OVER A PRECIPICE

Tragic Death of Captain Edward Donovan at Plattsmouth.

PECULIAR ACCIDENT TO AN OLD SOLDIER

Unable to Secure Assistance He Dies o Exposure at the Bottom of a Ravine Into Which He Had Tumbled.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., March 4 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE. |- This afternoon at I o'clock the dead body of Captain Edward Donovan, an old and respected citizen, was found in a creek in the west part of town. The stream at this point contains little water, yet the banks are quite steep and are washed out, forming a dangerous precipice. A shelf about six feet from the top extends along the south side of the creek. Along this the unfortunate man had walked fifty or sixty feet pulling at the bushes with his muddy hands, trying to get out of what soon after proved to be his death bed.

When taken out the body was still warm and life had evidently been extinct but a few hours. The last seen of him was last night, when he seemed to be slightly under the influence of liquor.

The coroner empaneled a jury which brought in a verdict of death from exposure. Captain Donovan, at the age of 28, joined the union army in June, 1861. He enlisted as a private in company ..., First Nebraska. He was promoted to hospital steward July 21, 1861; promoted to second fleutenant company K October 1, same year; promoted to first lieutenant company K November 1, 1862; promoted to captain company F December 25, 1865, and mustered out in June, 1866. He soon rejoined the regular army, remaining in the service eleven years. The captain had made Plattsmouth his home ever since leav-ing the service. The deceased leaves one daughter, who is at Ashland teaching school, and two sons, Robert at Lincoln and George, somewhere in the northwest.

St. EDWARD, Neb., March 4 .- | Special to THE BEE. |- The thriving and prosperous town of St. Edward, the town that is always first and foremost in matters of enterprise and progress, the town that is noted far and wide for its magnificent donations and libsral subscription lists, has taken another step lowards doubling its population and business during 1893. The latest addition to its list of attractions is a planing mill and canning fac-tory, both of which will be in full blast for the fall trade. The bonus asked by the owners of the plant was $500. St. Edward's trust fund was a little too small to meet it. The business men called a meet-ing and it took about lifteen minutes to raise $750, with a good prospect of $150 more from the absent ones. The farmer representatives present guaranteed a fund of a like amount in subscriptions from the country. The dif-ference between $500 and the amount raised will in all propability reach the sum of $1,000, which amount will be held in trust and offered as a bonus when business inter-ests demand it. The first thing needed is s creamery or cheese factory, and the right man can secure extra inducements by correspending with A. Powell, secretary of the Business Men's Association of St. Edward.

Closing Scenes of the Nebraska Prohibition Convention Devoid of Harmony. LINCOLN, Neb., March 4.-The prohibition state convention for the election of delegates to the national convention concluded its sessisn this evening. Interest centered mainly in the selection of the chairmon of the delegation, and some bitterness was provoked on account of the alleged effort of recent converts to overthrow the plans of old workers.

The platform adopted renews adherence to the cause of prohibition; declares that the right of citizens of the United States to vote should not be denied or abridged by the States, or any state, on a sex; that the government should own and operate the railroads, telegraphs and tele-phones of the nation; that the money of the country should be issued by the general covernment only and in sufficient quantity o meet the demands of business and give full opportunity for the employment of labor, and to this end increase the volume of money as demanded; that no individual or corporation should be allowed to make any profit through issuing it; that it should be made legal tender for all debts and that the volunie be fixed at a definite sum per capita and made to increase with the increased pop-ulation; that the government should reclaim all unclaimed and forfeited land grants to railways or other corporations, and such lands, together with the remaining portion of the public domain, should be reserved for actual settlers; that trusts should be prohibitse: a just service pension is recommended election of senators, president and vice president by direct vote of the people is favored, and opposition is declared to all manner of compromise or so-called non-partisan action, to which the question of the suppression of the liquor traffic is a secondary Crazed by Overwork. LINCOLN, Neb., March 4.- [Special to Tur BER. |-One of the saddest cases of the many on record in Lancaster county is that of J. W. Percival, a well known plumber, who became violently insane this morning. Mr. Percival has been a candidate for the republican nomination of water commissioner, and has worked early and late, having resigned his position with Pomerene & Cooper for that purpose. He has eaten very little lately, and his actions have compelled the keeping of a water on him. This morning he grew suddenly violent and picking up a mallet attempted to strike his wife, but was happily prevented. In in disarming him C. F. Barers was struck with the mallet in the eye. He was taken to the police station and kept in the chief's private room till after noon, when he was taken before the commission, and will doubtless be sent to the asylum. On the way to the court house he leaped from the buggy and was making away when the engineer at the court house. away when the engineer at the court house, Henry Wiggenjorst, attempted to stop him. They clinched and both rolled over the high terrace. The violent paroxysmy come only at irregular intervals and it is expected that with rest and proper treatment he will speed-ily regain his health and faculties. It is simply a case of overwork.

