

CLOSER RELATIONS DESIRED

Secret of the Opposition to President Diaz in Mexico.

TOO FRIENDLY WITH THE UNITED STATES

His Ideas on the Subject of Reciprocity Not Pleasant to the Element Favoring Church Rate in the Affairs of the Government.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE BEE, 513 FOURTEENTH STREET, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 20.

A well known government official who has been retained in Mexico, where he has transacted important official business with President Diaz, and for private reasons does not want his name used in the public prints, gives some valuable information regarding the condition of Mexico, as he gleaned it from the head of that republic.

He said that "One of the most perplexing issues which a certain powerful old executive is making among President Diaz is that he is an American." They really believe he has too warm a feeling for the United States on account of his efforts to bring about closer commercial and social relations between the two countries.

The chief reason for the warm and monarchical element, which founded the empire. It opposes nearly all the modern steps of progress which are proposed by Diaz in order to get the country to divert the people from mining to agriculture and improve society. Diaz believes that no country can afford to neglect its agriculture.

He would place the burden of taxation upon the mines and untitled lands for the purpose of forcing progress in the line of agriculture.

Favors the United States. "He believes in our system of import duties and a protective tariff. His opponents belong to the class of free traders.

They don't care a fig for agricultural or manufacturing interests. They believe, too, in church rule. This is the secret of the present Garza revolution in Mexico. The revolutionists are fighting the monarchical element which is fighting the Diaz progress. Mexico at present is supported financially only from her customs duties.

He would place the burden of taxation upon the mines and untitled lands for the purpose of forcing progress in the line of agriculture. He is a strong friend to our reciprocity plan, his opinion being that the reciprocity plan is known more properly as the 'church party'.

Diaz hopes to secure with us a commercial treaty so broad in its extent that it will wipe away the tariff on the goods of Rio Grande, so that trade may be as free between the two countries as it is now between any of our states. He is very sensitive about the new tariff which is being printed in our country respecting the revolution in Mexico. In San Antonio, Tex., and other large cities, the revolutionists claim that the Garza party has captured the newspaper correspondents and colored stations in this country.

President Diaz assures me," continued the United States official, "that the Garza revolution was originally the invention of exiles from Mexico, living in the Texas border, and that it has no stable foundation. If Diaz continues at the head of the Mexican government we will have the most desirable relations with that country and its people, but they will have an era of greater prosperity. President Diaz, it is needless to say, does not believe in the John Bourke of our army did anything improper in his recent campaign against Garza on the Mexican border."

Booming General Alger. General Russell A. Alger of Michigan has launched his presidential draft at the national capital. It appeared in this morning's Washington Post in the form of eight columns of text on parallel lines, and the parallel lines in large black-faced type, two columns wide.

COMING EVENTS IN CONGRESS

Forecast of Legislation for the Present Week in House and Senate.

MEASURES THAT WILL CLAIM ATTENTION

Bering Sea and the Russian Extradition Treaties Will Take Up the Senate's Time in Executive Session—Washington News and Gossip.

On the Merits House. BERNING, March 20.—On the merits during the past week prices were irregular. Bank and industrial shares were weak.

Washington, D. C., March 20.—The proceedings in the house during the coming week will be of more than usual interest. It has made the Bland silver bill a special order for the three days beginning Tuesday.

Ordinarily, tomorrow will be devoted to the passage of measures under suspension of the Bland silver bill. It is probable that the army appropriation bill will be called for and that its consideration will consume the day.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday are set apart for the consideration of the Bland silver bill. A great many members desire to speak on the silver question, and an effort has been made to reach an agreement between the friends and the opponents of the measure to provide that the debate and consideration of the bill by paragraphs shall run the whole of the week.

No understanding has yet been reached, however, as the silver men want the agreement to include a stipulation that a vote shall be taken at the end of the week without indulgence in filibustering tactics, but the anti-free coinage democrats are not, as a body, willing to bind themselves to such a restriction.

