To do so it must secure a vote of fifty-one already.

Fifty-two republican members have openly and boldly stated that they would stand by the present law, at least till the people had another opportunity to express their desire.

The republican program is to resubmit the question to a popular vote at a popular election, pledging themselves to abide by the result. The democrats are not willing to accept this solution of the matter and will defer re-election in the senate.

They prefer to keep the issue before the people, hoping to be able to carry the state in the coming presidential election by means of the general dissatisfaction over the workings of the present law, and believing that they will be able two years hence to repeal prohibition and pass the bill now pending in the senate. Thus it may be seen that the prospects for the repeal of the prohibitory law are not very brilliant.

WITHIN TEN DAYS.

Promise of an Extra Session of the Legislature.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 13.—[Special Telegram to THE BEB.]—Unless unexpected and unforeseen contingencies arise Governor Boyd will within a week or ten days issue a proclamation calling a special session of the legislature. In that call will be a suggestion that the legislature should pass a maximum term bill and reorganize the executive and legislative districts. A few amendments to the Omaha charter may be included. The question of "Michiganizing" the state will not be included.

This prediction is made upon a close observation of the drift of events at the state capitol. It is believed that Governor Boyd had practically determined upon calling an extra session before he came to Lincoln. His determination has been strengthened since he has resumed the executive functions by the advice of many democratic members of the last legislature. The governor himself will not discuss the matter for publication, but, in a general conversation with THE BEB representative today, said that the public might expect to hear something next week.

While the remark will admit of a double construction, it may at least be conjectured that he returned to an extra session.

A leading counselor in the democratic party said today that an extra session had been determined upon. He further said that THE BEB's conjectures in regard to a combination between the democrats and independent parties was practically correct.

Such a combination, he said, would be the result of an attempt to "Michiganize" the state and he intimated that Governor Boyd was not himself in favor of such a policy unless it could be accomplished by congressional enactment.

FOR HER SON'S SAKE.

Mary Bradley Convicted of Murder to Hide Her Boy's Shame.

HAWAII, Kan., Feb. 13.—[Special Telegram to THE BEB.]—Mary Bradley, twenty-three years of age, was convicted of murder in the first degree here today after a trial lasting ten days. Her crime was committed to assist her son to a happy marriage. A simple niece named Curly, came to live with the Bradley's and the son took advantage of her. When the girl's condition was known she was driven from the place and the son married a girl by the name of Garvey. After the young man's marriage the girl Curly returned with her child and Mrs. Bradley, as shown by the evidence, gave the child poison, from which it died within an hour. She then buried the little victim to silence the wrong done her.

The case was given to the jury at 5 p. m. yesterday and this morning a verdict of guilty in the first was given.

The accused is a red-tail with the same stolid indifference that has characterized her throughout the trial. The only change noticeable in her countenance was the firm setting of her lips when the verdict was read. Her application for the privilege of freedom under bond until sentence had been passed was promptly refused by Judge Thompson, and she was given into the custody of the sheriff. When further liberty was denied her she broke down and wept bitterly, screaming that she was innocent of the crime and the importance of the verdict.

Saved from Prison by a Child.

ATCHISON, Kan., Feb. 13.—[Special Telegram to THE BEB.]—Bernard J. Schmitz, a wealthy farmer of Atchison county, went to Germany last November to visit his old home. Immediately upon his arrival in that country he was arrested for deserting the United States army. The matter was placed in the hands of the United States minister in Germany, but all efforts to secure Schmitz's release were fruitless. Schmitz's 11-year-old daughter, however, wrote a letter to the emperor of Germany from her home in this country, setting forth the facts in the case and asking his release on his birthday, which came on the 28th of last month. The letter reached the monarch on the 27th and he was so touched by it that he issued a pardon for Schmitz and he is now on his way home.

Senator Ingalls and the G. A. P.

ATCHISON, Kan., Feb. 13.—[Special Telegram to THE BEB.]—The application of Senator John J. Ingalls for membership in the G. A. P. was reported favorably last night and he was duly elected. His initiation will take place during the state encampment, which will be held here here in a few days, and be made as imposing as possible.

Mrs. Dr. Graves.

CANON CITY, Colo., Feb. 13.—Mrs. Dr. Graves left here tonight for Providence, R. I., accompanied by her brother-in-law. She intends to return to Canon City in six or eight weeks.

MYSTERIOUS DEATHS

Finding of a Tennessee Farmer and His Wife With Their Throats Out.

WOULD BE TRAIN ROBBERS ARRESTED

One of Them Shot Down Before the Officers Could Seize Him.

SEVEN PEOPLE POISONED IN ILLINOIS

One of Them Dies and the Other Six in Great Danger.

PAID THE PENALTY OF DISOBEDIENCE

John Kay, of Milan, Penn., Kills His Son For Going to a Dance—Desperate Deed of a Discharged Workman—Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

Accidents and Deaths of Violence.

spontaneous told him plainly that unless the amount demanded ($500) was promptly forthcoming the papers would be called upon to devote a certain amount of space to the sad details of a banker's funeral, that gentleman has not as yet given up any of his good cash and still calmly regarded an amount of $500 as a trifling matter.

This is because the banker is able to detect the funny side of all situations, and he treats the affair as a full-grown joke. True, it didn't appear quite so humorous at first sight, and Mr. Barker's family was considerably alarmed, but logic tended to allay their fears, and now no sleep is being lost over the matter.

He Got a Letter.