English Ponchers Will Not Be Allowed to Depopulate Bering Sea of Its Seals.

ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY THE GOVERNMENT

Secretary Noble Takes Commissioner Raum to Task-Destitution in Alaska-An Appropriation Asked For-Washington News and Gossip,

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5 .- The Bering sea matter has assumed a most serious phase and public officials make no attampt to disguise their grave concern at the outcome, and unions Lord Salisbury recedes from his present position and consents to a renewal of last year's modus vivendi, restricting the cutch of seals to such as is regarded necessary for the welfare of the natives, it will be necessary for this government to undertake alone the protection of the scals by the enforcement of laws bearing on the sub-Probably a special meeting the cabinet will be held on Monday for the purpose of considering the Monday for the purpose of considering the subject and deciding upon a plan of action in case Salisbury insists on his last proposi-tion. This proposition is that not only should Bering sea be open outside of the thirty mile zone from the Pribyioff islands to Indiscriminate scaling, but that the catch within that belt should be limited to 30,000 male scals.

Erroneous Impressions Prevail.

It is quite clear from inquiry at the capitol that with the exception of a few members of the house and senate committees on foreign relations the senators and representatives are in a state of ignorance of the present negotiations between the United States and Great Britain respecting the seal fisheries. There is among them a very general, but erroneous, impression that the treaty of arbitration just made between the two gov-ernments included all the questions at issue, and that while the arbitration is in progress the sealing waters are to remain uninfested by poachers without further stipulation. Therefore, they have relieved their minds from further concern in the matter and have failed utterly to perceive the necessity of re failed utterly to perceive the necessity of re-newing for at least another year the modus vivendi or agreement which is about to ex-pire by limitation and by the operation of which the seals in Bering sea were last season partially protected from destruction. Many of the senators also believed that the arbitration treaty contains a clause ing the modus vivendi, forgetful of the fact that if this were so the president would not e engaged in a strenous effort to prolong its life in order that at least a few of the scals may be preserved as the subject of arbitration.

International Complications Feared.

This ignorance of the real state of affairs at the capitol is partially excusable on the ground that the treaty itself has not yet reached the senate, and, indeed, it is hinted by some members that unless Great Britain evinces a disposition to act with fairness in the matter of modus vivendi it may never be sent to the senate by the president. While this deplorable contingency is not believed to be near at hand the few congressmen who are informed as to the exact situation express privately their grave concern at the outlook and fear that if the treaty fails and the contentions of the two nations relative to the contentions of the two hatons relative to the right of their subjects in Bering sea revert to the status they occuried at the be-ginning of negotiations several years ago scrious international complications may be expected.

The discussion of the subject has had the effect to attract the attention, not only of the general public, but also of vessel owners, and the latter, allured by the promise of large profits from seal fishing in the northern waters, are making preparations for noving toward Bering sea in such numbers as to warrant the belief that unless the movent is promptly and vigorously checked, seal rockeries will be completely depopument is

Chicago, Ill., March 5.-Western railroad nen do not feel at all uneasy in regard to the said: "As to my reply to this so-called challenge to fight in September, I wish to say that there is no man living who knows better than John L. Sullivan himself that I will be delighted to say the match between us is ratified. As to the $10,000 bet on the outside, he must be crazy, or thinks I am. The purse would be quite enough for me, but I will wager myself $2,500 even monep on the result. You will notice that Sullivan wishes to have every-thing to suit himself; the time, the place, the purse and the side bet. Now, I will make all these concession?, and even fight in outcome of the snarl into which they have got regarding rates to Kansas points. Now that the light has narrowed itself down to a contest between the Atchison and the Rock Island the interest has reached a point where Island the interest has reached a point where speculation is freely indulged in as to whether an amicable settlement is possible or demoralization and chaos inevi-table. The order of the Kansas railroad commissioners reduces fifth class rates only, from the Missouri river to Wichita, Salina, Hutchinson and other points in that state. It does not apply to fourth class freight, which consists mainly of the articles em-braced in the fifth class, in less that car load make all these concessions, and even fight in a sixteen-foot ring if he will pay me for the privileges. The Atchison argues in favor of simply obeying the order of the commissioners with-out disturbing in the least any but fifth class rates, while the Rock Island declares that such a proceeding would be illegal. Mr. Mitchell seemed greatly irritated at Mr. Mitchell seemed greatly irritated at Sullivan's challenge, and it could planly be seen that he was restraining himself and not using the language he would like to when speaking of Sullivan, for whom he seems to have the most utter contempt. IN THE SHADE OF HOLY MOSES The Great Creede Camp as it Appears by Day and Night.