LINCOLN. Neb., March 4 .- (Special to THE Beg. |-Lincoln is rapidly falling into line and will soon be numbered among the sporty towns. There bave been one or two little knock-outs in West Lincoln of late, engineered by a number of bloods of town. Not long ago there was a spirited "event" between a local middleweight and a South Omaha unknown, in which the local manadid not know that he was on the ground about three minutes from the end. The success with which this was kept in the dark en-couraged the leaders in the affair and last night there was another on the tapis. The news quietly circulated around town to the fortunate that everything was in readiness, and 10 o'clock saw a large assemblage of sports and bloods around a sixteen-foot ring out in the quiet realm of West Lincoln.

just in the way of a relish and was spirited but bloodless. It was a bout between two ambitious local darkies and was fought with six-ounce gloves. The second set-to was out of signt. This was also between two ebony-hued sons of Ham and was for blood from the start. Nearly the first blow struck made the carmine flow freely, and knock-downs were in order. The fight lasted five rounds, but as no time was wasted in spar ring the sports considered that they received the full worth of their money. Honors were easy up to the beginning of the fifth round, and both men were a trifle groggy. One of the combatants, however, succeeded in land-ing a scorching right-hand blow on his opponent's eye that ended the fight. It was a knockout blow and doubled the fellow up until after time was called.

The prime movers in this affair say that there will be something in the wine again before long if the supply of darkies is not exhausted and the bloods continue to put up the cash.

[Copyrighted 1892 by James Gordon Bennett.] LONDON, March 3 .- | New York Herald Cable-Special to THE BEE. |- The admiralty has received a private report from Admiral Watson of the North American station giving a detailed account of the commerce ship and engine builders and the construction facilities of the ship building tirms on the interior of the United States, especially those at Duluth, Milwaukee, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Buffato, Erio and Bay City, stating that all could be called upon in a short time to build ships which could be easily converted into ships of war. Admiral Watson's attention was called to this by the Canadian shipbuilders, who state that by the law of 1817 they are unable to provide for a warship plant. He suggests, therefore, that the ad miralty throw a sop to the Canadians and build dock yards along the lakes, giving them the same advantages as the Americans have. To this the admiralty has replied, "Poon, pooh: it is plenty of time to look into the matter when the United States shows itself unfriendly. At the present there is no indication of trouble and the British government is not going to throw away money merely for the purpose of aggravating the United States government and thus cause the abrogration of the treaty."

SECRETARY FOSTER INTERVIEWED

He Answers a Few Questions Put to Him by an Associated Press Reporter. London, March 3.-Hon. Robert T. Lincoln. he United States minister, called upon Hon Charles Foster, secretary of the treasury, today, and with him proceeded to the House of Commons where they listened to the debate. Mr. Foster will go to Brighton tomorrow and on Saturday he will start for Paris.

After returning from the House of Commons Mr. Foster in an interview said: "Mr. Lincoln got me a seat in the diplomatic gallery where I had the good luck to hear some of the best speakers. Mr. Gladstone approached the nearest to our American ideas of a good speaker. Mr. Labouchere. who was next, resembled a good congressional debater. After the debate I went to the lobby where a number of members were atroduced to me."

"Was there nothing asked about the immi gration commissioners f.' "Not there, but in the short time I have been here I have several times been asked to explain statements cabled as the report made by the whole commission."

