practicable, but carrots may be sown any time before midsummer. Care of Live Stock.

Most farm animals will require care and good feeding until warm, settled weather, and certainly should not be turned out until the grass has sufficient growth to furnish nutrition. To pre-vent loss or suffering, give careful attention to dams and their young, especially during inclement weather. Work horses need plenty of strength-ening lood, regularity in feeding and watering, and good groeming. Guard against galls by keeping the harness clean and soft. Many horses work best on soft ground when they are barefoot. Protect heated teams from drafts Give brood mares roomy quarters, watchful care and treat them gently.

Cows require extra care at this soason. Give those about to come in good roomy quasters, and treat them kindly. Guard against abortion and accidents To prevent garget and other troubles, reduce their food, though plenty of good sound hay may be given safely. Keep all the good heifer calves, and remem-ber that teaching them to feed from the pail saves trouble.

Sheep should be kept in dry yards to protect their feet, and also guarded against storms. Ewes and lambs need good shelter and liberal rations, to prevent suffering and keep them thrifty. Spring lambs well cared for and fed liberally will soon sell at a profit.

Pigs and poultry pay for good care and keep. The pigs will do good by destroy-ing many insect enemies if allowed to take exercise in the orchard. Give breeding sows bran and other cool-ing food, but no corn or meal. Poul-try "shell out" the profits now, if ever; so care well for the birds if you want fresh eggs and chickens galore. Protect them from vermin by using kerosene upon the roosts and walls of the poultry house; and do whatever else that will tead to promote their comfort, health and consequent productiveness.

Seeds, Plants and Trees

The successful cultivator is generally a good guide to follow in the matter of selecting seeds, trees, etc., for planting. If asked, he will be very likely to advise you that the planting of good, pure seed, of an approved variety, is the first requi-site to profitable crc production. And yet, though the same advice is widely reiterated every spring, comparatively few farmers and gardeners heed the the truth that in most instances the seed exerts a controlling influence upon the quality and quantity of the crop produced. If any of our renders are at fault in this matter, we urge them to institute a salutary reform, and to plant only good seed-the best obtainable.

Plants, vines, shrubs and trees, for setting out this spring, should now be se-cured by all who need them and have not yet secured a supply. What we have said about seeds applies with al-most equal force in this connection. Consult the females of the family in selecting (from the catalogues of honest dealers) ornamental shrubs, vines, etc., to be planted near the dwelling. Look allke to the quality, variety and adapta-bility to location, but go slow when tempted to invest in much puffed but high priced novelties.

Tools and Implements.

See that every implement is in order and in its place; harness sound and well oiled; plows, harrows, and trimmings repaired and ready for work. Those who have not already done so should at once see that all needed farm and garden tools and implements are examined and put in order, and such new ones obtained as may be required. Nothing is more vexatious than to find out just as you want to use an implement that it is out of repair, or so worn that it has got to be replaced by a new one. Every farmer should guard against such contingency by providing in advance whatever machines may be necessary to prepare the ground for, and to plant and cultivate the crops to be produced.

Orchard and Fruit Garden.

April is a month of activity with fruit growers. When trees, shrubs, etc., are received from the nursery, it once heel them in-that is, temporarily bury tho roots. After they are thus secured, planting may be done at leisure. Tree planting is now timely in most sections, and for this the soil should be well prepared, and the work done carefully. Fruit trees need wide and deep holes, so that their roots will have ample room to grow and spread. Keen a record of every tree planted, so as to know the name and location. Grafting may now be done, if dormant scions can be obtained. If not askilled grafter, take lessons or employ an expert. Put manure at the roots of barren trees, and open and thin out their heads. Cut off and burn any twigs that harbor the tent caterpiliar, and guard against other pesta Plant cuttings of grape vines, currants. etc., that were kept through the winter, Grow more grapes, strawberries, rasp-berries, blackberries, currants and other small fruits. If you have none, get and try the best varieties, you can conveniently, and make a be-ginning—and if you have made a start, increase your plantation. In case you don't know how to begin, consult the printed authorities and interrogate expert cultivators. Choice fruits, besides being beneficial in the family, may be profitably marketed in many localities. The Kitchen Garden,

No farm is complete without a good garden, and now is the time to push work therein. The first requisite is a rich, well-drained soil, and southern exposure is the best. Garden ground should be heavily manured and thoroughly prepared as soon as it can be worked. Good seed is a prime factor. Plants enough for a farmer's gardon can be started in window or kitchen boxes; thus dispensing with a hotbed. Radishes, lettuce and early peas are usually the first crop sown. Beets, spinach, onions, etc., may be sown early; but beans, cucumbers and all others of the melon family, tomatoes, etc., are too tender for sowing before the corn planting season. Cabbage and tomato plants can usually be bought cheaper than they can be raised. Asparagus and pie plant should be grown plentifully in every garden. Suc-cession crops of radishes, lettuce, etc. — and also of sweet corn, beans, peas, etc.-may be secured by sowing at intervals of a week or ten days through their respective seasons. Any farmer can have a good garden by preparing the ground well, planting properly and in senson, and giving it timely and thorough cultivation.

Short-Stop Suggestions.

April is the time to push farm work. Prepare early for Indian corn-very early. Early potatoes pay best. Small, thrifty trees are best for planting. The older the tree, the more difficult to transplant and less certain to thrive. Don't set fruit trees too closely, especially apple trees. Use neither inferior seeds nor sires. If in doubt, test seeds before planting. Keep a record of all crops planted and amounts of seed used. Fortilize the meadows and pastures. Heavy manuring helps to lift mortgages Save all the ashes and use them on the farm. No shackly and rusty tools now. More tire on wagon wheels and less in the borses. Straighten up the fences and gateposts. Provide good watering places for stock. Protect all insect de-stroying birds. The early chick catches the most money. Get ready to fight insects and weeds. See that your wheat fields are well drained.