[FROM YESTERDAY'S SECOND EDITION.]

MONEY AND LEAD QUITE PLENTIFUL

Nebraskan Woolng Dame Fortune and Viewing the Sights on the Side-Mineral Wealth and Prospects-A Great Rush.

CREEDE, Colo., March 4.- [Special to THE BEE. |-Creede, as seen by your correspondent, is situated in the canyon between mountains that are some seven hundred feet above the town. Through this canyon runs a small stream called Willow creek. The width of the street or canyon is between fifty and sixty feet, including the creek. The water flowing in the creek is clear spring and snow water. Every available foot of this space is occupied with buildings, set upon posts,

The town of Creede commences at the west end of the canyon and runs east. Buildings are strung along Willow creek for a distance of one mile. Then commences what is known as Jimtown. It is impossible for a stranger to know where the towns commence or end. It is simply one town as far as l can see, although they have two separate postoffices. I mean by this they leave mail at both the railroad stations.

Postal Facilities

At Jimtown there is no office as yet. The mail is thrown off here and dumped into small goods bex on the platform. Then some man steps to the bex, calls off the address of each envelope. If the parties whose names are called holds up their hands their mail is hacaed over. After this process is gone over with three times, the caller throws the. inclaimed mail into this box and goes away Then everyone who comes along picks up the mail, looks it over and throws it back in the box. At Creede proper it is somewhat differ-ent. There is a postoffice in a room 14x16, and it takes you from one to three hours at any time of the day to get your mail. Jim-town is soon to have quite a nice office with some 600 boxes.

A Wonderful Camp

This is simply a wonderful camp. You can hear the carpenter's hammers at all hours of the day or night. At night by the aid of electric lights. Creede At There are now over 2,000 buildings completed and some 600 nearing completion. The ground is all staked off away up the sides of the mountains—one end of the buildings rest-ing on the motion while the form is monopole ing on the rocks while the front is perched upon posts. It makes a very strange sight to Life in Camp.

The town now has eighty saloons, dance houses, etc. They are all in full blast, and such dance houses as they are, and such dances, and such discarded remnants as the old fairies who float around in them were never seen before. They are a job lot of weazened witches, but they make the night groan just the same. Drunken men come out occasionally and empty their guns in the air or in somebody's legs. Yesterday one had the ends of both thumbs shot off and another had the front legs of the chair he was sitting on shot off. It is needless to say that he moved without any further invitation. The accordian cuts quite a figure in this light mountain air at night. It is useless to try to sleep a night through without being awak-ened by firing of pistols and the yelling from these dens.

Rushing Business.

This is really a rustling, bustling town. Every kind of business you can find any-where is represented bere. The furniture dealers have such signs as this: "Outfits from the cradle to the grave." The lumber men are doing a rushing business, and also the hardware men. Money seems to be pientiful. Everything is on the jump. Rents for store rooms are enormous. A building on one of the town streets in Jimtown, say 25x40 feet. brings from $250 to $500 per month, and it is impossible to get a store room at any price on either of these streets.

NEXT HIS BOLINESS' HEART.

Archbishop Ireland is Regarded with Great Favor by Pope Leo XIII.