"Was the alleged system of senging ex-convicts to America one of the subjects?"

"Yes, the question in Parliament in re-gard to the matter and the comments of papers were based on a misapprehension that the whole commission was responsible for the report."

"When I appointed the commission I deemed it a right to select among the five commis-sioners one direct representative of the labor interests. That was Mr. Powderly and I do not find fault with his report. But that story about ex-convicts had its origin in Mr. Shuitie's report. People on the other side will treat the story on its merits. Here the mistake is made of taking the statement as supplied by the whole commission.

"Does that explanation apply to another commissioner's assertion that 22,000,000 acres of productive lands are lying idle here!"
"As far as each commissioner is individually responsible, I do not know where Mr. Powderly got the estimate. I would not like to say his report has a partisan blas, but naturnily he reports in behalf of those he feels with. Congress is a good judge of the accuracy and spirit of the statement. My aim in appointing the commission and in drafting the suggestions recently was not to block emigration, but to get the best class of emi grants. America assimilates all. Quiet in Germany is Not so Deep Reaching as Would Seem at a Glance.

[Copyrighted 1892 by J tm a Gordin Bannett.] Paris, March 3 .- | New York Herald Cable Special to THE BEE. |-Although the riots in Berlin have ceased for the moment, the internal situation in Germany is still disquieting. The Germans do their best to conceal the misery which prevails in their country, but it exists. In eastern Prussia espe nally the distress is terrible. Work and food are so scarce that in many places the peasants are compelled to eat bread half composed of sand, and the authorities have bad to make an appeal to public charity.

Owing again to the falling off of orders in most of the German factories, large numbers of workmen are unable to earn a living. The foolish speeches of the emperor have exasperated the people, and were he to indulge in more speeches fresh riots of a dangerous kind might be expected. It is worthy of remark that the Berlin students sided with the malcontents in the recent riots.

First Blood for Loubet. The first parliamentary engagement of the new ministry was fought today in the French Chamber. M. Loubet, the premier, read a coloriess tatement to the deputies.

M. Camille Peliatan, the well known radical, asked the government to explain its re-lations with the vatican. The premier re-plied that they were based exclusively on the concordat. On the matter being pushed to a vote the government policy was approved by 315 to 91. The triumph of the capinet appears decisive, but in spite of this a few peo-ple seem to think that the new minister will retain power till May. The Chamber is not prepared to uppet them immediately. That is the meaning of the vote.

It seems that the question of the alloged negotiations between M do Freycinet and Heart Rochefort, to which I referred yesterday, will be brought before the Chamber of Deputies next week. Both parties to the quarrel are awaiting documentary evidence. JACQUES ST. CERE.

of Business Methods. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 3.—[Special Telegram to THE BEE.]—THE BEE Bureau of Claims today received notice from the commissioner of pensions of the issue of pension certificate No. 325,718 to Johanna Christiansen of Glumso, Denmark, mother of Christen Christiansen, who lost his life in the service of the United States while a member of Bridge's battery of Illinois vol-unteers during the late war. The pensica is granted under the new law for $12 per month from September 23, 1891, date of the filing of the claim. As the ciaimant lives in a foreign country and the amount consumed in the transmission of letters and papers pertaining to the claim is necessarily much greater than in cases where claimants reside in the United States. The speedy settlement of this claim shows the result of the application of business tothods in the prose-cution of claims as practiced by THE BEE Bureau of Claims,

A PRIESTLY CURE-ALL.

A Brooklyn Clergyman as a Miracle

The fame of Father Adams, the Brooklyn faith-healing priest, is spreading beyond Long Island, Crowds of physical cripples call upon him every day, keeping him employed from 8 a. m. till far into the night.

