How Judge Woods' Friends Managed to Defeat Democratic Plans.

OTHER SIMILAR INSTANCES RECALLED

Nothing in a Close Vote to Reflect Upon the Integrity of Those Whose Nominations Are Being Considered-Washington Miscellany.

> WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BRE, ) 513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18.

The aftermath of the Judge Woods casfleated around the corridors of the capitol today quite freely wherever two or three senators were congregated, and some interesting incidents were related in connection with the loud and at times exciting secret session which resulted late yesterday afternoon in the confirmation of the Indiana circuit judge. The confirmation or defeat of the nomination was for some fifteen or twenty minutes in the nands of two or three individuals, especially Squator Manderson, president proempore of the senate, who has for some days occupied the presiding officer's chair in the absence of Vice President Morton, and Senator Hansbrough of North Dakota, who had charge of the republican pairs. Had Senator Manderson, at any time after the forty-fourth vote, a majority of the senate, was recorded and before the decisive yote was reached, announced the result as he could have done, the nomination would have been rejected. For some minutes the democrats were sure of success in their own minds and showed high feather. Excitement ran high behind the closed doors. The dem-ocrats objected to keeping the roll call open long after a majority of the senate was corded, which was being done simply in order that the republican majority might be on record or accounted, but Senator Mander-son sat in the vice president's chair and had the call continued until finally the tie vote of 24 to 24 was reached. He, as president pro-tempore of the senate, asked to have his own name called.

Then the Democrats Drew Off.

This gave the republicans a bare majority then and not till then it became apparent to Senators Voorhees and Turple, who were running the opposition, that defeat of con-firmation was impossible because they had voted every democrat or announced his pair against confirmation, including the alliance democratic senators, and they threw up the sponge. Senator Manderson had saved the fight for the republicans. A corrected list of the republicans absent without a pair was made out today by those having the pairs in charge, and they reported Senators Stewart of Nevada, Pettigrew of South Dakota and Perkins of Kansas, as the only absentees un accounted for.

The latter two would have voted for con-firmation had they been present, and were absent through a misunderstanding as to the hour when the vote would be taken. The first named was indifferent.

Similar Incidents Recalled.

Judge Woods will not feel so badly over his narrow escape when he learns that a least three distinguished members of the me court of the United States were confirmed by the smallest possible margin and one was actually defeated, although sub sequently confirmed. Both Chief Justice Waite of Ohio and Associate Justice Harlas of Kentucky were confirmed by a scratch-majority of one each.

Justice Stanley Matthews of Ohio was nominated by President Hayes at a time when Allen G. Thurman of Ohio was chairman of the committee on judiciary. Mr. Thurman reported the nomination to the executive session of the senate from committee, Senator Edmunds led an opposition that was participated in by both republicans and democrats. The result was a positive vote against confirmation. When the result was nounced Mr. Thurman arose and asked as personal favor to himself that the customary official return to the president of the action upon the nomination be withheld. The re-quest was granted and the register at the executive mansion does not show that Mr. Matthews' nomination was rejected by the

Nebraska's School Lands.

Senator Paddock today received the follow-ing letter from Land Commissioner Carter, which explains itself: "I am in receipt by your reference of February 6, 1892, of a le ter from the district land officers at Valer tine, Neb., complaining that 21,000 acres of land in their district are covered by school indemnity selections, which may or may not be valid, because the question of validity has not yet been determined by this office, and asking for an early adjudication. In your andorsement on this letter you refer to the time this matter has been pending and urge parly action. The state in 1890 presented two lists of school indemnity selections, aggregating over 41,000 acres, one of which was filed at the Valentine office and the other at the Chadron office. These list were sent to this office for instructions and it was concluded here that a thorough investigation of the entire grant in order to ascertain the validity of the basis of selection used, the existence of the losses of, or deficiencies in school lands should be made. The work has progressed so far that the validity of the progressed so far that the validity of the bases is approximately determined. Some of them have been found invalid for various reasons and the lists not being arranged in respect of bases and selected tracts, in accordance with instructions, I have concluded to require the state authorities to make new lists, eliminating invalid bases and a sufficient number of selected tracts to make the areas of the selected tracts and deficits balance and file them at the proper district land offices for acceptance and transmission to this office. In the meanwhile the selected tracts generally will be held from entry, as many of them may be properly embraced in the new lists. A reasonable time, ninety days, will be allowed the state to file the new lists and should this be done then, upon receipt of them here, the remainder of the lands will be treated as not embraced in the claim for school indemnity and directions will be given accordingly.

Agricultural Interests.

Agricultural Interests.

