THE IDEA NOT ALTOGETHER PRACTICABLE

Thinks It Might Work as Applied to Brain

Workers, but Doubts Its Expediency as Applied to Manual

Labor.

The division of labor as a means to the best results in almost every kind of business has been so successfully applied that no large enterprise of any kind can succeed without it. What else can be done to increase the efficiency of labor and capital? Natural adaptation to some special work, and continued application in that special work, makes experts, and experts make success-other things being equal-and capital and labor are equally interested in success, as without a fair compensation for both long continued prosperity is not possi-

In this country fortunes have been made so rapidly and in many lines of business that competition has sprung up as the legitimate counterpart of large gains, until capital which began with large profits, while paying large remuneration to labor, was obliged to reduce wages to make even a fair interest merchant of nearly fifty years' experience I have had occasion to give a good deal of attention to the labor problem, and among other things have studied the profit sharing principle as applied

Let me begin by saying in a broad sense, labor does share in the profits of business more largely in America than in any other country in its relative receipts from the results of labor and capital combined—in wages now paid. The question is, can an additional motive be added by capital to wages.

In some manufacturing concerns, notably iron mills, where physical more than brain force produces results, I should say that this added motive would serve both capital and labor in comparatively larger outputs and greater harmony, and

In business establishments for the sale of manufactured goods the same motive could only operate on a small number of employes, whose intellectual force and practical experience, combined with strict integrity, make them competent to manage departments. Capital may well share profits with such men for the use of their experience and intellectual force, but to extend this motive beyond that line, so as to make it effective in better service from all employes, would not, in my opinion, be a workable proposition. To do it the capitalist would be obliged to lower the fixed wages somewhat, and then give a percentage of profits which both capital and labor would consider more than a compensation for the reduction in wages, with the understanding that a sharer in profits of labor will accelerate labor to in the case of a large percentage of labor this might be true, but with a larger percentage the large dollar for

Makes a Statement That Will Interest All Suffering from Catarrh-A Typical Case.

Mrs. J. H. Park, 2405 Charles street, makes the following statement: "I had been badiy affected with catarrh for about ten years. For two years past my case had been especially distressing and I suffered configuration in many ways. "I was almost constantly linewking and spitting thick mucus that was always in my throat and bronchial tubes. This was very annoying to myself as well as to my frsends. My nose was stopped up and was never free and clear as a healthy nose should be.

"Besides this, my throat gave me great trouble, being always sore and my voice so hoarse that often I could scarcely talk at all; my friends thought 1 must have something in my throat, so rough and husky was my voice. Constant ringing noises in my cars and dizziness aded to my discomforts. "Terhaps the symptom that caused the most pain was my headache which was almost con-stant and made ne very misorable. From this alone I was really sick and unfitted for my daily duties. I could not sleep nights and was so nervous and wakeful that got up mornings as tired as when retiring the night before. "I am very glad that I can traily say my suf-fering is over and I am entirely relieved of this group of very sore complaints. My nose and throat are clear and give me no trouble. The soreness and irritation are gone: also the ringing and diziness. My voice is strong and and natural. My headache has also entirely isappeared which is a relief too great to ex-ress in words. "Perhaps the symptom that caused the most ways present and frequent attacks of faint-ness. In this sad state I asked Drs. Copeland and Shepard if they could do anything for me. They assured me that, while my case was grave, I would be greatly benefitted and prob-ably entirely cured by a proper course of treatment. I took the treatment, although at first I did not expect relief, as I had concluded that my case was beyond the reach of medical aid. I had been treated by other physicians and became worse all the time. No one can tell how agreeably surprised I have been for today I am well and strong; I eat and sleep well; my color is restored, and in the past two months I have gained forty pounds. Drs. EVANGELIZING THE CITY.

Omaha Ministers Discuss Methods of Unit-

Ministerial association was largely attended yesterday morning, Rev. Watterman of Kalamazoo, Colonel Hogeland, the news-boy's friend and Secretary Ober of the Young Men's Christian association were among the half dozen visitors in attendance.

