THE OMAHA BEE. NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Gratifying Success That Has Attended an Earnest Charitable Effort.

REV. HENRY DE LONG AND HIS WORK

Much Good, Material and Spiritual, Accomplished Among the Poor of the City-Industrial School for Girls Has Just Been Established.

Rev. Henry DeLong, one of the prominent and somewhat eccentric characters of the city, who has been prominent in works of charity, temperance and kindred affairs for the past quarter of a century, seems to be engaged at the present time in his most important and successful work. Several months age he located a little mission on Middle Broadway, occupying for the purpose a vacant store building. At the start there seemed to be no clearly defined idea of just what the work should be, and it was commenced by holding nightly meetings of a revival order, somewhat after the style of the Salvationists. The room was well heated and lighted, and during the winter evenings it afforded comfortable quarters for many people of the numbler classes who drifted in to hear the singing and praying. Many came because insufficient ciothing and fireless homes made the mission room the pleasantest place they could find. The air was frequently thick with tobacco smoke. and sometimes almost snuddered with its burden of loud smells, some of the loudest often coming from the het breath that poured from rum-soaked lips. But DeLong and his workers mingled with the crowd, talked, prayed and sang to them, and quickly awakened a deep interest. Clothing was furnished those who were the most needy after it had been gathered up by patient canvassing throughout the city, and scores of cases of reported destitution were inquired into and much actual distress relieved. Before the winter had passed the mission became the recognized charity headquarters of the city and many voluntary contributions were

Since the beginning of the year nearly 300 persons have been clothed, besides numerous cases of charity where the distress was rehoved in the cheeriess homes. Mr. DeLong has come to be looked upon by every man in distress as his especial friend and guardian, and he has, of course, been asked to do a thousand times more than it was possible for him to accomplish. During the last few weeks the work has assumed a still more in-teresting phase. Always a lover of little children, the eccentric philanthropist has opened an industrial school in connection with the mission, where he designs to teach the children of poor parents, and the waifs and put them on the upward road. A girls industrial school has been organized and meets every Saturday afternoon. Miss Emma Mayne, a young lady formerly connected with the public schools of Boone, Ia, has peen induced to leave her home and work there and devote her best energies to the greater and more arduous labors here. She has been given full charge of the girls' indus-trial classes, and is surrounded each Satur-day aftertoon, by happy throngs of happy girls. The instruction is of the kindergarter character and is becoming very successful

The next thing in contemplation is the orunization of a similar class for boys.

Mr. DeLong and his assistants have car ried this work along so quietly that the oub lic has been scarcely aware of its existence. Although a debt of nearly $300 was con-tracted at the start the obligation has all been discharged, and there seems to be nothing in the way of the little mission developing into oue of the most important charitable organizations in the city.

Close of the Federal Court. The spring term of the federal court closed yesterday aftergoon, and Judgo Woolson, after two or three weeks of as busy a time as he ever spent in his life, will leave for his home in Mt. Pleasant this evening. At the commencement of the term it was a heavy docket that confronted the court but it was thoroughly cleaned up yesterday afternoon when the hour arrived for the adjournment. The last jury case was the personal damage suit of James against the Union Pacific rail-read to recover for injuries sustained while in the employ of the company. After many hours of patient consideration the jury failed to agree, and succeeded in convincing Judge Woolson that the disagreement was hopeless.

This will necessiate a new trial.

The only other case left on the docket of any consequence was that of Pierce vs the Union Pacific, and this was practically removed by transfer to Des Moines. The attorneys on both sides announced that they had discovered certain facts in relation to the case that encouraged the belief that it could be settled outside of the court without The next term of the federal court here will convene in September, and the next term Judge Woolson holds will convene in Des Moines on the second Tuesday in May.

During the last week Judge Woolen's stay has been brightened by the presence of his accomplished wife, who has made many pleasant acquaintances and lasting friends in Council Bluffs. Both the judge and Mrs. Woolson speak in the highest terms of the hospitality of the Council Bluffs people, and notwithstanding the brutal_weather they have seen enough of the city to cause them to express their delight with its beauty.

The Twin City Chautauqua. Judge McGee and Postmaster Treynor are certainly planning big enough for the coming Chautauqua to make it the greatest event of the kind in the west this season, and their plans are meeting with such assurances of success as to cause ; reat jubilancy among all interested in the enterprise.

Dr. Gunsaulus of Chicago, whose lecture before one of the preceding assemblies here aroused so much enthusiasm, has agreed to deliver another lecture this season and also to preach. Prof. Clendenin has been engaged to give his illustrated lectures, among which is one on Chill, which is pronounced very fine. Prof. Torrens has consented to take charge of the music. The announcement is sufficient to awaken the enthusiasm of all music lovers. He will arrange to organize a large chorus and give it the needed preliminary training, and also secure fine musical attractions. The Apollo club is to give a concert during the assembly.

These announcements are but a hint of what the menu will be. If the enterprising young men who have pluckily taken hold of this enterprise succeed in engaging one half of the attractions they are after it will be such a feast as has never been spread before in the big amphitheater.

One scheme, which will interest all who want to learn Spanish, French, German or Italian, is to secure as instructor Dr. Rosenthal, whose Meistershaft system has made his name familiar. He will be engaged if a sufficient number express a desire to avail themselves of his presence here. The rates will be very low, and the opportunity will be a rare one. Those who are interested in the organization of a class for this purpose should hand in their names at once to Mr. Trevuor or to Judge McGee, in order that the practicability of engaging this instructor may be determined at once.

