

THE OMAHA BEE. COUNCIL BLUFFS. OFFICE: - NO. 12 PEARL STREET. Delivered by Carrier to any part of the City...

MINOR MENTION. N. Y. Plumbing Co. Council Bluffs Lumber Co., coal. Crafts' chaffet luns, 504 Spauld block.

The funeral of Mrs. Helen T. Pound will occur this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Trinity Methodist church, here. H. H. Barton, officiating. Remains will be interred at Walnut Hill cemetery.

The democratic caucus will be held this evening in the various wards to appoint delegates to the convention to be held Monday afternoon at the court house. The place for holding the caucus in the Second ward has been changed from the city building to the vacant room in the Sharp block.

A small house at 1935 Eighth avenue, the property of Conductor Bell of the Wabash, caught fire at an early hour yesterday morning. It was completely and no cause can be assigned for the blaze unless it was the work of a firebug. It was extinguished without difficulty before much damage had been done.

The attorneys in the case of Deere, Wells & Co., against Aultman, Miller & Co., spent all yesterday in making their arguments before the jury in the district court, and they will be through by this evening. The case will be resumed this morning, and with the instructions of the court to the jury will take up the morning session at least, and probably a part of the afternoon.

The report of City Physician Jennings shows that there have been but twenty-four deaths in this city from diphtheria since January 1, 1891. The number of cases of diphtheria in this city has had twenty deaths and Des Moines fifteen, from this disease, so that the comparison of the record with that of the other cities makes a very favorable showing for Council Bluffs.

A strong effort is being made by the friends of Joe McDermott, the Boston Store burglar, who is now in the county jail, to get him out on bail. A number of his friends from other cities are now here trying to make the necessary arrangements for his release. His bond is now fixed at $500, and unless it is raised it is thought that this amount will be put up by his friends, and as soon as he is released he will be in the city again. McDermott is undoubtedly a hard character, and unless something is done to prevent it there is danger of his escaping justice.

The married ladies will continue their exchange at No. 9 North Mason street, and ask the patronage of the people. They keep a good supply of fresh bread, rolls, and cakes, and also have a supply of yeast on Wednesdays and Saturdays. All orders promptly filled.

Drs. Woodbury, dentists, next to Grand hotel; fine work a specialty. Tele. 145.

Politics Warming Up. The election which is to be held a week from next Monday is expected to be one of the hottest that has occurred in the city for years.

Most of the remarks that our floating boat the air have a democratic flavor, from the fact that the republicans are lying low, waiting to see what the republicans will do upon the other side before opening an engagement. There has been some talk at various times during the last few weeks of organizing a citizens' committee for the purpose of opposing the present administration, and it is probable that such a committee will be organized by those of the republicans and democrats.

A good share of the fighting will be done in the various wards, and it is probable that the purpose of appointing delegates to the convention next Monday. The candidates now in the field are: Charles H. Johnson, nomination are practically reduced to three, favor Macrae, A. C. Graham and S. B. Wadsworth. Each of these gentlemen has already received a number of votes, and a contest is expected. It is understood that a theme has been entered into between the friends of Macrae and Wadsworth with the view of intensifying the contest by being agreed that in case Graham seems likely to win Wadsworth's men are all to combine with Macrae's and support him for the present incumbent for a second term. An air of plausibility is given this report by the numerous conferences that have been taking place lately between the friends of the two candidates on the street corners and in saloons and other places of resort.

Major Macrae's forces are admirably organized, and even his opponents admit that chances for getting a renomination are beginning to bloom with uncomfortable brilliancy. One of the advantages of having a "shell-billed detective force" is that it is able to follow up the members of the force has been engaged for several days past in working up his party list, and he is now in the hope of securing some information as to the intentions of that gentleman which could not otherwise be obtained.

One of the great rights is anticipated in the caucus in the Second ward. It was at first expected that the city building would be the place where the caucus would be held, but it has been developed that the caucus will be present of those who propose to support Macrae is knocked out of the box, and that those who are supporters among his supporters. On account of the vigor of the fight it was decided to hold the meeting in a happy building, where the voters will be able to find a room to spread themselves in.

NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

A. Z. Bowen Must Again Answer to the Charge of Embezzlement. HE IS NOW IN THE COUNTY JAIL.

Marshal Crofts of Oakland Returns the Prisoner for Trial—Some Interesting Political Matters Likely to Develop in the Near Future.

A. Z. Bowen, who had trouble by reason of his connection as business manager with Mrs. Nathan Colwell, was brought in from Oakland last evening by Marshal Crofts of that place, and deposited in a room in the county jail. Mrs. Colwell filed an information charging him with embezzlement. Mrs. Colwell learned that Bowen was attempting to transact some business in Oakland in the way of selling farm lands in Nebraska. When the train came in she was at the depot waiting for him, and she had a conference with him almost immediately, in the course of which she tried to induce him to give her back $100 which she claimed he had stolen from her.