The paper for the occasion was presented by Rev. A. R. Thain, D.D., of the Plymouth Congregational church and was upon "The Evangelization of the Cities." Dr. Thain recommended that the example of Christ be taken as a guide in all gospel work. He held also that the pulpit alone could never evangelize the world or the great cities. The laity must become interested and zealous in the work of saving souls or the ministry could not succeed. He believed in the work of women, too, in the evangelical field. Christian women could and had ac-complished a great deal for the regeneration of the human race. He thought their work should be encouraged. Young people should also be enlisted in the army of the Lord. He was glad to note the fact that the day had come when young people were not held back and sneered at on account of their participation in religious services. He liked to see the young Davids of the Christian church step boldly out and show that they were on the Lord's side against every form of evil.

The way to become fishers of men, the doctor held, was simply to fish for them. The way to evangelize a city was to go about it.

The light of truth should be carried to the poor. The poverty stricken should be re-lieved and the distressed should be comforted in a substantial and practical manner while the seeds of gopal truth were being sown. Too many church members were idle and indifferent. They seemed to belong to the "church of the holy icebouse" and their church was like a receiving vault, a good place to preserve corpses, but a very poor place for live Christians. Dr. Thain recommended the co-operation of the churches in union services at inter-vals of a few months or years at least. By united effort the church people would exper-ience the electric effect of larger congrega-tions. Wonderful things had been accomthis, wonderfully getting together a large crowd. Large crowds hal frequently so in-spired common men that they became very oloquent. The store of mannetism was al-ways wonderfully increased by the presence of a vast concourse of people and everybody or a vast concourse of people and every only caught the first of onthusiasm. Men had frequently taken their first import-ant step toward a better life while under the pressure of a great enthusiasm inspired by a large audience. In union services, too, a great deal of denomin-ational prejudice died out. It always did a Presbyterian good to hear a methodist in a union meeting weave a lot of Calvanistic dectrine into a public prayer, and it made Methodists shout for joy to hear Presbyterians sing with genuine carnestness some of Wesley's hymn's in which the fundamental doctrines of Calvanism were shattared. He likelt the union meetings. They help to break down the useless barriers that have been hedging the churches about. Turning to the subject of evangilizing Omaha Dr. Thain advised the securing few weeks upon the importance of religion. In closing he said : "Omaha needs a great religious awakening more than she needs club houses, extensions of pavement or a business boom of any material sort. Is not the holy spirit saying, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight?" Let us do it."

Rev. E. N. Harris from the committee ap-pointed to meet Rev. Fay Mills, the evan-gelist, as he passed through the city two weeks ago, reported that the committee had seen Rev. Mr. Mills and that he would come

Dr. Duryea, from the committee appointed to take steps toward suppressing obscene bill board posters, reported that Chief Seavey and also the bill board poster had promised the committee that the bill boards of the city should not again be disgraced by pic-tures such as had caused a blush of shame to come to the face of respectable people of Omaha as they walked the streets. He thought a great improvement had been made in that respect, but thought the committee had better be continued to observe the bill had better be continued to observe the on boards for a few weeks and report again. Kev. Brown of Hanscom Park Methodist church, requested the committee to loos at a few specimens of high art now displayed on the bill board of Leavenworth street. The matter of organizing the associated beard of charding upon a bread basis so that the matter of organizing the associated board of charities upon a broad basis, so that all the churches could assist and all charit-able work could be done in systematic order, was brought up by Dr. Duryea. He read a report giving an outline of the rules and regulations which the committee had agreed regulations which the committee had agreed upon. The rules were based upon the regu-lations which govern the board of associated charities of Brooklyn. On motion of Dr. Harsha it was voted to instruct the committee to go on and complete the organization of the Board of Charities upon the plan recom-mended.