In the rear of the parlors is a small private office where the father keeps the precious relics-the piece of the true cross, the cones of the saints and other mementos-and performs his cures, says the New York Herald. A heavy curtain separates this room from the parlors. About every twenty minutes Father Adams pulls back the curtain and admits about twenty of the sufferers. The others crowd around the curtain and wait for their turn. Within the curtain the healing ceremonies are very simple. The priest offers prayer, converses with the pa-tients, exhibits and applies the relics and blesses the patients. They then kneel and offer their own devotions as Father Adams directs, he prays again with them and dismisses them. They go out by a side door and the next twenty are admitted. He asks none of them for money for his services, but there is a box on the table in which they may leave contributions if they see fit. Many of the patients do not pay any thing, because they are too poor, but all are treated exactly alike. If all paid at the usual rates for medical service Father Adams would soon get rich. Men and women of all ages and all conditions of life and innumerable children are in the company. While they wait for a chance to get into the priest's presence they talk in whispers about the wonderful talk cures that he is said to have effected. a williamsburg boy been fifteen years a cripple from rheu-matism. After one of the relics had been applied to his forehead and the father had prayed over him, he was taken home and the next day he was perfectly well. His crutches were thrown away for he could walk as well as anybody Another case was a girl who had been suffering for a long time from a sciatic affection, the result of a fall. She was cured, so the people said, at the first application of the relics. None of the peooie would admit that they had heard of any cases where the alleged miraculous cures had failed to be effective. Their faith in Father Adams and his methods vas unbounded.

Most of the people who invoke his assistance are chronic invalids with neryous or organic complaints. There has been no instance of the application of the priest's powers to any acute disor-The doctors explain the good results he seems to have achieved by say ing that imagination and hope are great factors in the cure of many nervous disorders. But Father Adams ascribes it all to the relies, many of which he gath ered at great expense in Europe. It is an established fact that a man who for years has been tortured with respiration several times as rapid as the normal, and who had consulted many eminent physicians without relief, got rid of his trouble between dawn and dark of a single day, after an application of prayer and holy relies, and that all of his ailing acquaintances have ever since kept the priest's door ajar, some of them going away in the belief that they had been permanently benefited. The worker of these alleged cures, who attributes his success to divine aid, is a stalwar man of 50 years—a man of the kind whom the weak and credulous would instinctively obey so far as their nerves and muscles would allow, and if he has compelled a lot of hypochondriacs to more come under their own control, he has done a great deal of good whatever may be his method, or lack o t. Such men are of unspeakable service to physicians, all of whom are haunted by a lot of people who imagine themselves ill and are sure they know what is the matter with them.

National League Has Agreed on Every Detail Necessary to Opening the Season.

DOUBLE SEASON SCHEDULE ADOPTED

Will Have Two Championships and a Worl Beater-Some Features of the Season's Arrangements-Base Ball and Speed Ring.

NEW YORK, March 3. - The National league men held a secret session today. The prohitory pass rule was adopted after being modified so as to allow the admission of the press without compensation to visiting clubs.

The schedule was adopted and the convention closed at 5 p. m. The championship season is divided into two divisions in consesonson is divided into two divisions in consequence of the increased number of clubs in the new organization. It was at first proposed to divide the series so as to make the first consist of eighty-six games and the second of sixty-six, but this was found objectionable to many, and consequently each division contains seventy-seven games. The winners of each series will play together at the send of the season for the together at the end of the season for championship.

The season opens on April 12. The first division will be from April 12 to July 13; second division, July 14 to October 15.

By the schedule the new clubs are not in the least slighted. In fact they are favored a little more than the others. As Mr. Byrne put it: "We favored them this year, but next year they will be as big as any of us and will have to take chances with us."

Features of the Schedule,

All the Fourth of July games will be played in the west, while the eastern clubs will Decoration and Labor day. On the Fourth Boston will be at Cincinnati, Brooklyn at Louisville, New York at Chicago, Philadelphia at St. Louis, Baltimore at Pittsburg and Washington at Cleveland.

No two American association clubs open grounds together. No two American clubs compete on holidays. Every club has an opportunity to open a ground, and every club has a Saturday with every other club, both east and west.

The distance that each club has to travel on its circuit has been carefully allowed, and where any club has more than its share, it will be considered and the expenses equalized at the end of the season. The total number of miles to be traveled is 162,335, an average of 13,517 miles per club.

The National board, as the old board of control is called, organized during the afternoon. Mr. Byrne was elected president and Nick Young secretary and treasurer. The magnates will meet again in annual session in November next.