The G. M. Dodge camp, Sons of Veterans, will give a ball in G. A. R. hall on the evening of March 7. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

We have our own vineyards in California. Jarvis Wine company, Co. Bluffs, Neb., will locate here.

At a meeting of the Council Bluffs & Omaha Bridge company it was decided to secure grounds for the Omaha Base Ball club on this side of the river. The grounds, owned by the water works company, and located near the power house in the western part of the city. A proposition which was submitted by the company to this effect was thoroughly discussed and was finally adopted. It being the opinion of the members of the motor company that larger crowds could be induced to take in the games by having the grounds situated in the western part of the city, the outskirts of Omaha. Whether the ball club will agree to the scheme is as yet a matter of uncertainty, but it is understood that the motor company will meet with the approval of the powers that be the necessary buildings will be erected on the grounds at an early date, and will be put into operation at the beginning of the season.

The only original Cleveland ball coach in this city is in the show windows of Meyer's furniture house. Beebe's old stand, and there are more baby carriages in stock than in all the other places in the city.

She Grew Tired of Life. Ora Palmer, better known as Mrs. Dwight Haggerty, who lives in the Pierce street house commonly known as the "Ark," tried to snuffle off her mortal coil at an early hour yesterday morning by taking a large dose of morphine. The dose was sufficient to have almost the desired effect, but was fully six hours before the two physicians who were summoned to attend her succeeded in putting her out of danger, the woman is still recovering, having had a very bad case of colic, but is recovering, and is expected to be up in a few days.

FOUND GRAVES IN THE SEA. Sinking of the Forest Queen in the North Sea—Aboard the Forest Queen.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—News of a terrible disaster in the North sea by which a steamer went to the bottom carrying with her every soul on board with only one exception, was received in this city at a late hour tonight. Only meager details of the catastrophe have been obtained, but from the dispatches already at hand it is known that the Forest Queen (British) and Forest Queen came into collision off Flamborough, a village of York county, East Riding, on the North coast of England, on the morning of the 23rd inst. The Forest Queen was torn apart. The damages sustained by the Forest Queen were so extensive that the sea began to run red with the blood of the crew in great volume. So quickly did the Forest Queen founder that her crew had no chance to save their lives and all hands, with the single exception of the captain, went down with her to a watery grave. Fourteen persons lost their lives.

The dispatches give no information as to the extent of the damage done to the Loughborough.

ENJOYED THEMSELVES. Business College Students Spend an Evening Chasing Pleasure.

The rooms of the Omaha Commercial college were thronged again last evening, the occasion being the reunion of the graduates of the college by the students of the classes of 1892. Choice refreshments were served, and a delightfully informal program was rendered.

The students themselves acted as waiters, and attired in unique costumes rendered very efficient service. Over 300 persons sat down to the tempting spread and enjoyed to the utmost the festivities of the evening.

Mr. C. S. West acted as toastmaster. Prof. M. G. Rohrbough responded to "The Aim and Object of Business Education." Mr. Axline delivered the address of welcome to the ex-students, to which Mr. I. Harris responded. Miss Petrie responded to "The Importance of Business Education." Mr. Axline delivered the address of welcome to the ex-students, to which Mr. I. Harris responded. All the rooms were thrown open, and the social pleasures of the occasion held those present until a late hour.

TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS. Executive Committee of the People's Party Will Meet in Omaha May 11.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 26.—The executive committee of the national committee of the people's party will meet in Omaha on May 11 for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for holding the national convention there on July 4.

Why They are Inquiring. [Copyrighted 1892 by James Garvey Bennett.] VALPARAISO, Chile [via Galveston, Tex.], Feb. 26.—[By Mexican Cable to the New York Herald—Special to THE BEE.]—The inquiry into the duties of Lieutenant Harlow of the United States' foreign legion was instituted to present the testimony to the United States government that his representative, while in the discharge of official functions, was engaged in the dissemination of news prejudicial to both countries. The allegation of unfairness and of unethical etiquette is strengthened by the charges made by Chinians that Harlow abused his official position in the city of Washington.

Lieutenant Harlow had a most friendly interview with the government yesterday, and expressed his regret that Chili found it necessary to withdraw her troops from Washington.

Very Flattering Prospects. W. T. Coan, president of the Dakota, Wyoming & Missouri river railroad of South Dakota and one of the leading attorneys of Rapid City, is in the city on his way to Chicago.

ago. Mr. Coad brings a flattering report of the condition of affairs in his section of country and predicts that the coming year will be one of the best and most successful ever experienced in the Black Hills. New mines are being discovered daily and the country is being developed and the population output of the country increasing as the years pass on.

In the tin districts of the northern and southern hills much activity has been manifested, the prospecting stages of development has passed and the producing era is close at hand. Before the year is out, Mr. Coad believes the Black Hills will be as famous as the tin producing center as ever were Cornwall, the Straits of Malacca or Bohemia.