Thrown Away by a Thief In the burning of some rubbish in the rear of 223 Main street, the discovery was made of a large number of fluger rings, some twenty or more. They had evidently been thrown away by some thief, who had thus disposed of them through fear, or because he deemed them of too little value to warrant the risk of marketing. They were mostly of a cheap plate, with glass settings. It is supder taken from a store at Creston by a burglar, who afterwards came to Council Bluffs, and was later traced here, arrested, and sent to the penitentiary. He was at one time in the vicinity of the place where the rings were found, and this fact, with others, seems to bear out the theory.

He Arrested Himself. Witliam Richmond, formerly manager of the Boston Tea store, has come forward volintarily to answer to the charge of obtaining money under faise pretenses. The grand jury at Avoca last December found an indictment against him, being claimed that he secured a note from a sick man under some promise of a sure cure at a hospital, in whose interest Richmond was traveling. Richmond was in Kansas when he hard of the charge, and wrote the sheriff that he would come here, and thus do away with any ne-cessity of sending an officer for him. In ac-cordance with that promise he has appeared and given the $1,000 bail required.

Smashing School Windows. B. J. Donahue, one of the directors of the school district in Lewis township, has filed a complaint before Justice Hammer, charging two young men, James and Edward Murphy, with having defaced a public building. It is claimed that the young men were returning from a dance and in their eagerness to rid themselves of some extra exhibitration they concaived the idea of smashing the windows in the school house. They succeeded by the aid of a piece of scantling. A warrant was placed in the hands of an officer, who started for the offenders yesterday afternoon.

DEMORALIZING RATES.

Opening of River and Lake Traffic Aiready Causing Trouble.

CRICAGO, Ill., April 12 .- [Special Telegram to THE BEE, |- Exception has been taken to the action of a committee of interested lines in quoting rates thus early from Davenport and Rock Island, in assumed competition with the boats. The exceptions noted are: First, that one line passing through Davenport and Rock Island was not consulted in the adoption of the proposed rates; second, that, as the right to meet competition of the boats from St. Louis to St. Paul has been denied to the roads running north from that city, different treatment should not be accorded the lines from Davenport and Rock Island: third, that the authority given in May, 1891, to meet competition was not perpetual, but ceased when the river closed, and cannot be resumed unless the authority is re-

Chairman Midgely is inclined to hold that all three exceptions are well taken. Accordingly be advised the chairman of the committee that in his opinion the authority given last May to meet river competition expired with the year, and requests the com-mittee not to act until specifically empowered. When the freight representatives of the Central Traffic association met in regular sossion today they were confronted by a question that was not down on the docket for question that was not down on the docket for consideration at this meeting. This was a proposition to reduce the rate on grain from Chicago to the seaboard. For several weeks some of the roads have been shading grain rates. The conservative lines hesitate to meet these secret cuts, hoping that the guilty ones might be reclaimed and demoralization avoided, but this hope has been dashed to the ground by the action of the lake and rail the ground by the action of the lake and rail lines in openly announcing a rate of 17% cents per 100 pounds on grain from Chicago to the seatoard. This is 21g cents below the agreed differential, and will force the all-rail routes to make a similar reduction. The matter was only informally discussed at to day's session, and with all the other subjects awaiting consideration it was referred to one of the various committees, to be reported upon tomorrow.

Apparently there is no intention on the part of any lines engaged in the passenger rate war between Chicago and the Ohio river to give up the fight. On the contrary there seems to be an inclination to force the fighting. Rates between Chicago and Indianapolis will be reduced from $3.65 to and hetween Chicago and Louisville $3.50 and between Chicago and Louisville and Chicago and Cincinnati from $6 to $5. The Penusylvania took the initiate in this fresh cut rate. Its competitors insist that the cut rates must apply to all competitive points and in both directions.

Baltimore's Monument to Columbus or Private Grounds, Baltimore has the first and probably the only monument to Christopher Co-lumbus in the United States. The shaft was raised a few months less than a century ago by admirers of the man who tried to go east by sailing west, says the Baltimore World. It stands on the grounds of the Samuel Ready orphan asylum. The buildings of the institution are situated on a little table land on the north side of Boundary avenue, just east of the Hartford The monument stands near road.

the Boundary avenue entrance to the grounds and stands above the terraced lawn on a neatly graded and turfed mound. Ever since the time when the old Amamor mansion was occupied by its French owner the shaft has stood, the one reminder of the great Italian explorer. Many of those living in the neighborhood were once disposed to scoff at the thought of the monument being a tribute to the memory of the man who was foolish enough to think the earth wasn't flat. Some even went so far as to say that the shaft was raised simply to mark the last resting place of an old carriage horse whose memory was held dear by its master, Well authenticated history has proven however, that there has been many a horse worthy of such a memorial stone, the Monumental city was the first to show its respect for the man in whose memory the first monument should have been erected.

It was on the 12th day of the month of October, in the year 1792, the 300th anniversary of the landing of the great Christopher, that a crowd of the sub-jects of the new government of the United States of America, nearly all residents of the little village of Baltimore, assembled on the lawn near the Amamor home.

General Amamor, who was accompanied to this country from France by the gallant Count de Grasse, Washing-ton's friend, dedicated the monument in their presence, and the villagers, with bowed heads, heard the cenotaph blessed. Then those who saw it for the first time drew near and read the inscription that has since shown the effects of the rains and storms of 100 years. Probably not one in the crowd thought calling the immortal eggbreaker "Chris" was a show of disrespect. It wasn't as near Easter as the day of this publication, and it is hardly possible that there were any jokes among the boys about the pleasure it would have been to "pick eggs with