Senator Paddock's committee on agriculture reported today a bill for the development and encouragement of silk culture in the United States under the supervision of the secretary of agriculture. It provides for five stations for experimentation to be located in different parts of the United States. The administra-tion of the law is placed in the division of entomology. An assistant entomologist is provided for at a salary of $2,000. An appro-priation of $5,000 for each experimental station is authorized. The work is to be carried on at the stations under the supervision of the director of the stations under rules and regulations to be prescribed by the secretary of agriculture.

The committee also reported the Sherman bill directing the secretary of agriculture to established a uniform standard of classification and grading of wheat, corn, oats, barley and rye, and for other purposes, which shall be the only lawful grade. The commutee added a proviso that in interstate trade or commerce in grain if the consignor thereof or his authorized agent shall so direct public inspection, classification or grading shall not be required nor made when the grain is consigned to the owner thereof or his author zed agent, or to a mill or private store house or for deposit in special bin to a public ware house, or (the purchaser consenting) to a purchaser thereof, or (if consigned to a market where the usages of trade recognizes sales of grain by sample) when the consignor shall direct its sale by sample.

To Equip Milford's Company. A favorable report was today made to the senate from the military committee upon Senator Manderson's bill directing the secretary of war to issue to the state of Nebraska the following ordnance and ord-nance stores, clothing and camp and garrison equipage to replace like stores issued to Nebraska under the law for arming and equipping the militin, the stores having been destroyed by fire at Milford, Neb., on January 16, 1891: Forty eavalry blouses, forty-two cavalry trouses, forty-two forage caps and two trumpets, fifty sabers, fifty saber beles, fifty cavalry bridles complete, fifty Springfield carbines complete, fifty cartridge Helts and fifty slings. ### DESIRES TO OPEN THE CASE

General Thayer Determined to Continue the Gubernatorial Contest.

IT WILL BE PRESENTED NEXT TUESDAY

Views of Republicans and Democrats of the Latest Phase of the Controversy-Theory on Which it

Will Be Revived.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 18 .- [Special to THE BER. |- General Thayer will on next Tuesday ask permission of the supreme court to re open the old contest case between humself and Governor Boyd. His attorneys will base their argument on the theory that the United States supreme court's decision merely overruled the demurrer of Governor Thaver to Governor Boyd's answer, therefore it is only necessary for a reply to be filed to Boyd's answer, which averred upon the information and belief that Joseph Boyd, father of J. E. Boyd, had completed his naturafization in 1854, at the time when J. E. Boyd was a minor, and alleging further that James E. Bovd had for many years been a citizen of the United States within the meaning of the law and acts of congress. The statement that Judge Reese will ap pear in the matter, however, is a little pr mature. To THE BEE representative th morning Judge Reese stated that he had not been retained by General Thayer, the pubbeen retained by General Thayer, the pub-lished statements to the contrary notwith standing. When he had been spoken to in regard to the matter some days ago he re-plied that the duties of his profession required all his personal attention and that he would have no time to devote to the contest between Thaver and Boyd. It may be said, however, that the judge's name will appear on the papers as an attorney in the case, in spite of his denial that he has been retained Democratic View of the Case.

"The leaders of the democratic party, in-cluding Governor Boyd and his near friends, are not worrying over the threatened reopening of the citizenship contest by General Thayer and his backers," said a gentleman who is known to be friendly enough to the governor to insure the correctness of the statement, to a BEE reporter this morning; "and," he continued, "they would not mind seeing another attempt to oust Boyd, cause of the effect it would have in stirring up indignation among the masses to the dam age of the republican party, because no re opening would be possible without the offi-cial countenance of the supreme court. I have talked with the governor and I know be views the threatened action as an attempt to keep his citizenship clouded, and thereby damage him should his party compel him to accept a renomination, but he has too much self-respect and too high a conception of the dignity of his position to engage in any news-paper controversy upon the subject."

How a Republican Views the Matter. Many prominent republicans who doubt very much the political expediency of re-poening a case which has a ready given the party so much apprehension do not hesitate to assert their belief that General Thayer is perfectly right in his determination to con-tinue the proceedings in the supreme court, viewed from a strictly legal standpoint. One of them said this afternoon: "Governor Thayer is actuated by no spirit of personal interest in this matter. Even if he should finally succeed in proving that Governor Boyd's claims to citizenship are not sufficient to entitle him to the office which he now holds it is not likely that the supreme court, as at present constituted, will reinstate him (Thaver): but even if the court should hold that Thayer was entitled to hold over he would, immediately upon as-suming the office, give way to Lieutenant Governor Majors. General Thayer has gone into this matter only at the urgent solicitation of many thoroughly disinterested citizens throughout the state. He will simply do as he should have done a month agopush the case through to its completion.
When he has done this, and when the supreme court of Nebraska has rendered a final decision in accordance with the somethat makingless and the recent dewhat ambigious provisions of the recent de-cision of the United States supreme court, he will feel satisfied that he has performed his entire duty."