Some of the opponents of the bill are also objecting, but others believe they should use every proper means within their reach to defeat it.

Unless the silver question runs through the week, the bill will probably be passed Saturday will be given up either to the relating to private claims or to the usual appropriation bill.

After a special order of the house Saturday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock has been set apart for the delivery of eulogies on the representative Francis G. Spinola of New York.

In the Senate. Nearly all of the time of the senate during the open sessions this week is already practically taken up. The Indian appropriation bill is to be taken up tomorrow. The West Virginia direct tax bill is the special order for Tuesday, and the senate has resolved that it will consider two bills of much public interest, namely: the Mississippi river and Columbia river improvement bill, involving an agreement with the United States to be expended in the improvement of these great waterways. The bill for the relief of the public lands is also within easy reach.

On Thursday legislative business will be suspended for several hours while the senate will be occupied with the late Senator Hearst of California.

The most interesting proceedings of the senate, however, are expected to occur in the afternoon session. The Bering sea arbitration treaty is pending, and action upon it will doubtless be taken as the senate meets on the 22nd.

Lord Salisbury's response to Mr. Wharton's last note. But blocking the way of the Bering sea treaty is the fact that the senate has been much agitated during the last few days, namely, the Russian extradition treaty which is the subject of this article.

SHULTZ IS NOT DISTURBED

Death Has No Terrors for John P. Farr's Slayer.

HOW HE REGARDS THE JURY'S VERDICT

His Knowledge of the Tragedy He Declares to Be, Confined to a Vague Idea of Seeing His Victim Fall When Shot.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., March 20.—[Special to The Bee.]—I feel just as well as I ever did in my life," said Cayler Shultz, who was found guilty of murder in the first degree Saturday night, "I slept soundly," he continued upon being queried, "what have I to do afraid of?"

"What do you think of the verdict?" was asked. "I think it is, by G—d, an impartial verdict."

"You are satisfied, then?" "Oh, the d—d liars have it their way, and I don't care, and it was plain that he meant partial when he said impartial."

"What should I do afraid of?" he again repeated, "they can't hurt me. What if they do hang me, what's that? Great God, I'm not afraid to die, and they can't do anything after that. As I told the judge last night, I prefer swinging to the pen. My lawyers say they'll take it to the supreme court, but I'll let them try it. If they want to, let them judge Caldwell's office on the 27th" (the day before the shooting).

Indifferent About His Fate. "How do you feel in regard to the action of your attorneys?"

"Oh, I guess they did all they could for me, but I ought to have made something out of Farr's attempting to shoot me. But I don't care to have them take it to the supreme court. Maybe they could do it, I don't know, but I'm glad it's all over."

"Do you get a position?" "The trouble is I can't get any of the boys to prove for me; they were all shot down around me."

The interview was interrupted by the appearance of Mrs. Cayler Shultz, wife of the doomed man, Mr. and Mrs. Yorker, son-in-law and daughter, Mrs. Ruby Stout, a daughter, and Mr. John Shultz, the oldest son.

ASSAULTED A FARMER'S WIFE

Mrs. Mary Bender Subjected to Assaults Near Platte Center, Neb., March 20.—[Special to The Bee.]—Last night at 10 o'clock Deputy Sheriff A. J. Campbell came two prisoners, Martin Morearty and Morrissey, from the neighborhood of Platte Center, Neb., where they were charged with assault, the victim being Mrs. Bender, living about five miles from Platte Center. The story told by Mrs. Bender is that she was awakened at 10 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, while her husband was absent, Morearty and Morrissey entered her house and she was shown to a room in the barn, which she desired to purchase. She accompanied them to the barn and they forced her to drink some whisky. She became alarmed over the actions of the men and dispatched her little son on horseback to bring a neighbor. Seeing the men start and devising his purpose, one of the men mounted his horse and followed by terrifying the last with a gun and making fearful threats induced the younger to take their preliminary hearing tomorrow.