ROME, March 4 .- [New York Herald Cable -Special to THE BEE. |-The Moniteur di Roma publishes a four-column editorial in form of a communication from the vatican in defense of Archbishop Ireland, entitled "Mgr. Ireland and His Detractors." It says that for some time passionate attacks have been made on the archbishop, who is now a guest of the pope. Attempts have been made to prove that the archbishop's action is in opposition to the policy of his holiness, accusing the prelate of being aisloyal and betraying the cause of the pope's independence. The article says Ireland's American career and speeches have given his enomies the lie, showing him to be an admirer of the pope's views on reconciliation and pacification, while his work has been to extend the church's influence, gauging the spirit of the age, following Catholic traditions amid changing forms and situations, adapting Catholic vitality to new needs, placing religion above political strife, uniting and not dividing, and inoculating the American republic with religion as the pope would do with France. Mgr. Ireland's Baltimore centennial speech echoed the pope's social policy. His popularity in the United States makes useless his enemies' attempts to silence his powerful voice and break his precious influence. Hostility to the pope's policy is at the bottom of these attacks on ireland, whom the pope regards as the exponent of his own views in America. The pope will not allow himself to be cut off from his great friends by the tricks of his enemies.

HORRIBLE SCENE AT AN EXECUTION.

Bungling Work of the Executioner and His Awful Bloodthirstiness. BERLIN, March 4 .- The details of a most horrible story were received in this city today. A man named Hagean in Slade, a small village in the province of Hanover, was convicted on the charge of murder and was sentenced to be put to death by the guillotine. Today was the day set for the execution

He was led forth to the place where the guillotine was erected, securely bound, and the executioner placed him in the usual position on the board beneath the sharp steel blade. When all was in readmess the knife was released and fell on the neck of the pros-trate criminal. To the horror of the specta-tors, howaver, the knife failed to sever the head from the trunk, leaving the neck of the murderer in a terribly mutilated condition. The awfulness of the scene was increased when the executioner raised the knife of the guillotine and made a horrible attempt to wrench off the head of the unfortunate man with his hands, while the blood gushed in torrents from the gaping wounds. He failed to tear it off and he sgain placed the body in position under the guillotine and tried a sec-end time to behead the man by means of the knife. Again did the blade full to success-fully perform its deadly work. The executioner then procured a sharp knife and hacked and slashed at the back of the vic-tim's neck, at the same time fastening his fingers in the man's blood soaked hair and pulling with all his might. At length after chop-ping through most of the flesh which still held the head to the body the executioner ucceeded in tearing the head away.

PARIS, March 4 .- The thief who shot two men dead and seriously wounded another while being pursued in the Rue St. Denis ate last night was subjected to a searching examination today. His name is Crampton, but he refuses to give the names of his two accomplices, who escaped. He said no hoped the jury would find no extenuating circumstances in the case, as he preferred the guillotine to life in the penal colony of New Caledonia. He admitted that he had ala term of ten years in prison.

DR. SCUDDER'S CASE.

Inquiry as to His Saulty Postponed-Circumstances in the Case.

Cancaso, Ill., March 4 .- Who drew up the forged will is tonight the first question in papers of a rich woman who he is charged with having murdersd, he might never have been suspected of the clime. A forged will is in possession of Attorney Toiman, representing the dead woman's husband and sister. The circumstances under which Scudder had it drawn, if he did, will likely go far to prove or disprove his sanity and guilt. It seemingly was prepared by a lawyer, and the question of the attorney's identity and possible complicity is being carefully put toward solution. It is said an expert to whom the two wills were submitted before Dr. Scudder's arrest, and who knew nothing of the circumstances in the case, decided without hesitation that the two documents were not signed by the same person, one signature showing a tremor incident to old age, or feebleness, and the other firmly written, with forced attempts at irregularity of out-

ne. The case of Dr. H. M. Scudder, accused of the murger of his mother-in-law. Mrs. Dun-ton, was called up for inquiry in the insane court and was postponed this morning for no week. A reporter who interviewed Scudder is of the opinion that he is shamming insanlty. Scudder denied he killed Mrs. Dunton, Dr. Lyman, insanity expert, however, believes udder insane.