Confessed Himself a Perjurer. The Missouri Pacific Raitroad company today filed its answer in the district court to the case brought by W. T. The answer al-leges that Sawyor entered into a conspiracy with Gottleib Wenninger to defraud the company in an alleged damage case. By reason of the conspiracy Wenninger secured a verdict of $9,442 against the company by the introduction of perjured testimony. Afterwards Sawyer, fearing that he was to be deprived of the share of the money he was to receive, went to the attorneys of the money ine was to receive, went to the attorneys of the Missouri Pacific and signed an affidavit to the effect that he had committed perjury in the trial of the case. For making this affidavit he received the sum of $100 from the BEATRICE. NEB., Nov. 6th, 1891.

About the middle of August the writer was prestrated with an acute attack of Sciatica. For two months was scarcely able to walk across the room without assistance; the pain was intolerable. The usual remedies only gave temporary relief; became about discouraged. A friend who had visited, and been treated for rheumatism at Exceleior Springs, advised me to give the waters a trial. Did so, remaining at the Elms sixteen days, drinking the Sulpho-Saline and Regent Waters, taking hot salt sulphur baths daily.

In one week the pain subsided; from that time on have improved rapidly, gaining strength every day. Walked about the town and over the surrounding hills of Excelsior Springs.

Am convinced that persona sfilieted with any type of rheumatism, will be greatly benefited, if not completely cured by the waters of Excelsior Springs. Scarcely can too much be said in praise of the waters, The Elms and their delightful surroundings.

London, it is true, shows no disposition to bull stocks, but what is more important, it has ceased to sell them. In fact, transactions for foreign account in this market were, during the week, exceedingly light. Re-lieved by the events of the week from its most immediate restraining influences and enjoying ample money supplies and low rates, it is asserted with some appearance of truth, that the London market will soon be likely to follow any bullish lead which New York may give it.

Influences on the Street. While enduring one of these periods in which speculation waits for developments, Wall street is apt to select some particular influence on which to lay the charge of causing delay. Last week, it will be remembered, the uncertainty regarding the St. Paul dividend was regarded as the reason for the market's action. This week, the Richmond Terminal reorganization played the same role. But while this transaction, which is certainly the largest of the kind that has over been attempted, must necessarily affect speculative interests until the plan is either a success or a failure, it is easy to exaggerate its in-fluence on the general market. As it was, the uncertainty involved in waiting for the appearance of the plan and for the preliminary changes in the management of the company exerted an unsettling influence, though Richmond Terminal showed some strength and advanced to 1614. The unfavorable reception accorded to the plan on its appearance, and the decline of the stock to 14%, with corresponding losses in the pre-ferred and the trust bonds, was, however less effective on the general market than might have been acticipated. Apart from its full strength the general market demands little attention.

After Years of Unsuccessfal Sparch for a Cure, Martin Anderson Gets Relief from the Chinese Doctor-1 Voluntary Test monial. Омана, Neb., Jan. 18, 1892.

To whom It May Concern; This is to certify that I have been a constant sufferer for many years with catarrh, asthma and bronchial affections of the throat, and tried all the patent medicines and remedies I ever heard of, but with no success. I treated with doctors in various parts of the country, but none of them could do me any good further than giving me shor temperary relief. I suffered night an day, and continued to grow worse not withstanding all the medicine I had taken. I had almost given up my case as hopeless when I was informed by a friend of Dr. C. Gee Wo, the Chinese doctor, and advised to go and see him in the hope of getting relief at least, if not a permanent cure for my trouble. I was slow in making up my mind to make such a radical change in my treatment, as I knew a trial with the Chinese doctor would bring me, but I finally con-cluded to give him a trial, so I called at his office with that intention. I found the doctor a clever, entertaining gentleman, thoroughly posted on my condi-tion, and it took only a very short time to convince me that he was the party I was so long in search of. He told me my case was curable, and that he could cure me, and prepared me a special treatment to suit my condition, and in two weeks I was so much better that I had the fullest confidence in the doctor's ability and committed my case to his treatment. I continued to grow batter rapidly and am now entirely well. I owe my cure to Dr. C. Gee Wo, and am not ashamed to admit it. I advise all who want relief from their troubles to call on Dr. C. Gee Wo, and they will be cured. For all particulars apply or MARTIN L. ANDERSON.