President McLeod's Strides from Poverty to Affluence. President McLeod of the Philadelphia leading railroad, about whom the whole country is talking since the consummation of the gigantic coal deal, is a self-made man. It is now related of him that before his connection with the railroad business he was the proprietor of a saltery in Texas and had a hard struggle for several years. He was sold out by the sheriff.

About this time Alexander Briden of Pittston, Pa., a mine boss, was traveling in Colorado with a view to investigate coal lands there for some company in Chicago in connection with the town he met McLeod who was financially "flat on his back," with no prospect of bettering his condition. He appealed to Briden for enough money to pay his fare again and his appeal met with a generous response as the bank money McLeod said: "Briden, I'll be in a position some day to return this kindness, but I won't forget you."

When the new great railroad king was placed in charge of Philadelphia and Reading interests for the past year, but found that the duties were telling on his health and resigned and returned to his place at Pittston.

An Expert Opinion. They were two district messenger boys, and they were sitting in a cross seat on an "L" car, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. "Gee!" suddenly exclaimed one of them, after a silence extending past three stations, "I've got a cold." "What's your name?" answered his companion. "Ar'r, yer can't beat 'em wunce in a hundred."

"Wid yer there." "Why, where yer skin a man fur a nick or a dinner overcharge, yer kin get away wid it every time when yer get up on a tall-boon on a woman she pulls a tall-boon on him to a moral. An' if she collars him bald-headed she skips around an' blows to de man, an' he gets the tra-la-loo!" "Bin ter it myself." "Ar'r, wimmin ar' jes' for any use." "Chinamin, I'm wid yer again." Then they were raked to the fact that they had been carried by their station, and the things that they said caused four people to move into the next car.

She Didn't Know Him. New York Times: At a recent symphony concert whose program foretold coming attractions, the following conversation was overheard between two fashionably dressed women in the audience. One of them studying her bill remarked: "The next concert promises to be a good one, for Paderewski will play."

"Who is Paddy Rzewski?" asks the other. "The pianist everybody is talking about."

"I haven't heard of him, and anyway I don't think there can be much in an Irishman's playing."

A Novelty in Footwear. A decided novelty in footwear, more suggestive of utility than of comfort, is the "Oregon boot," so called, with one rivet and one sole connected. The boot weighed eighteen and a half pounds, and a detective spent fifteen minutes in opening the combination by which it was secured to the prisoner's foot. Thus hooked up, he would be in a safe chance for a mauler to effect his flight from custody unless he should somehow learn the combination. Practically, he might as well be anchored to a fireproof safe.

A Deliberate Opinion. Many who saw "The Texas Steer" in San Francisco no doubt greatly envied the young lieutenant who kissed Bossy with such evident warmth and affection. Bossy is Flora Walsh (Mrs. Charles best is that he never worked a day in his life, sauntered up to the judge's desk this morning with beaming visions of a pronounced comfort in the pocket and under the eye of Jailer Miller floating before his mental vision. "Four days at hard labor," sardonically remarked the judge and John tearfully bowed his head. "Well, my dear," said Hoyt, "he'd be a fool if he didn't."

HER SINGLE THOUGHT. Was to Find Relief, Which Was Accomplished Through the Skilful of Drs. Copeland, Shepard & Mansfield.

Mrs. Mary Newton Tells of Her Dolorable Condition and Recovery. Mrs. Mary Newton, 301 North 28th avenue, whose husband is prominent in the various professions, had existed for two years with headaches which had existed for two years, and which were very severe at times, but were constant, scarcely a day passed without such suffering. Sometimes the pain was sharp and shooting, and at other times it was dull and heavy. They were at times in front of my head, at other times behind it, and at times in my head, running down the neck. This caused sickness of the stomach and greatly affected my appetite, causing also a heavy pain and distress in the stomach, which was also very nervous and restless. My eyes were also affected, and I had a general feeling of weakness, and I could not read or do any work, requiring the special use of my eyesight.

My throat was always dry and badly affected, and I could not speak. It was also sore and appeared to have a slight cold. It caused great pain, and I had a harassing cough and pain in my chest and through the back and on my neck. At times there was ringing in my ears and my nose bled, and I was unable to sleep, causing much anxiety.

At these symptoms completely disappeared under the treatment of Drs. Copeland, Shepard & Mansfield, which has been a most remarkable change, has been mild, pleasant and very skillfully applied. I commend these physicians to all in need of medical help.

Mr. Thomas N. Clark, of 619 Douglas street, says: "I was not able to take for the benefit of THOUSAND DOLLARS for the benefit of Drs. Copeland, Shepard & Mansfield."

Dr. W. H. Copeland was president of his class at Bellevue Hospital Medical College, New York, where he graduated, the most famous institution of his kind in the country. His diploma bears the written endorsement of the faculty of the college, and is signed by prominent medical colleges in Pennsylvania, and is acknowledged to be the leading institution of its kind in the west. Dr. Sheppard's thorough knowledge of the diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat, and his medical practice, which is in the west. Dr. T. B. Mansfield's credentials are no less abundant and unqualified, and he is also a member of the medical societies of various county and state medical societies.