CAUSED BY A REVIVAL.

Free Methodists of Adams County Attacked

by a Mob. Dgs Moings, In., March 4.-A report just received at the Register office states that the mob at Corning, Adams county, made little demonstration tonight. It has been hard to gain any definite information about the matter. A religious revival of unusual intensity has been going on in Corning for several weeks under the auspices of Free Methodists. The town has been thoroughly excited for several days. The rougher and free thinking elements have opposed the rovival and threated the leaders with mob violence on account of the effect they were having on the people, some of whom have shown symptoms of veligious insanity. The revivalists declare it is the work of God and have persisted. For several nights the roughs have been surrounding the church and attempting to break up the meetings. The report that the governor had been appealed to for authority to call out the militia has been alternately asserted and denied. The governor went to Fort Madison this afternoon. Before going he was informed of the disturbance and asked by a minister to order out the militia. He telegraphed for further information, but found the local auorities, including the sheriff, did not want the militia, and so nothing was done.

Horrible Crime of a Father.

MASON CITY, In., March 4.-Today at Butte were revealed the details of a horrible crime. About three years ago Mrs. George Stuart died, leaving to her husband's care five children, the oldest a girl of 10. The family kept together, but last November the oldest girl went to New York. She re-turned last Saturday only to become a mother the next day. She then told a hor-rible story of how not only she but her younger sisters had been for three years compelled to submit to a father's lust. art has flod but is being hunted and if caught will undoubtedly be lynched.

While the adoption of such a course might appear to be an invitation to disrupt cordial relations, and, per-baps to more serious consequences, it is said by some members of the committee that it will be really in accord with the established diplomatic practice which permits a nation while its contentions are the subject of marotization to maintain its ground until a conclusion is reached, with the understand-ing that if the result of the negotiation or proitration is against the nation it will be under the obligation to make good any wrong it may have committed upon the right of the subjects of the party to the controversy.

SCOLDED RAUM.

Sceretary Noble Objects to the Manner i Which Pension Cases are Handled.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 5.-Secretary Noole has sent Commissioner Raum a rather sharp letter on the subject of giving preferences in the adjudication of pension claims. The letter is one of a series which have passed between the secretary and Commiss.oner Raum. The series opened with a let ter from the secretary to the commissioner statug that complaints were coming into the department of partiality in the examination and final disposition of claims. In reply Commissioner Raum stated that the rule was in orawing cases from the files for examination to draw from the completed files accord however, he said, was continually broken through the courtesy which is extended to members of congress who call for the status of cases. These fractures of the rules, said the commission, had been a matter of seriou concern and required immediate remedy When papers in cases called for by congress rien were returned and were found to be complete they were placed on the examiner's desk to prevent a second handling of the pap r and were soon disposed of thereafter, while other complicated cases, filed before them, were obliged to wait their proper Socretary Noble's letter of today was in r*ply to this letter of Commissioner Raum. The secretary says that when the completed cases are returned by congressmen, they should be placed back in file in regular order and not on the examiner's desk, so that each case may take its proper turn in the examination. The secretary says that the commis-sioner's reasons for not so returning the parers to the files is sufficient and without institucation, and urges strict compliance with the rule requiring each case to come up in proper order.

It will prohably where a relapse is possible. It will probably be several days before Mr. Springer will pass that point. He is so completely prostrated new that a very little imprudence or a slight mistake would cause a relapse which might prove fatal."

Murdered and Then Cremated.

PHENIX, Ariz., March 5 .- The discovery of the burned remains of a man and a horse in Thesaul county, has disclosed a murder which is laid at the door of Senor Papagos. Recently a noted smuggler, Figueros, came to Tucson to buy subplies. He left for home and was never hear 1 of afterwards. Papagos was known to be on his trail and the dis-covery of the remains has led to the belief, owing to surrounding circumstances, that Papagos killed and robbed Figueroa and then built a huge boufire over his remains and those of his horse. Another California Bank Involved.
